

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Following is the list of marriage licenses granted by orphans' court clerk, G. W. Rumberger, during the past week:

Edwin A. Sunday and Anna L. Cain, both of Spring township.

Wm. Woods and Mary A. Harris, both of Phillipsburg.

Charles G. Divinney and Retta M. Flegel, both of Phillipsburg.

P. S. Ishler and Ella M. Mayes, both of Boalsburg.

David A. McNeil and Edith M. Fasig, both of Bellefonte.

A VALUABLE MAN GONE.—The following clipping from the Columbus, Ohio, Republican, seems to settle the much mooted question as to whether Prof. E. E. Sparks intends returning to take charge of the Preparatory department of The Pennsylvania State College. Prof. Sparks has been deemed a very strong man at the College and his resignation from the faculty of that institution will cause a vacancy that will be hard to fill.

Professor Edwin E. Sparks, of State College, Pa., who is renewing acquaintance in the city this week, is receiving congratulations on his call to a place on the faculty of the University of Chicago. He came to Ohio State university from Madison county and was graduated in 1884. After teaching in the university a short time, he accepted a position on the staff of The State College Journal but left to again engage in teaching. He was subsequently principal of the Portsmouth, O., high school and superintendent of schools of Martin's Ferry, O. For the past five years he has held a professorship in The Pennsylvania State College. Professor Sparks will enter upon his new duties Oct. 1.

Pine Grove Mention.

Jack Frost made his first appearance here last Monday morning.

From the amount of shooting along Tussey Mountain the frisky tribe must be plenty.

Mr. Mitchell Garbrick, who has been under medical treatment some weeks, is able to be out again.

Picnics still continue plenty, with an occasional festival, all are well attended and cash circulates freely.

Pine Grove has gotten to be a popular Sunday resort for Altoona people, who greatly enjoy the drive over.

Some of the fore noon farmers, who have their clover seed cut and clean ed, report a good yield of excellent quality.

P. F. Bortorff, accompanied by his right bower, Ike Marts, left on Tuesday morning for Somerset county, in quest of stock feeders.

Mrs. Isahiah Zimmerman left last Monday for her home in Norton, Kansas, en route she will stop at Latrobe and Washington in this State.

John Gilliland Miller entered the State Normal at Lock Haven, this week, with the expectation of graduating at the close of the school year.

Our friend George T. Miller is sporting a bran new, double barreled, eighteen dollar shot gun. It is a dandy and George knows well how to use it.

The young farmer, who courts the cook while his horses, hitched to the plow fight the flies, had better stable his horses out of the sun or he will be reported to the S. P. C. A.

Mrs. Anna Krebs, who has been in poor health for the past year, returned home Monday from a few days visit to Pleasant Gap and Bellefonte, none the worse for the long ride over the rough roads.

Miss Maria Elder, who for seven or eight years has had her home at D. G. Meek's, at Fairbrook, is visiting her brother Dave preparatory to going to Ohio, where she will live hereafter.

The old familiar spire has been removed from the Academy building and a small belfry now graces that quaint structure. The interior is also undergoing some necessary repairs before the opening of school.

Peace does not yet reign with our down town neighbors; but the officers of the law are using their best endeavors to have it restored and according to the last report the warring parties shook hands over the bloody (?) chasm.

Postmaster Miller, Henry Campbell and W. J. Myers have their gripsacks packed for Louisville to help swell the G. A. R. crowd. They promised their temperance friends here, that they would heed Lincoln's advice to Burnside "to go around Bourbon county."

Our Lutheran neighbors held a Chinese soctable, Wednesday evening, in the Washington Grange hall and grounds for the benefit of their guild. Quite a snug sum was realized from the cake walks, guess pies and so forth in which Davy Dennis came out cat bird. The grounds were handsomely decorated with Chinese lanterns and everybody had a good time.

A very pleasant party was given at the home of J. A. Kline, near town, on the evening of the 4th in honor of Miss Minnie's twentieth birthday. Although home from the hospital in Phila. but a short time, she was able to enjoy many of the sports the one hundred guests indulged in. Mr. and Mrs. Kline's hospitality was thoroughly appreciated, and Miss Minnie received many beautiful presents.

