THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

A new thing in photographic art. See Shaeffer's offer on page 5. Jared Harper is improving his Thomas street house by cementing the cellar. The attraction at Garmans' next Tuesday night, Dec. 1st, is "the road to wealth." Mr. Charles Stamm has purchased M. D. Snyder's meat market at State College. Business is looking up, says John Rishell. "They have started a stone crusher in Benner township." We are sorry to report that Daniel T. Wieland Esq., a well known resident of Linden Hall, is seriously ill. George Nevin Brandon, formerly of this place, has been elected director of the Dickinson college glee club. Cholera has gotten in among the Milesburg hogs. L. C. Bullock lost one that weighed 300 lbs. on Sunday. A new bell now rings Pleasant Gap children into school on time. John Mulfinger appears to have been the leading spirit in its purchase. Kohlbecher's hunting party from Milesburg killed two deer during their outing. Harris Hugg shot one and Philip Brower the other. The Geflig brothers, having finished their lumbering contract above Coleville, are looking around for a good location for their portable saw mill. The fires in the glass works were lighted, on Tuesday evening. Now let her boom as fast as she can. The first glass will be made next Tuesday or Wednesday. Mr. David Behrer, of Patton township, Co. C, 14th P. V. has had a much deserved increase of pension granted him. Instead of $17 per month he will now receive $30. Union Thanksgiving services were held in the Bellefonte Methodist church yesterday morning. Rev. Dr. William Lantie, of the Presbyterian church, preached the sermon. When you have a chance to get the best so cheap, why don't you take it. You can get the WATCHMAN for $1.50 a year, if you subscribe before January 1st. Tell your friends about it. Rev. J. W. Rue has begun his regular winter revival service in the Methodist church. Already the people are beginning to get interested and the outlook promises a beneficial period of spiritual regeneration. The prices for the Canadian jubilee singers, next Wednesday and Thursday evenings, are only 25 and 35c. Reserved seats are now on sale at Rees' Allegheny street grocery. The concert will be fine. Don't miss it. The Canadian jubilee singers will appear in the Methodist church, in this place, next Wednesday and Thursday evenings. They are considered one of the finest musical organizations on the road and you will miss a treat if you don't hear them. Mr. George Gummo, one of Patton township's hard working farmers, holds the belt for big turkeys this season. He has one that weighs eight pounds and is 31 inches in circumference. He was in town, on Saturday, and would have brought it down here for exhibition had it not been too bulky to carry to the station. H. E. Bierly, of Hebersburg, has been chosen to succeed Nelson Robb, as instructor at the Hubbersburg grammar school. Mr. Robb is now agent for the American express company in this place. Philip Waddle, the former agent, having become messenger on the Central and Harry Fritz, who held that job, has gone back to Williamsport. While riding along the road to Milesburg, last Friday afternoon, James Lane, of Linn street, had quite an experience. The saddle girth broke and he jumped from his horse, which frightened before he could catch its head, then it jumped into the canal and swam to the opposite side. The saddle being loose floated off its back and on down stream. It was with considerable difficulty that Jim recovered the saddle and caught the horse. Mrs. S. A. Bell, of Howard street, gave a dinner, Tuesday, in honor of a jolly party of Lock Haven women who were her guests for the day. Mrs. Salmon, Mrs. Quiggle, Mrs. Tom Meyers, Mrs. Rachael Shearer and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harry Shearer. The table was beautifully decorated with great chrysanthemums and at each place were roses, carnations and hand painted cards. Tributes from the land and sea were served and all so good that the guests declared the dinner a veritable feast. In last week's issue we told of the outing of sheriff Condo, sheriff-elect Cronister, recorder-elect Harper, treasurer John Q. Miles and Jos. Rightnour, with gentlemen from Pittsburg and Houtzdale. They were camping at Nason's camp, back of Port Matilda, and were out ten days. One deer and quite a quantity of small game rewarded their hunt. The gentleman from Houtzdale shot the deer which was a large buck, some say there was a pheasant roosting in its antlers when he shot, and that one of the buckshot intended for the deer killed the bird.

