

Pine Grove Mention.

When! how it did snow on the last day of September.

Miss Jennie Keyser left for her home in Milton after a pleasant visit at the cozy home of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Kreps, on Main street.

The two fever cases announced in our last issue, Misses Smith and Krebs, are past the critical period and are convalescing.

We are sorry to note the serious illness of old Mrs. Catharine Kreps, who is suffering with that much dreaded disease dysentery.

The dry and windy weather with several frosts have hastened the maturing of the corn crop. It is ready for the crib. The crop is the largest in many years.

The clover seed crop is being hulled and proves to be the most prolific crop grown in the valley for the last twenty years. Some farmers will have as much as eighty bushels of seed.

The panther shooting incident that was supposed to have occurred last week has put our nimrods on the watch in the vicinity of O. M. Whipple's log camp where report says the logmen shiver in their bunk beds listening to the hideous midnight squalls of a man-eater. We wouldn't be surprised if it were a catamount.

HARVEY YARNELL PENSIONED.—Another old soldier made happy. After being repeatedly rejected by the Harrison administration Harvey Yarnell was again surprised last week on receiving notice from his attorney that his pension had been passed upon favorably, allowing him eight dollars per month with three years of back pension. The old veteran is to be congratulated on his good luck. This is the third case in our town, turned down by the former administration, that has met with favor by secretary Hoke Smith and Commissioner Lochren.

A recent six o'clock a. m. marriage parry took very much of the nature of a surprise to the hosts of friends of the young couple participating when it was learned that Jacob Neidigh and Cora Cronemiller, armed with the proper credentials, took advantage of the pure and fresh morning air and drove from Pine Hall to Boalsburg, without a stop, presenting themselves before Rev. Black, really before breakfast. But the reverent gentleman is always prepared for any emergency and in his usual happy manner pronounced the young people man and wife. Then they journeyed back home, more leisurely, to pursue their daily vocations, as though nothing of importance had occurred. The bride, Miss Cora, is the second daughter of Geo. Cronemiller of Pine Hall, and is a pleasant and estimable young lady, while the groom, Jacob Neidigh, is a well-to-do young farmer. We hope the young couple will have as fair sailing all through the voyage of life as they had in the early morning hours to the Boalsburg parsonage.

Howard Happenings.

Miss Lizzie McElben, of Bellefonte, has been spending a few days with Mrs. Dr. Smith and Mrs. R. P. Long.

The funeral of Herbert, infant son of Michael and Susan Holter, took place Sunday P. M. from the Evangelical church. Interment was made in Schencks cemetery. Rev. Schericht conducted the services.

Mrs. Sweeney of Washington, Pa., a sister of the Benson sisters, who was called here to attend her mother's funeral, has since spent a few days in our village, and is much pleased with the great natural beauty which surrounds it.

On Wednesday evening a very quiet wedding took place at the M. E. parsonage. The contracting parties were Mr. Harvey Gruver and Miss Lizzie Rupert both highly respected young people of this vicinity. They have our best wishes for a long, happy and useful life.

About four o'clock Sunday P. M. the town was set in a commotion by the alarm of fire which was found to be at the home of the Hon. John A. Woodward; fortunately the family, and neighbors who responded promptly, had the fire under control before the people from town reached them. We are pleased to say that no further damage than the burning of the porch roof was sustained.

The funeral of Miss Annie Haines, of Liberty township, who had been teaching school in Altoona for several years, and died at her home near this place, last Thursday, with cancer, took place Saturday. Interment was made in the M. E. cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. Bell, of the eighth Ave. M. E. church of Altoona. Many were present to pay their last respects to the deceased.

Port Matilda Pointers

As we were silent last week we will try to give you all the news since our last appearance.

Mr. John T. Fowler, who had been confined to the house with sickness, is able to be on foot again, he having been in our town on Tuesday of this week.

Our farmers, having finished their seeding, are busy with their apple crops—those of them who are fortunate enough to have any—making cider and giving the boys a chance to help the girls stir apple butter.

—Little Jennie Stevens, the nine year old daughter of David Stevens, of Altoona, who died in that city on the 23rd, ult., was brought here for burial the following Wednesday, Rev. G. P. Sarvis conducted the services.

Our schools opened on last Monday for a six months term. Our population having increased very materially since last school term we now have 3 schools in progress in our town. The following teachers have charge of the schools. Mr. A. C. Williams, graded school; John C. Harpster, intermediate; and Miss Fannie Sharer, primary.

—Rev. Cramer, pastor of the U. B. church at this place has been appointed to the South Williamsport charge and will depart in a few days. Owing to Rev. Sarvis' absence, last Sunday Rev. Cramer, filled the pulpit in the Methodist church and preached his farewell sermon. The people of this community are very sorry to lose so good a man as Rev. Cramer.

Your correspondent having been in conversation with one of the faithful who had attended the convention at Williamsport, found him so delighted with his trip that he says he would go every week if he could have as good a time as he had while there. He reports no end to the good things to eat and, of course, not much to drink but as he was not used to city water he took his food all right. Dave there may be another for you yet.

We were informed, on Monday last, by one of our neighbors that there was a coal bank being opened up at Six Mile run on the public road leading from this place to Philipsburg and that he was told by the parties opening the bank that he could get all the coal he wanted, so that we will have a coal mine within six miles of our town. This will very materially lessen the price of coal at this place and will be quite an item in the expenses of the poor of our community.

What has become of the candidates for the different offices in Centre county this fall? We have not had a glimpse of one yet and we had almost forgotten there was to be an election this fall until reminded of it by a voter asking us, the other day, what officers were to be elected. Being informed as to the places our interrogator wanted to know whether his party had made any nominations and on learning to which faith he belongs, being a Populist, we told him we could not find it in the calendar so there might be a chance for some of the aspirants of the other parties if they would interview the gentlemen, as he seems very anxious to see good men placed in office this fall.

Books, Magazines Etc.

"Alone in China," by Julian Ralph, published in Harper's Magazine for October, is a new departure in fiction. The heroine is the daughter of a wealthy Pittsburg manufacturer, who marries a Chinaman engaged in a diplomatic mission at Washington. The story concerns itself chiefly with the troubles of the American bride in her oriental home, and is based upon Mr. Ralph's observations of the domestic customs of China during his recent journey. The story is admirably illustrated by C. D. Weidman.

We are in receipt of a handsomely bound little volume containing a life of the "Queen of the Turf," Nancy Hanks, together with all her performances. The volume contains, among other things, a description of the many diseases of live stock, together with their treatment; also the standard of registration of the American Trotting Register and of the National Saddle Horse Breeders' Association, and a complete list of Horse Breeders' Associations. It also contains the fastest trotting and pacing records in races, against time and at different ages. The book is full of valuable suggestions in regard to live-stock. The publishers, The H. L. Lohmeyer Drug Co., Pittsburg, Pa., will send this interesting volume free to all who apply at once, although the regular price is 50 cents.

The following letters remain unclaimed in the Bellefonte P. O. Sep. 30, 1895. Filippo Cleas, John Gentilone, Kasimera Krazler, John Krupinsky, Giuseppe Mello, Ciali Tem.

When called for please say advertised. DAVIS F. FORNEY, P. M.
