

Stormstown.

Capt. John A. Hunter enjoyed commencement at State College.

Our town is now clean with a new layer of crushed stone.

One day recently, Dr. Thompson's horse run away out at Scotia, and played havoc with his new buggy.

The Scotia band paid our town a visit, recently, and gave us some fine music with their new gold-mounted horns.

If the people of this town keep on burning and tearing down their buildings, the once prosperous town will soon be annihilated from the face of the earth.

Next Sunday will be children's day in the M. E. church, in this place. Services will commence at 7 o'clock p. m., and as this appointment exceeds any other appointment on the circuit, it will be well attending.

Did it ever occur to the readers of the WATCHMAN how many very old people have lived and been buried in Halfmoon valley, between Waddle's and Centre Line, which clearly demonstrates that it must be a very healthy country.

Gradually the ranks of the G. A. R. of Stormstown, are growing less. Not many days ago, from good authority we heard that of the 22 old soldiers buried in the Mt. Pleasant grave yard, in Taylor township, from this Post 498, 8 of them rest in unmarked graves. Will the commissioners rise and explain please why this is? There was a great fuss made, a couple of years ago, when the Democratic board failed to mark the soldier's graves and we know that several Democratic soldiers voted for the present Republican commissioners just on that account. What they think of their action now the public has not found out.

Spring Mills.

The handsome portico, commenced a week ago in front of the M. E. parsonage in our village, is completed, and is a decided improvement.

J. M. Alters, one of our thorough mechanics, has just completed a handsome fence surrounding the property on the lake recently purchased by Dr. F. A. Van Valzah. The fencing is as straight as an arrow and very substantially built. Mr. Alters evidently understands his business.

At last the postmaster's office at our village is settled, and as was frequently stated in this correspondence as a probability J. D. Long received the appointment on Wednesday last. Of course there was very considerable squabbling and sharp maneuvering to obtain the office and naturally disappointments have followed. But Mr. Long had the advantage from the start, and held it in defiance of all plans and combinations, and since the appointment has been made and the contest ended we all cheerfully acquiesce in the inevitable. Mr. Long discharged the same duties under the Harrison administration in a very satisfactory manner, and we are all satisfied that he will do so again. Mr. Pealer retires with the best wishes of all our citizens.

The junior baseball club of our village had an indifferent contest with the Centre Hall team, on Friday last. The juniors complain very bitterly of the discourteous treatment they received from the Centre Hall team. The juniors desired tossing the ball in the diamond previous to the call of game, simply to obtain a little insight of the grounds, a privilege always accorded a rival team, but this privilege was positively refused. At the end of the seventeenth inning it being late, the juniors wished to retire or have some provisions made for supper, but the Centre Hall team would not listen to their retiring and supper they declined to furnish. Finally the juniors concluded to play the two remaining innings and obtain a very late meal at home. The score stood 23 to 29 in favor of Spring Mills. Of course with ill humor and unpleasant feelings on both sides, the number of runs indicate the character of the playing.

Pine Grove Mention.

The new cemetery fence, and the Academy fence are being improved with a coat of paint.

Edward Bailey, son of G. W. Bailey, of Downs, Kansas, is enjoying the towering mountains and will represent his father at the students reunion.

Rev. C. T. Aikens is entertaining a number of relatives from Hanover, this week, who came up to see how we enjoy a June day outing in the new park. They are here in the interests of the students meeting.

A few of the early farmers are making hay which, at this time, promises to be more than an average crop. The late showers are causing rapid growth in the oats crop, but the corn and barley are not doing so well.

Edward Keller, W. S. Tate's farmer turned away from his horse for a few minutes, to look at the passing train, and when he turned about found the horse flying at a 2-40 pace. He caught it after half a mile run none the worse of its fright.

C. S. Danley, one of Medina's successful business men is here from the Buckeye State for a month's visit. He is looking splendidly and except for the touch of time that has whitened his hair he is little changed from the stalwart youth, who enjoyed his childhood days here.

