THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

Mary had a little lamb;
You do not look surprised;
Of course you don't, for Mary has
Been widely advertised.

And something you may learn from this,
If you are not a clam;
You can be just as widely known
As Mary and her lamb.

Your name can be a household word,
And you be known so well,
That folks will confidently buy
The things you have to sell.

And when you once have got yourself
Into the cheering rays
Of the sunlight of publicity,
You bet your life it pays.—Printer's Ink.

—Welsh brothers circus exhibited at Grange Park during the week.

—The Hollidaysburg nail factory has been leased in the same way as the Bellefonte factory.

—Mrs. Isaac Lose has become owner of Potter's livery stable in this place. The transfer was made the other day.

—The next attraction at the opera house will be "McCarthy's Mishaps." It comes to Garman's next Wednesday night.

—Heavy killing frosts were reported from all parts of the county Sunday morning. Pumpkin vines especially are flat and black.

—William Bartholomew, the Mill Hall axe maker who had his foot torn off in the machinery in a factory there some time ago, is able to be about again.

—Phillipsburg rowdies amuse themselves by breaking up the seats of the village improvement society of that town had placed in Centre Park for the comfort of the public.

—The Star bicycle club, of Altoona, passed through here, on Saturday, on its way to the cave, returning to spend the night at the Brockerhoff house. The club started home on Sunday morning.

—The implement exhibit at the Granger's picnic is not nearly so large as in former years, but there are more side shows and "big" shows so that the ground is all taken up and everyone is happy.

—Charley Schroyer has written from Altoona that his family has arrived in that city and they are comfortably located on 18th Ave., where they expect to live in the future. Charley went there in search of work and found it.

—We are pleased to be able to announce that Philip Beezer, whose illness we made public last week, is recovering rapidly from the operation for appendicitis, but will not be able to leave the hospital in Philadelphia for several weeks.

—The annual teachers institute for Centre county will be held in the court house, here during the week beginning Monday, December 16th. In a former issue a typographical mistake made the opening of the institute on the 14th, which will be Saturday.

—Margery Bell, the five month's old babe of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Ward, of west Bishop street, died in convulsions, on Monday morning, and was buried Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Rue, of the Methodist church, officiated at the services that were held at the house.

—Wherever you find a newspaper that has to purchase its subscribers with premiums, and for gifts, you can bet your bottom dollar it is a paper that does not consider itself worth the money it charges as subscription. When subscribers have to be purchased, the paper can't be worth much.

—The question of the election of a fire marshal for the department here was settled for a year, at least, on Monday evening by the election of Frank Waltz, of the Undine company. The vote stood Waltz, 4; Joseph Wise, 2; John Trafford, a Logan, was unanimously chosen 1st Asst.

—Hon. John A. Woodward, of Howard township, dropped a gold watch valued at a $100, about two months ago. He was driving some cattle across the fields at the time and notwithstanding a most thorough search was made it could not be found. On Tuesday of last week ex-county commissioner Newlin Hall, father of conductor John Hall, of this place, was walking across that field when he picked the watch up. It was in good order and was soon restored to its proper owner.

—The Hebrew New Year began at sundown Wednesday evening and in consequence all the Jewish stores in this place were closed until sundown yesterday. It might be well for those of our country readers who contemplate coming to town to purchase at any of these stores to remember that Saturday, September 27th, will be the Hebrew day of atonement, Yom Kippur, and all their stores in this place will be closed from 6 o'clock Friday evening until 6 o'clock Saturday evening.

Bad Weather for the Grangers.

A Large Picnic—A Small Exhibition—Questionable Weather—Grinning and Bearing It—Rain Every Day But One.

The Patrons of Husbandry, more commonly called the Grangers, of Centre county are just now enjoying their 22nd annual picnic at Grange park, Centre Hall. They began to meet there as early as last Friday and when Sunday came there was a large number of tents taken and indeed the people who went early were there to enjoy the only real good weather that has favored this section.

