

Pine Grove Mention.

Notices are posted for Democratic delegate election at St. Elmo hotel, Saturday afternoon, June 5th.

Our mutual friend J. Wm. Kepler is taking a few weeks of nursing a mashed finger. He is out in Forest county.

Dr. J. Baker Krebs' home from the University where he spent the last year in perfecting himself as a saw bones.

Huxter J. H. Lytle, of our town, has been awarded the mail route from this point to Penna. Furnace to commence July 4th.

Samuel Bilger and David Ocker, two of Freeburg's solid business men, paid their old neighbor Frank Bowser a pleasant visit the early part of this week.

A little Bryantite arrived at the home of merchant D. C. Krebs on Decoration day. His mother is seriously ill with pneumonia but he is getting along splendidly.

R. B. Fry and his wife came up from the county capitol Saturday to help swell the crowd on Decoration day. While here Robert took his old place in the band, as tenor drummer.

Editor Kurtz and Robert Hunter, two of Bellefonte's noted anglers, passed through here recently on their trips for the rippling waters of Spruce creek, where they caught loads (?) of minnows.

Mrs. Albert W. Ralston, of Tyrone, has been visiting friends here and in Stone valley during the last week, looking not a day older than when she left here to make her home at Philipsburg, some fifteen years ago.

This week W. B. Ward and his gang of painters are beautifying Michael Hess' farm house on the branch. It is to be white with maroon trimmings and with the new porches recently added will be a great improvement to the place.

S. C. Miller, who so successfully wielded the birch at Grand Valley school, came home to participate in Decoration day exercises and left on an early train, Tuesday morning, for Lumber city, where he will be engaged in the insurance business.

At the barn raising of Dr. Kustaborder, last Thursday, John Thomas came near losing his life by a pin of timber striking him on the back. Carpenter Jos. Myers is the contractor which accounts for every point fitting so neatly and the plume on his katy waving so briskly.

On the 25th, Mrs. Leah Ross, wife of John Ross, of Petersburg, died at her home after an illness of many weeks due to old age. She was a pleasant woman favorably known to the people here, where she lived most of her life. Her maiden name was Durst, and she was born near Earlstown in Penns Valley, in 1823. She was buried in the Petersburg cemetery on the 27th, and is survived by her husband, who will miss her greatly. He is almost a confirmed invalid from rheumatism.

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the season was the party at Walter O'Brian's, near State College, on the evening of the 28th. It was his sixty-sixth birthday and his good wife, Charlotte, invited their friends in as a surprise. About forty guests were present and it was a real surprise for the guests surprised the host and hostess with many nice and useful presents, and the supper was surprisingly good. Every one was happy and mirth and jollity reigned supreme. Aside from his gray locks he looks little older than when he tried to teach us to chew tobacco down in the old stone school house 45 years ago, but thank fortune he did not succeed in that as well as he did in farming.

In answer to a call a rousing mass meeting was held in the academy on the evening of the 28th to devise means of entertaining the strangers expected on the 18th, a date that promises to be a memorable one in the history of our town. Mrs. C. T. Aikens was chosen president of the meeting and W. H. Fry secretary. Mrs. Aikens thanked the audience for the honor conferred and in a happy little speech urged every one, student or not, to do everything in their power to make the day a success. Famous men from all over the country will be here and it behoves us to make them welcome. The secretary was instructed to have the school yard fence painted along Front street.

DECORATION DAY.—Memorial services were held in the Lutheran church last Sunday morning was well attended. After a prayer by the Rev. Dunlap, Rev. C. T. Aikens delivered an eloquent sermon in which he referred to the patriots who sacrificed their lives so nobly for their country and whose remaining few are year after year growing less. Every town and hamlet in the United States observes the day and there is something mournfully sacred in the obsevance of the rites. Many homes and places of business were festively decorated and as the flags floated in the breeze of the cool May day, much interest was manifested in the occasion.

At Graysville early in the morning the people began to assemble and by 10 o'clock the largest assemblage that had ever attended, listened to an address by the Rev. R. M. Illingworth, of Warriors' mark. It was indeed a treat and it is said by all who heard it "the best speech ever delivered there."

For forty minutes his clear rich voice announced beautiful thoughts and plain truths like an orator of old and indeed his whole manner and bearing is that of a true orator. The services were in charge of Zentmyer post of Franklinville.

Here the services were held at 3 o'clock. The procession was formed on Main street with the Pine Grove Mills band at the head followed by Capt. Campbell post and the I. O. O. F. of Lodge 276 in full regalia with banners and flags afloat. From the new cemetery to the old, the march was taken and after a prayer by the Rev. M. C. Dunlap music was furnished by the band and choir with Miss Annie Fortney at the organ. The graves were decorated with flowers and W. H. Walker, of Bellefonte, was introduced. In his 30 minute speech he favorably impressed every one and it was the general opinion that our talented young legal friend is blessed with every attribute of a first class public speaker. He was followed by C. M. Bower, who continued the flow of eloquence.

At the Branch cemetery at 2:30 o'clock a multitude of people gathered to hear Dr. Colfelt, who is without doubt an inspired speaker. Major Foster post of State College conducted the services there and at Pine Hall where the floral tributes were particularly beautiful. Mr. Laird Holmes, of State College, took 38 minutes to say what he had to say in a strong voice and a good distinct articulation. His tribute to the silent dead was clothed in language that touched his hearers and with the singing of the long meter doxology the May day exercises came to a close and as time rolls on will assume a more brilliant lustre for Memorial day of 1897 will have passed into history.

FOR WOMEN ONLY.

The bargain counter has attractions for women—it is different with the men.

The women prefer to have a resort to select from where they go to the stores because they come to our store because we have everything they want in our line—churns, creamers and other dairy fixtures, including the best house refrigerators, etc., and washing machines, ironing machines, etc., in great variety.

Some men prefer to buy goods delivered and patronize the traveling fakir, whom they are often taken in by.

Have you heard of a woman being taken in by a fakir? The men do not read advertisements monopolize this privilege.

Women read the advertisements and are always the locusts for the best bargains. The best thing for men to do, those who do not read advertisement is to authorize wives and daughters to purchase all the beautiful and attractive articles for the home. When the mothers and daughters want anything in our line, they come to us to buy, for the reason, that they always know where they can purchase the best bargains.

They can purchase the best bargains at a free exhibition at our store, High street, of everything for the Farm and Garden, every working day in the week, to which everyone is cordially invited.
