THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

Attend the "Round-up" tomorrow night.

Elmer Heverly was badly scalded about the face and arms, at the Valentine iron works, on Sunday night.

The saw mill lately operated by the Barner brothers in the east end of Sugar valley has been moved into Brush valley narrows.

The Undine fire company is getting ready for the annual Thanksgiving ball. Elaborate preparations are being made to make it a great success.

Benj. Williams has returned from the Metico-chirurgical hospital, in Philadelphia, where he underwent a severe, though highly successful surgical operation.

Rev. John Craig, of Julian, has been troubled ever since the war with a gun wound in his leg. It became so serious that he went to the Cambria hospital, Johnstown, and had the member amputated.

Templeton Cruse, who is associated with his brother Charles in conducting the cigar and tobacco business in which their father was engaged, is ill with diphtheria. He is at the home of his mother on east Linn street.

The ladies of the Reformed church will hold a chicken and oyster supper in the Exchange this evening. A special feature of the evening will be the disposing of a scripture cake. This will be something new. You ought to be there to see it go off.

Choppers are engaged in cutting up the monster willow tree that has stood in the yard of the old Thomas homestead, near the glass works, for so many years. The stump is 10 ft in diameter. Geo. Mucklehatten and "Doc" Bryan are making cord wood of the willow.

Ralph Bingham, the boy orator grown to manhood, gave a very delightful recital to a large audience in the Methodist church, on Monday evening. His impersonations were realistic and his work with the violin very good. He entertained his audience from start to finish and could have held them far longer than he did.

Mrs. Mary Sullivan died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Utz, on Bishop street, at noon on Tuesday. Deceased was the widow of the late Daniel Sullivan, of Mt. Union, and was about 76 years old. Heart disease was the cause of her death. The remains were taken to Altoona and burial was made yesterday morning.

The junior society of the Christian Endeavor of the United Brethren church of Bellefonte, will hold an oyster supper in the vacant room in the McClain block, next door to this office, on Saturday evening, October 31. Everybody is urged to go and partake of a good meal. Oysters stewed or fried or chicken will be only 25 cts. Ice cream and cake will be extra. Go and help the children.

The Campaign ball given by the Coleville band, in the Armory, last Friday night, was fairly well attended and those who went had a good time. The weather was not as good as it might have been and possibly accounts for the absence of some who ought to have been there. The Coleville band deserves patronage. It is one of the most generous musical organizations in the county.

That old fake about Lewis and Conley, the mountain bandits, is revived as regularly as the sun rises. The latest is that a Centre county huckster, on his way to Lock Haven to market, the other morning, found a pair of old, rusty hand-cuffs that the robbers are supposed to have used. Whenever stories of the wild animals that escaped from Main's circus wreck, at Vail, a few years ago, grow stale the old robber fakes are revived.

Engineer Frank Igo, of the train running on the Moshannon branch from Osceola to Houtzdale, is a hero. As his train was speeding into the station at the latter place, last Thursday, he caught sight of a little baby playing between the rails, all heedless of death that was creeping down on it. The engineer reversed his engine and ran forward onto the pilot, from which position he gathered the tiny tot into his strong arms and delivered it safely to its parents who lived nearby.

Harry Wagner, a son of Adam Wagner of this place, and one of the managers of Rock Mills narrowly escaped being killed on Tuesday morning. He had gone to the stable to harness his team and when one of the horses viciously undertook to squeeze him in the stall he whipped it. The animal kicked and struck him just above the eye. The skull was badly fractured and it was at first thought to be fatal, but reports last night were to the effect that he will recover.

THE ADELPHI DANCE.—The Adelphi club of the Pennsylvania State College will entertain, next Friday evening, by giving a dance to their friends at the Inn. Lettan and Chappell's orchestra will furnish the music. The patronesses will be Mrs. Geo. W. Atherton, Mrs. Wilbur F. Reeder, Miss H. A. McElwain, Mrs. J. P. Jackson, Mrs. John N. Lane and Mrs. H. H. Stook.