Wm. Ward of Phillipsburg, who came over to attend his brother Joseph's funeral, tarried several days among old acquaintances. He like his brother is a carpenter by trade, and the last job of work he did in our town was the fitting up of the Baker Krebs store room then about to be occupied by Musser and Keichline in 1892. William is as sprightly as though in his teens, but his once black locks are all most white.

Two of our young men, who in seeing special attractions near the State College often detained (?) until the wee hours of the morning, have not been kindly dealt with by the practical jokers of that community. Not long ago their horse was so securely tied that it took much time and more patience to get started. And the last time they went down they had to walk the entire distance home as the horse and buggy were both missing.

Books, Magazines Etc.

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever." Of course, beautiful women are referred to. The person who wrote this must have had in mind Home and Country, New York, for September. In an article entitled "The Favorites of the King. A Portrait Gallery of Beautiful Women," by J. Florence Wilson, will be found the ideal of the author of the quotation with which this article is headed. Nothing like it has ever been seen before in a monthly magazine. The thirty-eight individual portraits comprised in the gallery of Ludwig I, King of Bavaria, which are reproduced in the pages of Home and Country for September—for beauty have no counterpart.

Home and Country is published at 149-153 Leonard Street, New York, Subscription, $1.00 a year.

The leading article in the September Harper's gives the impressions received by Richard Harding Davis during a recent overland journey in Honduras, undertaken for Harper's Magazine and Harper's Weekly. The title is "Three Gringos in Central America." and the paper is attractively illustrated. Owen Wister, in "The Evolution of the Cow-Puncher," traces the genealogy of the American cowboy back to the Saxon Crusades and the Cavalier. Illustrations have been made for the article by Frederic Remington. In "Notes on Indian Art" Edwin Lord Weeks shows that the artistic spirit is still vigorous among the Hindus, and that the best traditions of workmanship are carefully preserved. Seventeen illustrations by Mr. Weeks accompany his text. Mark Twain relates some curious experiences in an article called "Mental Telegraphy Again." The third paper in Pauline Bigelow's "Germana Struggle for Liberty" series describes the demoralization of Prussia through the cowardice and treason of the nobles, the revival of patriotism among the people through the efforts of Nettelbeck, Schill, Gneisenau, and Scharnhorst, and the famous conference at Erfurt, at which Napoleon alternately dazed and insulted the czar and the German princes. In a thoughtful paper on "Arabia, Islam, and the Eastern Question," Dr. William H. Thomson makes clear the reasons for the anomalous position of the Turk in Europe, and shows that the peril of the Armenian is not the result of local or temporary hatred, but of a racial and religious fanaticism which has characterized the Moslem from the beginning.

Besides generous instalments of the "Personal Recollections of Joan of Arc" and Mr. Hardy's "Heart's Inauguration," the number includes two short stories: "Janie," by Ian Maclaren, and "Petey Burke and his Pupils," by Julian Ralph. The "Editor's Study" contains comment on current events by Charles Dudley Warner, and the "Editor's Drawer" a short story by John Kendrick Bangs.

A Lawn Wedding.

A very enjoyable event took place Thursday Aug. 29, at the home of Jacob and Sarah Yarnell, on Marsh Creek. When the invitations to the marriage of Mr. Ira Confer and Miss Lizzie Yarnell were received a great deal of joy was anticipated, but not more than was realized at the wedding, which took place on the lawn in the presence of seventy guests. Promptly at twelve o'clock Rev. W. R. Dillen, the bride and groom, the bridesmaid, Miss Julia Lucas, and the groomsmen, Jesse Confer, came out of the house and took their place in the midst of the guests, who after the ceremony had been pronounced, were most hearty in their congratulations and good wishes for the young people. Good things without number laden the dinner table and they were all thoroughly appreciated and enjoyed.

The bride, one of Marsh Creek's fairest young ladies, is highly esteemed by all who know her. The groom, a son of Ezekiel and Charity Confer, is a most worthy and industrious young man, and the many useful and handsome presents the young people received, attest the esteem in which they are held in the community. The two families united have a very large connection and of the guests present only two were sons, daughters or grandchildren. May the young people have a prosperous and happy life and may both families enjoy many more pleasant reunions is the wish of
