PINEOLA COUGH BALSAM is excellent for all throat inflammations and for asthma. Consumptives will invariably derive benefit from its use, as it quickly abates the cough, renders expectoration easy, assisting nature in restoring wasted tissues. There is a large percentage of those who suppose their cases to be consumption who are only suffering from a chronic cold or deep seated cough, often suggested by catarrh. For catarrh use ELY'S CREAM BALM. Both remedies are pleasant to use. Cream Balm, 50c per bottle; Pineola Balsam, 25c. at Druggist. Quoties of $2.50 will deliver on receipt of amount. 40-40

Venezuelan Commission.

The Venezuela Officials Have their Side of the Controversy Ready for Transmission to Washington if the Commission Decides Not to Visit Venezuela-Some Disappointment Among Commissioners Over the Composition of the Commission. WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.-The five members of the Venezuelan Boundary Commission have not yet formally notified the President of their acceptance, but Mr. Cleveland had received assurances before the appointments were announced that each of the men selected was willing to serve. The selection of Prof. Gilman was largely determined by his prominence as a geographer. The fact that he has written a life of President Monroe, in which a chapter is devoted to the Monroe doctrine, was of secondary importance in connection with his appointment, as Prof. Gilman does not express any radical views on the subject. It is interesting to note that Prof. Gilman in his book on Monroe takes the ground that the idea embodied in the famous doctrine did not originate with Canning, but was practically suggested many years before his time. Chief Justice Fuller is largely responsible for the selection of Justice Brewer. The chief justice had several talks with the President and secretary Olney on the subject, and it is not unlikely that his opinion also had weight in the appointment of chief justice Alvey.

Relative to the organization of the Commission and its work, Justice Brewer said to-day that while he could not speak with full information, yet he had no doubt the sessions of the Commission would be held in Washington, as it was the most accessible point, and, moreover, much of the documentary evidence, maps, etc., which would initiate the inquiry, were to be found here. For the present the justice will continue his work on the supreme court benches, as it is felt that the preliminaries of organization and the assembling of evidence may continue through the present month, leaving the more serious work of examination by the Commission to begin about Feb. 1, when the supreme court takes a month's recess. He said it might be that the State Department had prepared certain features of evidence regarded as essential, and which would serve as a ground work for the investigation. In that event, doubtless, this would be gone over, and then the Commission would determine what further steps were required to ascertain the facts. It might be that Venezuela and England would be asked to present their respective cases. Certainly, in the question of this character, the world would desire for the fullest information from all available sources. When this documentary evidence was all in hand the question might then arise as to the desirability of verifying certain features of it by a personal inspection of the originals of the documents in the archives of Spain, Holland and other countries. This would involve a trip abroad, and there was the possibility that it might become desirable personally to view the locality of contention along the Guiana-Venezuela line. Justice Brewer illustrated this by referring to some of the boundary contests over Mexican land grants, a number of which have been decided by him, including the Maxwell land grant case. The justice says he has not given a thought to the executive staff of the Commission, and as yet no names have been suggested. Thoroughly competent translators, both in Spanish and Dutch, as distinguished from German, will be required to examine the originals of the old Spanish and Dutch grants on which the respective claims are based. The Venezuelan minister promptly cabled his government this morning of the Boundary Commission's appointment and the names of its members. The Venezuelan officials in Caracas had already assumed that the Commission would be authorized by Congress, and had lost no time in preparing that country's side of the controversy for the Commission's consideration. All their evidence has been complete for some years, but much depends on whether the Commission will decide to visit Venezuela or to hold all its sessions in this country.

President Crespo has notified minister Andrade to inform him as soon as possible of the resolution of the Commission on this point, that there may be no delay in submitting the Venezuelan case. The documents are exceedingly voluminous and include a large number of valuable maps, which must be sent to Washington if the Commission concludes to sit here. All those documents are now in Caracas, but ready for immediate transmission. They could be presented to the State Department within ten days of the notification that they were required here.

Until that time the work of the Commission must be necessarily altogether of a preliminary character. If the organization of the body is perfected, as is now expected, early next week, some time must elapse before the American ministers at the Hague and Madrid could secure and transmit copies of Dutch and Spanish archives, which are considered to be essential to an impartial adjudication of the opposing claims. Venezuela is, however, prepared to furnish certified copies of all these documents that prove her right to the disputed territory, and perhaps Great Britain will consent to supply all the others.