Mrs. W. J. Gibson accompanied by her son William, are guests of ex-treasurer J. B. Mitchell. Mrs. Gibson has not changed for she is just as pleasant and gracious as ever, and her son has a good position as a compositor in a printing office. Bob, the oldest one, is doing well as a lawyer.

Ben Jones Laport, who dispenses justice to the Philadelphia people, has been here several days getting a good ready to welcome the other students as they appear on the scene and getting himself familiar with the old building, where the foundation of his education was laid. The squire is getting up in years and some of his locks are silvered but not a furrow marks his cheery face. He was one of the early students and has vivid recollections of his school days which no doubt you will hear all about on the 18th. He is accompanied by his excellent wife, who has kindly thoughts for our town and people.

Ben called his wife's attention to the snake and as he stepped forward with a stick in his hand struck the snake on the back. At once it showed fight but Ben, retaining his presence of mind, hit it a heavy blow across its neck, causing death. It measured 6 ft. 2 in. in length and 2 1/2 inches in diameter.

Sumner Hosterman, a senior at Franklin and Marshall, is home and shaking hands with the boys all around. Three years of college work developed "Sum's" mental faculties, but don't seem to give him the "big head."

The festival held by the members of Progress grange, at Grange park, was largely attended. The orchestra was there and everybody was glad of it, for their music did much to enliven the occasion. Mr. Pletcher's cornet is very obedient to its master and gives forth the sweetest tones.

W. W. Boob, the wheel manufacturer, is putting new machinery into his shops continually. His latest improvements are machines to manufacture spokes, which do the work from the butt to finish, and if the genius had invented it he would add an appliance to make the butt. This last invention, however, is not needed at present, as there are thousands of the choicest second growth oaks and a good supply of hickory to be had in Central Pennsylvania. Mr. Boob depends largely upon foreign trade for his product of spokes and wheels, and has shipped his manufactures to every foreign country of note. During last week several consignments of large orders were shipped to London. The continual growth of his business necessitates the enlargement of his factory. His export department and salesroom are located at 11 Broadway, New York City.

She attended the Emerson school of oratory, in Boston, and is an elocutionist of much ability. She is well read in the events and literature of the day besides being a charming conversationalist.

W. Harry Walker, of Bellefonte, visited his relatives and many friends in our valley recently. He is quite a dashing and promising young lawyer, who made himself quite popular among our politicians through his fine silver speech last fall. He is genial and makes friends among all classes of people wherever he goes and is liked by all our people.

Yes! the old Rockville hill has had some of its skull removed in order that lime-stone may be spread on our roads. The event was so pleasing to many people that they watched the operation through mere curiosity. Our supervisors Gephardt and Ocker are to be praised for their foresight in reducing the hill gradually year by year. The supervisors who crush sand-stone for our township should be turned out of office. The sand-stone crushed, at Kreamerville, last year, is now mud several inches deep and the roads to be good should be piked again.

THE GRANGE MEETING.—Last Saturday afternoon was largely attended and very instructive. Mrs. Henry Meyer read a able essay on memory, which so captivated the hearers that the order passed a motion to have it published. Bruce Moyer, of Centre Mills, read a selection on labor and capital which opened up an interesting discussion, which was taken part in by Noah Corman and Jos. K. Moyer. Prof. Henry A. Detwiler read a fine essay, giving a comparison between the English and American governments, a subject of which he is very fond. The grange has appointed him to give a series of articles on this subject treated from a comparative standpoint. Mr. Detwiler was highly complimented on his excellent and instructive paper which was supplemented by a short address on the history of the human government by H. E. Bierly. The program for next time will be another one of Mr. Detwiler's papers, and an essay on the history, explanation and abuses of trusts and monopolies by Jos. K. Moyer.

Resolutions of Respect.

Sunday School of the St. Paul's Lutheran church Pine Grove Mills, Pa.
