—A. M. Mott, the Bellefonte marble dealer, has just received a beautiful granite shaft that will soon mark the grave of the late Mrs. Joseph, in the Jewish cemetery.

—A heavy thunder storm passed over this place shortly after noon on Tuesday. Aside from the usual wash-outs in hilly districts no damage was done. Considerable hail fell.

—Jacob Garbick, of Willowbank street, has been walking on air ever since Monday, when a great big boy baby came to his house. It took the wee stranger seven years to find Jake's home.

—Mr. Tom Collins' many friends will be glad to know that he is no longer on the sick list. And while he is not as strong as they would wish him to be he is able to go driving and is fast regaining his usual health.

—The Methodist Sunday school of State College will hold a basket picnic at Hunter's park, on Saturday, July 27th, and we thank our friend Benj. Beaver for a kind invitation to enjoy it with himself and his estimable wife.

—A young tornado tore up one of Harry Hoover's farms, two miles west of Unionville, on Wednesday evening of last week. Trees were blown down, the barn was unroofed and moved twelve inches off its foundation, while a portion of the roof, 18 ft square, was carried to a neighboring corn field 500 yards away.

—On Monday evening, July 16th, William Greene, the baggage man at the Brockenhoff house was married to Miss Elizabeth Harding. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. A. Grant at the A. M. E. parsonage. Both of the young people are well known in colored social circles of the town and are the recipients of hearty congratulations.

—Messrs. Claud Cooke, of this place, and A. J. Griest, of Unionville, constitute the firm of Cooke & Griest the new operators of the Unionville grist mill. The mill has been fitted up with the roller system and began operation on Monday. The firm is paying cash for grain, so that it can readily be seen that they intend putting their flour on the market at an early date. With two such energetic men back of it and with the confidence they will inspire in the public there ought to be no end to the business they will do.

—On Tuesday our old friend Mr. Charley Brown sent us down a poke of gooseberries of his own raising that were, verily, as large as hen eggs. Some people excel in one thing while others are leaders in another, but Mr. Brown certainly leads the van of goose-berry cultivators. Year after year his crop turns out good and it seems, the berry is annually growing larger. Mr. Brown is far advanced in years, though that doesn't detract from the pleasure he takes in gardening and you can always procure the choicest specimens of produce at his little store on Pine street.

FELL DEAD WHILE HOING POTATOES.—A well known College township farmer, Jacob Fishburn, died very suddenly Monday evening while working in a truck patch on his farm near Houserville. He was hoeing potatoes about five o'clock when last seen alive by his wife who later found him dead in a furrow, at half-past six, when she went out to look for her turkeys.

It is supposed that death was caused by rheumatism of the heart, although when found the body was greatly discolored. Mr. Fishburn was 65 years old and leaves a widow with four children. One son, Frank S., is a carpenter at Houserville; a daughter is married to Lyman Corman, of this place, while Thomas and Elizabeth are at home.

Deceased was a brother of Michael and Henry Fishburn of near this place and was buried from his late home on Wednesday morning.

J. MATLOCK KEPHART DEAD.—The death of J. M. Kephart, which occurred at Roanoke, Va., on Thursday, July 11th, after a long illness with kidney disease was not unexpected since letters to his many friends in this county, several weeks ago, bore the sad news of his rapidly failing health and his evident approach to death.

Deceased was born at Rock Forge, this county, April 4th, 1815, and early in the fifties he was married to Miss Euphemia Gray. Their union having been blessed with five children, three of whom are living, viz.: Mrs. W. Clarke Tate, of Roanoke, Va.; Mrs. S. K. Dickerson, of Radford, Va., and Miss Lillian Kephart, who makes her home with her sister, Mrs. Tate.

The remains were brought here Friday evening and taken on to Fillmore. It had been a last desire of Mr. Kephart to be buried from the old farm home where he had lived so long and happily. Services were held Sunday morning, Rev. Singer, officiating and interment was made at Gray's burying ground.

Mr. Kephart's wife died in October, 1865, and, besides his three children, one brother and two sisters survive. They are Caleb Kephart Esq., and Mrs. Agnes Sellers, of Fillmore, and Mrs. M. A. Dickerson, of Minneapolis, Minn.