The probable attitude of the English government toward the Commission evokes the keenest curiosity. While it is the prevailing opinion that it will embrace the opportunity to state its side of the case, without agreeing to be bound by the findings, it is not believed that this can be done without considerable delay. It is understood that, although the English have accumulated all possible evidence to support their claim to the entire Orinoco region, they had never expected to be compelled to produce it, and have not arranged it in such shape that it could be promptly submitted. It would not be surprising, therefore, in case Great Britain should take cognizance of the appointment of the American Commission, if a request should be received from Lord Salisbury asking for a sufficient delay to enable his government to prepare its documentary proofs. In any event the actual discussion of the merits of the controversy can hardly commence inside of the next two weeks, and there is no possibility of a decision for several months if the investigation is to be made as thorough as contemplated. BALTIMORE, Jan. 2.-President Gilman, of Johns Hopkins University has received an official announcement of his appointment as a member of the Venezuelan Commission, but he will accept the appointment when it reaches him. When asked if he would not, in view of his well-known familiarity with the physical geography of Venezuela, give the public such pertinent facts in this regard as bore upon the question of the divisional boundary line in dispute, Mr. Gilman replied that to do so now would be premature. "This whole thing," he said, "has been very suddenly sprung upon me, and I have had no time as yet to give it consideration. Until I do I cannot say anything which would be of any value to those desiring correct information. After the preliminary is necessary to the constitution of the committee are definitely settled it may then be within my power to say something for publication."

In Dr. Gilman's memoir of President Monroe, published in 1885, the author devotes a brief chapter to the Monroe doctrine, but from it little can be gained regarding Dr. Gilman's personal opinion on the subject. "Very little," says Dr. Gilman, "has come under my eye to illustrate the workings of Monroe's mind, or to show how it came to pass that he uttered such terse sentences the general opinion of his countrymen."

Popularity of the Bible.

Six Million Copies Were Distributed Last Year, and the Scriptures are Translated Into Every Language.

Six millions of books are a great many, and that number represents the world's output of the Christian Scriptures during the last year. The number of Bibles distributed since the organization of the British and foreign Bible society of London, in 1804, is 260,000,000, or enough volumes, if laid end to end to reach a distance of 50,000 miles. The British society and the American Bible society of New York, since its establishment in 1816, have been the two great organizations of the world for the translation, publication and circulation of the books of the Bible. Their work has been a tremendous and growing one, yearly exhausting their increasing resources and reaching a magnitude that is surprising.

From a rare and the most expensive book the Bible has become the most common and the cheapest publication in the world. Dr. Piemper, in his tract, "How to Use the Bible," says: "In the thirteenth century, in England, two arches of the London bridge cost £25. At the same time a copy of the Bible, with a few explanatory notes, cost £30. Then the wages of a laborer amounted to but ninepence a week."

In other words, the cost of such a Bible was equal to the entire wages, in money, of a laboring man for over fifteen years. At so late a period as that of the American revolution the very cheapest editions of the Bible were valued at not less than £2 a volume. Now an entire English Bible is sold for twenty cents, and the New Testament can be bought for five cents.

Last year the British and Foreign Bible society distributed 2,185,618 Bibles in foreign countries, and the American Bible Society exported 634,025 copies. These books were printed in forty-one different languages. Many complete Bibles and portions of Scriptures were also printed by the American society at Beirut, Constantinople, Shanghai, Bangkok, Yokohama, Paris and Bremen.—New York Herald.

Severe Western Storm.

Haviest Snowfall for Years in Some Sections. St. Louis, Dec. 30.—Dispatches from southern Illinois mention the heaviest snowstorm for several years in that section. At Shelbyville 5 or 10 inches of snow has fallen since last midnight; at Odin there is 6 to 8 inches on the ground; at Lebanon, Ind., two feet has fallen, blocking railroads and impeding all kinds of traffic. The storm has also prevailed in some parts of Missouri. About four inches of snow fell here last night.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 30.—One of the heaviest snowstorms in recent years set in here last night, and to-day a foot of snow covers the ground. The storm continues, and all kinds of street traffic is much hampered. The street car lines were cleared with difficulty, and the service throughout the day was very uncertain. Suburban cars were generally abandoned. The railroads are feeling the effect of the storm, and most of the incoming trains are late.