The Club's committee on the affair comprises Mr. A. L. Cronlish, Mr. R. F. Kellner Jr., Mr. C. W. Hardt and Mr. W. H. Teas.

AN IMPRESSIVE SERVICE.—What was possibly the most inspiring Christian service ever conducted in this town was the twenty-seventh anniversary of the Young Men's Christian Association, held in the Presbyterian church, on Sunday evening.

It had been announced that Dr. Lawrence M. Colfelt, of Bedford, would preach his noted sermon "that manly man," but no one was disappointed when the eminent divine, who has grown too broad for Presbyterianism, had finished and no reference to the expected text had been made. Such an assemblage as had crowded that church would have been inspiration to any man. It was such inspiration to Dr. Colfelt that at the last minute all thought of "the manly man" fled from him and he launched forth on the grandest sermon of which we have conception. That he was specially inspired for the work he gave there can be no doubt. Such masterful rhetoric, such appealing simplicity, such a beautiful presentation of the mission of the Carpenter of Galilee all proclaimed the grand thought that at the name of Jesus every knee shall bow. It was sublime and we can only impart a faint idea of the impression it made when we recount the expression of a leading minister of the town, after the service, when he said: "The $1600 the Association costs us is more than returned in a sermon like we have heard to-night."

A service of song opened the meeting. It was conducted by president J. P. Gephart and led by a male choir from the various churches in town.

Rev. J. W. Rue, of the Methodist church, prayed and then secretary F. H. Cota made his report for the year. The treasurer's report for the year showed total receipts of $1,555.04, with expenditures of $1,653.35. As the current expenses of the association are only a trifle over $1,200 per annum it will be seen that more than $400 had gone toward liquidating the old indebtedness that has been burdening the institution for years. It was a revelation to his hearers when he announced that 25,000 visits had been made to the rooms during the year, but the grandest proof of the good work of the place was witnessed when Harris Heylman, Samuel Taylor, Charles McClure, Herbert Bartley, Emanuel Markle, Roger Bayard and Wm. Gordon got up and offered testimony to show what had been done for them.

Such evidence appealed to the people. Appealed far stronger than words of others could do, for there were the living examples of the strong Christian influence that dominates at the cosy refuge for boys that the town has built up. If such a showing could be made in a year of universal depression what are the possibilities of the future? Oh, why won't Bellefonte be quickened to that substantial support that the Association merits. Show me the man who dare say it has not done a good work. Show me the man who will regret the money that has been expended there.

After this report Dr. Colfelt delivered the sermon and the earnest prayer of Dr. Gerhart, of the Reformed church, concluded that part of the service. Another song and the meeting was dismissed by Rev. E. E. Hoshour, of the Lutheran church.

It will be a long time before the impress of that meeting will fade from the minds of those who were there. We cannot imagine the soil so barren that a rich harvest will not reward such a sowing.

THE BOSS FREE SILVER PUMPKIN.—There are very few people in College or Ferguson townships who don't know Gum Hubler, the jolly, fat farmer who lives three miles west of the new borough of State College. Gum is a noted man, up there because he is the boss hunter, the boss joker and the boss good fellow along "the barrens," but he has come to the front in a new role. He now lays claim to the distinction of being the boss pumpkin raiser of the community and the best feature of it all is that the pumpkin that promises to bring him fame is a shining silver pumpkin. It is not one of the golden hue, but a genuine field pumpkin that has a glossy silver rind. It weighs 99 lbs and measures 7 ft around. Now if there are any gold men in the county who can beat this with a gold pumpkin we would like to hear from them.

We don't know what Gum intends doing with his monster, but we believe Mrs. Bryan could make some good pumpkin pies out of it that the young gladiators of the people would relish.

ACADEMY-HIGH SCHOOL.—The foot ball game at Hecla, last Saturday afternoon, proved far more interesting than was expected and instead of the Academy boys scoring as they pleased, the general expectation, they had the hardest kind of work to make the ten points they did get.