Judging from the rain that annually drenches them it is indeed a wonder that the Grangers don't begin to look around for the Jonah that seems to be continually casting most gruesome spells over them. However they seem nothing daunted with the unpropitious elements and possibly enjoy it as much as the daily visitors to the grounds, who have really come to expect a ducking everytime they go. It would be impossible to describe the many funny situations that a storm produces in a city of airy tents and gaudy canopies, like there is at Grange park, and the fastness of the colors in the girls' gowns seems to be measured by the alacrity with which they run.

Yesterday afternoon our poet was over and after the big storm that threatened to Johnson town the whole affair there were so many laughable sights among that great crowd that the muse touched him for a special adaptation of a stanza from the Ancient Mariner.

Water, water, everywhere,
In every nook and chink;
Water, water, everywhere,
Oh! how those gowns did shrink.

This picnic, it is announced, will wipe out all the debts contracted for the park as well as for the improvements. In one respect it is the largest ever held; that is, there are more tents. As the picnic is a distinctively Grange institution we suppose it matters little whether there are many visitors or not, for those who hold tents would doubtless enjoy themselves just as much if only tents were allowed on the grounds.

Saturday was opening day and many of the tents arrived to get fixed up for Sunday. Of course every one was jolly, but there was good hard work done too, for men were running hither and thither with bundles of straw and boards, and bedding and furniture, but by nightfall all was comparatively quiet. The vacant tents of the morning were tenanted with people who really need and enjoy the week's outing. In the evening the Christian Endeavor Societies held services in the Auditorium, where the following interesting program was carried out:

Opening hymn; address of welcome, M. D. Fleming; solo, Miss Tacy Kremer; recitation, Miss Emma Kuhn; missionary tableau, Misses Dersine, Romie Van Pelt, Zilla McGeehon, Flo Clements, Edna Murray, Clara Swann, Grace Lee and Helen Hosterman; recitation, Miss Woods; Tableau, "Where is my wandering boy to-night?" Miss Emma Kuhn, Hoffer Dale, John Hosterman, John Van Pelt, Willie Booser, Fred McGeehon and Edwin Kerlin; recitation, by Miss Woods; song, by Miss Emma Kuhn, "We'll part no more at even on the Rhine?" accompanied on the guitar by Miss Krise; tableau, "Which will she accept?" Misses Stella Krise, Emma Kuhn, Vina Geiss, Tacy Kremer, Mr. Walter Kerlin; recitation, by Miss Kuhn; duet, "The patchwork quilt," by Misses Romie Van Pelt and Estie Ocker; sunflower drill.

SUNDAY IN THE CAMP.

Was a quiet day though thousands of visitors roamed about the grounds wondering what the many piles of canvas along the "mid-way" concealed. The weather was perfect. Not a cloud to mar the Italian blue of the sky and everything most ideal, indeed, had it not been for the dust—but that has since been effectually settled. Three services were held in the auditorium. In the morning the sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Illingsworth. In the afternoon Rev. Dr. Isenberg preached the sermon, and in the evening Rev. Dr. Goodling performed that duty. All the sermons were enjoyed by those who had the good fortune to hear them.

THE FINISHING TOUCHES PUT ON ON MONDAY.

Monday was a very busy day. Those tents who had not arrived on Saturday got in on Monday and lent an additional bustle to that caused by the arrival of Parks "big circus" and a half hundred other amusement enterprises. Things coming under the head of exhibits were slow at arriving and had it not been for McCalmont & Co.; of this place, and the Centre Hall Implement Works, there would not have been any implement exhibit at all worth mentioning. Possibly the one interesting machine on exhibition was the corn-cutting and binder exhibited by the former firm. The day was threatening and not many visitors were seen on the grounds. In the evening the picnic was formally opened in the auditorium by Master Isaac S. Frain, of the county grange, and Col. Jas. F. Weaver, grange lecturer, both gentlemen made excellent addresses that were listened to with deepest interest by those for whose edification they were made.

