Captain Quigley was a student for a year at the College and only a few months at West Point, so he is a graduate of neither institution.

His upper lip was torn clear through, exposing the teeth, his left eyelid was cut badly and a long gash from his right eye to the corner of his mouth required several stitches to close up. It is necessary for him to take his food in liquid form, as he cannot open his mouth.

COUNCIL IN SEMI-MONTHLY SESSION.

—The regular meeting of council, on Monday evening, was varied somewhat by the installation of Mr. H. C. Valentine who succeeds Judge Beaver as a member from the North ward. Mr. Valentine was appointed to fill all committee positions held by Judge Beaver, previous to his resignation.
There were a number of visitors present, all of whom had some grievance or another to be fixed up. First among them was old Mrs. Bradley, who complained that she had been assessed $3.25 water tax, for occupying one room, while other people in the same house, who occupy three rooms, are assessed only $2.25. Dr. T. R. Hayes was among the complainants on the water assessment. He wanted to know why his rate had been increased from $12 to $19. While he had the floor he complimented council on the new crossing that had replaced a dangerous one on north Allegheny street and advised them to put in another, just like it, on the opposite side. Dr. R. G. H. Hayes was there too. He wanted council to look after the crossing between his property and that of Mrs. Louisa Bush on Spring street. The crossing there is really in a very dangerous condition and has been so for years, so that it ought to be fixed at once. Among other requests for crossings were those of Wm. Dawson, for a new one between the Loeb and Lieb properties on Spring street; J. Malcolm Laurie, for one to his new laundry on Water street; Harry Yeager for the repairing of the crossing from the McBride property to the Brant house on Allegheny street and C. F. Gerberich for a new one on Thomas street. All these, together with S. H. Diehl's request for a pavement grade for his Willowbank street property, were referred to the Street committee.
President Fortney and D. W. Bartley, of the school board, then presented a plan for ventilating the North ward school building by means of a fan supplying thirty thousand cubic feet of air per hour. As the fan would have to be run by a water motor it was referred to the Water committee.
Mary DuBois's (colored) application for tax exoneration was referred to the Finance committee, with power to act.
The Finance committee recommended a tax levy for the ensuing year, as follows: 2 mills for borough, 3 for street and 4 for interest, this being a reduction of 2 mills over last year's total. Under this head the treasurer reported a balance of $13,074.57 due him.
The Street committee reported various work done and was instructed to proceed at once with the opening of south Potter street. The reservoir was reported cleaned and the pumps at the water works running thirteen hours per day as against twenty-four hours at this time last year. The police were reported in new uniforms, but without helmets and the probable cost of a sewer, 5x3 ft. from the alley at Munson's property, on Allegheny street, through to the creek, was reported at from $1,500 to $2,000.
After approving bills aggregating $923.44 council adjourned.
THE OLD GAME OF FLIM-FLAM.—On Saturday night, just before the express left for Lock Haven, a versatile fellow dropped into Krumrine's drug store, on Allegheny street, and made a small purchase. In payment he laid down a ten dollar bill and was given five dollars in paper and the balance of his change in silver. When this was done the stranger discovered that he had enough small change about him to pay the amount and asked to have his bill returned. Mr. Krumrine handed him the money whereupon the stranger returned only the coin of the change he had received, retaining the $5 in paper.
Mr. Krumrine did not notice how neatly he had been done until after the fellow left the store, then he hunted up the police and put the case in their hands. Officer Gares arrested the stranger, just as he was ready to depart for Lock Haven. He protested that he was innocent but paid over the five while claiming that he had no idea of his having cheated the druggist. He swore he intended coming back here this week to investigate and took a receipt from the officer. He has not returned yet.
Louis Doll's shoe store, on Bishop street, Aikens, Bauers and Joseph Bros. & Co. were other stores the flim-flam man tried to work, but without success. This week's Clearfield papers tell of two fellows from Boston trying to work the same game on merchants over there.

—It is said that lump indigo applied to a snake bite will cure it. A horse owned by Robert Simcox, of Queen's Run, was bitten on the nose, while eating grass about a week ago, and was cured with indigo.
—Work will soon be commenced on a new $12,000 gymnasium for the Central State Normal school at Lock Haven. It is to be 100 x 60 feet, two stories high, with ball cage, bowling alley, bath and lockers and complete gymnastic appliances.
—Remember the excursion for the Sea Shore via the Pennsylvania R. R., Thursday, August 15th, is by regular trains known as No. 14, Sea Shore Express, and No. 8, Day Express. Pullman buffet parlor cars are attached to these trains and that the rates are extremely low, only $5.75.
—S. W. Bowman and Lyman Pray, of Williamsport, made a century run on their bicycles, on Sunday. They rode to Lock Haven, thence to the brick church at Zion and returned by the same route. Their cyclometers showed that it is just fifty miles from the brick church at Zion to Williamsport.
—It is thought now that Daniel Worner, the mysteriously disappeared Lock Haven mason, is lost in the mountains in the vicinity of Loganton. He has been missing since July 19th, but is thought to have been seen on the 25th ult. at the home of Mr. Meisler, at Loganton, where a man answering his description took dinner that day.
—The Lloyd house, at Philipsburg, was sold at sheriff's sale on the 1st inst. to Pollard & Co., a Pittsburg liquor firm for $1,300. Dick Bowen, the embarrassed proprietor, is said to have lost $10,000 in the house, though everyone else who ever ran it made money. It is the oldest house in the town and is now in charge of Mr. Pickering, from Houtzdale.
—John Miller, aged 19 years, son of an itinerant scissor grinder, was killed by lightning, near Duncansville, on Sunday evening. He, with his father, mother, two sisters and a Mrs. Fay, left Williamsport, their home, some time ago to lead a gypsy life. The party was in camp near Duncansville when a storm came up and John got under an oak tree that was soon struck, resulting in his death, and the fearful burning of one of his sisters and Mrs. Fay.
—The other day sheriff Fulmer, of Lycoming county discharged a pickpocket, who was awaiting trial at court, instead of a prisoner incarcerated for some petty offense, whose release had been ordered. The mistake was made in transcribing the name from the commitment docket. The fellow was greatly surprised when the turnkey gave him his freedom and hung around the city for several days, until he heard that his release was a mistake, then he could not be found.

