

An Aggressive Campaign.

Spaniards Will Try to Force the Cubans to Fight in the Open. Have Invested the Mountain.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Information reaching here is that the Spanish military operations begun early in October are about to go forward with greater energy than at any previous time. Important results are expected from this forward movement within the next three weeks. There are now 25,000 more Spanish troops en route for Cuba. They will be distributed in the western provinces. It is expected that with these additional troops in position the four western provinces will be completely garrisoned and occupied at every point by the government troops.

The lull in operations within the last few days is explained by a circumstance not yet known. The insurgent leader Maceo moved to the coast for the purpose of receiving a pneumatic dynamite gun which had been landed with great difficulty. The trial of the gun failed to show it to be formidable, the shot carrying only 500 yards, or less than the distance carried by rifles. Under these circumstances Maceo has retraced his steps without the dynamite gun.

Meanwhile the Spanish forces have been divided into two main divisions, one in the south and the other in the north of the island. The main purpose of the troops has been to occupy the mountain passes, and this has proceeded so rapidly that it is asserted positively that every approach and egress to the mountain recess is now commanded by a heavy force of Spanish troops. This plan of campaign is relied on to force the insurgents to fight in the open country.

The civil affairs of Cuba also have undergone a change within recent days. By agreement between the leaders of the Liberal, Conservative and Home Rule parties, constituting all the loyal elements, they have been merged into one party known as the "Party of Common Defense." The main feature of agreement is the termination of the rebellion before any plan of autonomy shall be put into operation.

The Famine in India.

A Million and a Quarter People in One District on the Verge of Starvation.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—A special dispatch from Bombay says that in eleven districts of the Deccan and Concan a million and a quarter of people are believed to be on the verge of starvation. The dispatch adds that riots have occurred at Shahbad and Kazod.

This is Not Boom Talk.

RENOVO, Pa., Nov. 9.—Orders were received at the Pennsylvania railroad shops here to immediately discontinue all air brake work. This leaves just about enough work to run the department three hours daily.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

—Phillipsburg has considerable typhoid fever.

—Dr. Olin K. McGarragh, a son of Rev. J. H. McGarragh, has located at Huntingdon, for the practice of medicine. He is a homeopathist.

—The family of John Gould, a plumber formerly employed by S. M. Buck, in this place, have moved to Lock Haven, where John is working now.

—Hon. A. O. Furst and Clement Dale will address the Republican ratification meeting at Pine Grove Mills to-night. There'll be no Whitehead there.

POSTER'S WEATHER PREDICTIONS.

My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from Oct. 30th to Nov. 3rd, and Nov. 5th to 9th. The next disturbance will reach the Pacific coast about Nov. 10th, cross the west of Rockies country by close of 11th, great central valleys 12th, eastern States 15th. The warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about Nov. 10th, great central valleys 12th, eastern States 14th. The cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about 13th, central valleys 15th, eastern States 17th. The cool wave will be the most severe of the month, and will probably be called a cold wave. As the rainy period of November will extend from about the 6th, to the 20th, this disturbance will cause rains in many parts of the middle latitudes. A great fall in temperature will occur between Nov. 1st and 15th. This will come in two cold waves, one about the 8th, and the other about the 15th.

TWO ENGINES MADE THE PARADE.

Last Saturday night was to have seen the town of Eagleville ablaze with glory and happiness over the fact that McKinley had won and thus restored confidence to the great business enterprises of that place, that had been palsied through fear of a "cheap dollar." The banking and money lending class were particularly joyous and were ready to turn out in countless multitudes when the night came and for fear they could not make enough noise to properly express their feelings they sent out for Frank Kessinger and another gentleman, both of whom had traction engines working not many miles away.

These gentlemen agreed to fire their engines up, on Saturday night, run them into Eagleville, and make all the noise possible with them. But it rained. The rain made the paved streets so slippery that it was dangerous to parade on them, so the goldites postponed their demonstration, without notifying the two steam engine men. They weren't afraid of the water; not one bit of it, and just about dusk a great snoring and puffing announced the approach of the two road engines. It just then dawned on the Eaglevillers that they had failed to notify the engine men of the postponement. The latter found it out, too, when they discovered no one about to parade with them and it is said, we don't know how truly, that they swore with a mighty swear that was far louder than the snorts of the disappointed engines.

THEY ARE SORE OVER THE MOUNTAIN.

