Michael Nicholas vs. R. M. McClain and Isaac Thomas, trading and doing business as A. M. McClain & Co., plea assumption. Continued.

Montgomery & Co. vs. R. C. Irvin, defendant, and H. R. Curtin, administrator, of Ect., of Constans Curtin, deceased; garnishee plea attachment execution. Verdict in favor of the plaintiff, for $70.34.

Wm. Mann vs. Robert Cooke Jr., plea assumption. Non suit.

Frank Withey and Morgan Griffith, trading as Withey & Griffith, vs. William Parker, plea assumption. Verdict in favor of the plaintiffs for $720.

John M. Long, endorser, vs. William T. Leathers and Allison H. Leathers, executors of Ect., of John B. Leathers, deceased, who was endorser for W. M. Leathers, plea assumption. Non suit.

George R. Boak vs. George Bowes, Arthur Graham, and Harry Fye, plea ejectment. Verdict in favor of the plaintiff against George Bowes for the land described in the writ.

W. H. Williams and Jennie B. Williams administrators of Ect., of Aaron Williams, deceased, vs. S. R. Pringle, executor of Ect., of Terrence McAlmney, deceased, plea scire facias sur mortgage. Verdict in favor of the plaintiffs for $325.20.

S. R. Schumaker vs. D. M. Butts, A. M. McClain and Isaac Thomas, trading and doing business as D. M. Butts & Co. plea assumption. Continued.

C. L. Beck vs. Dr. J. A. Bright, plea trespass. Continued.

Mattie Garland vs. Amos Garland, plea subpoena in divorce. Counsel have agreed to take the testimony on a rule.

Catharine Sentman and Jevrett Sentman, her husband; John Mays, Mary L. Walker and Philip Walker, her husband; Anna E. Mills and John Mills, her husband; Maria Hondseshell and Wesley Hondseshell, her husband; Phebe Hondseshell and Benjamin Hondseshell, her husband; Harriet Roley, Jacob Mays, Matthias Mays, John Freeze, Mary Holt, and her husband; Elizabeth Myers and William Myers, her husband; William Freeze, Ferdinand Freeze, Philip Freeze, Mary A. Mays, John Henry Mays, Jacob Mays, George Mays, and Hannah Mays, the last five being minors and acting through their guardian ad litem, Matthias Mays, heirs and legal representatives of Mary Ann Mays, deceased, vs. Rebecca Parker and Matthias Parker, plea ejectment. Verdict, on Tuesday morning, in favor of the plaintiff for the land described in the writ to be retained upon the payment of $169.36 in one year with interest.

J. P. Sebring vs. F. G. Ingram, plea replevin. This action is brought to settle the title to a lot of corn, oats and hay on the farm of the plaintiff, claimed by the plaintiff on account of a debt owing to him by the defendant, under a contract of a written lease. Verdict in favor of the defendant.

J. H. Reifsnnyder vs. Hannah Reed, plea assumption. This action was brought to recover money paid to the defendant by the plaintiff while settling up the estate of the defendant's deceased husband. Verdict in favor of the defendant, for $170.32.

John A. Hunter vs. John I. Thompson, Wm. Thompson, James I. Thompson and William Emehizer, plea trespass. Settled.

Mary M. Frank vs. the borough of Howard, plea ejectment. Verdict in favor of the land described in the writ, with stay of execution for sixty days.

Frick Company vs. Joseph G. Carson, plea assumption. Judgment confessed in open court in favor of the plaintiff for $225 with stay of execution for thirty days. S. G.

Centre County Cases Before the Superior Court.—The Superior court of Pennsylvania will sit at Williamsport, next week, beginning Tuesday, February 9th. The cases that are on the calendar from this county are the following:

Wilson et al vs. Downing, appellant. Appeal from the common pleas court. Attorneys D. E. Fortney, C. P. Hewes, A. O. Furst.

Love vs. Central railroad company, appellants. Appeal from the common pleas court. Orvis, Bower & Orvis.—W. E. Gray.

Rimestone vs. Reifsnnyder, appellant. Appeal from the common pleas court. Ira C. Mitchell.—Wilbur F. Reeder.

Thos. H. Murray, Esq., bought the elegant home of the late William A. Wallace, in Clearfield, on Friday, for $2,900, subject to a mortgage on it. It was sold at sheriff's sale. The price is extremely low as it is one of the finest residence properties in the town.

SPECIAL TRAIN FROM MILL HALL TONIGHT.—There will be a special train over the Central railroad of Pennsylvania tonight in order to accommodate persons between Lock Haven and Bellefonte who want to see the thrilling war play "The Drummer Boy of Shiloh," at Garman's opera house, to-night. The train will leave Mill Hall at 5:05 p. m. stopping at all points along the line. The remarkably low fare of 50 cts. from Mill Hall and return has been granted for this excursion and it is likely that a large crowd will be here. Co. H, N. G. P., of Lock Haven, and the G. A. R. post of Mill Hall have been invited and will possibly attend in a body.