The remains of Joseph Shultz were interred in the Catholic cemetery in this place, on Monday morning, at 9 o'clock. They had been brought to his home here from Waynesburg, in Greene county, on Saturday night. Mr. Shultz was a well drilled by profession and had been working in the oil country ever since he finished putting down wells at the ore mines near this place. He was engaged with others drilling for gas in the vicinity of Waynesburg and a few days ago a strong flow was struck. The drillers were using gas to run their engine with and it had 100 lbs pressure. When they went to work Friday morning they found the gas "froze" and when it was turned into the steam box of the engine the men noticed the machine quiver and all ran away except Joe. He went to turn the gas off and had just reached the engine when it exploded. The concussion knocked him face downward and the flying machinery fell on his limbs and crushed them so that amputation was necessary; one near the thigh and the other below the knee. During the afternoon he expressed a desire to have Dr. Harris of this place summoned, but he died soon after in his wife's arms.

Deceased was a brother-in-law of Edward Woods, of this place, and though his home was still here he intended moving to Waynesburg the week after he was killed. He was a large, handsome man and was a member of the West Branch council, No. 321, A. O. U. M., of Lock Haven, in which his life was insured for $2,000.

The death of Mrs. Harriett Linn occurred at her home, on North Spring street, this place, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. Her death was the result of an apopleptic stroke she received while walking on Allegheny street, in front of the Exchange, last Thursday evening. She was taken home, in Col. Reynold's carriage which happened near at the time and lingered in unconsciousness until her death.

She was the widow of the late James H. Linn whose name was for years associated with the McCoy's in the Milesburg iron works and was 79 years old. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The death of David Rhue occurred at his late home on Wallace's Run, on Wednesday of last week. Deceased was born in Northumberland county in 1821 and was consequently 74 years old.

Rev. E. B. Snyder, who was pastor of the Bellefonte Methodist church in 1858, died at Oklawaha, Fla., on June 28th. His remains were interred at Jacksonville.

—Dr. Clyde VanValin, of Unionville, will open a dental office on the fourth floor of "Temple Court."

TWO BROTHERS DROWNED.—On the Fourth of July, W. H. Fishburn, of Grand Island, Hall county, Neb., with a few of his neighbors and two of his sons, went to the Platte river to spend the day fishing. The party consisted of seven men and some boys. They were fishing with a sein, the current being strong and the water very deep in places. Tom Fishburn, aged 19, the youngest son of W. H. Fishburn, stepped off into deep water and was carried by the swift current into a whirlpool. Being unable to swim he could not help himself. Peter McCullough, one of the party, a good swimmer, made a heroic effort to save him. He swam in, got hold of Tom but owing to the strong current and the weight of the drowning man being two hundred and ten pounds, McCullough could not manage him. They went under and it was feared both were lost, until they came to the surface and McCullough lost his hold on Fishburn and with a narrow escape saved his own life. Fishburn went down for the last time.

The party, through the excitement of saving Tom, lost sight of Will, the older brother, aged twenty-two, and when he was again seen he too was going down for the last time. Not one of the party can tell much about Will, but it is supposed that through the excitement of seeing his drowning brother's condition he forgot that he too was unable to swim and gave his own life in trying to save his brother's. We can only imagine this scene to a grief-stricken father standing on the banks of the river conscious of his inability to save his sons who were drowning before his eyes.

The search for the bodies was then begun. It was not long before one was found three-fourths of a mile down the stream. The bodies were then placed in a wagon and the sad party started on their homeward journey, a distance of nine miles. The grief-stricken father was taken home as quickly as possible, carrying the sad news to his only daughter and sister of the drowned men. Daniel, now the only son, was at Lincoln at the time and arrived home barely in time to witness the burial of his brothers. The loss of these two young men is sadly felt by a large community as they were highly esteemed by all who knew them.

