Perry Weber on the sick list. Sampson Wolf has returned from Phillipsburg.

Thomas L. Kessinger visited Mill Hall on Tuesday last.

B. M. Rumberger has gone to Loveville for a few days.

Mrs. Swartz and Mrs. Rumberger were in Bellefonte Sunday.

Miss Ida Johnston returned from Philadelphia last week.

Miss Sophie McEwen was a visitor to Renovo last week.

Our merchant Hoy has his new house almost completed.

Miss Regina Hubler visited her Lock Haven friends last week.

Rev. Koozt is conducting revival services in the United Evangelical church.

The Habersburg grange met last Saturday evening and installed new officers for the year.

Wm. Bartley is building a blacksmith shop in which he intends to do rock-bottom horse-shoeing.

Mr. Burgstresser, the photographer, made a good supply of sausages, last Tuesday, for McKinley's inauguration.

The Habersburg public schools were all treated with cards by their teachers, Mr. Kessinger having been the Santa Claus.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Markle were visiting during the holidays at Wall, near Pittsburg, where Mr. Markle has a brother living.

THE FANTASTICS.—From ancient times the sons of Habersburg have been in the custom of having a fantastic parade on New Year's day, and in one they have made themselves more illustrious in the annals of Nittany valley than ever before.

They are to be highly praised for their originality of conceptions and combinations; for their delicate perception of the humorous, ridiculous and sublime; for their graphical representation of the real, present and even future conditions; for the long parade of horses and wagons which the French language alone could describe and for their "snap, pluck and ability."

The Xmas exercises of the Union Sunday school, were very successful, the church having been crowded, which was mostly due to its Supt. James Carver, assistant Supt. D. A. Deitrich, Mrs. Runkle, Miss Danley and Miss Minnie Miller, Habersburg's accomplished organist.

John in this community made a very able address. The following gave recitations: Grace Markle, Ethel Miller, Rosa Miller, Belle Weber, Silas Deitrich, Jennie Vonnada, Mand Kessinger, Bessie Weber, Mabel Kessinger, Maggie Hoy, Margaret McCormick, Roy Decker, Boyd Kreamer, Arthur Kessinger, and Lloyd Markle. Also dialogues by classes of boys and girls. Besides the music sung by the whole school there were solos, duets and quartets, the latter being rendered by D. A. Deitrich, S. C. Miller, Henry Hoy and George Hoy, in a very pleasing manner. Bags of candy were given to all, with some promiscuous gifts, and everyone went home rejoicing.

John Fields is an other old soldier who has been made happy under the Democratic administration. John's Christmas present was a pension voucher for $6 a month and one year's back pay. John ought to be a Democrat sure.

Mr. Frances Speer, of Bellefonte, came up over the new railroad on New Year's day to get a taste of turkey and pumpkin pie. He was as happy as a lark and shouted good wishes to all those about him. Frances isn't it time to accept congratulations?

Prof. Geo. B. Goheen, A. M. of the Hastings high school was home at Rock Springs for the holidays. The Prof. says trade is very dull in that section. The mines are only running on half time with a light output. Where is the advance agent of prosperity now?

Ard and Bottorf, coal dealers, believe in patronizing home industry therefore they bought their scales of the Bellefonte manufactory. They are now ready to give good weight and measure either of anthracite or bituminous at the very lowest price.

The Smith Bros., a jovial set of fellows well kept, were home to spend the holidays at the old fire side with their mother. Emanuel, from Potter's Mills, John and Lowell, from Spring Mills, and Luther, of Johnstown, formed a jolly quartette.

Much to David Barr's surprise Mr. and Mrs. Howard Goss presented him, on Christmas morning, with $20, which they had collected from the neighbors, to replace his cow that recently died. David was like the man who, on the death of his wife, cried and laughed great tears of joy.

Last Monday the passers-by at Bloomsdorf heard in rich bass tones "There is only one girl in the world for me" and upon investigating found John Stover so delighted with his feelings. Every now and then a little chuckle would enter in between the measures.

Last week, Mrs. C. T. Aikens attended the funeral of her brother, Harry, at Hanover. Mr. Gitt has visited the parsonage here many times and his friends were very sorry to hear of his sudden death from apoplexy. He was 45 years of age and less than a year ago his brother Clinton died. He was married on Christmas and died on Christmas.

During the holidays Mr. Isaac Ward visited his relatives here after an absence of fifteen years. Twenty years ago he wielded the birch in the Pine Grove school, but the oil discoveries attracted him to Washington county where, by pluck and energy, he has become the general superintendent of one of the largest companies in the section. He returned to his home in Washington on last Monday.

Last Saturday the officers of J. O. U. A. M. for the ensuing term were installed by Bros. Keller and Smith. Counselor, J. N. Marts; vice counselor, J. Cronmiller; secretary, W. B. Phoebe wife of John A. Boyer, of Pine Hall, died on the night of the 28th after a short illness of pneumonia, aged 48 years. Her attending physician, Dr. Christ, thought she was out of danger but a relapse came with it and she died. She was a Miss Flick, of Bald Eagle valley, and leaves her husband and three children to mourn her death. Her pastor, Rev. C. T. Aikens, conducted the funeral at Pine Hall on the 30th.