The day was raw and blustery and only a small crowd went down to see the game. The grounds being muddy the Academy team had to abandon their favorite running plays and try pushing the High School line. This worked part of the time, but whenever their goal was getting in too much danger the doughty boys from the brick building would hold their opponents and secure the ball on downs. The strain was too hard for them, however, and twice it was carried over their line.

With a little bit of practice and a few changes in the make up of the team the High School boys could give the Academy a game that would be decidedly interesting.

ZION'S REFORMED CHURCH.—There will be no meeting of the catechetical class in the Zion Reformed church next Saturday afternoon, Oct. 31st. But on the following Saturday the class will meet as usual. R. DEIGHTON GERHART, pastor.

—Before buying always read Lyon and Co's advertisements. See what they offer in new goods and prices on the 5th page.

—D. W. Hunter, aged 52 years, died at his home on Cold Stream, Philipsburg, on Monday evening. He had been ill for some time with consumption. A widow and seven children survive.

—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Valentine have rented their house to Mr. Lawrence, an insurance man, and taken rooms in the Bush house for the winter. Their daughter, Miss Emily, is going to New York to go on with her china painting.

—During the stay of evangelists Weaver and Weeden, in Lock Haven, they made over 500 conversions. The tabernacle was taken down last week and packed away for the winter. The evangelists will return to Lock Haven in the spring to conduct another series of meetings.

ANOTHER BIG PUMPKIN.—Richard Hughes, of Osceola Mills, writes us that he wants the bun for big pumpkin raising. He has one that is 6 ft. 11 1/2 inches around its largest circumference, 6 ft. 4 inches around its shortest and weighs 154 lbs. It must be a whopper, but Gum Hubler has the original free silver article.

SWEET WEDDING BELLS.—On Wednesday evening, quietly and without the least display, the wedding of Miss Millie M. Furey and Webb Kerstetter was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Morris Furey, east of town. Owing to the ill health of Mrs. Furey only a few friends and relatives were present to witness the ceremony, said by Dr. Laurie. The bride wore a very becoming dress of white mull and the groom, who is one of our energetic young business men, is certainly to be congratulated, for she is not only a bright, pleasant girl but is well versed in the methods of making a comfortable home. Immediately after the wedding supper the young couple were driven to their apartments, on Bishop street, where they will go to housekeeping.

MRS. ROBERT COOK, OF HOWARD.—One of Howard's most aged residents and a woman generally esteemed in that community died there, at 11 o'clock, on Sunday morning. Just a day before she had been stricken with paralysis and as it affected her entire system she remained unconscious until death. The stroke was very sudden as there had been no symptoms at all of its approach.

Mrs. Cook was Miss Mary Quinn, of Muncy, before her marriage. She would have been 80 years old had she lived until December. Six children survive her. They are Charles, at Millifinburg; Clarence, Mrs. Rosetta Long, Robert and Alice, at Howard; John, of Philadelphia; and Jacob, of Virginia.

Funeral services were held at three o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, burial was held at Howard and Rev. Jones, of the Presbyterian church, officiated.

ANNA CARPENTER ADAMS.—Born March 21st, 1828, died on October 25th, 1896. Deceased was a daughter of Charles Carpenter, who served as prothonotary of this county from 1839 to 1845, and in 1847 she was married to Thomas M. Adams, in this place.

She was a most exemplary Christian woman and had lived in the comfort of Methodism since girlhood. Though she had no warning of the approach of death and had retired the night before in her usual good health the fact that she was a dead corpse in a few hours leaves no fear in the minds of those who knew her that she was not ready to meet her Creator, for her life had been faith in him and she bided her time with that comforting assurance that every soul baptized of the spirit is borne up with.

The following children survive: Charles, Philipsburg; Frank, Bellefonte; Richard, Philipsburg; William H., of Boggs Twp.; Geo. and Fannie, of Milesburg. The latter was in bed with her mother when she died. Four children are dead: James, Sara, Weaver, who was killed in Philipsburg, and an infant daughter.

