

Jas. W. Miller, Esq., of Altoona, was in attendance at Mr. Hammen's funeral and tarried a day to interview his old time friends. He thinks the outlook for silver is booming in his town.

Thos. B. Jamison and wife, of Spring Mills, were in town, Tuesday, for Mr. Hammer's funeral. Mr. Jamison is one of Gregg township's Democratic leaders, who looks well to the interests of his party.

Willie, the five year old son of Daniel Irvin, of Baileyville, died very unexpectedly on Monday morning, and was buried Wednesday afternoon in the Gatesburg cemetery. He was well as he could be, Saturday, at the picnic, but was taken sick that night.

Last Saturday evening, as Mr. Sellers and Mr. Saxon were returning to their home in Benore from this place, their horse took fright at a black hog and turned the buggy over. The top and shafts were broken off but the men escaped unharmed to walk home.

Meade Danley, Esq., a prosperous Ohio farmer, gladdened his mother, recently, by putting in his appearance at the Danley home on Main street. Although his locks are touched heavily by the frost of time, he is physically as sprightly as a boy in his teens.

Edith Harris, youngest daughter of the late Cyrus Goss, died at her mother's home in Altoona, on Sunday, the 22nd, of spinal meningitis. She was 5 years, 1 month and 10 days old and a bright, sweet child. She was brought here and buried Sunday afternoon in the new cemetery, where hers was the first grave made.

Rev. Warner and his wife are visiting their old parishioners here. They look not a day older than when he preached here years ago. On Sunday evening he preached in the Lutheran church, to a large and friendly audience, who were glad to hear him once more. Rev. Dr. Pohlman, of Baltimore, preached in the same church Sunday morning.

Last Saturday evening a number of Goodwill council, of Tyrone, visited Tussey council in this place. They came in response to a cordial invitation and were very much pleased with the reception. Refreshments were served at the St. Elmo hotel. The visiting members were W. S. Branstetter, D. A. McCoy, Jerry Snyder, J. B. Bean, Jas. Cree, George Wingate, Frank Wesley, A. J. Anderson, Harry Colt, George Colderswood and Wesley Weise. They did not leave until late on their 25 mile drive.

DEATH OF REUBEN HAMMER.—On last Sunday morning, at the residence of his son-in-law in Altoona, Reuben Hammer died after an illness of several weeks, of ulceration of the stomach. Mr. Hammer was born in Germany, July 13th, 1824. At the age of 17 he came to this country to escape military services, and from New York worked his way to Northumberland. There he became acquainted with Walter Graham, whose mail route at that time extended from Northumberland to Yellow Springs, in Blair county, and entered his service. For many years he drove the coach between the Old Fort and Spruce creek via Pine Grove Mills, and many of our older people are indebted to him for the safe transportation of their letters and valuables.

His wife, Margaret Miller, died June 14th, '93 and of his five children only three are living, Mrs. Annie V., wife of W. A. Saucerman, James M., of Altoona, and William H. of West Point, Va. Mr. Hammer soon after going to Altoona to spend the Fourth of July was taken sick, but was able to be about the house until Monday of last week, from which time he grew rapidly worse.

His body was brought here Monday afternoon, and buried from his own home on Tuesday morning in the plot in the new cemetery which he had selected before going to Altoona. Rev. Aikens conducted the services, which were attended by a large concourse of people who knew and liked him much in the 52 years he was a resident of this place.

Port Matilda Pointers.

Mrs. Leitzell, of Spring Mills, and Mrs. Brown, of Altoona are visiting Rev. Minnick and wife.

Merchant A. W. Reese has returned from his annual outing at Atlantic city, looking much rejuvenated by his trip.

Mrs. Joseph Rightnour and her two interesting children are visiting friends at her old home, while Mr. Rightnour is taking in the sea breezes at Atlantic city.

Miss Ella Reese, left last week for Bethlehem, where she will attend the High school this year. She is energetic and studious and we know that she will succeed.

The M. E. Sunday school, of Martha Furnace, had an enjoyable picnic on last Saturday. Our cornet band furnished the music for the occasion which accounts for the large turn out.

The members of the M. E. church of this place will hold a festival on the lawn at the parsonage on Saturday evening. You are cordially invited to attend. The proceeds are for the benefit of the church.

Mrs. John M. Newman, of Taylor township, who has been seriously ill for months, died at her home on Monday night and was buried, on Wednesday morning, in Mt. Pleasant cemetery. She leaves several children to mourn her death.

All Through Brush Valley.

Charles Emerick, of New York, is at home on a short vacation.

Samuel and Orvis Frank are attending the Williams Grove picnic.

The Brushvalley public schools will open a week from the coming Monday.

Sidney Krumrine, of Williamsport, is "at home in goat Brushvalley."

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Small, of Mackeyville, were in our valley Sunday.

Mrs. Carson and daughter, of Lock Haven, are guests of Kerstetters in Rebersburg.