The fight that has been on between the Republicans of Phillipsburg and those of Bellefonte for a long time bore its legitimate fruit at the last election and now each side is laughing in its sleeve, while it blames the other for the down-fall of the Republican county ticket.

About the only men for whom there is little satisfaction are Messrs. Womelsdorff and Curtin. It is cold comfort that they should be made martyrs of in order that their friends be able to even up old scores, but such is politics and there is always to be reaped just what is sown.

The Phillipsburg Ledger views the result rather defiantly as the following indicates: In the defeat of part of the Republican county ticket and especially in the defeat of the Republican candidate for the Legislature, it will be nothing but fair, at this time in closing up the campaign, to show to the people the situation of affairs just before election day in order that it may be made clear to them why the result stands as it does.

On September 12th, 1896, Mr. Womelsdorff, one of the candidates for the Assembly, had practically the following proposition submitted to him through a strong friend of Governor Hastings.

"If you will agree to pledge yourself to vote for D. H. Hastings for United States Senator, if you are elected, then he and all of his friends will do all they can to elect you and the county ticket. But if you will not agree to this proposition then he and all of his friends will do nothing, and by their actions and influence tend to defeat the same."

Mr. Womelsdorff refused to pledge himself and after waiting a certain length of time the battle was started by those people, who, instead of confining themselves to the main issue, circulated all sorts of outrageous stories amongst those who could not refute them in reference to combinations with Democrats, State College appropriations, etc., until the friends of Mr. Womelsdorff were compelled to fight vigorously on the defensive, and the unfortunate result is that both Republican members are defeated.

Now that this result has been accomplished, the next fight will be the U. S. Senatorship, and it will be well for the friends of Governor Hastings to note carefully the trend of affairs on this matter, in order to see how far wrong our Representative was and to see where the fruits of their victory will come in, and it is clearly demonstrated that no matter how carefully a man may endeavor to do his plain duty as a servant of the people, no matter how closely he may endeavor to stand by the best interests of those who are trusting in him as their chosen representative in defiance of the bosses, or the powers that be, the time will come when the people, misled by the same powers into believing their false statements will, without taking time to look the stories up for themselves, and forgetting all that their Representative has tried to do for them even when it required great moral courage to do it, defeat him to the great delight of his enemies.

Pine Grove Mention.

David Barr recently lost a valuable cow, the result of an overdose of apples.

The applicants for the post office in our town are many.

H. M. Snyder's home is being beautified by a new coat of paint, white with green trimmings.

The Modocos are camped at the head of the bear meadows for a two weeks hunt. We are expecting a taste of savory meat on their return.

S. D. Gettig, one of Bellefonte's legal lights accompanied by his lady fair, Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Eckley, on Main street. They had a royal good time.

Mrs. Frank Bowersox returned Wednesday from Snyder county where she attended the funeral of her younger sister, Mrs. Bilger, who died of heart trouble and dropsy.

Mrs. J. H. Lytle hied herself to the county capital on Monday last and returned Tuesday. It was her first ride on the new railroad and with her she brought back a stunning new bonnet.

Mrs. Simon McCormick and Mrs. James Carner, of Hablesburg, are the guests of Mrs. Danley. The Danley home is proverbial for its hospitality and Mrs. McCormick enjoys greatly a few days with her kin.

Dale Musser, of Bellefonte, seems to enjoy sea life from the appearance of his many physical. He spent several days visiting his aged grandmother, Mrs. Shiffer, in this place before returning to the schoolship Saratoga, on which he sails for another year and a half. The vessel will cruise about the West Indies this winter and his many friends wish him a safe return.

Spring Mills.

Business in our town for the past month might be considered fair, but not equal to the same time last year. Last October our merchants bought heavily of potatoes (and were "bit" too) this year there was no sale for them, of course this one item alone reduced the volume of business very materially.

The new thoroughfare from the "hill" to the R. R. station is now open, and is being extensively traveled. The large brick residence erected on this avenue by C. P. Long, our enterprising merchant, is rapidly approaching completion. It presents a very attractive appearance.

Shook & Bro. have their extensive poultry house, recently erected in our village, in full operation. The many apartments in the building are very conveniently arranged and kept in complete order. They have only choice stock; the ordinary barn yard fowl they will not handle. These gentlemen thoroughly understand the business, when they sell a "setting" the stock may be relied upon.