Rev. King conducted the services at her funeral, which was held on Tuesday, and burial was made in this place.

DEATH OF MRS. STRAUB.—While it was generally known that Mrs. William Straub had been in failing health for months the announcement of her death, on Tuesday morning, was unexpected: She had suffered for several years with bronchial and nervous trouble and had been confined to bed for weeks, but at times was so well and bright that neither her physician nor family anticipated so sudden a death.

A daughter of James Ashton, who half a century ago was one of the well known men of Rock Forge, she was born in Huntingdon county, August 15th, 1828. In 1859 she was married to Mr. Straub who with their three children, Edward M., Elmer E., and Blanche E. will miss her greatly. She was a kind, good woman ever ready to do for the church and her neighbors. A good talker, endowed with ability to see the humorous side of life and events she was, at all times, welcome company. The sorrow of her death falls heavy on her husband and devoted daughter but they have the consolation of knowing that her life was well spent. Her sisters living are Mrs. B. F. Brown, of Boalsburg; Mrs. Seanson and Mrs. Tyson. The funeral, which was held on Thursday afternoon from her home on Holmes street was largely attended. Rev. J. W. Rue, of the Methodist church, of which she had been a consistent member for years, conducted the services.

MCKINLEY NIGHT.—It was a great time, on Tuesday night, when the McKinleyites from all parts of the country came to town to hear the Hon. Marriot Brosius, of Lancaster; W. C. Arnold, of DuBois; I. D. Dougherty, of Kittanning, "and others," among whom was our own banker orator, the honorable Col. James P. Coburn, of Bellefonte and Aaronsburg.

The early part of the evening was spent in parade. There were bands galore, uniformed marching clubs, uniformed marching clubs and clubs that weren't marching at all. The musical organizations in the line were the Undine, the Scotia, the Milesburg, Zion, State College and Coleville bands. Delegations from all along the Bellefonte Central R. R. were here. Fifty people came up over the C. R. R. of Pa. and indeed there must have been at least as many more who drove, rode or walked into town. At any rate, counting the carriage drivers, the boys, bands, and everything but the horses, flags and torches, there were exactly 487 in line. This count was made by three people, at different points along the line.

The parade was pretty and aroused enthusiasm to a high pitch. It made everyone recall the great marching campaign of 1880.

The meeting in the court house was large and Messrs. Dougherty, Coburn and Arnold spoke to a small crowd in the Diamond, all of whom seemed more inclined to stay outside and listen to the concerts the bands were giving than to go in.

The Milesburg, College, Scotia and Zion bands all stretched along Allegheny street and there was music enough for anyone. It was good music too.

STATE IN THE DUMPS.—There has been an indigo feeling among the admirers of State since last Saturday, when Princeton defeated their pets by the score of 39 to 0. Though the blue and white didn't expect to do much with the tigers and nine new men went to make up a discouragingly green team, yet there were optimists who could see State holding her opponents score below the twenties, while at least once Captain Dunsmore would be shoved over the other line with the ball. It didn't turn out that way, however, and while the rooters are not feeling as chirp in their wont it is altogether likely that they will have regained their sang froid by tomorrow.

Tomorrow, you know, is the day when State meets Bucknell in the great annual contest at Williamsport. There will be a special train from here and a great time for all who go. The result of the game is questionable. Bucknell has nearly all of her last year's men on the team now and it was admitted by State that her last year's victory was won only by superior generalship it is hard to estimate the outcome. State's team is new, but by playing the game she is capable of, she will win from Bucknell tomorrow. This will be no easy job. The Lewisburgers are stronger than is supposed. They defeated the U. of P., Reserves easily, only two weeks ago, but this was not looked upon as anything unusual until the Reserves went to Annapolis and defeated the cadets. Neither quarter-back Sellers nor half-back Rawn will be able to play tomorrow.

A FORMER BELLEFONTE BOY RUN DOWN BY A TRAIN.—It was a sad message that brought the news to this place that Harry Sommerville, so well known as a boy here, had been killed on the West Shore railroad, at Little Falls, N. Y., on Monday morning.