Here we will draw the attention of the reader, to the Fishburn family as residents of Centre county. Fourteen years ago W. H. Fishburn with his wife, whose maiden name was Mary J. Houser, and his four children, moved from Centre county to Hall county, Neb., fourteen months after, his wife was stricken with disease and after an illness of two weeks died. The date of her death is July 6th, 1883.

Twelve years have passed and the funeral services of her two sons took place on July 6th, 1895, the twelfth anniversary of her death.

Peter McCullough, who made the heroic effort to save the drowning man, was also at one time a resident of Bellefonte.

AN OLD GATESBURGER DEAD.—With the death of Christopher Harpster the vicinity of Gatesburg lost a man who had lived there during the whole of his life of 72 years. He had suffered with dropsy for some time and occasionally was troubled with an uneasiness about his heart, but he was able to be about all the time and was in this place to attend the Democratic county convention the early part of June. Up to the day before his death nothing alarming had developed in his condition and when he retired there was nothing to indicate his nearness to death. During the night, however, he was taken suddenly ill and was dead at 8 o'clock Saturday morning.

Deceased is survived by a wife with four grown children. The funeral was held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, services having been held in the Lutheran church and interment made in the adjacent cemetery. Rev. C. T. Aikens, of Pine Grove Mills, officiated, assisted by Rev. Krider.

Mr. Harpster was a pleasant old man whom every one respected.

Mrs. James Parsons died at her home three miles above Unionville, on Thursday of last week. She had suffered more or less for almost a score of years and her death was a release from a wearied existence. She was 70 years old and leaves a husband with five children to mourn her death. Deceased became a member of the Methodist church when only 17 years old and lived uprightly in that faith until the time of her death. Rev. J. Zeigler officiated at her burial on Sunday.

Camp 571 P. O. S. of A. will hold a picnic at Scotia, on Saturday, August 3rd, to which the public is cordially invited.

—John A. Kelly and Lawrence Nugent, of Snow Shoe, have leased the Cato coal mines from Mackay & Rosenthal, of New York.

—Mr. Karstetter, of Pleasant Gap, has the contract to rebuild the house recently destroyed by fire for Mr. George Dale, at Dale's Summit.

PROBABLE FATAL ACCIDENT AT CURTIN'S YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.—About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Elmer Barger, a 23 year old son of James Barger, of Curtin's Works, was run over by a west bound freight train and possibly fatally injured. He was sitting on the middle of the track, just a short distance above the station when the train approached and when he did not move, in response to the repeated whistling of the locomotive, an attempt was made to stop the train, but it was too late. The engine and seven cars passed over him, tearing and mangle his body in a terrible manner. The train stopped immediately and the young man was taken out from under the cars and carried to his home by the trainmen and some others who were about the station, when the accident occurred. Dr. Hoy was immediately summoned from this place and was joined by Dr. Locke who went down on the train shortly afterwards. They found it necessary to amputate the left leg and left arm. The operation was performed last evening at 7 o'clock and up to the time of our going to press it was not known whether the unfortunate young man would survive it or not. He was badly cut about the head and may have suffered internal injuries. The doctors expressed little hope of his recovery.

He is a grand son of Centre county's oldest woman, "Grand-ma" Barger, aged 104 years.

SUSPECTED OF POST OFFICE ROBBERY.—Saturday night officers Montgomery and Gares arrested two men closely answering the description of the fellows wanted for robbing Parker's store and the post office at Roland on June 18th. They registered at E. P. Edward Hanahan, aged 24, single, Williamsport, and James O'Neil, aged 30, single, Altoona.

The men had been seen about town all day and would have been taken for ordinary tramps had it not been for their uneasy, shifty movements. They got drunk towards evening and were promptly arrested. A new revolver was found on O'Neil, while Hanahan carried a razor in a black oil-cloth case.

The officers said nothing of their suspicions that they had the Roland robbers until J. M. Parker, the proprietor of the store down there, with his clerk, Mr. Wantz, had been sent for. They arrived Sunday morning and the latter positively identified O'Neil as the man who had threatened to shoot him in bed that night; while several other people remembered having seen them about the village during the day. The Bellefonte officers were given a clue as to who the men were by a resident of Curtin's Works who was in town that day and recognized them as the fellows who had looted about the store the day before the robbery. There was another man in the party, but he eluded the officers and got away. He was arrested at Lock Haven, on Monday, after having given our officers the slip by going to the Intersection and boarding a freight for that place. The third suspect gave his name as George Noll.