THIS WEEK'S SESSION OF COURT.—The regular sitting of the quarter sessions court for November began, Monday morning, with Judges Love and Faulkner on the bench. There was an unusually large attendance during the week and the business was all wound up yesterday. The many witnesses which the grand jury had to examine delayed the work somewhat and the time was filled in with the trial of several civil suits. The grand jury finished its work Wednesday evening, however, and was discharged. The cases disposed of were taken up as follows: Grand jurors called, and T. L. Kessinger, a merchant in Hubbersburg, was chosen foreman, after which Judge Love delivered an able charge to the grand jury. J. Kennedy Johnston, a law student in District Attorney Singer's office, was admitted to the bar on motion of C. M. Bowler, Esq., of the examination board. Returns of the constables of the different boroughs and townships of the county. List of trappers jurors called and absentees noted, and those excused that were unable to attend. John Lloyd vs. Edwin Ruhl, plea assumpsit. Settled. John McMonigal vs. G. S. Keller, plea assumpsit. Settled. C. J. From vs. Elizabeth Curry and William Curry, plea assumpsit. Continued. Edward Poorman vs. Martin Dailey and Bridget Dailey, plea assumpsit. Settled. Samuel Alters, vs. Jacob Kethner vs. John Stoner and Emanuel Eisenhuth, plea assumpsit. Continued. Com. vs. Harry Mahler, indicted first count, assault and battery; second, assault with intent to commit a rape, prosecutor M. G. Weaver. This prosecution is brought for an assault on Murilla Weaver and Mary Weaver, daughters of the prosecutor in August, 1895, while picking berries near Port Matilda. Verdict guilty on the first count, assault and battery; and not guilty on the second count. Com. vs. Harper Springer, indicted for betrayal, prosecutrix Jennie Shaffer. Defendant plead guilty and received the usual sentence in such cases. Sallie Lose vs. Central R. R. Co. of Pa., plea assumpsit. Settled. George Vaux vs. Lee Henry, plea assumpsit. This case was brought to recover for labor done and performed, and materials furnished in building a fence for the defendant. Verdict on Tuesday morning in favor of the plaintiff for $13.40. Com. vs. Edward Gill, Ellen Gill, Sarah Gentzell, and John Ammerman, indicted for keeping a disorderly house, prosecutor Samuel Page. These parties were arrested for keeping a disorderly house on Half Moon Hill in Spring township, near Bellefonte. Verdict guilty, but recommended to the clemency of the court. Com. vs. Samuel Rossman, indicted for assault and battery, prosecutrix Sadie M. Rossman. Defendant plead guilty and sentence suspended until next January sessions by the defendant giving security to appear at that time. Robert Laws vs. Dennis Nolan, and his wife, Susan Nolan, plea assumpsit. Non-suit. E. P. McCormick vs. James Leary, plea assumpsit. Non-suit entered. Benjamin Breon vs. George Sheesley, plea assumpsit. The suit is brought to recover on a contract to peel bark and cut logs in Gregg township. Verdict for plaintiff $74.75. Com. vs. Albert Page and Frank Snyder indicted for larceny, prosecutor Jerry Brungart. This prosecution is for the larceny of a harness, two horse blankets and a whip, Frank Snyder has not been arrested, but Page plead guilty to the charge. Petitions and motions by different members of the bar. Com. vs. Henry Hollobaugh, charged with seduction and trafficking in the person of 14 yr old Della Foulk. Fortunately for the community possibly the filthiest case ever before our courts was nipped by the defendant's pleading guilty. THIS IS THE KIND OF WEATHER WE ARE TO HAVE, SAYS MR. FOSTER.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from the 22nd to 26th, and the next will reach the Pacific coast about the 27th, cross the west of Rockies country by the close of the 28th, great central valleys 29th to Dec. 1st, eastern States Dec. 2nd. The warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 27th, great central valleys 29th, eastern States Dec. 1st. The cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 30th, great central valleys Dec. 2nd, eastern States Dec. 4th. This disturbance comes in the high temperature storm period, and warm weather will precede the storm centre, and these high temperatures will continue throughout most of the first week in December. Not much rain or snow may be expected with this last disturbance of November and, for the time of year, the weather will be fine and pleasant. Temperature of the week ending Nov. 29th will average about the normal, the first part of the week being colder than the last part. This will be the drought week of the month—22nd to 29th, inclusive—and very little rain or snow may be expected. The forecast for the first week of November was remarkably well fulfilled. The great drop in temperature, accompanied by heavy snows and rains, came almost exactly on time. The Senior class of The Pennsylvania State College will hold its annual Thanksgiving assembly in the college armory, on Friday evening, November 27th. Music by the Stopper and Fisk orchestra, of Williamsport. Special train leaves Bellefonte at 7 o'clock returning after dance.

