

At a recent meeting of the managers it was decided to hold the 22nd annual Grangers' picnic exhibition at Williams' Grove, Cumberland county, Pa., August 26th to 31st, 1895, inclusive. It was also decided to make quite a number of improvements to the buildings and grounds.

MAIN'S SHOWS IN BELLEFONTE.—Tuesday was circus day in Bellefonte and the flaming bills that had plastered every barn and board for miles around, two weeks previous to that date, brought a highly gratifying result to the circus management. An immense crowd filled the tent at the afternoon performance, there having been forty-three hundred admissions registered. The night's business was exceptionally large also.

Main's circuses had not been here for two years, but the people remembered the fine entertainment of that visit and did not hesitate to go again. They were not disappointed either, for the show was away ahead of its high mark of two years ago and bristled with features never before seen under canvas. Everything seemed bright and new. The costumes were especially artistic and excited much admiration.

Among the features that caught the audiences here were the statuesque posing by the Roach sisters, which, considering the unavoidable imperfections in mechanical effects consequent upon producing such a feature under canvas, was remarkable. It was so realistic as to practically deceive many of the spectators into believing they looked on the work of many famous sculptors instead of life affecting the inanimate. The equestrian turns of the Millers and Seiberts, double brother and sister acts, were decidedly clever and elicited well merited applause, while the novel feature of seeing two men and a daintily clad girl do a strong acrobatic act added much to the success of the performance.

The shows had excellent stock, courteous attaches and entered and left the town without the slightest disturbance of any kind.

Young People Not Wanted.

The following card from the Undine Fire Company Committee on Ball is self-explanatory:

Editor Democratic WATCHMAN:—Will you kindly convey through the columns of your paper the following request: That all persons under sixteen years of age, of both sexes, be kept at home, or at least from the army, on the night of the Undine Fire Co's. ball. We have issued invitations to all that are known and will likely come, and any who come there will be expected to present their invitation or they will not be admitted. While the building is large, it will, we are satisfied, be small enough for those over 16 years of age who will attend so those younger than that are expected to stay at home. The best of order will be preserved throughout the evening.

Yours truly,
Committee on Ball.

Pine Grove Mention.

Little Annie, the baby daughter of Wm. Stam, while playing in the yard fell against the door step and broke her right arm just below the elbow.

Charley Smith, Esq., of Altoona came down to see that decoration was done in the proper style. He was accompanied by his wife and little ones all of whom look the better of the fresh air.

Memorial Services will be held in the Bethel church next Sunday at 2 o'clock p. m. Rev. A. A. Black will preach the sermon. All old soldiers and all friends of the cause for which they fought are invited to attend.

Rev. C. T. Aikens of the Lutheran church said goodby to his parishioners for a month's outing on the sunny side of the seven mountains. His wife and little Claud are enjoying a visit to Hanover, Mrs. Aikens' girlhood home.

Rev. J. C. Johnson of Ohio, will preach to our Presbyterian neighbors next Sunday morning and evening. Mr. Johnson is an applicant for the late Rev. Geo. Elliott's place and has already gotten acquainted with the Port Matilda and Buffalo Run charges.

Jack frost, the cut worms, ants and other pests have played havoc with many corn fields, but the late showers and warm sun have worked wonder, so no fear of a failure in the growing crops need be apprehended. The grass crop is coming on with much promise of a fair yield of hay, especially timothy.

Last Saturday Prof. Sparks of State College, accompanied by a number of noted anglers passed through our town on their way over Tussay mountains to spend a day casting the lines in the head waters of Laurel Run. They secured for their trouble a whole pint (?) of the speckled beauties.

Mr. David Stewart one of the P. R. R. company's trusted employees obtained a short leave of absence and spent Sunday with his brother-in-law G. W. McWilliams. Mr. Stewart was accompanied by his wife and their reception was a droning one at best for when they stepped off the train at Fairbrook the rain poured in torrents and continued to pour while they walked the two miles to their destination. It is needless to state that they sported borrowed finery that evening while their own hung around the stove.

DEATH OF MR. GATPS.—Mr. David Gates died at his home in Loveville, last Friday the 24th inst, after a lingering illness of some months in the 64th year of his age. He was buried Sunday morning in the Centre Line burying ground, with the Rev. Borgstrom of the First Lutheran church of Tyrone officiating. Mr. Gates was born at the old Gates home in Tadpole valley, and for many years was one of our prominent farmers and active workers for Jeffersonian principles in which faith he died. He was the father of a large family of children 3 of whom have preceded him to the grave. His wife survives to mourn the death of a kind husband, and the neighbors a good citizen, the church a consistent member and the Democratic party one of its staunchest supporters. Editor C. S. Gates of the Daily News, at Bellefonte is one of his children.

The following letters remain uncalled for in the Bellefonte P. O. May 21st, 1895.
Zeln Nansayth, Andre Knajirk, J. Kaplan, Niko Dolnar, Melalis Klaxins.
When called for please say advertised.
DAVID F. FORTNEY, P. M.

Books, Magazines Etc.

John Muir, the Californian naturalist and geologist, has written for the June number of The Century Magazine. It illustrates Prof. Sloane's life of Napoleon and is no less striking in its way than Grasset's famous "Sun of Austerlitz," which has already become so well known in this country. The subject is Napoleon in Egypt, just preceding the Battle of the Pyramids. Napoleon is seated upon his white charger, which has rich barbaric trappings of red and gold. The arm of the conqueror is extended, pointing to the Pyramids, as if uttering his ringing address, "Soldiers, forty centuries look down upon you from the summit of the Pyramids." Fast him march the troops. The yellow glare of the desert, the dun-colored sky and the brilliant uniform of Napoleon make an unusual harmony of color. During the present craze for poster-collecting, examples by Grasset are the most highly prized of all. The Century Company will issue a special edition of this poster for collectors, each copy signed by the artist.

The Century Company has issued a new poster by Eugene Grassett for the June number of The Century Magazine. In addition to the usual variety of topics, the June Forum has two striking features: the debate about "Coin's Financial School"; and a group of three striking educational papers—by Dr. Rice, President Thwing, and Mr. E. P. Powell.

If you want printing of any description the WATCHMAN office is the place to have it done.
