Bellefonte, Pa., June 14, 1895.

Farm Notes.

—Never use cross-bred fowls if you can get pure breeds. When a farmer begins to cross his flocks he soon gets down to scrubs.

—If an old hen's eyes are bright and her comb is tremulous and her movements quick, she is not past her usefulness, says an authority.

—It will not pay to have a single tree upon the farm that cannot receive special attention, and all trees that are not worth special care had better be removed.

—Green bones, cut fine, are more suitable for laying hens at this season than grain, and will enable the fowls to produce more eggs than when grain is used.

—If you have any space at all to spare, and your soil is suitable, plant a hill or two of watermelons. They will be a luxury later on in the season, and can be grown at a small cost.

—Stir the ground after each rain with the harrow or cultivator, and baking of the soil will be prevented, and the land kept loose on the top soil, so as to absorb more moisture from the next rain.

—Many farmers buy superphosphate because it is a fertilizer, and are content with it. A fertilizer, to be efficacious, should contain nitrogen, potash and phosphoric acid, according to the requirements of the crop and soil. It is seldom that the use of one substance alone gives satisfactory results.

—Oil is the cheapest substance to use on the farm just now, as it saves wear of implements. Have several oil cans at convenient points, so as not to be compelled to hunt for one. Neglect to use a cent's worth of oil may cause a loss of several dollars. Oil also saves labor by rendering the working of the implements much easier.

—When nature makes an egg she places the proper amount of moisture in it for a perfect hatch; therefore, a fresh egg hatches better than an old one, as the moisture is constantly escaping through the shell. The object of the incubator should be to supply heat; pay no attention to ventilation or moisture until chickens are about to hatch.

—When a few days old, separate the goslings from the mother and place in a movable pen, giving them plenty of water, bread crumbs and milk thickened with shorts or bran. Place the pen where the supply of grass is abundant. They will feather out in about six weeks and then can be allowed to go swimming with the rest of the flock.

—Last year horses were cheap, and farmers declared that never again would good prices be obtained, as there was less demand in the cities since electricity supplanted the car horses. The farmers who continued to breed horses, however, made no mistake, for already prices for work horses have gone up, and will continue to increase.

—When the thermometer is up in the nineties and the rays of the sun are severe it is just the time to kill weeds. They may take root and live if the soil is cool and damp, but when they are turned up and exposed to the dry heat of a warm summer day they are destroyed as if with fire. Any work in killing weeds during the severe weather will be amply repaid.

—During extremely warm weather the work horses should be watered frequently, even if they receive but two or three swallows at a time, or have their mouths swabbed after reaching the end of a row or two. Horses lose much water from their bodies and require water in consequence. Feed very little corn during excessively warm weather, as it is very heating.

—Turnips for stock should be made a special crop, and the summer is the time to grow them. As late as July, so as to use the new crop of turnip seed is the usual period of the year for planting turnips, but to excel with them the ground should be prepared now. Plow and spread well-rotted manure. Then let the weeds sprout and use the cultivator. By this plan the weeds will be killed out before the land is seeded.

—Sloppy food in summer is excellent for sows and pigs, but experienced breeders no longer feed filthy swill. When swill is placed in a barrel and allowed to ferment and sour it becomes impregnated with disease germs, and, although the pigs may appear to be thrifty, yet there is always a liability of loss at some time or other. Give the pigs clean food and thus have them produce pork that is fit for your table.

—Fertilizers for vineyards on sandy soils should consist mostly of potash and phosphates, applied early in the spring. All crops that produce large proportions of seed should be supplied with phosphates of some kind. For a weak orchard an application of 50 pounds of nitrate of soda, 200 pounds of superphosphate and 100 pounds of muriate of potash will prove beneficial if applied now and harrowed in. In the fall apply 20 bushels of air-slaked lime per acre, followed by 100 pounds of muriate of potash and 200 pounds of bone meal next spring.

The Valedictorian's Address.

Teachers, I congratulate you on having such a class.

Classmates, I congratulate you on having such teachers.

Superintendent, I congratulate you on having such teachers and scholars.

Teachers and classmates, I congratulate you on having such a superintendent.

Board of Education, I congratulate you on having such a superintendent, such teachers and scholars.

Superintendent, teachers and scholars, I congratulate you on having such a Board of Education, superintendent, teachers and classmates, I congratulate you on having such a valedictorian.

I congratulate myself on having such a Board of Education, superintendent, teachers and classmates.

I will conclude with a selection from my own original "Verses to a Greek God."

"Standing with reluctant feet
Where the brook and river meet,
I raise my skirts and wade right in
To marry a man who has some tin."
(Bows to Board of Education.
Bows to superintendent.
Bows to teachers.
Bows to classmates.
Bows to audience.)

IMPORTANT FACTS.—If you have dull and heavy pain across forehead and about the eyes, if the nostrils are frequently stopped up and followed by a disagreeable discharge; if soreness in the nose and bleeding from the nostrils is often experienced; if you are very sensitive to cold in the head accompanied with headache; then you may be sure you have catarrh; and should immediately resort to Ely's Cream Balm for a cure. The remedy will give instant relief.

—Probably the longest and most dangerous journey ever attempted in Alaska, and that, too, in midwinter, with the thermometer averaging 50 degrees below zero, has just been accomplished by Guy C. Merriam, an inspector of United States customs, who has returned to the United States. From Fort Cudahy, Northwest Territory, within the rim of the Arctic circle, Mr. Merriam made a perilous descent of the Yukon to Fort St. Michael's, Bering Straits, then across a comparatively unexplored wilderness in the wildest and most dangerous part of the Territory of Alaska to Kadiak, thence by steamer to Sitka. The trip extended over 6000 miles and, excepting Indian guides, he traveled alone. Two teams of sleds, drawn by six dogs each, were used. The pioneers of Alaska concede this to be the longest and most dangerous mid-winter journey ever attempted.

YOU'VE NO IDEA—How nicely Hood's Sarsaparilla hits the needs of the people who feel all tired out or run down from any cause. It seems to oil up the whole mechanism of the body so that all moves smoothly and work becomes delight. If you are weak, tired and nervous, Hood's Sarsaparilla is just what you need. Try it.

Tribute of Respect.

WHEREAS, It has pleased an all wise Providence to remove by death Miss Ada Kreamer of Boalsburg, a member of our C. E. Society, therefore, be it

Resolved That while we recognize in this dispensation the hand of Him who doeth all things well, we sincerely mourn the loss of a useful member of our community.

Resolved That we deeply sympathize with the bereaved family, especially with the one who is a member of our society, and pray that our Heavenly Father give her strength to endure her loss.

Resolved That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family and that they be published in the DEMOCRATIC WATCHMAN and Keystone Gazette.

BY ORDER OF COMMITTEE.

SAVED MRS. RENNIE'S LIFE—Mrs. Jennie Rennie of Virgil, N. Y., had been sick for a year or more with overflow of the gall and ulcers of the stomach. Her physician told her she could not live. Mrs. Rennie's mother had found such benefit from the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, that she persuaded her daughter to use it, which she did, with the result that it cured her of these diseases, and she says she was never as well as now.

Business Notice.

Children Cry or Pitcher's Castoria.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
