I WONDER. M. V. THOMAS.

I wonder why, on this sad earth, Man's doomed to suffer from his birth. Aye, placed under a changeless ban To suffer what and while he can. And, failing this, his body may Return again to common clay. I wonder, Oh! I wonder.

I wonder why e'en gold will rust, And justice is not always just. Why can the guilty oft go free While innocents must punished be A life-time spent in earnest toil Buy one poor bed-six feet of soil-I wonder, Oh! I wonder.

I wonder why, through all the years, We oscillate 'tween smiles and tears. And oft the happiest hours we spend But lead to sadness in the end. All that we toil for, earn or save We leave for but a new made grave. I wonder. Oh! I wonder.

I wonder why the strong and brave So oft must fill an early grave; Why oft the best that live among Mankind, are called from earth so young While seeming useless ones remain To be the cause of grief and pain.

We wonder now, and sometimes grope In darkness, almost without hope: While dwelling on this earth below God's wondrous plans, we cannot know. When from this temple we are free And God's stupendous works we see We shall no longer wonder.

Rockefeller's Liberality.

How few have given full thought to John D. Rockefeller's latest gift to the Chicago University, one million dollars in absolute cash, two million dollars more, conditional upon the Western educational institution securing another two million dollars elsewhere, making altogether an aggregate of this one man's gifts to this one establishment of seven millions of dol lars, all from one who, a little more than 50 years of age, as a boy sold newspapers in the New England fishing town of New Bedford. It sounds like a story from the Arabian Nights, yet he who has with apparent lavishness parted with his gold still holds in his purse many more such kingly fortunes. And it all comes from oil. This wonderful result of Rockefeller's labors teaches unmistakably the strength of small things, a ride on a street car, which costs but a nickel: the bar of soap, for which five cents is expended; the half gallon of coal oil, for which a few pennies are ungrudgingly given; these things and such as these, have formed the basis of the most colossal fortunes which have made American millionaires famous the world over.

he had passed well into the forties, reach most parts of the country. was looked upon as a close-fisted man. Twelve years ago it was said of him, 21st, and having its center on the 26th, im & dispatch sent from his Cleveland home: "John D. Rockefeller is the richest man in Cleveland, and is worth in the neighborhood of $15,000,000. 25th, covering the moon's first quarter He is something of a student and on the 23rd, and reaching to the 27th. spends many of his spare moments in In all probability the most severe storms his library. His enemies are numerous, and his friends few." That sounds like an enormous sum for one man to have in his keeping, and yet, since then, it has grown by that sum almost yearly, his yearly income being estimated at ten millions of dollars, and every penny of this vast fund had its beginning in the workings of the famous Standard Oil Company, of which Rockesel- tral and northern regions, and a cold der is the head and front; the brains and substance. He is a hundred Coal oil Johnnies, yes a thousand, rolled into one, without the prodigalities of that reckless spendthrift.

Rockefeller's gifts have been mainly to Baptist organizations. He has been interested in the religious education of negroes in the South, and gave the buildings for the Spellman Institute, named for his wife, who was a school teacher in Cleveland. This establishment is located at Selma, Alathat University has cost him more over by the Rev. Augustus H. Strong, D. D., who is Mr. Rockefeller's sonin-law. The latter used his fullest exertions to have the institution which is now known as the Chicago University located in the upper part of New York city, but Dr. Harper then at The National Baptist Educational Society finally announced its choice in favor of that location, and that settled usual with all his public donationsat the Baptist national anniversary in Tremont Temple, in Boston, in 1890, when he promised $600,000, on the was speedily found and the authorities had the $1,000,000 in hand when Marshal Field gave the lots for the buildings, and then the Cleveland million- up." aire subscribed $1,000,000 outright, in addition to what he had promised. and in the following February he showed his solicitude for the welfare of the promised $150,000, so that a gift of raised, should come into the college price of a drink or two.

treasury. In November, 1893, he made a little donation of $500,000, with the proviso that not more than $175,000 be used for running expenses, the balance to be employed for the general purposes of the University. In January, 1894, he suggested that the professors buy a few books, and gave them $50,000 for that purpose, and in the first month of this year he made them a little New Year's present of $175,000.

