THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

Hayes Schenck has been recommended for the office of post-master at Howard.

To-morrow the veterans of Centre and Clinton counties will hold their annual reunion at Hecla Park.

Philipsburg home talent will sing the comic opera, "Mikado," on the evening of the 30th of September.

Mary McMurtrie, a daughter of James McMurtrie, of Coleville, is dangerously ill with diphtheritic sore throat.

Miss Lena Christ, a daughter of George Christ and an employee of the Gazette office, is dangerously ill with typhoid fever.

The Pennsylvania State College will open next Tuesday and report has it that the prospects are more favorable than for several years for a large body of students.

The fires in the Bellefonte co-operation glass company's plant, in this place, were extinguished at 2 o'clock last Saturday afternoon and the first blowing will be made about the 17th of this month.

A night blooming cereus in flower attracted a coterie of friends to the home of Mr. L. A. Schaeffer, on east Curtin street, last Tuesday evening. It was the first time the plant has bloomed in four years.

Mrs. Kate Horner, relict of Wm. Horner, of near Centre Hall, and Mrs. Isaiah Coxey, of Boalsburg, are two Centre county widows who have lately been granted pensions. The good news came for them on Monday.

The corner stone was laid for a new United Evangelical church in Unionville, last Sunday afternoon. Rev. Dr. Goble, of New Berlin, president of the Central Penna., college, delivered the sermon. Revs. Buckingham and Heiney were present and assisted.

Andrew Kniesly has returned from Tyrone, where he had charge of Ceadar's branch bakery, and yesterday took charge of Achenbach's place here. Mr. Achenbach has decided to locate in Lock Haven, where he will go into the cake and green grocery business.

John Bower, a son of C. M. Bower, Esq., and John Meyer, of Centre Hall, the latter a graduate of Franklin and Marshall and the former a senior at the same institution, have both registered as law students in this county and have successfully passed the preliminary examinations.

The business men and lawyers played another game of ball at Hecla park, on Tuesday afternoon, and while it was not as amusing as the game of last week there was plenty of fun for the several hundred people who went down. The score resulted 22 to 15 in favor of the business men.

A cake sale and sociable will be given, this evening at the home of Dr. Ward, on Curtin street, under the auspices of the aid society of the Methodist church. Dr. and Mrs. Ward are pleasing entertainers and there will be plenty of good things to eat. You are cordially invited to be present whether you are a Methodist or not.

It is said that some of the good Presbyterian elders wore the gable ends of their picnic trousers shiny back-sliding, at Hecla park, on Wednesday. The way the stiffest of them limbered up and shook their old blue socks in the cake walk would have made a real old fashioned shindig assume the gravity of a foreign missionary society meeting in contrast.

Harry Brooks, of Tyrone, wouldn't impress anyone as being near old enough for such an event but he and Mrs. Brooks actually did celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, last Friday night, or their friends did it for them. Harry is about the youngest looking man we have ever known to have been married that length of time.

The Democratic state convention at Reading, last week, appears to have been a little too much for Hammon Sechler Esq., of Linn street. He was one of the delegates from this county and has been indisposed ever since his return; in fact it is necessary for him to be driven to and from his business, a very unusual thing for Mr. Sechler, who is usually so active.

The 12th annual convention of the missionary societies of the West Susquehanna classis of the Reformed church was in session here, Tuesday evening and Wednesday. The program, as published in our last week's issue, was adhered to and an interesting session resulted. There was a very good representation of the societies of the district. The officers for the ensuing year are: President and treasurer, Rev. W. A. Haas; vice president, Jared Harper; secretary, Miss Lizzie Moyer.

The Logans had a perfect day, on Saturday, for their picnic at Hunter's park and a fair sized crowd had a good time up there. Everything that was advertised, from the ox-roast to the ball game between the fats and leans, came off and there was not a disturbance of any sort to mar the pleasure of those who were there. Cyrus Brumgart and Samuel Weiser, of Millheim, had charge of the barbecue and carried it out very successfully. Though not one of the largest Logans can congratulate themselves on having had as nice a picnic of the kind as has ever been given in this community.

AN EXCITING CHASE AFTER A BICYCLE THIEF.—On Wednesday Allison, alias "Edward," Woodring arrived in this place on an 1896 Crawford bicycle. He offered the wheel for sale at such a ridiculously low figure, $10, that he at once excited suspicion and the police were notified, thinking that he might possibly be the man who was wanted in Lock Haven for having stolen a machine from John Waite's agency.