Josh Fouk's drum corps and the Aaronsburg band wakened everyone bright and early Tuesday morning to begin the first real picnic day. Everything was in shape by that time though the weather was still threatening. The meeting in the auditorium in the morning was carried on by the women in a preliminary program, after which William Benninger, of Northampton county, was introduced and talked at length on the relation between the farmer and the grange. C. L. Gramley, county superintendent of schools, followed him with an entertaining talk on educational matters. At the conclusion of his talk the meeting adjourned until afternoon when Sec. Edge, of the State Board of Agriculture, was one of the talkers. He was followed by Dr. H. P. Armsby, of the State College Experiment Station, who gave an entertaining talk on scientific farming. As Dr. Armsby is considered authority in his lines his address was a very interesting one.

A Stereopticon exhibition or an illustrated lecture on forestry and birds of the State by Doctors Rothrock and Warren made up a delightful program in the evening.

THE COLD WATER ADVOCATES.

In order to be ready for brothers Zeigler, Thompson, Bailey and all the other cold water advocates who were expected Wednesday it had to rain real hard in the morning. Water fell in torrents, but they all lived through it and were dry enough by the time the Hon. Volney B. Cushing, of Maine, their bright particular star, got through with his address. J. T. Ailman, Sec. of the State Grange, Hon. Frank Moore, Col. R. H. Thomas, of Mechanicsburg; and Mr. Erverson, chaplain of the State Grange, were among the other orators of the day. In the evening Hon. W. W. Bovee, of Delaware county, held forth in the auditorium.

During the day the man who runs the merry-go-round fell over with heart disease, but the heroic treatment of his case by band master Josh Fouk soon brought him around again.

There was a big fight out at the "Old Fort" and a man was reported killed, but he came to after a while and walked off with a few serious cuts and bangs.

A TERRIFIC STORM ON THURSDAY.

There is no doubt about it. Yesterday was the big day at the picnic. There were many thousands of people tempted to the grounds by the cloudless sky of the morning and the promise of a good time. All had scarcely arrived until a fine drizzling rain began to fall. It did not interfere much with the morning's program in the auditorium where W. F. Hill, lecturer of the State Grange, and Senator Brown entertained the people who would listen, but when it burst forth in a terrible storm about noon things were terrific. Everyone hung onto his own tent ropes to keep them from blowing away and visitors crawled under whatever covering they could find. Goodness how it did rain and how the lightning cracked.

NEARHOOD'S HOUSE BURNED.

When the storm was most violent the frame dwelling of George Nearhood, located near the ground was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The bolt that fell on it must have been a mighty powerful one for Frank Bradford, the station agent nearly a quarter of a mile away, was knocked over at his desk; a Mrs. Wigley, of this place, and a Mrs. Showers and her son of Sunbury, who were fully 100 yards away, were knocked senseless and it was fully ten minutes before they regained consciousness.

When Nearhood's house was discovered to be on fire people ran to save its contents, for it was known that the family was tenting on the grounds. Imagine the horror of those who arrived first when they found the apparently lifeless form of Reub. Meek, a son of D. L. Meek, of Waddle station, lying out in the road in the mud. He was picked up and it was only by the hardest work that he was brought back to life. He had gone to the house to get a hatchet to release a horse that had become tangled in a barbed wire fence near by and was on the porch when the lightning struck, knocking him clear out into the road. His one leg was burned from the hip to the ankle. Though still very sick he was brought here last evening and was taken on to his home. Many horses were knocked down by the same bolt but none of them were killed.

These accidents created so much excitement that everything else was forgotten, even to the collapse of Harmon's big boarding house, which went down right in the midst of the storm. The sky cleared up towards evening and the entertainments went on as usual last night.

Next week we will give a complete list of the exhibits.

News Purely Personal.

—William Tressler, of Fillmore, was a pleasant caller last Saturday.

—Squire W. H. Korman, passed through this place, on Monday, on his way home from an extended trip through the West.

—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bell and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bell left on Monday for a visit to friends in New York and Brooklyn.

—Mrs. Albert Dunseth, of Chicago, is home on a six weeks visit to her father, Rev. J. P. Hughes, who is just recovering from a severe illness.

—Miss Annie O'Donoghue, of Philadelphia is the guest of her brother Mortimer O'Donoghue, the popular superintendent of the Valentin Iron Co.