Harry was the third son of Mr. James L. Sommerville, who lived on Spring street in this place, until his coal operations made it necessary to move to Snow Shoe and later to Wynburne, where the family now reside. As a boy he will be remembered as a quiet, manly young fellow whose strong character everyone admired. About the time the family left here he entered the employ of the Beech Creek railroad company as an attaché of the engineering corps. He was located at Jersey Shore for several years when he received a fine position as road-master on the West Shore. It was in the pursuit of these duties that he was run down by passenger train and instantly killed. It will be remembered that he was in the fatal wreck the time the old Snow Shoe bridge went down and Ed Nolan and Wm. Holt were killed.

With a broken leg he crawled from the coach he was in and did whatever he could to help others until assistance arrived from Snow Shoe.

To add to the sadness of his death a widow, who is scarcely more than a bride, is left. In February he married Jessie Fineout, of Canajoharie, N. Y. He was buried in that place yesterday afternoon.

STATE VS. BUCKNELL.—On Saturday, October 31st, the State College foot ball team will go to Williamsport, Pa., for the annual game with Bucknell university eleven and a stubborn contest may be expected. For this occasion the Central R. R. of Penn'a., will run a special train from Bellefonte at 9.15 A. M., and sell tickets at rate of $1.00 for the round trip. Returning the train will leave Williamsport for Bellefonte after the political demonstration or between 10.00 and 11.00 o'clock. About three hundred students and their friends will go down to lend encouragement to the blue and white.

ST. JOHN'S REFORMED CHURCH.—The holy communion will be celebrated in St. John's Reformed church, Bellefonte, Pa., on Sunday morning, November 1st, at 10.30. Preparatory services will be held on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 31st, at 2.30.

COME TO THE GREAT ROUND UP.—Tomorrow, Saturday, night Bellefonte will be ablaze with free silver enthusiasm and the greatest campaign ever carried on will be held here. Are you coming? Every advocate of silver and the people's rights should be in town that night to add personally to the great triumph that will be recorded.

Special trains will be run from Penns valley, Nittany valley and over the Bellefonte Central from Pine Grove Mills and State College. Special low excursion rates will be issued so that all can gather here for a final round up and inspiration in the great cause of the masses.

The meeting will be held in the court house where Hon. James Turner, ex-Congressman of New York, and other eminent speakers will be present. All who have torches or flags or any insignia that would find a proper place in a great political parade should bring them along.

Let the silverites of Centre county rally for the great meeting.

The parade will form immediately upon the arrival of the special trains over the C. R. R. of Pa. and will form in the following order:

1st.—Division on South Water street, right resting on High, horsemen.

2nd.—Division, South Spring street, right resting on High. Delegates from Penns and Bald Eagle valleys.

3rd.—Division, on North Water street resting on High. Delegations from Nittany valley and those coming on the Bellefonte Central railroad.

4th.—Division on North Spring street, right resting on High. All Bellefonte and Spring township marchers.

The following bands will parade: Undine, Coleville, Milesburg, Aaronsburg, Spring Mills, Zion, Pleasant Gap, State College, Aikey's drum corps, Julian and several others.

News Purely Personal.

—Miss Mary Cook and Emma Montgomery, who have been in Philadelphia for several weeks having a good time, returned home on Wednesday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Rose, who were in town this week for two days on their honeymoon, left Wednesday for their new home in Zelenople, where Mr. Rose is in business.

—Superior court judge George B. Orady, of Huntingdon, was in town between trains, on Tuesday evening. He had been over at Centre Hall visiting at the home of W. A. Boal, Esq.

—Miles Kephart and his wife came up from Philadelphia last week for the former to do his share of saving his country and the latter to visit her friends. Miles went on to Pitsburg to see his brother Harry, who is at present in the West Penn hospital.