Within the last ten years John D. Rockefeller and his brother William have given the charitable and benevolent institutions about $12,000,000. That sum only refers to their public work, all of which has been unosten. tatiously done. What their private charities amount to heaven only knows, and that probably is the best place to have it known. These facts and figures may inspire some people with anarchistic feelings, and others with vain regrets; but it does seem as though the coal oil ducats had fallen into good hands.

And it also seems as though a New Bedford newsboy has made a pretty good showing for bimself .- Megargee in the Phila. Times.

WEATHER FOR THIS MONTH. -Weather predictions, like town gossip, are distasteful to everyone, so they say, but withal, they are very few and far between who will not read what Rev. Hicks or Mr. Foster have to say about the weather that is to come. Both are prophets, of more or less repute and, hit or miss, their forecasts are usually read with about as much interest as anything else that appears in a paper.

Rev. Hicks predicts November weather to be as follows:

The storm period originating in October will reach a crisis about the full moon on the 2nd, about which date, disturbance will pass east of the central valley, and a cold wave will be announced in the west and north. From about 3rd to 7th, cold weather will prevail in most parts of the country. Reactionary temperature and storms will center about the 8th and 9th, and will be followed promptly by cold. Snow and rain will result, more or less, at both the above periods.

All this time the editor is supposed to be working on his paper for the following week. Before the effect of his last issue has worn off a steady stream of visitors is pointed towards his sanctum for pointers on the way the local election is going to go. You know how many fellows there are in the world who have nothing to do? Well ninety per cent. of this class imagine that no one else is busy either, so they stay with you until late on the eve of election. The weary editor goes home knowing well that he will have to work at the polls all the next day leaving him really no time after that to write anything for his paper. In sheer desperation he grabs his scissors and hunts up a pile of exchanges, but they don't keep him from his bed long for there is nothing in them. They are all, like his own preceding issue, filled with such pre-election orders as: "Get to the polls early !" Vote often and straight !" and such; none of which would make very interesting reading for a paper that appears at least three days after an elec-

After the election there is absolutely no opportunity for the editor to do anything. He must be ready to tell everyone just how it happened and get tabulated returns from fifty-two precincts at the same time. Thus it will be seen that only about one day remains for him to get out his paper.

With such difficulties confronting one would it be any wonder if a paper is not as bright and newsy after an election as is expected?

P. S .- There is a little matter we forgot to mention. Among the difficulties confronting the editor that we forgot to mention is the danger of his getting full as the result of a glorious victory. In such an event the office devil usually finds the mantel of the editor falling on him.

Licked into Shape

Through long experience the Democrats of Pennsylvania have learned to bear defeat with easy if not complacent philosophy, but to the younger men of the party, who have had less discipline, the result of this "off year" election may bring some bitter reflections; for there has been not a little talk of cutting down Republican majorities in an off year. For the encouragement of young and old it may be well to consider the fact that the euccess of the Republicans now cannot be held to give the least assurance of success one year hence. There was a wave cf Democratic success throughout the Union in 1887, but sweeping Republican victory in 1888. The Democratic party has always worked better in the face of adversity, and this chastening of defeat may have been sent for its good, that its leaders may be spurred to harmonious and vigorous action be well laid for earning a victory in the presidential campaign. Our Republican friends are naturally delighting themselves with the notion that their victories of Tuesday foretell the complete and final knockout of the Democratic party a year hence, but they will be apt to find | Thought His Time Had Come but was Cured by that we have only been licked into shape.

Dr. Salm. For a long time I noticed that I became For a long time I noticed that I became gradually harder and harder of hearing. Ringing noises came in the ear after a while, and I became very much alarmed. So I went to Dr. Salm and put myself under his care and to-day I am grateful to state, and for the benefit of those who may suffer in a like manner, that I can hear once again as good as ever, and those infernal noises have disappeared, although I am nearly 60 years old. Dr. Salm said all of it was caused by catarrh: M, B. Buck, Spring Mills, Centre Co., Pa.

The doctors couldn't do me any good: patent medicines had no effect; so I went at last to Dr. Salm, and after a course of treatment, I am now again as hale and hearty and strong as ever.
