PINEOLA COUGH BALSAM is excellent for all throat inflammations and for asthma. Consumptives will invariably derive benefit from its use, as it quickly abates the cough, renders expectoration easy, assisting nature in restoring wasted tissues. There is a large percentage of those who suppose their cases to be consumption who are only suffering from a chronic cold or deep seated cough, often aggravated by tartar. For catarrh use ELYS CREAM BALSAM. Both remedies are pleasant to use. Cream Balsam, 50c. per bottle; Pineola Balsam, 25c. at Druggist. In quantities of $2.50 will deliver on receipt of amount.

The Case in Brief.

Venezuela is in better condition than most of the South American states. In fact it stands at the head of them. Its total debt is only $13,000,000, while it has a yearly income of $10,000,000. It is fast reducing its debt. Since 1870 it has promptly met every financial obligation, and its credit is good. At the same time it has been expending money liberally in public improvements. Ten years ago the country had no railroads, but now it has 600 miles, and other lines are being constructed. The territory in dispute with Great Britain is of about 80,000 square miles, according to the Venezuelan minister at Washington, and consists principally of mountain and wilderness, valuable, when improved, for coffee plantations. There are believed to be gold mines. The disputed territory is almost without inhabitants, except some miners and woodcutters, a few thousand Indians and negroes who lead a nomadic life. The gold deposits are within the line claimed by Great Britain, known as the Schomburg line.

This brings us to the boundary dispute. It is an ancient question, the diplomatic manoeuvres relating to it dating back to 1814. In that year England became the successor in title to Holland, acquiring the three Dutch settlements of Demerara, Berbice and Essequibo. This is now known as British Guiana. Venezuela, as the successor in title to Spain, then possessed the lands on the northeast coast of South America, adjoining the possessions of Holland. Therefore England's possessions to-day should be simply the territory formerly held by Holland—neither more nor less. Venezuela's rights would be bounded by the lines of Spain's former possessions, and this is what she claims, and has consistently claimed for years. This line is the Essequibo river. Years ago England began the controversy by advancing her boundary, and in 1840 sent out Sir Robert Schomburg to make a survey and report upon the disputed territory. He drew the line of division now known as the Schomburg line. Between that line and the Essequibo river lies the disputed territory larger than the state of Pennsylvania. But unfortunately for England, the Schomburg line has been discredited by British authorities, one of the prime ministers of England having ordered that it be not recognized.

Great Britain insists that she will not arbitrate the boundary dispute with Venezuela until that country recognizes the Schomburg line, which Venezuela refuses to do. It is eminently a case for arbitration, selected by the president of the United States was chosen arbitrator in the boundary dispute between Brazil and Argentina, and the proofs presented by both sides went back to the early discoverers and explorers of South America, 450 years ago. Arbitration in this Venezuela case would not have to go so far back, but would involve the historical records of Holland, Spain, England and Venezuela. Of course England could easily maintain her claim against Venezuela, and the attitude of the United States is all that prevents her usual course of aggression and absorption. She can be tracked around the globe by her land stealing from the weaker powers. Venezuela is willing to arbitrate the whole dispute, and not merely the section of the controversy picked out by Great Britain. In this she has the moral support of the United States. It may reach a point where something more than moral support is necessary. If the land belongs to Great Britain the assertion and enforcement of her claim will violate the Monroe doctrine. If it belongs to Venezuela, and Great Britain seizes and holds the disputed land by force, it will be an act unfriendly to the United States and in defiance of the Monroe doctrine.

Good News for Cubans.

A Splendidly Fitted Expedition Leaves for the Island—Picked Men and much Ammunition on Board.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, son of the first President of the Cuban Provincial Republic of 20 years ago, is upon the high seas at the head of a secret expedition, which expects to land in Cuba in a few days. He is accompanied by nearly 100 enthusiastic young men, all armed, who have determined to fight the Spaniards for Cuba's liberation.

The expedition was quietly fitted out in this city during the past three months. The money was spared to make a success. It started from the Delaware river early last week. The vessel which carries De Cespedes and his men to Cuba is a large schooner of the clipper style, fitted with rapid-fire guns. She has in her hold 12,500 Winchester and Remington rifles, 500,000 cartridges, two gatling guns, 500 machetes and half a ton of dynamite.

The men who accompany Cespedes are well drilled and uniformed. De Cespedes and his followers left Jersey City for Philadelphia on Sunday. They did not all go over the same route, but selected different ways to reach their destination. Upon their arrival in the Quaker City they went to different hotels, and the following morning boarded a large ocean-going tug which had been chartered to take the party down the Delaware. The tug with the De Cespedes party aboard passed out to sea late Monday night. The schooner was waiting outside of the three-mile limit for the tug's arrivals. She had previously taken her arms and provisions aboard.

Samuel Joseph Dies of a Cancer

Sketch of the Career of the Well-Known Democratic Politician.

After suffering for a year with a cancerous affliction Samuel Joseph, the well-known Democratic politician, died last Saturday morning at his residence in Philadelphia. He was 63 years of age last April. His death had been expected for some time and he well knew that he could not long survive, as all the efforts of skilled physicians to check the disease were futile.

