

Yes, a Sort of a Boomerang to Republicanism.

From the Altoona Tribune.
Congress should be very slow about admitting any more new states to the union. Some of the more recent accessions threaten to prove a curse rather than a blessing.

State College and Vicinity.

John N. Krumrine is building a fine stable on the rear of his Church street lot.

As a delegate from this precinct A. A. Miller was quite a factor in the recent Democratic county convention. He made a fine representative.

Mrs. J. A. Sankey, of Philipsburg, with her interesting daughters Margaret and Mabel, are being pleasantly entertained at the Garner home. Mrs. Sankey's many friends are delighted that she is in such good health.

Port Matilda Pointers.

Charley, Mrs. Minnie Price's little son is seriously ill with inflammatory rheumatism.

S. R. Pringle, one of enterprising merchants has greatly improved his dwelling and store by repainting it white, with green trimmings.

The farmers of this section are much pleased over the present prospects of the hay crop. Until the recent rains it gave every evidence of failure but it is now growing and thriving very promisingly.

Quite a number of our citizens attended the Democratic convention on Tuesday and our town was honored by having one of its men nominated for sheriff. We all rejoice with W. M. Chronister and when he got off the train his smile was broad enough to take in the entire town, after a hurried handshake he hastened home to rejoice with his family and get, no doubt, a much needed rest.

Pine Grove Mention.

Master Ralph Meek, one of Tyrone's promising youths, is enjoying an outing at D. G. Meek's.

Mrs. Emma Meek accompanied Mrs. Anna Weaver to her home in Bellwood the early part of this week. She will remain with her a week or ten days.

Dr. Stoddard, of Maine, a former room mate and chum of Dr. Krebs passed this way on his honey moon trip and tarried in town for several days. He has been practicing dentistry in Japan for some years.

J. M. son of Rev. Wm. G. Fortney, of New Berlin, is rusticiating and learning the mysteries of farming at his uncle James' on the Branch. He is a chip of the old block as we remember it away back in the sixties.

The venerable J. S. McCormick, who probably has attended more primary elections than any other man in this section; was out last Saturday full of true Jeffersonian principles and warmly advocating Griest and Grove.

The primary election last Saturday, was one of the largest ever held in our town. The candidates certainly had a voice in the matter and perfect harmony prevailed. Our Republican neighbors were sadly disappointed because there was neither a kick nor a rum-pus.

The new cemetery association has been organized with charter, stock and eight hundred dollars capital. J. M. Kepler, P. F. Bottorf, D. G. Meek, Rev. C. T. Aikens and John Musser are the charter members. Meek, Bottorf and Musser compose the executive committee. The ground has been enclosed by a neat fence with an ornamental iron one fronting the road-way. plots have been laid out and soon it will be a beautiful burial spot.

Last Saturday a big crowd of busy workers decorated the Fairbrook church as it had never been before for Children's Day. The services Sunday evening were delightful. The church was filled then crowded and finally every available space was taken by those anxious to here the good music and program carried out under the direction of Superintendent Hess. The Presbyterians had their Children's Day services in the afternoon but on account of a drenching rain the attendance was not large. The little folks carried out their part of the program very well. Dr. Woods conducted the services and Rev. Hepler made the address.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"A Rose Festival" is the name of a delightful entertainment for June by Emma J. Gray, which will appear in Harper's Round Table published June 9th. In the same number there will be an article on the Manufacture of Gunpowder, by Franklin Matthews; W. J. Henderson will contribute one of his old sailor's yarns entitled "The Feast of King Red Coat." A chapter of Kirk Munroe's serial story entitled "Rick Dick," which is nearing the end; the last instalment of Marion Harland's serial, "An Old-Field School Girl"; short stories, articles on photography, departments on Stamps, Interscholastic Sport, Bicycle Tours, humorous items, etc., with excellent illustrations, complete the number.
