Will the Superior Court Go?

It is difficult to see how the courts can amend the law regulating the election of superior court judges, as well as creating that court, fearing that the mode of election is unconstitutional in restricting the voter to six candidates when seven are to be voted for—that the court can be elected in a way not provided by law—and at the same time hold the balance of the law all right. If the law is unconstitutional in one of its fundamental provisions, how can the rest of the law be held valid? The method by which the judges are to be elected is of first importance. On considerations of public policy the law creating the court provided for minority representation in the court by restricting the elector to voting for six candidates, with seven to be elected. The weight of opinion is that this restriction is unconstitutional. This particular question is to be tested in the common pleas of Dauphin county, and whatever the decision may be it will be appealed to the supreme court. It is to be hoped the highest judiciary will wipe out the entire act. No public necessity exists for the creation of the court. It is a bit of needless extravagance, having its origin in the factional requirements of the Republican party.

Precisely the same issue was presented to the courts of Ohio in regard to laws that State creating municipal boards in the cities of Cincinnati and Dayton. The Ohio law provided for a minority representation by limiting the right to vote for all the officers to be elected. The Ohio constitutional provision defining the rights of voters, is identical with that of Pennsylvania. The supreme court of that State not only said the limitation was unconstitutional, but declared that the whole law fell with it. As the case presented in Ohio was on all fours with the question as it comes up in Pennsylvania, the probabilities strongly favor the supposition that when the supreme court of this State passes on the law it will also be identical with that of Pennsylvania. The superior court judicially wiped out of existence.

Water Needed to Take the Logs Down the River.

By reason of the failure to get the logs to the booms owing to the low stage of water, all the saw mills in Williamsport will close in a few days, unless the streams should rise in the meantime. The Bulletin says:

"The boom has been cleaned out, but there is still back many million feet, which, if brought to the boom here, would stock the mills and keep them going on full time until snow flies or a freeze up comes. There are about 3,000,000 feet stranded between this city and Lock Haven. Nearly all these logs have been 'hailed in' midstream by the contractors who were awarded the jobs by the lumbermen's committee recently. The logs on Pine creek are stranded near Waterville, and cannot be moved until at least a small flood comes.

The river is very low and between this city and Lock Haven there are spots where a log could hardly float. Big bars appear in midstream and at Clarksburg the river can be forded easily, without hardly wetting the hubs of the wheels.

The committee having in charge the matter of bringing in the logs, have made every preparation to splash them in as soon as there is sufficient water to make a splash effective. Until such a rise comes nothing can be done.

Took the Furniture.

Li Hung Chang Too Well Pleas'd With His Car.

A most interesting report upon Chinese railroads is furnished to the state department by United States Consul Need at Tien Tsin. He tells of the difficulties that were encountered by the young engineer who ran the first locomotive, in overcoming the superstitious repugnance of the native and the government of the "rocket drag-on," as his home-made locomotive was called, and of the engineering features of the road from Tien Tsin to Shan-hai-Kwan, and gives the following incident of the first trip by steam of the celebrated old Li Hung Chang: "As director-general of the road he was given a special car. This was furnished with elaborate chairs, lounges, tables, etc., upholstered in silk and satin. Li on his first trip was profuse in his expressions of admiration. Upon his return to Tien Tsin his satisfaction had reached such a point that he ordered all the furniture, hangings, etc., to be removed to his yamen (palace). To the disappointment of the great viceroys the special features of the car—the luxurious bed—was left behind, as it had been built into the car. The director's learned a lesson and the viceroys' new private car has furniture that cannot be removed."

"What Rum Has Done For Me."

Clymer Broke Down and Wept Bitterly When Taken Back to Jail.

At Mt. Holly N. J., when the jury in the Clymer case came in with a verdict of murder in the first degree Clymer showed no emotion at the time, but his brother, who was standing back of him, wept aloud, and his sisters joined in loud demonstrations of grief. The verdict was not expected, in view of the Judge's charge, which was strongly against the theory set up by the defense. After Clymer was removed to the jail he broke down and wept bitterly. "His only remark was: 'This is what rum has done for me.' He was lodged in the cell.

Plain Already.

"I utterly refuse your proposition of marriage! Do I not make myself plain?" "Nature has forestalled you," he said, getting in his work with deadly effect.

Speculating in Public Funds.

The State treasurer makes the explanation that with a treasury balance of $4,400,000 it is discretionary with him under the law, to pay the overdue school appropriations of $2,000,000. This appears to be true. The law gives him the right, but with an excess of money in his hands, and school funds overdue, what is a wise discretion, such as the law contemplates?

The State treasurer has $4,400,000 of State funds scattered in certain banks over the State. It draws no interest for the State, but the chances are that, like the deposits by the city attorney of Pittsburgh is drawing interest, or something else, for somebody. There is a certain danger in these scattered deposits, as experience has amply demonstrated, and to the average business mind it would seem to be much wiser to use the large surplus accumulated to discharge the accrued indebtedness of the State to the public schools.

Another explanation of the State treasurer is that the public moneys of the State must be handled with regard to the interests of localities. In answer to this it is pointed out that while a considerable number of country banks have small deposits, according to the last statement four banks in Pittsburgh hold $1,311,000, five in Philadelphia hold $1,145,000, and eight banks and trust companies in Harrisburg, $1,037,000, making a total of $3,593,000 held in three cities out of a total of $4,420,000, and also that more than one-half of the whole amount ($2,500,000) is held by six banks.