When officer Mullen found Woodring he was at Wetzel's repair shop having some repairs made. In answer to the officer's inquiry he offered to sell the wheel, and said it was his brother's. When asked where the latter was to be found he said he was at the Brant house and accompanied Mullen there. The brother was not to be found, then the boy said his brother might be at the P. R. R. depot and started to hunt him there. After detailing a boy to trail the suspect Mullen went back to Wetzel's to examine the wheel and had scarcely reached that place when the boy ran to him and told him that Allison had started down the P. R. R. tracks as fast as he could go. Lester Shefer, at Morris' pike quarries, was called and asked to look out for the fellow, meanwhile the officer jumped into a buggy and started in pursuit.

Shefer found him in the act of boarding a freight at the lime kilns and in offering to show him where he could get a drink of water lured him across the creek to the Central railroad side. He tried to detain him there until officer Mullen would arrive, Woodring became suspicious and went off on a run down the tracks. Then Shefer mounted his bicycle and started down the pike to head him off at the nail works, but when the fugitive saw that he was being pursued he jumped into the creek and swam to the other side and struck for the mountain. Shefer was not long in getting around there, so that he was close on his heels when he entered the woods near about where James Derr lives.

The race was becoming exciting and a score or more people who had been attracted by the mysterious actions of the two men were bringing up the rear. Over rocks and through laurel Woodring clambered as fast as possible until Shefer called to him to stop or he would shoot. This threat brought matters to a momentary crisis, but when Woodring saw that his pursuer did not have a gun he started off again. By a detour Shefer was able to head him and hold him up with a big stone and by that time Mullen was there and took him in charge.

When taken before justice Keichline, Woodring said that he had hired the wheel in Philipsburg to ride to Munson, but had decided to come on over here. He was remanded to jail, where he gave his name as Edward Woodring, but was quickly recognized as Allison Woodring, of near Port Matilda.

PROBABLY THE CATTLE THIEF.—Last Monday night three valuable cows were stolen from the barn of Jacob Woodring, two miles west of Port Matilda, and were driven on down to Bald Eagle, where the thief told them to Gus McClain, a dairyman, for $32. McClain described the man from whom he had bought the stolen cows as being rather slender, about 26 years old and wearing a light cap, black cheviot suit and black striped shirt. As the description tallies exactly to Woodring's appearance the police think he is the man who did that job. Mr. McMullen was sent for but did not get down here yesterday, as expected, so no identification has been made.

The bicycle is the property of a man by the name of Goss, of Philipsburg. He arrived here on the late train last evening and identified both the wheel and Woodring.

The police say that Woodring is wanted at Austin, Potter county, for forgery, for which crime constable Cowher, of Port Matilda, once had him under arrest, but was given the "slip."

A HINT FOR OUR VILLAGE IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY.—Over in Osceola they have hit upon an exceedingly original plan for beautifying the town and because of its originality and exceptional practicability we want to call the attention of our village improvement society to it. Every secret society represented in the town of Osceola has agreed to prepare a flower bed the design of which will, as nearly as possible, represent the emblem of the society, both in color and insignia. The result will be a number of beautifully laid out and diligently cared for flower beds that will tend to give the town an additional charm.

Such an idea would be splendid in Bellefonte. With the Knights Templar, Masons, Odd Fellows, Golden Eagles, P. O. S. of A., J. O. U. A. M., Heptasophs, Royal Arcanum, G. U. O. of F. and G. A. R., all capable of carrying out such an idea, just see how many localities could be beautified in the town. A friendly rivalry among the members of the various societies would guarantee that such flower beds would always appear to the best advantage, for each society would be ambitious to have the prettiest.

MURDER WILL OUT.—The local police are hard at work on a murder clue and if what they say is true this place might soon be shocked by the startling news of a horrible murder that they think was perpetrated in Bellefonte several years ago, but is just now leaking out.

Peach growing has proven a very profitable venture for those who have undertaken it in this section. The progressive farmer is the one who will succeed and to succeed you must watch the market and be up with it.

The Tyrone public schools opened, on Monday, with 1184 children present.

Benjamin Bloom, Curwensville's oldest citizen, died Sunday evening. Deceased was 85 years old.

Friday and Saturday, September 17th and 18th, will be naturalization days in the Clearfield county court.