—Sheriff John P. Condo, Mrs. Condo and their daughter, Miss Elizabeth, returned from a week's visit to Atlantic City on Wednesday morning.

—Ed. Harper, a son of Mrs. Minnie Harper, of Lima street, is in Chicago where he has secured a nice rail-road position with his uncle Mr. Charles Schroyer.

—Misses Hattie and Helen Atherton, of State College, were in town Monday afternoon on their way to Wellesley College Mass., where they will enter the freshman class.

—Lee B. Woodcock left yesterday to take a course in medicine at one of the medical institutions in Philadelphia. He had not decided whether he would enter the University of Pennsylvania, Jefferson or Hahnemann.

—Miss Minnie Brew left Monday evening for Erie where she expects to remain for an indefinite period. Her many friends here will be sorry to learn that there is a possibility of her remaining permanently with her brother Austin in that city.

—Miss Adeline Harris and Miss Betty Breeze, grand daughters of the late ex-Gov. Curtin, leave to-day for Syracuse N. Y., where they will attend Mrs. Goodyear's school. Mrs. Burnett their aunt, who is going to Clifton Springs for her health, will accompany them.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Stitzer, of east High street, returned, Friday evening, from a two week's visit to friends at Carlisle. They drove down and back spending six days on the road and both enjoyed the trip very much. The distance from here is something over a hundred miles.

—Miss Clara Anderson, of Bishop street, will leave for Pittsburgh tomorrow morning where she has secured an excellent position in the cloak department of Kaufman's store. Her long experience in a large New York cloak house makes her a most desirable attachée for any establishment.

—Mr. Christ Alexander, of Millheim, was in town between trains yesterday morning on his way back to the Grange picnic. He had been up in the vicinity of Port Matilda buying some cattle and was returning when he took to his head to spend a few moments with us. He is a man whose companionship everyone enjoys.

—Next week we will publish an interesting little sketch of a trip from Howard to the Nation's capital. It is from the pen of S. S. Fletcher, formerly of Nittany, Centre county, who is in the 4th Auditor's office, in Washington and whose versatility seems to be very much evidenced through the article. Mr. Fletcher is home on a week's vacation.

—After spending a pleasant ten days vacation visiting their parents at Fillmore and friends in this place, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Budgeger have returned to their new home in Philadelphia. Bob is connected with the customs service in that city and likes it so well that he says he would not come back to Bellefonte. But he must have been foolin'.

—T. B. Budgeger Esq., of Snow Shoe, was in town on Monday and Tuesday and dropped in to see what grounds we had for saying, in a recent issue, that he has grown rich. To tell the truth it was purely a surmise on our part but you can generally mark it down that when you see a man who sticks to work like Mr. Budgeger does that he is laying something up against a rainy day.

—Mr. J. J. Brislin, who with his cousin Gen. Jas. S. Brislin, edited and published the Centre Democrat in this place at the outbreak of the war, spent several days among friends hereabouts the past week. He left Bellefonte as a soldier away back in the sixties, and has made his home elsewhere during all the intervening years, but still has a warm side and a kind word for the "dear old town."

—Major Jared Fisher, of Penn Hall, was in town, on Tuesday, looking a picture of health and hurrying around town in a way calculated to make many young fellows puff. The Major has always been an active business man. He owns a large store and a mill at Penn Hall, but the best part of it is that he extends his activity into matters political as well as commercial and he is a Democrat of the stripe of which his party is proud.

—Wilbur F. Harris with his friend Thomas O'Reilly are up from Harrisburg visiting the former's parents and furnishing lots of amusement for those with whom they come in contact. Wilbur's friend is not the John James O'Reilly of whom every body has heard in song, but he is said to discount that gentleman as an entertainer. Mr. O'Reilly returned to Harrisburg yesterday, while Wilbur went to Massillon, Ohio, for a short visit.

