The Bannocks and Their Treaty Rights.

The second section of Article IV of the Constitution of the United States declares that "this Constitution and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties which shall be made under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the Judges in every State are bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding."

By treaty with the Bannock Indians the United States have guaranteed to them the right of hunting. The State of Wyoming has passed an act which prohibits all non-residents from pursuing, hunting or killing any deer, elk, moose, mountain sheep, mountain goat, antelope or buffalo by any means whatever. The Bannocks are non-residents, but their treaty gives them the right to hunt game. While in the exercise of this right several of their number have been killed, and a military force has been sent to preserve the peace. With these facts confronting him, Commissioner Browning, of the Interior Department, is reported to have said:

"We should like to stop their hunting, but have no power to do so. The treaty is plain, and is binding on us. If the Courts decide that the State laws are superior to the treaty of the United States Government with the Indians the matter will be settled, and we shall be very glad of it."

How anybody, with the Constitution of the United States before him, could suppose that the Courts might decide that the law of Wyoming was paramount to a treaty of the United States is passing strange. The treaty is the supreme law, and the Judges in every State are bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding. If the Courts of Wyoming should sustain the law of the State as against the treaty the matter would not be settled. Such a decision would be nullity.

An act of Congress may supersede a prior treaty; but a State law never. A treaty is a law of the land, as an act of Congress is, and may be repealed or modified by an act of a latter date. But so far as the several States are concerned a treaty is irrevocable and unchangeable. They must observe its provisions. The Bannocks are a small tribe, but at the same time they are a nation, recognized as such by the Federal Government in the making of treaties with them and in the relations always maintained toward them, and cannot therefore, be made subject to the legislation of individual States in derogation of their autonomy and treaty rights.

The Indians have a right to the perpetual possession of their lands in their own way till they abandon them, make a cession of them to the Government or an authorized sale to individuals. This right of perpetual possession is guaranteed to them by treaty when they are placed on reservations.

But the result is always the same, and the process leading to it was clearly stated by the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of the Shawnees, report in Fifth Wallace. These Indians had their home in Ohio and Missouri; but the incoming tide of immigration pressed upon them, and they made a treaty with the Government yielding up their present possessions, and stipulating for a home in Kansas, "as long as grass grows and water runs." "They, therefore," said the Supreme Court, "removed under the assured protection of the Government, to enjoy, as they expected, in perpetuity, free from encroachment, a home adapted to their habits and customs. But these expectations were not to be realized, for the spirit of American enterprise God save the mark!) in a few years reached their country, and the same white population that pressed upon them in Ohio and Missouri followed them there." Under the pressure of the "white population" and the Federal Government the Shawnees made a new treaty. They surrendered their home in Kansas, which was to be eternal to them and their posterity, and made their way to the Indian Territory, and were finally adopted by the Cherokees.

Evidently, the Bannocks, in like manner, will be forced by pressure to give up "the perpetual possession" of their lands and their treaty right to kill game; for American enterprise is abroad in their neighborhood, and will not be balked. But the pity of it all!—Record.

No Third Term for Any President.

The Sort of Talk for All Menly Democratic Newspaper.

Inasmuch as the charge is made that Democrats are "afraid to say a word" on this subject, the Record is perfectly willing to affirm that it is inflexibly opposed to a third term of the Presidency for Mr. Cleveland or any body else. We believe the precedent set by Washington should stand unbroken. There is no law compelling observance of that precedent; but public sentiment enjoins such observance, and public sentiment still rules the country. Mr. Cleveland's merits as a wise, safe, and able President do not enter into the question at all. The objection to the third term is a popular conviction not referable to any prejudice against individuals. It was powerful enough to defeat and humiliate Gen. Grant before Grover Cleveland was elected to the Mayoralty of Buffalo, and it will be pervasive and supreme, we hope and believe, when the present generation of citizens has faded into the procession of the past. Such is our view of the third term question, and such, we are convinced, is the view of President Cleveland.

Ought to Go On.

"What do you think of my new hat?" asked Mrs. Lowde. "Well," returned her dearest friend, "I should call it a percussion cap, as it is so very flashy."

Outcome of Experiments With Forty-four Varieties of Wheat.