When Clearfield consumers get behind in their payments to the steam heat company, in that town, the service is cut off from them.

The L. & T. railroad station at Poe Mills was buglarized, last Friday night, $9 in cash and a few water melons constituted the plunder.

Mrs. E. J. McKee, aged 67 years, died at her home, in Salona, on Sunday. Interment was made in Cedar Hill cemetery on Monday afternoon.

Tyrone's shoe factory, that Bellefonte might have had, is now under operation with fifty employees and turning out four hundred pairs of shoes a day.

If you want to buy a stylish suit or a stylish dress look on page 5. Lyon and Co. announce the arrival of some of their new goods. It will give you an idea of what to buy.

The case of Paul Koitsch Jr., accused of having murdered little Edna Crider, after having outraged her, has been continued until the January term of court in Clinton county.

Miss Snook, of Spring St., will be home from New York and Philadelphia, after Sept. 20th, and will do all kinds of dressmaking. Tailor made gowns a specialty. A share of your patronage is solicited.

Pierce Lingle, of Poe Valley, is the champion snake story man of the season. The other day he killed a catamount with a blow from a hatchet and followed it up by taking thirty live rattle snakes from the same den. Last Saturday he was out in the mountain looking for his cattle, when he saw a large blacksnake, but was unable to kill it with a shot from his gun. Then he converted the gun into a club and dispatched the nine foot monster just as it was about to coil about him for a fatal squeeze.

The story is told on a Tyrone minister, and we wouldn't like to tell which one of them, that a member of his congregation, by name Miss Helen Hunt, picked up a small bible that was lying in the aisle of the church, one Sunday morning, as she was hurrying out from service. As there was nothing in the book to indicate to whom it belonged she spoke to the pastor and suggested that he announce the fact of her find on the following Sunday. He did it in this way: "The person who dropped a small bible, in the fable cover, in the main aisle at last Sunday's service can go to Hel-on Hunt for it." Then he wondered why everyone smiled.

GOOD MUSIC AT THE PARK.—The Consolidated band's orchestra will have charge of the dancing pavilion at Hecla park tomorrow afternoon and evening and fine music for dancing will be furnished. There will be eight or ten pieces in the orchestra, with such soloists as Lemuel Beery, Frank Wetzler and Charley Rote playing.

The dancing will be conducted as it usually is and everyone of good character and behavior will have access to the floor.

FOOT BALLISTS IN TRAINING.—The Pennsylvania State College candidates for positions on the first eleven are down at Hecla park doing preliminary work and working the soreness out of them, preparatory to the beginning of the regular season. The men are tenting and are having a very good time. Every morning they work a little on the track, then practice quick starting and passing the ball and tackling on the dummy. After this is done they take a rub down and loaf the rest of the day.

Murray, Sholl, Curtin, Ruble, Heckle and Mechesney of last year's team are there and Randolph, Cartwright, Kewer and Miller are the new men who had reported up to yesterday.

John Emery is chef and James Thomas is the all around man of the camp.

THE BOROUGH SOLONS GO TOGETHER.—Council met, last Monday night, and there was a right fair representation present.

Mrs. Jonathan Harper was given permission to connect the drain pipe from Ler Thomas street property to the sewer running along that street.

The Street committee reported laying of several crossings along Logan street and the placing of a new arc light on east Howard street.

The Water committee reported repairs to No. 2 boiler at the works and stated that a new wall is being built around the spring. Council ordered the water works buildings repaired at an approximate cost of $250.

The Nuisance committee reported that the high constable is becoming a derelict and council moved to notify his bondsmen that he has not been doing his duty. Council decided to invite proposals for laying a board walk along the east side of Spring street, from Curtin to Fifth Ave., and also for removing the iron rail and widening the pavement at the Adams express office, on west High street.

After authorizing the payment of bills to the amount of $753.05 the session was adjourned.

AN UP-TO-DATE MINSTREL PERFORMANCE.—As a minstrel manager Hi Henry has always been popular in Bellefonte and that because an announcement of his appearance has invariably carried with it a guarantee of a clean, up-to-date attraction. With as clever a lot of musicians and black face artists as could have been desired he opened the season, at Garman's, on Friday night, and the "S. R. O." sign was out before the curtain rolled. It was an unusual condition for a Bellefonte play house at this time of the season but the great audience was highly pleased with everything from the opening overture to the last toot of Arthur Deming's horn in the concluding farce.