A SPECIAL TRAIN FROM PINE GROVE.—The Bellefonte Central railroad will run a special train from Bellefonte to Pine Grove to-night after the great war drama, "The Drummer Boy of Shiloh," is over. It will stop at all points along the line and in order that every one will be able to see the thrilling play the following low round trip fares have been issued:

From Pine Grove—50 cts.
" Bloomsdorf—50 "
" State College—50 "
" Waddle—30 "

These tickets will be good to come to Bellefonte on either of the afternoon trains and return on the special that will leave after the show is over.

DOG TAXES AND SHEEP KILLING IN CENTRE COUNTY.—It is not generally regarded as an item of much importance, the dog tax in Centre county and the disbursements for sheep that have been killed by dogs, but the following schedule, taken from the auditor's statement, will divulge a different view of it:

All Through Brush Valley.

On Monday morning Supt. Gramley left for Ferguson township.

Thomas Anman, who is teaching school at Woodward, was at his Rebersburg home over Sunday.

Calvin Zeigler, who had been teaching school near Unionville, is among the Rebersburg boys again.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Aust Gramley, of Rebersburg, went over to Logantown to see their friends.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fell, of Rebersburg, were at Tyersville, visiting old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Strockerker, of Rebersburg, were in Sugar valley on Sunday to attend Mr. Lamy's funeral.

Edward Nearhood, who is clerking for merchant Wolf, at Centre Hall, was among his friends in Rebersburg on Saturday evening.

According to old sayings, since the ground hog did not see its shadow, on Tuesday, the weather will not be so severe the coming six weeks.

Last Thursday evening, at Rebersburg, Charles Bierly and Miss Ada Weber both of Rebersburg, was married by Rev. M. George. The wedding took place at the bride's.

Mrs. Wm. Stitzer, of near Rebersburg, is seriously ill with a paralytic stroke suffered last Thursday morning, when she and her son Henry were about ready to start for Aaronsburg to attend a funeral.

Scott Kerstetter, who has been sawing lumber for the last year in Huntingdon county for Mr. Hewitt, came back to Brush valley again, last Saturday, to saw for our lumberman, C. C. Loose, near Rebersburg. It seems as if Scott prefers to saw in Brush Valley at his old place.

The Reformed and Lutheran people of Madisonburg, will have a musical convention next week, beginning on Monday evening. Prof. Enos, of New York, will conduct the convention. All who can are cordially invited to attend. Concerts free Friday and Saturday evenings.

Centre Hall.

Helen Hosterman, daughter of Dentist G. W. Hosterman, is seriously ill with mumps which have taken a peculiar turn.

Miss Emily Alexander is absent on a visit, Tyrone and Philadelphia being among the places she will stop. She is fulfilling several invitations to sing in churches, and a voice full and rich will her listeners hear.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Breon traded their house over to a score or more of young America's future leaders in the various arts and industries Tuesday evening. To be Perry's guest simply means that you own his all for the time being. The children who enjoyed the family's hospitality will long remember their benefactors.

Rev. J. M. Rearick, Jr., made his appearance Sunday morning. After taking a cursory view of the situation the youth decided to accept Mr. and Mrs. Rearick's invitation to make their home his future place of abode. There was no Anglo-American treaty signed or umpire appointed, but the infant at once acknowledged the suzerainty of its parents.

Daniel Houser, living a short distance west of town, went to Philadelphia last week to secure the services of an eye specialist. From some unaccountable reason his one eye became very sore about the beginning of September last, and treatment by local physicians seemed of no benefit. Lately his other eye became affected, and to save the sight of it, Mr. Houser decided to have an operation performed.

But for the presence of Dr. Alexander at the "Chicken-pie" supper held by the Reformers Saturday evening, the accident happening Mrs. Cyrus Gordon might have resulted seriously. While Mrs. Gordon was eating her portion of the pie, which was indeed of Rorer flavor, a tiny bone lodged in her throat and it required considerable effort on the part of the doctor and patient to dislodge it.

Last week mention was made that a tie vote at the Democratic caucus put Messrs Krumrine and Sweetwood on equal footing for the nomination of supervisor of public roads. As yet the combatants have not agreed which shall be the nominee, and the indications are that they will not be able to come to an understanding among themselves.

In order to have their names placed on the ticket nominations papers would have to be filed, in which event the Democratic column would be without a nominee for the office of supervisor of roads. Taking all things into consideration, would it not be policy to reconvene the caucus and have the vacancy regularly filled.

After looking over the various congregations of this beautiful town of churches, last Sunday, the writer became thoroughly convinced that Christianity (?) was the cause of much physical weakness among many who professed to be followers of the Healer of the Lame. It is a time honored custom in this place to stand when prayer is being offered, and it is the desire of the pastors, without doubt, that the custom in vogue be adhered to, but it is gradually yielding to those who prefer not to follow the steps of their sainted grandfathers. No, and the example is set by the younger, the robust, who prefer to lounge in their pews or chairs, while those old in years, past sixty, seldom sit during the exercises when the official head indicates that all should rise. It is no doubt possible that a conscientious Christian can sit in his or her pew during a prayer service with impunity so far as he or she is concerned, but how about the example set for others? Such acts on the part of leading members in the church begot a feeling of antipathy among those outside the church, as well as the youths, for what may be regarded as a proper posture when in communion with our Heavenly Father. If you don't believe this, note the effects on children whose parents are chronic loungers in the church pew.