—Mrs. Lewis E. Beiler, after a week's visit with Mrs. D. H. Hastings, returned to her home in Harrisburg, Wednesday. Mrs. Hastings and Mrs. Reeder went with her and spent Thursday at the executive mansion where Sarah and her nurse have been for a week. Governor and Mrs. Hastings will go down next week to stay, leaving the house here in charge of Mrs. Rankin and Miss Bella.

—J. H. Weber, Healdsburg's Wanamaker, spent Monday in Bellefonte talking business, politics or anything that suited the company in which he found himself. Mr. Weber is one of those versatile fellows who can talk on any subject, and never fails to accommodate himself to his surroundings. In this way he makes himself a very genial companion and wins friends.

—William T. Hillibish and Phil McGinley are both home from Elyria, Ohio, where they are employed in the great Tom Johnston steel works. The former couldn't stay away from the Westward over an election, and the latter was called home by the serious illness of his father, Daniel McGinley, Esq. The latter was operated on for dropsy last week and we are sorry to report that while he is still living there are very little hopes for his recovery.

—W. C. Patterson, of State College, and his daughter, Miss May, are going to Florida next week. May leaves to-morrow for College Park, Md., where she will stay a few days with her brother. On Wednesday her father will meet her and together they will journey to the land of swamps and alligators. She to attend Rollin's College, at Winter Park, and he to sight see and hobnob, for a time, with the millionaires and settlers who have taken possession of that country of resonances and ill fate.

—George Nevin Brandon, came up from Carlisle, on Monday, and spent the week with old friends in this place. He accompanied his mother and baby sister, Winifred. They will remain for a longer visit. Miss Josephine Duke, of Carlisle, was one of the party too. She is visiting Emma Crider on Bishop street. Miss Duke, is a vocalist of marked talent and is reputed a very clever amateur actress. She will sing Yvonne in "Paul Jones" that George is preparing to put on the stage at Carlisle soon.

The Political Outlook in Gregg.

The Republican politicians of Centre county are alarmed, frightened, if not desperate. They have been holding several meetings in this valley which is a very remarkable event. On Thursday evening last, they had what they are pleased to style a monster demonstration in our village. By dint of perseverance, music and incessant drumming for a week previous, they managed to collect together quite a goodly number of the faithful in the town hall. The meeting elected T. M. Gramley president with six or eight vice presidents. After a few appropriate remarks by the presiding officer, he introduced Col. Reeder, of Bellefonte, as the first speaker. Mr. R. E. of course, launched out heavily on the 53 cent dollar racket and protection nonsense. Apparently these two subject are the only ones the Republican orators can discuss. But the people are sick and tired of the twaddle, take no interest in it and regard it simply as so much bluff. They want facts, solid sense, not foolery, but in Col. Reeder's address they failed to obtain coveted articles. His attempt to explain what he termed the so called crime of 1873, was simply, the "attempt and not the deed." To explain it away is an impossibility, the crime stands boldly before the country and like "Banquo's" ghost it will not go down. The colonel's explanation only made bad worse. At the conclusion of his address, the president introduced the Hon. H. R. Carter, ex-representative, who gave his reasons in a very hesitating manner, for supporting the Judge's retirement bill.