—Daniel Garman, Mrs. Henry Hoffman, Al Garman, Miss Lulu Harper and Jerome Harter, all of this place, went to Altoona Saturday evening, where they spent Sunday. The visit was a sad one for them, since it was made to attend the funeral of John Evans a relative who was in business in that city. Mr. Evans was at one time connected with the Bellefonte steam laundry and had many friends here. He was a member of the Collins' Brazilian rail-road building expedition.

—Kunes' saw mill at Beech Creek shut down last Friday after having sawed up all its stock. 700,000 ft. is the output of the mill this season.

—Curwensville amateurs will sing Spencer's comic opera, "Little Tycoon," to-night. James Gleason and Miss Ida Harpster, of Houtzdale, will sing leading roles for the Curwensville people.

—Millinery opening on Thursday, 26th Sept. at Katz's.

—It will doubtless be a great surprise to many of our readers to learn that during the month of August the C. R. R. of Pa. handled a freight business aggregating one hundred thousand tons, while fifteen thousand passengers were carried during the month, an average of over five hundred daily.

LEE WOODCOCK HONORED AT CAPE MAY.

—The following, from a recent issue of the Cape May, N. J., Wave, is an indication of the high esteem in which Lee B. Woodcock, of this place, was held while he was at the sea shore playing ball this summer. He was there several months playing with the collegians who gather there every season to spend the summer in that way. At the end of their series they gave a minstrel show in the production of which Lee's rare musical talent stood the boys in good stead.

"A most pleasant incident happened last Saturday afternoon at the Athletic Park grounds. As L. B. Woodcock, of the Cape May base ball team was taking his place at the bat, Mr. D. Marks, who has been an interested visitor at the games all summer, stepped forward and presented Mr. Woodcock with a handsome $100 umbrella with a pretty cup attached, tied with satin ribbons of the Cape May colors—black and white. A card bore the inscription: "May your cup of happiness be ever filled."

The present was given to him by his friends of the team, Boswell, Highlands, King, Rice, Fletcher and the Hollister brothers in appreciation of his efforts as manager of the minstrel performance last week."

Opening fall millinery and wraps at the Globe next Thursday Sept. 29.

HE HUNTED IN VAIN.—Last Saturday morning a lone hunter boarded an east bound train at Centre Hall and sidled into a seat at the end of the car where he tried to make himself as small as possible. He did not want people to annoy him with the questions which he was sure his dress and gun would call forth, for he had been spending a few days at Harpers, in Centre Hall, whence he would go to the woods every day in quest of squirrels. This hard working hunter was none other than Dan Snyder, of Shamokin, and all the game he had was four little wood-chucks that the dog caught for him.

Was it any wonder he didn't care about being seen.

Do not fail to visit the millinery department at the Globe next Thursday and Friday 26th and 27th, of this month.

7th Pa. Vet. Vol. Cavalry Reunion.

—The 7th Penna. Vet. Vol. cavalry will hold their 18th annual reunion at Pittsburgh, Pa., Tuesday and Wednesday, October 22nd and 23rd, 1895. Capt. Geo. F. Steahlin, Sec'y., Orwigsburg, Schuylkill Co. Pa.

Have you a carload of good timothy hay you want to sell for cash? If so, write to T. B. Budgeger, Snow Shoe, Pa. 37-41.

Lost.—Between Bellefonte and Old Fort, a black cheviot overcoat, light-weight. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning same to this office.

Pott's shorthand college open day and night the year round. Complete mail course. State plan preferred. Catalogue and first lesson free. Position for all graduates. Address, Williamsport, Pa. 21.

Come and see the good things we have bought for you in the way of clothing and hats—for the fall and winter season—bought before the rise in price. Styles more beautiful, prices more reasonable, goods more durable than ever before. Agency for Dunlap and Knox hats. Montgomery & Co.

WHERE YOU CAN BUY THE CHEAPEST.—It is a question of dollars and cents after all. No matter what people say it is as natural to save a penny in buying as it is to eat dinner at the dinner hour. Opportunities to make great savings are not often to be had, but Lyon & Co.'s, big advertisement in this issue affords just such a chance. Read it and profit by the bargains it holds out. A dollar saved is a dollar earned.