Among the members that aroused the audience to enthusiastic ecstasies were Harry Leighton's singing of "the Mother of the Girl I Love," a very pretty sentimental ballad that he sang with exceptional effect. Arthur Deming made a hit with "Don't you see the Love a Shinin' in my Eye." Deming is one of the best black face comedians in the business, having made a success of his work by his originality and unimitable ways. With a fine voice he sings all his songs away above the average for comedians and relies entirely on his conversational wit for his hits. Little Dan Allman isn't a member of the aggregation for nothing and he sang and danced his "Hot Stuff" until the whole house was in an uproar. John King's ten minute dancing specialties was possibly the most intricate and difficult combination of steps ever seen at Garman's and he earned the prompt recall that he got.

About the greatest drawing feature of the company is the band of twenty-five pieces. Minstrel bands are seldom half so large, but Mr. Henry is so prominent as a cornet virtuoso that he has made his organization about the finest one traveling and the impression it makes on the street must certainly have much to do with the business of the company.

The greatest all-around man with the company is J. Albert Gates, whose versatility seems to have no end. As press man we have never met a more gentlemanly nor affable one; as interlocutor no company needs a better; as a corneter he merited his share of the vigorous applause that followed his duet with Mr. Henry, but as an Alaska Indian—well, Gates wasn't made to play Indian parts. He would be all right for Santa Claus at a Sunday school Xmas entertainment and maybe he was all right as an Indian, after all, because it was a farce and his being Indian was about the funniest thing in it.

A PLEASING ATTRACTION COMING.—On Thursday evening, Sept. 16th, the people of Bellefonte and vicinity will have an opportunity of hearing a musical attraction such as is seldom secured for this place. The peerless Park sisters, cornet, trombone, zither, and musical novelty artists, will give one of their concerts for the benefit of the Lutheran church.

From press and pulpit they are pronounced remarkable in their performances and the New York Tribune but recently said: "The entertainment by the Misses Park was as refined and varied as it was attractive. Not only were they successful in delighting, but they completely aroused the audience to enthusiasm."

FAST WHEELMEN TO BE AT HECLA PARK TOMORROW.—Tomorrow being the occasion of the joint reunion of the Veterans associations of Centre and Clinton counties an unusual program has been prepared for the entertainment of those who go to the park.

For the Veterans there will be the regular business meeting at 10:30 a. m., when committees will be appointed and the treasurer of the association will report. After dinner the committees will report and addresses will be made by former State Senator A. F. Thompson, of Lykens, Gen. James A. Beaver, and others. At 3 o'clock there will be a dress parade and review by Gen. J. I. Curtin and Capt. G. T. Michaels.

While the Vets are having a good time among themselves there will be several ball games in the park. The teams from towns along the line of the rail-road are going to take advantage of the opportunity of contesting with one another on the park grounds.

The greatest event of the day will be the bicycle races that will be run during the afternoon. Six races in all will be run and some very fast riders will compete. The Central company has offered prizes to the amount of $150, among them being diamond rings, diamond studs and diamond pins. Bud Moore, of Williamsport, and Gestalder, of Allentown, will ride a three mile pursuit race. That is they will start at opposite sides of the track. The effect of this kind of racing is to make riders ride fast from the scratch. They cannot trail one another and leave it all for a spurt on the stretch.

Bud Moore will also ride for a track record.

THE LOCK HAVEN HOSPITAL OPEN.—The new hospital at Lock Haven was opened, on Tuesday afternoon, and the following staff of physicians appointed: Drs. Armstrong, Shoemaker and Furst, as the medical staff, and Drs. Watson, Hayes and Ball, as the surgical staff. Drs. Armstrong and Watson were appointed a committee on medical supplies.

The secretary was directed to send cards to physicians in the surrounding country announcing that the hospital is now open for the reception of patients and specify the terms, which are: Private rooms $10 and $15 per week, and wards $5 per week.

News Purely Personal.

Miss Lulu Smith, of Bishop street, is visiting her sister, Myrtle, in Tyrone.

Dr. Charles A. Wood was an arrival from Philadelphia, on Tuesday morning.

Miss Kate Hoover is going to Philadelphia to spend the winter with her father, O. L. Hoover.

Howard Verger, of Curwensville, a son of H. D. Verger, of this place, was in town on business yesterday.