Many of our gardens are now ornamented (?) with motmids or hillocks—store-houses for apples and cabbage during the long winter months. It is generally understood that this work must be done in the dark of the moon, and a few "words" said to preserve them otherwise decay will follow. The 5th inst was also a kind of "spook" day, it was the first Friday in the new moon, and according to the "sign" or omen to make good vinegar, the cider must be drawn off slowly and put into clean barrels on that day—but no "words" are said. The barrel must lean slightly towards the north pole while filling. So it seems that the moon not only affects cabbages and the shingles on a roof, but will also damage vinegar, and even the barrels if not attended to on Friday, when the horns of the moon point to the south eastern corner of a mackerel looking cloud.

All Through Brush Valley.

Old Mrs. Winters, of Kreamerville, was buried last week.

Miss Longacre, of Bellefonte, is visiting Miss Sallie Harter.

Supt. Gramley is taking a course in hydro-dynamics just now.

Robert Diehl, of Rockville, has gone to Renova to stay until spring.

Mr. Samuel Doose, of Rebersburg, died on Saturday and was buried Tuesday.

Charles Emerick, of New York, is at home on account of his mother's illness.

Miss Emma Mumma, one of our popular young ladies, has gone to Steelton to spend the winter.

Several weddings are to be consummated in the near future. It is not the fashion now to ask the old man.

The fellow who hoots gold bug theories to our butcher, Abraham Nearhood, had better "look a leedle out."

Funny that the phone failed to work when the news became favorable for Bryan! How the Republicans were scared!

Nothing like having your girl taking notice of you during leap year, when teaching in another valley, not so Luther?

Miss Bartholomew, of Centre Hall, one of Millheim's popular teachers, spent Sunday with Miss Sarah Moyer, at Centre Mills.

Mr. C. O. Malory will have the prettiest house in Rebersburg by the time it is finished. That's you Cal. show them what a 53 cent dollar can do.

Where, O where did Thomas Zeigler go for a wife? She is rich and in the west, now boys, young and old, get your old kettles, buckets and bells ready for his return. We want some fun.

School directors Clark M. Gramley, John Zeigler, Jerome Moyer and J. A. Deitrick were so consistent and untiring in their efforts during the campaign that they will be remembered gratefully by the silver voters.

Several gold bugs are already aspiring for township offices. Why need they live on the township when they promised us prosperity and business? And how dare they ask a bimetalist to vote for them when they defeated Bryan with their money and 53 electoral votes?

Wise householders will continue to take the WATCHMAN even if their campaign subscription has expired. Its Democracy is true blue and it is always newsworthy and just. It does not deal in the cheap talk and lies that constitutes half the reading matter of some of the other county papers and Brush valley is well reported.

On the night of election, when the heavy McKinley majorities came rolling in, one of our prominent Republicans, who leaned back on his chair with great confidence and serenity said "lets speculate on McKinley's cabinet now." At this moment a silver Democrat responded. "Mark Hanna is the whole cabinet," a prophecy that has already been sufficiently verified.

Of late Rebersburg has been making rapid improvements. We now have the telephone, two mails per day by stage, and water in many of the houses. What we need are street lamps, pavements, less vulgarity and the doing away with what might be called kid parading, from sunset till midnight. No wonder our little boys and girls of the ages of six to twelve years outdo their parents in wisdom.

We would suggest that the Hanna-McKinley wire pullers would use their influence to have Snyder Miller appointed postmaster. He was popular, efficient and admired by all for his ability to run the office and mind his own business. During his term he was most satisfactory, he kept the office open late in the evening, so that the farmers, who were to town but once or twice a week, could get their mail, and if the leaders consult the people Snyder will be the man.

The Bryan and Sewall club will be continued for we feel that the war on the question has just begun. More information and knowledge of the subject is greatly needed for without it no settled prosperity can come. Of course the newspapers are full of furnace and mills in full blast but many of them have never thought of starting except in the scare lines of the newspaper. Other questions will be studied, such as the American Democracy, the origin development and interpretation of the constitution, history of political parties political machines, taxation, religion in politics, the money system of the world, trusts, and industries. Democrats and Republicans are cordially invited to join.

General Horace Porter, in his "Campaigning with Grant" in the Christmas Century, deals with General Grant's demeanor during the battle of the Wilderness. General Porter says that even during the most critical moments, General Grant manifested no perceptible anxiety, but that he was visibly affected by the sight of blood. During the second day of the battle Grant smoked about twenty strong cigars, his highest record in the use of tobacco.