State Treasurer Jackson has inherited a system prolific in dangers and abuses, and he does not seem to have the independence and courage to reform it. He is holding millions of dollars in banks—to oblige this or that politician or financier who turns his influence to thrifty account—and to do so he refuses or neglects to square accounts with counties and cities. In the end this policy is sure to result in an explosion.—Pittsburgh Post.

His Farewell Sermon.

New York, October 20.—Rev. Dr. T. De Witt Talmage preached his farewell sermon to-night in the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church to an audience that filled the structure to overflowing. Dr. Talmage said: "It is not without deep emotion that I break up my home in such a city. Farewell, all the pastors; farewell, all the churches; farewell, all the institutions of mercy. We part now, but we shall meet again in the great harvest home."

Another Record for a Steel Company's Plant.

HARRISBURG, October 19.—The semi-monthly pay roll of the Pennsylvania Steel company to-day amounted to $101,148, divided among 4,872 employees. The plant is being run to its full capacity and is enjoying one of the most prosperous seasons in its history. This is the third or fourth payment this year, which has exceeded the highest record made before the late panic.

No Possible Danger of It.

Straggle—"Missus, won't yer give a starvin' man ten cents?" Kind Lady—"And you won't take this ten cents and get drunk on it if I give it to you?" Straggle—"Lord bless you, mum, I couldn't get drunk on less'n a dollar'n' all."—Chicago Record.

Iron Works to Resume.

The Sunbury iron works resumed operations after a long idleness. The mill will be connected with it has an annual output of 120,000 kegs of nails.

Mexico is a country of unlimited resources, meeting the inhabitants are just beginning to realize it. It is the richest in silver in the world. Other metals are abundant, iron ore being found in many states. The only coal veins are in the State of Oaxaca, and located under immense mountains. It would take $2,000,000 to build a railroad and open mines there, but it will be done before long, as the three Mexican railroads at present are forced to pay $20 a ton for coal, which is shipped from England. The coming importance of Mexico, however, will center in the exportation of coffee and rubber, both of which will lead that of all other countries before long. Mexico's only salvation is the introduction of American capital and energy.

It is gratifying to know that nowhere on the soil of the United States can prize fighting be practiced. So the pugilists, Corbett and Mitchell, if they wish to indulge in their barbarous amusements, will have to betake themselves to Mexico, where it appears the fight scheduled to take place will be allowed. It seems that pugilism has entered upon its decline. We certainly hope so.

Speer's Old Portie Grape Wine from his Oporto Grape vineyards at Pasaic, N. J. his Specialite Claret, vin. 1881, and his luscious Burgundy stand unrivalled by any wines in the world, especially for invalids.

Nearly the entire continent of Europe receives its supply of oleomargarine from New York and Chicago, and the importation is almost exclusively through Rotterdam.

The German Emperor will drink no coffee but Mexican, and a large supply is sent him every year from a German colony, which has long been cultivating coffee on the Pacific Coast of Mexico.

There is talk of lighting Winnipig by power from the falls of Kee-wah, 129 miles away.

Intemperance Among Women.

There is much said about the growing habit of intemperance among women; perhaps more than the facts would warrant. If this habit exists it is owing to the fact that women are often forced to perform domestic and social duties under great physical suffering, and by partaking of liquors for temporary relief or a little protraction of strength, the habit becomes a necessity. If all ladies who suffer with the complaints peculiar to their sex, would take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, they would find nature's restorative, and the evil results of pernicious drugs and liquors would be avoided. For all cases of nervous and general debility, sleeplessness, spasms, periodical pains, suppressions and irregularities, it is the only medicine so certain in curative action that it can be guaranteed to benefit or cure or money returned.

The barn belonging to Mrs. O'Brien, at Pine Station, Clinton county, was destroyed by fire Friday night. This season's crops and a number of farming implements were also destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss is placed at $1,000, with an insurance of $200.

It will not cure everything. It is not claimed that it will cure but one complaint, that is dyspepsia. We cannot say that it will cure every case of dyspepsia, but it will cure a large majority of them. Such cases as are adapted to its use will derive immediate benefit. One small bottle will be sufficient to test it. The Shaker Digestive Cordial is especially adapted for emaciated or elderly people whose food does them little or no good because it is not digested. The Cordial contains an artificially digested food and is a digester of food happily combined. Read one of the little books which your druggist is now giving away and learn of this wonderful remedy.

A really palatable Castor Oil can now be had under the name of Laxol.

The tobacco shed on the farm of Daniel Gross, near Mill Hall, was destroyed by fire, Friday afternoon. The shed contained ten acres of this year's crop of tobacco, together with a lot of last year's leaf. Loss $3,000; insurance $1,000.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, sick headache.

Mrs. Stanford has again won the suit brought against her by the federal government and Stanford university will be about $15,000,000 richer.

IMPORTANT FACTS.—If you have dull and heavy pain across forehead and about the eyes; if the nostrils are frequently stopped up and followed by a disagreeable discharge; if soreness in the nose and bleeding from the nostrils is often experienced; if you are very sensitive to cold in the head accompanied with headache; then you may be sure you have catarrh; and should (immediately) resort to Ely's Cream Balm for a cure. The remedy will give instant relief.

"Whose funeral is that?" "Charley Hockersmith's."

"What? Is Charley dead?" "Oh, no! It is his twin brother who is dead, but as Charley is a bachelor and his brother has a wife and four small children, Charley prevailed upon them to bury him in his brother's stead."