Mr. Geo. Poorman, of Osceola Mills, was in town last night on the way to the funeral of his uncle Michael Gove, at Shiloh, this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. George Boal and his sister, Mrs. Barrons, of Washington, are in town enjoying their annual visit with friends and relatives.

Miss Mildred Aull, of Philadelphia, who had been visiting at the Richard's home, on east Linn street, for two weeks, returned to the city on Tuesday morning.

Miss Nan Collins, of Philadelphia, arrived in Bellefonte, Saturday evening, and is visiting her parents and aunt at the Collins and Shoemaker homes, north of town.

Miss Edith Otto, daughter of Mr. Hamilton Otto, of Lumb street, went to Niagara Falls, on Tuesday morning. She will spend some time with her grand-parents there.

Miss Myra Holliday, of Allegheny street, is home from Philadelphia for the winter. She arrived on Tuesday evening and has given up the idea of being a professional nurse.

Maurice Jackson spent Sunday with friends in Jersey Shore and after taking in the wheel races in Williamsport, on Labor day, returned to his duties in the bank, on Tuesday morning.

Agent Harry Hutchinson, of the P. R. R. passenger department in this place, is off on his annual vacation and Hot Springs, Arkansas, is the point at which he expects to have a good time.

Miss Mary and Henrietta Butts spent Sunday with their brother Walter, in Houtzdale. Mrs. Butts, her daughter, Mrs. R. F. Hunter, and the two children, are there for a month or six weeks.

Hannah G. Darlington, of Pocono, and her sister Catharine F. Michener, of London Grove, Chester county, near relatives of Col. William Shurtledge, are visiting at his home on Thomas street.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stevens and their little son, William, of Clearfield, are visiting Dr. and Mrs. Stevens, Harry, the other son, left Wednesday, for Carlisle, where he is an instructor in botany and natural sciences in Dickinson college.

Willis Knox, for a long time connected with Wilkinson's china hall, in this place, has gone to Painesville, Minn., where he expects to go into the insurance business with a friend. Ellis, a son of conductor John Hall, of the Central, has taken the place.

Mrs. James Pierpont and Mrs. Charles Calloway went down to Jersey Shore, on Tuesday morning, to spend a few days with Mrs. Jennie Brown. While there they will enjoy a stay at "the cabin," the rustic mountain resort of wealthy Jersey Shore people.

Archibald Allison is in Philadelphia attending the convention of the Pennsylvania miller's association. While Archie is not directly interested in the milling business several of his brothers are, and he takes this round-about excuse to get away to have a good time.

Will Walker, who has been spending two weeks' vacation with his brother John in this place, has gone back to Wilmington and work. He does Delaware, politics and all, for the Philadelphia Times and is perfectly capable of covering the ground, except on long distance runs.

Last Saturday Mr. Tom Collins returned home from Clifton Springs, where he had been seeing his sister, Miss Sarah, comfortably settled for a three week's stay. She has never fully recovered from the fall she had in the spring and is at the sanitarium for treatment for rheumatism.

Dave Ketley said good-bye to his friends here, on Saturday afternoon, and started back to his work in the custom house in Philadelphia. He is like some of the other good Democrats down there, only hanging on by his eyelids and, of course, walks straight as a die, but then Dave never walked any other way.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Clowes, of Richmond, Pa., are spending part of their honeymoon at Mrs. John M. Dale's a niece of the latter. Mrs. Clowes will be remembered as Mrs. Margaret Knowles, whose beautiful contralto voice has been heard several times in the Episcopal church and her husband, it is said, has one equally as pleasing.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Butts, of Holyoke, Mass., arrived in town, on Wednesday morning, and will visit friends here and at State College for a while. Ed is a civil engineer and is meeting with marked success. It is probable that he will soon transfer his business to New York, but his brother Fred will remain at Holyoke, where he is working his way right up in a large paper mill.

Jack Barnes, Philipsburg's crack athlete, was in town, on Tuesday night. He is thinking of taking a mining course at the Pennsylvania State College and if he concludes to enter he will make no candidate for a position behind State's football line this fall. He has been working in a silver mine at Gen. Idaho, but he will enter College again and complete a course in mining engineering.

The party of Bellefonters who had been traveling in Europe for eleven weeks this summer returned, on Tuesday night, all in the best of health and thoroughly delighted with their trip.