—W. Mauck, of Nittany, killed a hog that dressed 450 lbs. recently. —The Reformed church at Jacksonville is being repaired and painted. —Read advertisement on page 5. "Do you want to save money?" —"The road to wealth" comes to Garmans' next Tuesday night, very highly recommended. —Shaeffer's Mantello Carbons are the latest. See page 5. —Nineteen thousand heads of cabbage have been buried for winter use at the Huntingdon reformatory. —They have an eighty gallon coffee pot in the Huntingdon reformatory that can be brought to a boil in twenty minutes. —The members of the Milesburg Methodist church will hold a chicken and waffle supper, for the benefit of the new church, on the evenings of December 18th and 19th. —A Berks county farmer recently shot himself with a revolver that had been loaded with the same old load for thirty years. Those rusty old fellows are dangerous things to have lying around. —The great slaughter sale of blankets and robes is still going on at Schofield's. That house is too old in the business to be undersold by traveling agents or commission dealers. Go to Schofield's if you want things cheap and right. The assortment is worth looking at too. —The people of Mill Hill are not satisfied because the Lock Haven traction company have built their station at the terminus of the trolley line, without running into that borough. The Mill Hill people are now forced to walk about half a mile in order to get onto the cars. —A. Y. Casanova Esq., a gentleman who has extensive interests on the island, lectured on Cuba and the Cubans, at the parish house, in Phillipsburg, on Monday evening. Mr. Casanova is a patriot sympathizer, but will be a heavy loser on account of the war. —Capt. C. T. Fryberger, post No. 90, of Phillipsburg, inspected the Geo. L. Potter post, No. 261, G. A. R., at Milesburg, last Friday night, and found things in such ship-shape as only the "old boys" like they have down there can keep them. A "bean bake" was not the least interesting feature of the program. —Miss Minnie Elizabeth Hoy, a sister of Dr. H. K. Hoy, formerly of this place, was married, in Altoona, Wednesday evening of last week. She is now Mrs. William Gibb, of Ironvia, Clearfield county, her husband being pastor of the Presbyterian church at that place. The wedding took place at the home of Dr. Hoy. —In writing about the improvements that have been made on the old Chambers farm, up in Half Moon township, in a recent issue, it appears that we gave John G. Carson credit for more of the work than he deserved. He burned the lime, completed a cistern and well, and did odd repairing about the place, but other men built the new buildings and improved the barn. We don't want to rob anyone of the credit of that work for the improvement of the place is so great that it is highly creditable to all. —Rev. Dr. Laurie who has been professing to preach Christ and Him crucified, to the faithful of the Presbyterian church in this place for the past twenty years, yesterday in his Thanksgiving sermon found more reason to thank the corporations, negroes, Huns and the purchasable rabble that elected McKinley, for the work they did at the election, than he could for the goodness of God or the blessings the Divine Providence has showered upon our people. It is to be hoped that it will be a long time before another pulpit in Bellefonte is disgraced with a political harangue such as this divine saw proper to deliver in the Methodist church yesterday. —The Pennsylvania State College football team closed a somewhat inglorious season, at Harrisburg, last Saturday afternoon, by being defeated by the Carlisle Indian school team by the score of 48 to 5. The one feature of the game was Hayes' fine field goal from the 35 yd. line. State's admirers have not lost faith in her by long odds. Next season she will appear on the grid-iron with all the benefit of this year's experience and having lost only three men by graduation there is every reason to believe that she will take her former position of leader in the class in which she is rated. —An important production in the melodramatic line is that of "the road to wealth", a play from the pen of Mr. Wm. Talbot Burke. The principal feature of the performance is the introduction of the bicycle. One entire act is devoted to the wheel, one showing the L. A. W. meet at Asbury Park and another giving, by the aid of a mechanical device, a race in which Mr. Joe Harrison, the Asbury Park wheelman, —champion bicycle rider class "A" 96, has been specially engaged to ride in. Mr. Harrison is one of the most popular riders of the day, his capture of the championship Class A—at Manhattan Beach, last summer, was one of the best exhibitions of riding ever given on the Manhattan course. It is said to be a thrilling scene combined with others of a startling nature goes far towards making up a rare evening's entertainment. "The road to wealth" comes to Garmans' next Tuesday night, Dec. 1st.