A TOY CANNON EXPLODED.—Residents in the vicinity of Logan and Allegheny streets were startled, about 6 o'clock Tuesday evening, by a terrific report, followed by a general scattering of small boys who had been congregating near the rear of the Brant house stable.

An investigation disclosed an alarming situation. Albert Schrock, the 13 year old son of Christ Schrock, a Bishop street blacksmith; Harvey McClure, son of James I. McClure, and Eddie Doll, son of the shoe man Louis Doll, had been playing with a cannon made out of a piece of gas pipe. The McClure boy had procured some powder at his father's store and after Eddie Doll had loaded the cannon Albert Schrock attempted to fire it off. It was hard to get it lighted and after repeated efforts to make the thing go off Albert grew more venturesome and sat down beside it holding a lighted match up to the tap hole. The other boys ran off to a safe distance, but Schrock seemed to forget the danger of his position and remained where he was. The cannon exploded in an instant and burned the boy frightfully. His face and right hand were burned to a crisp.
When seen Wednesday morning he was lying on a cot at his home with his head and hand swathed in cotton. He had been carried there, after the accident, by Paul Fortney and Martin Berger. It will be necessary to pick the powder out of his face in order that traces of it will not be seen after he recovers, though he is too much swollen for such an operation just now. The little fellow seemed cheerful even while suffering as he did.
A LITTLE BOY LOST IN THE MOUNTAINS.—Harry H. Wance, the eight year old son of David Wance, of Aaronsburg, accompanied his father to the mountains, north of that place, last Saturday morning, to pick huckleberries. During the day a daughter of Mr. Wance joined them and continued with them until afternoon then the boy started home, the father thinking he was with the daughter and she thinking he was with the father. When they met and found him with neither one, they supposed he had gone on home, but upon their arrival there they found that he had not returned. This alarmed them and immediately a large searching party was organized.
Armed with torches they made a thorough search of the mountain in the vicinity in which the people had been berrying, but found no traces of the child. The party was greatly disheartened when mid-night came and they had to return empty handed. Meanwhile the little boy had emerged from the mountain and found his way to the home of John Auman, in Brush Valley. He was cut and bruised, his clothes were torn in shreds and he was just about exhausted. The kind family washed him up and after giving him a good meal he was able to tell them the direction of his home. Straightway his father was sent for and went immediately to find his son peacefully sleeping, worn out by wandering eight miles through mountain thickets.
HAS OPENED AN OFFICE IN ALTOONA.—Dr. H. K. Hoy, one of Bellefonte's best known physicians, has taken charge of the practice and office of the late Dr. J. W. Allen, of Altoona, and is located in the Mountain city for a few months at least. The change is not a permanent one at present, for Dr. Hoy will not move away from Bellefonte and has made arrangements whereby Dr. Locke will take care of his practice here while he is in Altoona. It is merely experimental, but might result in his permanent location in Altoona.
Mrs. Hoy will accompany the doctor and they will be located at 1017, Fourteenth avenue, right in the central portion of the city. His sisters will remain to keep the house here open.
A MOVEMENT TO START THE GLASS WORKS.—At a meeting of the Bellefonte Board of Trade, held in the court house, on Tuesday evening, it was decided to offer the glass works plant here, free of rent, to any person or persons who will come and operate it for two years. The plan is to advertise this proposition in trade journals and after the works are started to offer the operator an option of buying or leasing for a fixed period.
No other business was transacted at the meeting, except to talk over the proposed organization of a local telephone stock company.
DEATH OF MRS. SAMUEL LYON.—Aged Mrs. Samuel Lyon died at her home near Hoy's school house, on the Jacksonsville road, on Saturday evening, after a lingering illness incident to old age. It is said that for sixty long years she and her husband had lived happily together, never knowing what a domestic difference meant, so that her death leaves Mr. Lyon particularly sad and lonesome in his old age. She was the mother of Mr. Shuman Lyon and her remains were interred at Curtin's Works, on Tuesday, Rev. J. C. Young, of the Methodist church, having officiated.