Mrs. Lichty and sister, of Bellwood, are visiting their old home in Madisonburg.

Miss Minnie Conser, of Loganton, visited her brother, Dr. John Bright, several days.

Mr. Crider, of near Wolf's store, will leave for Franklin & Marshall college in a few days.

Stuart Weber and his wife are going to move near Boalsburg, where he will teach school.

John DeLong, a good Republican, at Lintonia, says his bees will make more and sweeter honey in a Bryan administration.

Snyder Miller, George Winters, Adam Stover, George Musser, Fred Brungart, Andrew Ocker and Andrew Geiser were passengers for Bellefonte on Monday.

Mr. Maxey, of the northern part of the state is the guest of Miss Eva Moyer, of Centre Mills. Miss Lizzie Moyer left last Wednesday for the Bloomsburg Normal school.

Last Wednesday the Rebersburg ladies had a leap year picnic in Jasper Brungart's grove. The ladies had prepared a most excellent dinner for the gentlemen, which only they could prepare, and which the young gentlemen enjoyed immensely. It was a complete success and those who were not there have reason to regret their absence.

Last Sunday morning, Mr. Philip Gramley, who had lived all his life in his father's home in Brushvalley, died in East Germantown, Ind., where he had been since last April. He was buried last Thursday from the residence of Jacob Kerstetter in Rebersburg. His daughter, Tillie, was the only one who accompanied the body east. Every one in the valley knew "old Philip" as having been a consistent christian.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

The September number of Harper's Magazine opens with a paper on George Washington and his life during the critical years between the close of the Revolution and the adoption of the Constitution. The paper is beautifully illustrated from drawings by Howard Pyle and others, and a picture of Washington in his garden at Mount Vernon stands as the frontispiece to the number. "A Summer Among Cliff Dwellings," by T. Mitchell Prudden, is an account of explorations in the region the centre of which is the meeting-point of the boundary lines of Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona. Dr. Prudden's theory is that the Cliff-dwellers were the ancestors of the Navajos and other village Indians who live in the region of the cave dwellers to this day. Miss Anna C. Brackett, in her article "Among the Trees," advocates forestry as an attractive and healthful pursuit for women, and it must be owned, makes out a strong case for an occupation in which she evidently delights. An acquaintance with trees is not only a source of keen enjoyment to the person who knows them, but it is capable of promoting the general good to so great a degree that the encouragement of the art of forestry is in the nature of a public benefaction. These are only three of the excellent articles with which Harper's Magazine for September is replete.

The Forum for September will contain an article that for dramatic interest has probably never been excelled. It is entitled "Fire and Sword in Cuba," and it is an absolutely trustworthy history of the present insurrection in Cuba up to Campos's downfall—a thrilling and intensely interesting article. The author, Mr. Clarence King, has travelled the island widely, and enjoys the friendship and confidence of the leaders of the revolution. "The Progress of the Women's Rights Movement in France," and a scathing criticism of Parelli's "Life of Cardinal Manning" by Rev. John Talbot Smith, who writes from a Roman Catholic point of view are two other interesting articles in the Forum.

Spring Mills.

The oats crop in this neighborhood proved very satisfactory. Corn looks well and gives promise of a large yield. Potatoes are hardy up to the crop of last year, but apples are very plenty.

The new road to the R. R. station is approaching completion. It will be a great convenience to those residing in the southeastern part of our village, as they will have a direct thoroughfare.

C. P. Long, our live merchant, has his handsome new brick residence under roof. The building presents a fine appearance and is charmingly located. Mr. L. contemplates erecting several more dwellings this fall.

Quite a number of our people left on Thursday last for the sea shore. Among the number was the proprietor of the Spring Mills printing house. A delightful trip was enjoyed even with the cool weather.

The Evangelical picnic, last Saturday, in Thomas Royer's Woods, was a very pleasant affair. The grove is the most beautiful one in the valley for a picnic. Revs. Shortess and Rev. Wm. Scholl made the addresses.

Mrs. Susan Waite, widow of the late John Waite, who belonged to Co. A., 148 regiment P. V. and who died in the war in 1863, died in Renovo, on last Saturday morning, and was buried in the Evangelical cemetery on Monday. She was 96 years old and her death was caused by dropsy. For some years she had been making her home in Renovo with her only son, Henry. She was a sister of Henry Scholl from whose home the funeral took place.

The silver question is undoubtedly the principal topic of conversation in this latitude, one hears it discussed in all the stores, mills and in almost every nook and corner of the village, and through the valley. The question is very much like the handle of a jug—all on one side—and apparently the people are decidedly in favor of it. The farmers have discovered that in the success of bimetalism, is their only salvation, the only hope they have of saving their farms and homes. They are satisfied that with the single gold standard, their lands and products have depreciated year after year until they have little left. Is it any wonder that they are flocking to and advocating the "silver craze" as our opponents delight to call it, yet it is a question which has crazed their leaders and on election day it will not only craze but paralyze them all.