He voted for the measure, yet was decidedly opposed to it—bosh. To judge from this statement, he was opposed to every jobbery scheme rushed through the Legislature, yet he supported and voted for them all—opposed to them (?) He was followed by candidate Kline, Riddle, Fisher and Wagner, all of whom begged to be "excused." After a little excellent music by the Spring Mills band, the president of the meeting introduced T. H. Harter, editor of the Keystone Gazette. Brother Harter delivered a very rambling, address, full of sound and fury signifying nothing. He played the clown admirably, and his jokes were received with laughter. What little politics Mr. H. introduced in his address, were just as unsound and absurd as many of his editorials. The meeting was quite a success in numbers, but such an event as a Republican meeting in this valley is almost an unheard of affair, it has been so long since there has been one, that the memory of the oldest inhabitant runneth not to the contrary. But the secret of these meetings is simply this: At the Republican county convention of June last, it will be remembered, the Bellefonte machine not only turned upside down the Republicans of Penns Valley, but added insult to injury by jumping on them with both feet. Naturally this outrageous treatment by the combine, soured the Republicans of the valley, and of course they have given the set up ticket only a half hearted support, while many have not only abandoned the ticket, but have flocked over to the silver element and will also support the Democratic county ticket—remarking that: "as Bellefonte and Spring township have nearly all the nominations, let Bellefonte and Spring township elect them." This bold and defiant attitude of the rank and file of the party, has struck the Bellefonte machine with alarm and consternation, they know very well that without considerable assistance from the Penns Valley side of the mountain—keeping down the Democratic majority—the Republican county ticket will be buried beyond resurrection. And for the purpose of cajoling and bamboozling the Republicans of this section—to win them back to the fold, these meetings have been gotten up. The machine says, be good little boys, don't desert us, we want your aid, only help us and hereafter Penns Valley will be taken care of. The machine promises anything now, but the Republicans of Penns Valley are not all fools. They know why these meetings were organized they are not blind, and they know, too, what value to place in machine promises, they have had them before and they know they are just like the witches in Machefts "who keep the word of promise to the ear, and break it at the hope." The scheme will not work, they have sworn to the storm and will reap the whirlwind.

On Friday evening, following, the Democrats also held a meeting in the town hall. Early in the afternoon a dismal rain set in and continued more or less all night. But, notwithstanding the storm, the "unterrified" turned out in large numbers, and by 8 o'clock the hall was crowded with enthusiastic Democrats. The meeting was called to order by John Smith, chairman of W. P. of Gregg township. C. E. Royer was elected president of the meeting with several vice-presidents. After a few appropriate remarks and thanking them for the honor conferred on him, the president introduced James Schofield, candidate for the Assembly. Mr. S. delivered a very excellent and rattling address, brim full of good solid sense and gave the gold bugs, some very severe raps. At the conclusion of his remarks, the president presented Capt. J. L. Spangler who required no formal introduction in this valley, nor any other place in Centre county. The colonel being in his usual happy mood, delivered an able and convincing address, spoke of the infamous crime of 1873, demoralizing silver, ridiculed the worn out 53c. dollar scale, the protection nonsense and anarchy fully. Proved conclusively that the single gold standard has resulted in nothing but loss to the farmer and laborer. Exploded and completely demolished the fallacies of the gold bug party and exposed many of their wild cat schemes to trap the unwary. The Col. was frequently applauded. He considered the vile attacks on his integrity, as beneath his notice, having no foundation—only political malice he let them pass like the idle wind. He feels confident of the election of the whole Democratic ticket, the colonel retired amid vociferous cheering. The president then introduced H. S. Taylor, of Bellefonte, Mr. T. is rather a fluent speaker and rattled off a very spirited address, and touched up the gold bug party with their 200 cent gold dollar in quite a masterly manner. At a late hour the meeting adjourned with cheers for Bryan, Spangler and the whole Democratic ticket.

Pine Grove Mention.

Get out the vote and vote straight and avoid making forty-seven marks, and likely the loss of your vote.

Newell McCalmont, one of College township's hustling and prosperous farmers, spent Sunday at D. Henry Fry's.

Jacob N. Everts, of State College, was royally entertained by his friend, J. B. Ard, the first day of the week.

Miss Maggie Gates is ill with rheumatism, from which one arm is paralyzed. Mrs. G. W. Williams, of Lemont, is in attendance.

Ex-County Treasurer J. B. Mitchell has been housed up ever since the Synod on account of a heavy cold. Mrs. Mitchell is confined to a dark room on account of sore eyes.

Mr. Wm. Siegel, our hustling huckster, is laid up with a bad eye, on which there is a catarrh growing. It has obstructed the sight. The other eye has been almost blind for years, so that he is in a bad way.

Work has been begun on our railroad. A number of teams and men were put on last Monday morning and in a few days the force will be increased and the road will be pushed to a finish as rapidly as possible. Subscribers who were withholding their subscriptions can now get their bank accounts shaped in red ink.