IF YOU WANT IT, NOW IS YOUR TIME TO GET IT.—About the most tempting offer this paper has ever made to its subscribers is the one that is now presented to you. Frank Leslie's Illustrated Weekly is known to be one of the highest class pictorial papers published in America. In fact there is only one that ranks with it and that is Harper's Weekly. Between the two it is merely a matter of opinion as to which is best. Leslie's Weekly is sold the world over. It is up to date in illustrations and is a very strong journal, both editorially and in the matter of general news. The regular price per year has always been $4.00 but by a special arrangement with the publishers we are able to offer Leslie's and the WATCHMAN both for a year for less than that amount. Think of it the best paper in Centre county and the leading pictorial paper in the world both for $3.50. Now if you want a nice Christmas present, something really useful to be sent to your friend here or at a distance why don't you subscribe for the WATCHMAN. Our present subscribers can take advantage of this offer in this way. If you would like to send Leslie's to a friend and keep the WATCHMAN for yourself just send us $3.50 and we will forward Leslie's to any address you may designate and mark your own paper paid for a year. Tell your friends about this offer. We want everyone to have advantage of it and possibly you can tell some one who doesn't see the WATCHMAN. THE SILVER WEDDING.—On Monday evening, the 23rd inst. Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer L. Malin celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. From eight until twelve o'clock their pleasant home, on Howard street, was aglow with light and gaiety and the affair was a most enjoyable one, without any of the stiffness and formality which usually gloom society events. The wide porches were enclosed with canvas and the house was beautified by many flowers. Great bunches of chrysanthemums, roses, and carnations decorated the tables and mantles and in the reception room a drapery of smilax, over a corner of palms and fern, made an artistic background for the receiving party. Mr. and Mrs. Malin were assisted in receiving their guests by Governor and Mrs. Hastings, who have always been their close personal as well as political friends. Most of the prominent people of the town were present and among those from a distance were Mrs. Samuel O. Malin, of Radford, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Bailey, of Williamsport; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mitchell, of Tyrone; and Wilbur Harris. The original wedding was celebrated at Gen. Beaver's, he was Mrs. Malin's, Elizabeth Miles, guardian and at that time occupied Gov. Curtin's house on High street. Dr. W. T. Wylie, then pastor of the Presbyterian church of this place, but now of Sparta, Ill., performed the ceremony and his benediction must have been as prophecy for their married life has been fraught with harmony and happiness. Not a sorrow has troubled their home while their three children are blessings indeed. Auspicious as the first wedding was it could not have been more delightful than the anniversary. The Undine orchestra was present and played its best; Dr. Laurie made a happy little speech; an excellent supper was served "and bright the lights shone o'er fair women and brave men," might well have been written for the occasion. The gifts in silver were so many and beautiful that Mr. Malin no longer despises the white metal. Mrs. Beaver's bon dish was one of the most highly appreciated. Gov. Hastings and Gen. McCormick, of Williamsport, sent a case containing a dozen of forks, a dozen table and a dozen tea-spoons. Mr. Malin gave his bride of twenty-five years a diam ond pin, and of cut glass, china, etchings and furniture there was a goodly array. THE UNDINE'S DANCE.—The fifth annual ball of the Undine fire company attracted quite a large crowd to the Arcade, Wednesday evening, and those who were there carried away the memory of a very delightful dance. To the music of the Undine orchestra fourteen couples opened the dance with a march. Joseph McMahon and his sister, Miss Celia, having led in the many intricate evolutions executed by the gallant men and pretty girls. The dance was successfully managed by Messrs. Flack, Smith, Hoffman, Beck and Lose, the company's committee, and the pleasure of everyone was so carefully catered to that all had a good time. These select dances of the Undine's seem to strike a popular chord for they are always well patronized by the young people who feel sure of being nicely entertained. Just before the dance the band and company made a short street parade. —Mrs. Crider's mother, Mrs. North, wife of Hugh North the well known citizen of Juniata county, died at her home in Millin, on Thursday, after a long illness. She was a woman of marked personality and so good that she was fully ready for the change. Her other children, Mrs. George Jacobs, of Millin; and Herman North, who represented McKean county in the '93 Legislature, have visited here many times.