The comparison of new and standard varieties of wheat begun by the State College Agricultural Experiment Station in 1890 has been continued through the present season. They were grown under as nearly similar conditions of soil, exposure, fertilizers, drainage, culture, etc., as possible, and the yields reported below are from careful weights of the products of the different plots made at the time of threshing.

The plots were one-twentieth acre in size. The land was plowed early in August to a depth of six or seven inches, thoroughly pulverized and firmed. All varieties sown September 1st, at the rate of seven pecks per acre.

*Average of 22 varieties for all the years tested.

Twenty six of the varieties have been grown side by side for the past six years. Seven of these have been under trial for three consecutive years and the trial with eleven sorts covers two years.

In 1895, the Mealy, a smooth red wheat, produced 36.36 bushels per acre, the largest yield of any variety tested. Following this variety in the order of their production are: Reliable 34.2, Royal Australian 33.5, Miami Valley 32.7, American Bronze 32.45 and Jones' Square Head 32.44.

A far safer measure of the value of the varieties tested will be found in the column showing the average yield for the past six years. This column shows that seven varieties have given an average yield of over thirty bushels per acre, viz., Reliable 33.6 bushels, Fulcrater 30.9, Valley 30.7, Ontario Wonder 30.2, Wyandotte Red 30.1, Deitz Longberry Red 30.1, Currell's Prolific 30.2. It will be observed that Mealy, the variety giving the largest yield this year is not included in the seven most productive sorts, which forcibly illustrates the danger of forming a judgment of the value of a variety from the results of a single season.

H. J. WATERS, Agriculturist.

The Thoughtful Chauncey.

A good story is told on Chauncey Depew. He received a letter from a young married friend in Albany asking for a pass for his mother-in-law, who was coming to make him a visit, and closing with the delicate hint, "Don't forget to have the return coupon attached." Mr. Depew is nothing if not worldly wise and sympathetic, and in sending the pass he wrote, "I have not neglected the return coupon and have limited it to three days."

When the 20th Century Will Begin.

The twentieth century will begin on January 1, 1901. It requires a hundred complete years to make a century; consequently the nineteenth century is not ended until December 31, 1900. The following day is the first day of the first year of the new century.

A JURY COMPOSED OF WOMEN.—Such an announcement may seem strange, but it is a fact. The jury was an immense one too, and the trial has lasted for many years. We refer to the trial of Dr. Pizarro's Favorite Prescription. As to its merits, there has been a unanimous verdict rendered in its favor. Indeed it would be impossible to get together any number of ladies who had given a trial who could come to any other conclusion. It cures ulcerations, displacements, removes the tendency to cancerous affections and corrects all unnatural discharges. It is a boon for those about to become mothers, it is a real boon, for it lessens the pains and perils of childbirth, promotes the secretion of an abundance of nourishment for the child and shortens the period of confinement.

The notion that the Sahara is altogether a barren and worthless waste is wide of the truth. In 1892 there were 9,000,000 sheep in the Algerian Sahara alone, besides 2,000,000 goats and 250,000 camels. On the coasts there are 1,500,000 date palms, producing dates worth $3,000,000 a year. So even the desert is worth keeping under control.

TIRED, WEAK, NERVOUS.—Means impure blood, and overwork or too much strain on brain and body. The only way to cure is to feed the nerves with pure blood. Thousands of people certify that the best blood purifier, the best nerve tonic and strength builder is Hood's Sarsaparilla. What it has done for others it will also do for you—Hood's cures.

Hood's pills cure constipation by restoring peristaltic action of the alimentary canal.

Gets in his work—The well digger.

Medical.

WHAT YOU WANT OF A MEDICINE is that it shall do you good—purify and enrich your blood, throw off that tired feeling, give you health, strength, courage and ambition.

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla is the only true blood purifier prominently in the public eye to-day, and it meets these requirements perfectly. This is proved by the testimony of thousands of people.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA builds up the nerves by feeding them on pure blood, creates an appetite by toning the digestive organs, overcomes that tired feeling by giving vitality to the blood, and gives sweet refreshing sleep. You may realize that Hood's Sarsaparilla

DOES this by giving it a fair trial. Insist upon Hood's and only Hood's. $1; six for $5.

HOOD'S PILLS act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla. 25c.