Samuel Joseph was a picturesque figure of local politics. He was born in Philadelphia and very early he began to manifest an interest in politics. When but 24 years of age he went as a delegate to a Democratic state convention. In 1856 he represented its Congressional district at the National convention in Cincinnati, which nominated James Buchanan for the presidency. In 1861 he was elected to the State House of Representatives and served there continuously until 1876. He was appointed a mercantile appraiser during the term of State Treasurer Noyes. He served as a delegate in the National Democratic convention in 1876, 1880, 1884, 1888 and 1892, participating in the nominations of Greeley, Tilden, Hancock and Cleveland. From 1856 until the present, with the single exception of this year, he has been a delegate to every Democratic State convention.

During the latter years of his life, Mr. Joseph has been a city contractor, being associated with the firm of Peoples & Josephs. In this and other ventures he amassed considerable wealth. Mr. Joseph was a man of genial character, and had probably more personal friends and was better known than any other man in Pennsylvania politics. He had a handsome villa at Long Branch, where he entertained with lavish hospitality. The late Robert S. Paterson, of the First ward, was one of his bosom friends, and when the popular leader died a few years ago it was a severe blow to Mr. Joseph.

In 1881 when returning from a convention at Williamsport, Mr. Joseph was shot in the foot by Bob Lister Smith, who was subsequently tried and sentenced to a year's imprisonment for the offense. Mr. Smith's claim was that the shooting was accidental.

Dogs and Their Friends.

It was Dr. John Brown of Edinboro, I think, who spoke in sincere sympathy of the man who "killed a dog-less life." It was "Josh Billings," I know, who said that in the whole history of the world there is but one thing that money cannot buy, to wit: the wag of a dog's tail. And it was Prof. John C. Van Dyke who declared the other day, in reviewing the career of Landseer, that he made his dogs too human. It was the great Creator himself who made dogs too human—so human that sometimes they put humanity to shame.

Lads in Society.

It was a New York clubman who made the remark that the season at Bar Harbor, one of the most fashionable resorts, closed about Sept. 1 "because all the men had to go back to school then." Certainly the prominence of "goings" at the resorts is one of the curious anomalies of the season, and it is hard to tell what the final result is going to be of putting the boys so far forward and keeping back the girls. You may see maidens of 18 in short skirts with their nurses, playing jockeystraws, while their brothers, not so old, smoke cigarettes, give champagne suppers and escort young married women to balls.

Grass Grows in the River.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 26.—The Ohio River below this city is not much more than a series of pools separated by bars, which may be crossed dry shod. The marks to-day show less than a foot, the lowest stage of water ever recorded. Grass has grown on many of the bars. The matter of water for family use in a serious problem in the country district.

A Careful Musician.

Farmer: See here, boy, I thought I told you to whistle tune while you were picking those grapes. Boy: Well, I was. Farmer: But there were too many stops in your music. Boy: You see, I was taking the flute part in "Robin Hood," and I had to mind the rests.

A BEAUTIFUL AND BRILLIANT GIRL.

—Beauty, robust health, social prominence, and all that makes life bright was rapidly fading from the possession of the charming Miss K., of Beacon St. Her nearest friends could not imagine what caused the tokens of anguish that followed her the once smooth and rosy-cheeked maintenance. When almost in despair, she happened to see one of those "horrid newspaper advertisements" of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which said: "It was a remedy suitable to her case." Without consulting her physician or anybody else she got the medicine of a druggist, took it, and in three months' time she was well of all her troubles. All pains had ceased, she was herself again, and shortly resumed her place as leader of her chosen circle. Her experience is that of thousands. Why may it not be yours?

—All signs fall in dry weather, and we have evidence of this, in the fact that the three white frosts on successive days, have not brought the needed moisture. The whole country is under a dry spell, and while the coal men are suffering by inability to get their product to market, yet the farmer and gardeners are having a rough time. Inability to get water for stock without hauling it for miles is a common complaint, and the apprehension of what is sometimes called a "winter drouth," which is bad for the farmer, does not help the uneasiness.

ENTERTAINED LAVISHLY.

The French say "it is the impossible that happens." This has proved to be the case with the Mount Lebanon Shakers. The whole scientific world has been laboring to cure dyspepsia, but every effort seemed to meet with defeat. The suffering from stomach trouble has become almost universal. Multitudes have no desire for food and that which they do eat causes them pain and distress. Sleepless nights are the rule and not the exception, and thousands of suffering persons are being dragged to their graves.

The Shakers of Mount Lebanon recently came to the front with their new digestive Cordial, which contains not only a food already digested, but a digester of food.

It promptly relieves nearly all forms of indigestion. Ask your druggist for one of their bottles.

Laxol, the new Castor Oil, is being used in hospitals. It is sweet as honey.

—Waiter (anxiously, as guest arises)—"Hope you won't forget me sir."

RHEUMATIC PAINS.—Dr. David Kennedy's statement that the real cause of Rheumatism was the imperfect action of the kidneys, and that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy opened the clogged ducts, permitted the secretions to pass off, relief and comfort followed as a natural result as so reasonable that sufferers seized at it with avidity and many a victim of Rheumatism, Sciatica and Lumbago has been cured by its use.

—Butler—I may be poor, but there was a time when I rode in a carriage." Cook—"Yes, and your mother pushed it."

You can believe the testimonials published in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla. They are written by honest people, who have actually found in their own experience that Hood's Sarsaparilla purified the blood, creates an appetite; strengthens the system and absolutely and permanently cures all diseases caused by impure or deficient blood. Hood's Pills for the liver and bowels, act promptly, easily and effectively.