The post office authorities at Pittsburg were notified and the U. S. inspector ordered the men taken to Williamsport for a hearing on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when U. S. District Attorney Hall will be present to prosecute the case. The men are all in jail in Williamsport in default of $500 bail each. They were taken taken down Tuesday morning and if acquitted of the charge of post office robbery Mr. Parker will proceed against them for the robbing of his store. They carried off about $80 in stamps and merchandise; among the latter being some knives, two barrows, which Mr. Parker identified as part of his stock, having been found on the men when arrested. There seems to be every indication that these are the right men. They had plenty of pennies and nickles on their persons, when arrested, just the kind of money that was taken from the post office. If they are the guilty parties there will be a reward of $200 to divide.

A JOLLY SET OF CAMPERS.—Four Bellefonte boys—Ed. Harris, Ed. Hoy, Tom Beaver and Fred Blanchard—passed through our town, on Saturday, in a camping wagon drawn by Tom Beaver's king team. The boys started out from Bellefonte several weeks ago on a camping expedition and have been to Lewistown, Harrisburg, Lewisburg, Lock Haven and up through the Bald Eagle valley. They were going from here to Clearfield and back to Bellefonte by way of Winburne and Snow Shoe. They were in excellent health and spirits and were having a perfectly grand time. Tom Beaver is ex-Governor Beaver's son, Harris is the son of banker John P. Harris, Hoy is a son of the lamented Judge Hoy and Blanchard is a son of the late Edmund Blanchard.

—Mr. and Mrs. Shaffer, of Overbrook, with their daughter, Miss Annie, and Mr. and Mrs. James N. Lane, of Philadelphia, with their son, Richard, have been spending some time at the home of Mrs. J. V. Thomas, corner of Curtin and Allegheny streets.

—Bond Valentine and his brother Edward are visiting relatives in Bellefonte. The former is an employee in the Broad street station in Philadelphia, while Ed has been employed by Bailey, Banks & Biddle since leaving here several years ago.

—Wilbur Harris came up from Harrisburg Tuesday evening, ostensibly to visit his parents in this place until Monday, but it is the general belief that he left his desk in the executive department to get a "line" on the fight that is being made on Hastings in this county.

—T. B. Budge was in town Monday hustling around as is his custom, always when away from his store at Snow Shoe. He is the John Wanamaker of the old mining town and keeps the competition out there jumping. He is rebuilding the barn that was struck by lightning and burned down several weeks ago.

—Farmer Robert McKnight Esq. was in town, on Monday, looking as if things were running as smooth as oil at his new home at Fillmore. From the dignified appearance of our old friend as he sported around town in a fine frock coat we couldn't help but conclude that husbandry is the noblest of man's callings.

Mrs. Hutchinson of east Howard street, left Tuesday morning with her son Harry, the Penny ticket agent and all around public information bureau at this place. She went direct to Kane where her son Tom lives. He is an express agent between Kane and Butler, but makes his home at the former place. Harry went as far as Lock Haven with her, but will go to Kane to day or to-morrow.

—Mr. H. T. McDowell, a pleasant young man whose mail reaches him at Alders, drove all the way up from his home, on Wednesday, to spend a day in Bellefonte. How he ever could go past the two big Sunday school picnics, at Hecla and Clintondale, we couldn't understand, but when we saw him chatting with Hon. James Schofield we knew he would be well entertained during part of his visit at least.

—Among the hundreds of Williamsport people who attended the Methodist picnic at Hecla yesterday was a former Pine Grove Mills young gentleman, J. D. Hess, who is now located in the Lumber city. With a party of picnickers he came up to this place to spend an hour or so and had a jolly time seeing what was to be seen in the short time of their stay here. He told us that there had been fourteen car loads of people brought to the park and that they were all Methodists too.