Pine Grove Mention.

The whole country is frozen up and so is our mill. Potatoes and apples froze in cellars that were thought to be frost proof.

Mrs. Mary McCauley, after spending some weeks at her old home in Petersburg, is back to spend the balance of the winter with her son Stewart.

John Rea and Samuel Wilson, two of Huntingdon's successful farmers, braved the recent blizzard looking after stock and bargains.

Charles, the youngest son of Captain J. M. Kepler, is very sick with ulcerated sore throat. At first it was feared diphtheria would develop but the boy is so better.

Capt. W. F. Heberling, of Benore, with his two interesting little girls, Sundayed with old comrades here and is still as staunch a Bry-anite as ever. He reports the men all idle as the works are shut down until spring.

Last Tuesday, ground hog day, was so cloudy that his hogship failed to see his shadow, so the little animal is not responsible for the weather of the next six weeks. The thermometer registered at 30° snow flakes fell all day and the sleighing was excellent.

The telephone is at last connected and we are in direct communication with the world both by long and short distance. With the station in good working order and P. F. Bottorf acting as agent we are well fixed indeed.

Miss Alice McWilliams returned, last Saturday, from her visit at the Mountain city. With her came Mrs. Mary Jane Stewart, who is visiting the McWilliams home near Fairbrook where she is having a good time with her old friends.

Grandmother Krebs has in her possession a fax huckle which has belonged to her family for one hundred and twenty-three years. She still delights to talk over old times and while her mind is not so clear as it once was is still very entertaining.

Last Saturday evening the members of the State College Epworth League to the number of sixty came over in a sleighs and sleds to have a rana social time at the residence of Misses Anna and Alka Musser. The evening was certainly a very enjoyable one, and with songs, recitations and the like the entertainment was equally pleasing to the hostesses and guests.

Mr. and Mrs. David Kuhn, of Dakota, Ill., are East visiting old friends and relatives. We are glad to learn that he still adheres to his former Democratic principles. A quarter of a century ago he told the grists in the Ard mill at this place when his flowing white beard was jet black.

Rev. J. M. Goheen is greatly improved in health. When he arrived home last May from his mission work he was so weak that he could talk but a few minutes at a time. He is so much better now that he expects to return to his mission next summer. Last Sunday he lectured to a large and appreciative audience at Lemont and, in the afternoon, to a good audience in the Presbyterian church at Boalsburg.

Orders have been issued from the assistant postmaster general at Washington, that after Feb. 15th, the mail route from Shingleto wn to Fairbrook would be abandoned. That means the mail to this place will be by train and a carrier from Boalsburg to Shingleto wn. The present contractor, Mr. Henry's route will be from Fairbrook via Rock Springs to Penna. Furnace with same connection as heretofore.

County Supt. Gramley in his pleasant courteous manner circulated among our schools in the early part of the week and found them all in excellent condition. Prof. Gramley has not only the esteem of the teachers but the respect and good will of the young Americans who appreciate his instructions and kindly greetings in the school room. He is the right man in the right place.

On Friday night of last week a jolly sledding party came over the mountain from Stone valley and halted at the home of Dice Thomas and the Branch. It was 10 o'clock when they arrived and after supper the light fantastic toe was tripped until breakfast time, when the party turned their faces homeward. They had their own musicians and grub with them and some of the boys who joined them on this side of the mountain had a decided hankering for sweet cider.

The pop corn social held at the home of ex-county commissioner H. C. Campbell was a decided success. The rooms were decorated from ceiling to floor with pop corn. Mrs. Nannie Meek, of State College, was home to preside at the piano. More than one hundred guests were present from Spruce Creek valley, Tyrone, Stormtown, State College and this place. The treasury of the Fairbrook Sunday school is $18 the richer and the minds of those present, a store of pleasant memories for the evening was full of enjoyment and fun.

Mittany Items.

Samuel Cole and wife, of Zion, spent Sunday in our village.

Elmer Snavely killed four foxes, last Monday. A good day's wages.

Sunday morning the thermometer registered 14 degrees below zero at this place.

Misses Helen Beck, Belle Stafer and Alma Fletcher attended the institute, at Howard, and report it quite a success.

Prof. S. W. Butler and lady, of Romola, were enjoying the sleighing last Sunday and stopped for dinner in our town.

There is excellent sleighing, and a large crowd in attendance at the Hubbersburg protracted meeting. Clintondale and Lamar attended one evening by having four horses attached to the sled in which they were hauled.

Thomas Grooms died, Jan. 29th, of consumption. He had been a sufferer for three years, when death came to his relief. Mr. Grooms had been married twice, leaving no children to his second wife, but four survive him from the first marriage. All of them are adopted in different families of this State. Rev. W. K. Diehl performed the last sad rites, and his remains were laid to rest in Snydertown cemetery.