DENVER, Dec. 30.—The windstorm in Denver to-day was one of the worst ever experienced here. At 6 a. m. the wind was blowing at the rate of 45 miles an hour. It increased in velocity until 6:30, and for five minutes blew at the rate of a mile a minute. All the mountain lines of the Colorado telephone company are down.

FOR SINGERS, AN EFFECTIVE CURE FOR COLDS.—Old Anna Rachel, the well-known nurse of Holliston, has gotten up for some New York physicians, according to their prescribed formula, a combination of Horehound, Elecampane, Grape Juice and Rock Candy, that is doing wonders in the cure of coughs, colds and sore throat. It is put up in 25 and 75 cent sizes. Public speakers should carry a bottle in their pocket. Sold by druggists.

There never was a party, faction, sect or cabal, whatsoever, in which the most ignorant were not the most violent; for a bee is not a busier animal than a blockhead.

A few days use of Pincola Balsam and the danger is past. It is the right thing for coughs. Better than any other mixtures. Better than any other medicine, whatever, for that cough—that tearing, sleep-killing, anxiety-breeding, dangerous cough! Ely's Pincola Balsam cures sore throat, and is quick and sure in all bronchial affections. It will relieve the cough at once. It makes breathing much easier and the spasms less severe in cases of asthma. Price 25 cents.

Lost Her Hand But Saved Her Life.

Mrs. Edward Myers, of Athens, N. Y., has been treated for months in the usual way for erysipelas, without benefit. Her hand had become a mass of putrid flesh, the blood so poisoned that her life was despaired of. At this time Mrs. Myers sought the advice of Dr. David Kennedy, discoverer of Favorite Remedy, discoverer of Favorite Remedy. Dr. Kennedy found it impossible to save the hand, so he amputated the same, then gave her Favorite Remedy which drove the poisonous disease out of her system, thus saving her life.

Had Favorite Remedy been used earlier in the development of erysipelas, Mrs. Myers would have saved her hand. The worst cases of eczema, salt rheum and scrofula, yield to Favorite Remedy.

—Uncle George—"Got trusted for it? Very bad! When I was a young man, I always paid cash for everything I bought." Frivolous Nephew—"You don't mean to say that your credit was so bad as that?"

ECITON—You may puzzle a long time over that word before you tell how to pronounce it. Take the last end first and read backwards, and you have the familiar word "notice." Thus it might puzzle you to learn that "Yrevocon Lucidum Nedlog" cures incipient consumption and all scrofulous impurities of the blood, and is a sure remedy for piles, skin affections and all complaints due to deranged liver. Take the right hand end of your title and read backwards and you have the "Golden Medical Discovery," the famous preparation of Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo. Get hold of disease by the right end. Don't wait till the undertaker is the only man that can do anything. "G. M. D." cures consumption, lung scrofula, when taken in the early stages of the disease.

—Baron Alderson once released from his duties a juror who stated that he was deaf with one ear. "You may leave the box," said his lordship, "since it is necessary you should hear both sides."

IN THE BEGINNING—Of a new year, when the winter season of close confinement is only half gone, many find that their health begins to break down, that the least exposure threatens sickness. It is then as well as at all other times, and with people even in good health, that the following facts should be remembered, namely: that Hood's Sarsaparilla leads everything in the way of medicine; that it accomplishes the greatest cures in the world; has the largest sale in the world, and requires the largest building in the world devoted exclusively to the preparation of the proprietary medicine. Does not this conclusively prove, if you are sick, that Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine for you to take?

—Melrose, Conn., has probably the largest cider mills in the country, which have used 35,000 bushels of apples the past season. They have shipped their cider and vinegar to almost every State in the Union.

—The Mount Lebanon Shakers recently performed a great deed of charity, although it was not designed as a charity, being nothing more nor less than an advertising scheme. It however resulted in great good just the same. They gave away 1,000 bottles of their Digestive Cordial to those suffering from stomach derangements.

It was so effective in curing those who used the remedy that they were loud in their praises of it and in consequence a large demand for the cordial was at once created.

The druggists of this town have little to tell about it. Digestive Cordial creates an appetite, aids digestion and brings about a rapid increase in flesh and strength.

It is said that the first American woman to occupy a professor's chair in a co-educational institution was Helen C. Morgan, who was made professor of Latin at Fisk University in 1899.

Colonel J. S. Carr, of Durham, N. C., president of a tobacco company, is insured for $500,000, and his wife for $100,000. What makes his case remarkable is that his insurance is in one company.