—The road to wealth, a play for wheelmen, next Tuesday night, at Garmans'. —The shops of the Beech Creek railroad company at Jersey Shore Junction are working 8 hours a day. —Shaeffer's latest offer on page 5. —Under a recent ruling of the post office department all postmasters are authorized to refund thirty cents of each fifty cent deposit that box holders have made for keys. —At the age of 63 Joseph Campaigne, of Cedar Run, met with a peculiar death. He was walking along a mountain road, a few days ago, when a large stone came rolling down and crushed his skull. It turned out that some boys on the mountain side had been rolling the stones, but they did not see the victim of their fatal sport. News Purely Personal. —Ralph F. Martin, of Rochester, N. Y., enjoyed his Thanksgiving with Bellefonte friends. —Samuel J. Gettig Esq., went to Harrisburg, Tuesday morning, on important legal business. He returned Tuesday evening. —Will Hoy, of State College, came to town on Monday morning looking as if he was going to meet out justice for everyone. —Abc Weber, J. L. DeHaas and Hayes Schenck, were a trio of Howard's all-around good fellows who were in town, on Wednesday afternoon. —County superintendent of schools, C. L. Gramley, spent Wednesday in town making the preliminary arrangements for the meeting of the teacher's institute. —Edward Quigley was in town last week after an absence of nearly two years. He has left the employ of the Buffalo Forge company to accept a position in Philadelphia. —Judge and Mrs. Cyrus Gordon, Miss McCollough and Rachel Weaver, who are coming over from Clearfield to attend the College Assembly, will spend Sunday with Mrs. Bush. —Eddie Hill has gone to Philadelphia where he expects to become a student on the school ship Saratoga. So far as the complexion is concerned Eddie can discount most of the tars on the water. —Miles Osmer, who is a well known young man about Bellefonte and had been in the employ of S. H. Williams, house decorator, has gone to Lincoln, Neb., where he expects to join a brother in the restaurant business. —We noticed I. G. Walker, of Stormtown, on our streets on Wednesday. He is a gentleman who looks on the bright side of most everything and it is well that he does, for the recent burning of his big farm barn, with all of its contents, was enough to discourage most any one. —Miss Sophia S. Rockey, of Hubbersburg, was a very welcome visitor on Tuesday. She devotes some of her time to making the Walker township women look stunning in the smart gowns she turns out and was in town getting a few ideas as to the fashionable combinations for women's wear this winter. —Supt. W. C. Patterson, of the Pennsylvania State College experimental farms, was in Bellefonte, on Wednesday, getting ready for Thanksgiving. He is one man at least, who has plenty of the things to be thankful for and we know of none who reverence the source whence all good things come more than Mr. Patterson. —P. S. Meyer Esq., of Boalsburg, spent Tuesday in town looking bright and cheery as if nothing had happened. You know Mr. Meyer ran for Commissioner at the recent election, but he wasn't the only good man who went down. It is to his credit that he takes defeat so gracefully. —Nicholas Redding came up from his home in Gettysburg last week and is spending a few days here looking after some property he owns in the vicinity of the glassworks. He and his seven sons are all farming near Gettysburg. Everyone of the seven has a farm. Nicholas is looking just as he did when he left here years ago. —Mr. J. Toner Lucas, of Moshannon, has been in town most of the week attending to some business and making his friends happy by little calls when his time is not otherwise occupied. Mr. Lucas was an aspirant for county treasurer in 1887, but the fact that he didn't get the nomination made him none the less a good Democrat he was prior to that time. —Professor George C. Butz, of the department of Horticulture at the Pennsylvania State College, and Mrs. Butz, spent Wednesday afternoon in town. Prof. Butz is very much absorbed in the proper organization of the new borough system for State College and improves every opportunity to sell himself as to how things are done in a well regulated borough. —Fred Bortoff was in town again, on Tuesday and Wednesday, busy himself about that pet railroad scheme for Pine Grove. By the latter part of next week the road will be completed into Pine Grove town then all the promoters up that way will be out of a job. They deserve much credit, however, for sticking to the project until they pushed it through. —Auditor-elect G. G. Fink spent Wednesday in Bellefonte telling about the fat hogs he had killed the day before. Two of his porkers dressed nearly 800 lbs. and he rendered 27 lbs. of lard from their fat. Mr. Fink didn't come to town expressly to tell the people about his hogs, but when other fellows began to blow he concluded that he wasn't going to take a back seat when he had the facts and figures to bear him out. —Major R. H. Foster, of Harrisburg, came to Bellefonte, on Tuesday, to appear as a witness in the Cross vacant land suit. He is so well known here that his leisure moments were taken up greeting the many friends who remember him when he was a resident of the town and was one of editors of the Democrat. He is looking remarkably well, for a man who has been as near death's door as he was a year ago. —M. D. Snyder, of State College, was in town, on Tuesday, on business relating to the contemplated change in some of the old business places at State College. A few years ago he was doing a remarkable business in the general merchandise line, but impaired health and other causes compelled him to give up his store and go back to his trade of carpentering, which is less confining. The Krumrine brothers bought the place and have been running it ever since. Now they intend moving into W. L. Foster's new block, leaving the Snyder stand vacant. This condition will not last long, for it will only be a matter of a short time, until some one gets it, for it is certainly about the most desirable location for any kind of business at the State College. —S. Cameron Burnside, Esq., and Robert J. Moore, both of Philadelphia, were guests at the Bush House over Sunday. The gentlemen were on their way home from a ten days outing at the Spruce run game preserve and a fine deer was shipped to the city on Saturday, the result of their hunt. It is stated that Mr. Burnside hit the deer first and that one of his companions finished it up. The Sunday was very quietly spent here among Mr. Burnside's friends and politics was even tabooed in the talk. In view of the fact that Mr. Moore is acknowledged leader of the Combine in the 4th Ward and that Mr. Burnside wields a potent influence in Centre county, as well as in Philadelphia, it was quite a trial for both to keep quiet on the subject.