—A former Bellefonte merchant and a former Bellefonte girl were here over Sunday, guests at the Brockenhoff house. When we say that it was Joe Bauland and his charming wife many of our readers will remember the genial hustler who used to cater to Centre county trade in the great "Bee Hive" store that he sold later to the Goldsmiths. Mrs. Bauland is possibly better known than her husband, because nearly everyone about the town remembers vivacious pretty Josie Granter when she made her home at Lock's corner of Spring and Bishop streets. Mr. Bauland was on his way to New York where he will meet ten of his buyers and it will take their combined efforts until fall to stock his two mammoth stores in the Windy city.

—Rep. Phil. E. Womelsdorf was in town on Wednesday, interested in a possible suit which Morgan, Hale & Co. propose bringing against the Phillipsburg Water Co. His appearance in town caused no little excitement among the Hastings cohorts here as it has frequently been given out that Mr. Womelsdorf is a friend of Mr. Quay. While this latter might be the case he has no idea of opposing Hastings' aspirations in the county, though he has excellent reasons for being against the administration. While in Harrisburg he made a careful, conscientious Member and simply because he could not be led around by the nose and ordered to support all the corporation and salary grabbing measures, the Governor saw fit to father, he was counted without the sycophantic breast works that surround the administration.

A TRILBY IN THE CENTRE COUNTY JAIL.—Sheriff Condo has to do with many whims indulged by the prisoners of different temperaments who come under his care, but the original creations of George Goodman, who is awaiting trial for a serious crime, have lost their funny side and on Sunday the Sheriff had to promise him a good thrashing before he would consent to lay aside his fad.

It appears that Goodman insisted on appearing in a pair of knee breeches, without stockings or shoes, and as his "Trilbies" were not any too prepossessing in appearance there was a general expression of disapproval among the other prisoners. Goodman stood out for his bare legs and feet, however, for four days. On Saturday the Sheriff bought him new trousers, but he did not put them on until told that some one else would do it for him unless he did. On Sunday morning he appeared in the new trousers for breakfast, but soon after had the knickerbockers on again. This exasperated the Sheriff and calling his deputy they went to the cell and tore the old breeches off him. Then he was told that if he ventured out of his cell without his new clothes on he would be flogged. It is needless to say he has been zealously guarding against such treatment.

ODD FELLOWS PICNIC.—On Saturday, July 20th, the Nittany valley lodge No. 1054, I. O. O. F., will hold their second annual picnic at Hecla park. Preparations have been made for the reception of a large number of people and a general good time is assured. Arrangements have been made with the Central road to run trains as follows:

Leave Bellefonte at 7:40, 9:00 and 11:00 a. m., 3:35, 6:30 and 8:15 p. m. Leave Mill Hall at 9:12 a. m., 12:30, 5:05 and 9:37 p. m. Two trains will leave the park in the evening at 10:45 p. m., one for Bellefonte and the other to Mill Hall.

—Clearance Sale—One Price—Cash—Montgomery & Co.

HOW DID IT GET THERE?—While a son of Henry J. Brungard, of near Salona, was picking huckleberries on the Nittany mountain yesterday he noticed something bright on a rock beneath the bush he was picking from. Closer inspection proved it to be a silver quarter partly overgrown with moss. How it got there, in the dense forest, with no clearing near it, and how long it may have been there, are queries no one can answer.—Lock Haven Democrat.

—Don't forget to read the Globe's advertisement this week. It's of interest to you.

COONS ON EXHIBITION.—To-morrow James McClure, Bellefonte's manager man, will have an old mother coon and a litter of little ones on exhibition at his harness shop, on Bishop street. He bought the animals from a man at market Saturday morning and has installed them with the others in his little zoo. If you want to see a cute sight go round to McClure's and see the new coons in town.

WHERE YOU CAN BUY THE CHEAPEST.—It is a question of dollars and cents after all. No matter what people say it is as natural to save a penny in buying as it is to eat dinner at the dinner hour. Opportunities to make great savings are not often to be had, but Lyon & Co's., big advertisement in this issue affords just such a chance. Read it and profit by the bargains it holds out. A dollar saved is a dollar earned.
