

superintendents held there on Wednesday and Thursday, having received an invitation from the state superintendent of public instruction, Nathan C. Schaeffer. Among those on the programme known to Centre county teachers are Pres. E. D. Warfield, of Lafayette college; Supt. Henry Weber of Middletown, one of our white-headed brush valley boys; Supt. J. M. Coughlin, of Wilkesbarre; Supt. Chas. Lose, of Williamsport; and Supt. P. R. K. Buehrle, of Lancaster.

EPWORTH LEAGUE ENTERTAINMENT.—Last Saturday evening the Epworth League, of the Kreamerville M. E. church, gave a first class entertainment in the church. The Kreamerville people always prove a grand success with their undertakings. The music was good and appropriate for the occasion, the address of welcome was very ably delivered by Miss Sallie Winkleblech which made each and every one feel at home. The recitations of Maggie Harvey, Maud Winters, Stella Miller, Annie Harvey, Esta Kreamer, and Gertrude Styers were well rendered and Nellie Brindle, with her closing speech, was also very much appreciated by the audience. The music by the four Miller's, Geo., Luther, Elmer and James, was good. Master Samuel Winters, who is Pres. of the literary department of the chapter, conducted the exercises of the evening. The church was crowded to its utmost.

Centre Hall.

Next week will see the close of the greater part of the public schools in the country districts. The borough schools will not finish until June.

D. P. Houser will go to Philadelphia again, on Tuesday next, to secure a glass eye, his eye having recovered sufficiently after an operation was performed in that city to warrant the wearing of a false member.

Miles Arney, son of B. H. Arney, of this place, became unconscious while standing in front of Kreamer & Son's store, Monday night, and fell to the ground. He remained in that condition until the next morning. He seemingly has recovered. Miles is a young man of excellent character, and is well thought of.

Miss Ella Storer, of Clifford, Michigan, arrived Saturday evening of last week, to attend the funeral of her aged grandmother, Mrs. Mary Smith. Miss Storer is a typical "Wolverine"—vivacious, and a graduate of one of the best schools in her section of the State. She is a daughter of Mrs. Amanda Smith Storer, deceased, who was so well known to many of our people hereabouts.

Mrs. Mary Smith, widow of Dr. Peter Smith, died early Saturday morning of pneumonia, after an illness of but a few days. She was aged almost seventy-five years and has lived in and about Centre Hall for some forty years. The funeral, which was held Monday at 3 p. m., was quiet and simple and in keeping with her request. She was a member of the Lutheran church from her youth, and her pastor, Rev. J. M. Rearick, conducted the funeral services.

Dr. J. F. Alexander had a rather unpleasant experience Wednesday night of last week while on his way to see a patient below Pleasant Gap, near Ross'. He was driving along when all at once his horse and buggy upset into a ditch caused by the road bed being changed. The doctor managed to get from his buggy without injury, and upon investigation found he could not extricate his horse without help. A full half hour's effort brought assistance to the scene, when the horse was loosened and helped to his feet. Very little damage was done except that the horse was plastered from head to foot with mud.

W. H. Runkle, of this place, will be the proprietor and landlord of Centre Hall's hotel after April 1st. Mr. Runkle purchased the property from Messrs. D. A. Boozer and Edwin Ruhl, the latter occupying the stand at present. The town has always been proud of its well kept hotel, and it is surmised that the coming occupant will prove an obliging gentleman at all times and at all places which will guarantee him success. The handsome Runkle property, near the station, played a part in the game, and Boozer is in its possession at present. This hotel sports a record to be proud of, and very few public houses can vie with it. The present hotel building, in its present form, was erected by Henry Whitmer, deceased, in the year 1846. At that time there were very few private houses in the town; in fact they could be counted on the fingers of one hand, and a hotel of the dimensions of the present one was at that time and is to-day a great credit to the valley. Mr. Whitmer acted in the capacity of master of the inn from the time of its completion until 1855, and owned the property for a number of years thereafter. J. G. Yeager then took possession of the establishment for three or four years, after which came John Hewes who tapped beer, ale, gin and whiskey until the spring of 1862. Daniel Guldie was highcockalorum during '63. During the three years between '63 and '66 Samuel Reesman was host, after which ex-sheriff John Spangler took his turn, for just one year, and then Keller & Stump followed until '68. After spending a year at Millheim in the hotel business, Mr. Spangler returned to the old stand again and continued until January, 1879. Spangler probably operated during a season when the hotel business at Centre Hall was the most profitable, which was before the railroad passed through the valley and a great deal of staging was done from Bellefonte to Lewistown and Centre Hall was the main stopping place. When the ex-sheriff furnished his hotel Dauber's furniture establishment was not in existence which necessitated him to go to Philadelphia for his furniture, carpets, etc. While in the city Mr. Spangler visited a large establishment and took a fancy to a peculiar constructed mirror of mammoth size, and asked the merchant his best cash price for the article. $1,200 was the reply, to which his customer responded "all right, I'll be in to-morrow," but if the glass was set back for Spangler it is still waiting for the "to-morrow." The hotel was well furnished with Philadelphia goods, however, and a successful landlord was John Spangler.

Another landlord that made the hotel business go was D. J. Meyer who followed Spangler during January, 1889, and continued until 1890. Meyer had good business while the railroad was operated only as far as Spring Mills, which gave him two stage routes from the east that stopped here at the noon hour. After Meyer came D. L. Bartgess for a term of four years, and now from the proceeds thus accrued is the owner of one of the finest two hundred acre farms in the valley. Edwin Ruhl will finish his first year on April 1st, and like those who preceded him was an excellent host. During the fifty one years referred to above the hotel was licensed, and at no time was there a remonstrance of any character presented to court against an application for license. This speaks remarkably well for the conduct of the landlords. Attached to the hotel at present is an excellent equipped livery owned by Boozer Bros., which is well patronized by traveling men, who have a peculiar liking to our town.