THEY ARE FINE.—The Utica, N. Y., Press has the following to say of the Canadian jubilee singers who will appear in the Methodist church, here, next Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Dec. 2nd and 3rd. The old plantation songs will never lose their attraction for lovers of pure and simple melody, and when sung by such a company as the Canadian jubilee singers, who appeared at the First M. E. church last evening, they are heard in their full power and pathos. The company consists of eleven members and was formed about sixteen years ago. They have traveled extensively, having spent five years in Europe. The programme last evening was a varied one, and every number was loudly applauded, while many were enraptured. The soprano solo by Miss Stewart was especially fine, and when as an encore she sang "Old Folks at Home," there was the most intense quiet in the room. The bass solo, "A Jolly Good Laugh," exhibited the full, rich bass of J. A. Cockbin and convulsed all with laughter. The selection by the male quartette is deserving of mention, as is the bass solo by J. E. Lightfoot. The entertainment as a whole was an excellent one. —See Shaeffer's offer on page 5. FELL AND BROKE HIS LEG.—About dark, last Friday evening, Ed Kerlin, a son of A. S. Kerlin Esq., of Centre Hall, was walking along the main street in the town of Lemont. He had just reached Lenker's store in front of which, and right along the walk, a deep ditch had been excavated, when he tripped and fell into the ditch, breaking his left leg just above the knee. The unfortunate young man's calls for help soon brought friends to his side and he was taken, on a hand car, to his home, in Centre Hall, where Dr. Alexander set the broken bone. Mr. Kerlin had been engaged as a public school teacher at Lemont. THE LAST WOODEN TRESTLE GOING.—The only wooden trestle on the line of the Central railroad of Pennsylvania is at the junction of that road and the Nittany valley R. R., about three miles east of Bellefonte. There a 500 ft. wooden structure carries the Central trains over a ravine and the public road to Zion. As the life of a hemlock trestle is only four years, the company has taken time by the fore-lock and is filling up with ballast secured from Morris' pike quarries. Before the wooden structure has lived its allotted railroad life the viaduct will all be filled in, except the iron span that crosses the public road, and the end of the long bridge will be at hand. THE NEW REFORMED CHURCH AT CENTRE HALL TO BE DEDICATED.—On Sunday, November 29th, the handsome new brown stone Trinity Reformed church, at Centre Hall, will be dedicated to the worship of God. Three services will be held during the day. The regular dedicatory sermon will be preached in the morning, at 10 o'clock, by Dr. John W. Bowman, professor in the Franklin and Marshall theological seminary, at Lancaster. Sunday school at 2:30 and preaching in the evening at 7 o'clock. Rev. Eisenberg, the pastor, will assist at all the services. KILLED IN A LOG JAM.—Theodore Roy, a former resident of South Phillipsburg, was killed in a log jam on Curry run, last Sunday morning. He was working for Messrs. J. S. and C. R. Richards and at the time was working on the logs in the dam, when he fell between two with the result that the others piled up on him and crushed the life out of him. He is a son of Joseph Roy, of Chester Hill, and was 22 years old. —Edwin Gramm, who had been stopping at ex-sheriff Smith's hotel, in Lock Haven, for a few days, tendered that gentleman a check signed by "J. C. Pearson," for his board. The check was taken and Gramm got change in cash. It was found out, afterwards, that the check was a forgery and he was overhauled at the station waiting on a train on which to skip. He made things right and was not arrested.