Christmas was observed with unusual festivities in all the churches. Rev. Asbury Guyer assisted by Sup't. Murphy had charge of the Methodist entertainment. The Presbyterian and Reformed were content with a treat for the S. S. scholars, but the Lutherans had an elaborate program entitled "Loves Token." A majestic tree laden with lights, joyous music and recitations made the evening memorable in our annals. John Lytle and Claude Aikens, the youthful speakers, were the lions of the evening. Rev. C. T. Aikens was presented with a fifteen dollar note to protect him from the chilling blasts. Superintendent G. W. Weaver, of Clearfield county, made the presentation in behalf of the young people of the congregation. The Rev., in acknowledging the present, said that much of his success was due to the young people on whom the welfare of the church and state depended.

THE 25TH ANNIVERSARY.—The last evening of '96 was a memorable one in the history of the Pennsylvania lodge No. 276 I. O. O. F. Twenty-five years old, the lodge celebrated its silver anniversary with a splendid banquet in the parlors of the Misses Musser, on Main street. With the members, their wives and the invited guests the committee in charge entertained the most brilliant assemblage of the season. J. B. Heberling and wife as host and hostess made the stay of every one as agreeable as possible. The banquet was thoroughly appreciated by every one present and the responses to the toasts were well filled hearing. Squire Archey as toast master filled the bill to perfection. Rev. C. T. Aikens spoke at length of the prosperity of the organization. He was followed by W. J. Meyers and J. G. Heberling who congratulated themselves and all their fellow members on the flourishing condition of their lodge and the good it had accomplished. Its roster contains the names of our foremost citizens and many of the representative men of the western part of the county are proud of their fellowship.

One of the most pleasing features of the evening was the canning of John G. Heberling by Dr. H. C. Meyers. Past Grand Heberling is the only surviving charter member in good standing and as a recognition of his valuable services as treasurer and other positions the cane was presented. It is a handsome affair finished in silver to correspond with the anniversary. On it is engraved his name, the date and the emblem of the order. Mr. Heberling was more than a little surprised but recovered sufficiently to thank the donors most graciously. Just as the New Year came gliding in, the closing ode was sung with rejoicing and vim for the evening had been successful and joyous.

Pennsylvania lodge was first organized by D. D. G. Gamble in Boalsburg, Jan. 22nd, 1848. Among the members of Centre lodge No. 150 who assisted at the organization was James Dunlap then a clerk at Rock Forge. Many of the representative men of this part of the county were soon enrolled as Dr. J. B. Mitchell, James Longe, Wm. Dale, Johnsonbaugh, Ard, Erb, Grove, Cramer Johnson, etc. The membership reached one hundred and the lodge continued to prosper until May 11th, it was deemed wise to surrender the charter books and belongings to the D. D. G. M. as the demands made upon the order could not be met. Dr. J. B. Mitchell was the last secretary.

For fifteen years the charter was in the hands of the D. D. G. M. at Milesburg and the next minutes were entered on Dec. 11th, 1871. Then James Dunlap, of Centre lodge, Jacob Erb, Dr. J. R. Smith, George Ard, J. B. Erb and Ed. Cramer, all members of the Pennsylvania lodge at the time the charter was surrendered, asked for and obtained the original charter. District deputy G. M. Barnhart was commissioned by the Grand lodge to re-open the lodge and put it in working order. At the re-organization, John P. Lyon, J. McWilliams, C. A. Lambert, J. H. Morrison, and many representative men took part in the proceedings. Of the charter members J. B. Erb, of Elkins, W. V., is the only one living. The first minutes record that Daniel Sumner, R. G. Brett, J. B. Ard, Jonathan Hess, and J. G. Heberling, were regularly initiated, a full list of officers were installed and that the lodge was on a fair road to prosperity on which it has continued ever since. It occupied the second floor of the Academy building until 1885, when it was moved to the second floor of B. Ward's building. In '92 it took possession of its present commodious quarters where it is hoped it will continue to prosper and flourish and be a factor for good. Its records show a membership of 150 many of whom are scattered in distant states. Jan. 14th, 1880, I. J. Condo, John Myers, A. Wolf, S. F. Ishler, E. Wolf and D. W. Myer withdrew and organized the Boalsburg lodge, which has become one of the prosperous lodges of the county.

THE MODEL ON EXHIBITION HERE.—The model of the proposed monument to be erected, to the memory of the late Andrew Gregg Curtin, in this place, arrived here, on Tuesday, and is now on exhibition in the post office.

COLUMBIA CALENDAR FOR 1897.—The twelfth annual issue of the Columbia calendar has made its appearance in more pleasing form than ever before, having scattered through its daily leaves many charming illustrations, with an appropriate thought or verse for each day in the year. Among the topics are bicycling, outdoor life, and good roads. The cycling fraternity, by saying nothing of the general public, has acquired a decidedly friendly feeling for the Columbia calendar, and its annual advent is always looked forward to with interest and pleasure.

The calendar can be obtained for five two-cent stamps by addressing the calendar department of the Pope manufacturing company, at Hartford, Conn.