Miss Blanche Mitchell, Miss Hary Hendrickson and Miss Blanche Hayes came home, Tuesday night, having landed in New York early that morning. Miss Caroline Orvis remained part of the day with her sister, Mrs. Canfield, at Jenkintown, and got here Wednesday morning.

Joseph J. Rhoads, Mrs. Rhoads and their baby boy are in Bellefonte for a three weeks' stay at the home of Mrs. Daniel Rhoads, on west Linn street. Joe is another of the Bellefonte boys who have worked themselves up to good positions by faithfulness in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad. He is assistant superintendent of the Amboy division, P. R. R., with his office at Bordentown, N. J., though he resides at Burlington.

Paul Gerhart, who is one of the best mandolin and guitar players the town has ever had and who has done so much, in the last few years, to keep alive the musical interest in the community, has gone to Mercersburg to accept a position on the staff of instructors in the college at that place. The school has always made its department of music a leading feature and Mr.

Gerhart will have charge of the stringed instruments and glee club.

Mrs. J. H. Myers and her daughter, Mabel, who have been visiting at Mrs. Bush's for a week left yesterday, for Lock Haven and Pittston, where they will visit for some weeks before returning to their home in Rochester, N. Y. Mr. Myers and Dr. Oscar are on the way to the Klondyke and the last letter received from them was written five miles or thirty-six hours out of Skagway. Their descriptions of the country are much like Joaquin Miller's but they really are having an easier time than the old port-traveler. Their four horses are in good condition and so far have been able to carry the provision.

Miss Mary E. DeVilling, whose success as disbursing clerk of the Valentine iron company was so evident that she was tendered several good positions before it was definitely known that the furnace would close down, left yesterday, for Glen Richey, Clearfield county. There she has accepted a position with the Bloomington coal company, one of the biggest corporations in the Clearfield region. Mary was with the iron company for eleven years and her friends are a little proud of the fact that it was the woman of the concern who got the first good position, and that without seeking.

Chas. A. McLaughlin and his youngest daughter, Miss Elizabeth, were in town, on Monday. They came down from home at Snow Shoe Intersect to spend the day shopping. Charley does not get home often for he is employed at Wintburn and he had not been over since last April. Miss Elizabeth is a bright looking young girl, with hair and eyes as black as night and almost as tall as her father. Mr. McLaughlin has been thirty years in the employ of Somerville and Co., and is now weigh-lose at their mines. His unimpeachable integrity and good nature make him an exceptional man among men and the fact of his having been in the employ of one firm for so long a period attests his usefulness and honesty.

The Kemp manure spreader will work both manure and lime at the Granger's picnic next Wednesday. It will be operated by Mr. James Thompson, of Centre Furnace.

HARRY WEAVER A FLYER.—Harry Weaver, the 17 year old son of Mr. J. C. Weaver, of Penn state, this place, promises to become a wheelman of more than ordinary speed. He has been riding very fast this year and at the Williamsport races, on Monday, he won the half-mile handicap from Krick, the amateur champion of the State, and took third place in the mile open with such riders as Gestalder, Moore, Speaker and Krick riding. The first prize was a $55 diamond ring.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Following is the list of marriage licenses granted by orphan's court clerk, G. W. Rumberger, during the past week.

Temple G. Cruse, of Bellefonte, and Loda E. Musser, of Millheim.

Orlando Bryan and Laura B. Gingham, both of Boggs township.

Frank L. Wagner, of Boggs township, and E. Fannie Adams, of Milesburg.

Fred R. Adams, of Philipsburg, and Sara E. Smith, of Keystone Hill, Clearfield county.

Claudis Peters, of Union township, and Lillie McKelvey, of Huston township.

William C. Hipple, of Pine Glen, and Lydia Agnes Spangler, of Tusseyville.

Harry E. McClintock, of Boggs township, and Elizabeth H. Cole, of Zion.

Charles Boyer and Maggie McGinley, both of Julian.

Curtis V. Wagner, of Benner township, and Margaret Bates, of Pine Glen.

Miles Zimmerman, of Pine Glen, and Rachel J. Johnston, of Altoona.

Lewis W. Dorman and Saneta A. Yearick, both of Bellefonte.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Edward P. Irvin, the well known hardware man, and Miss Margaret Galbraith, of near Tyrone. The wedding is to be a home affair on the 16th. We have always claimed Ed. as one of our boys and wondered at his marked preference for Tyrone, where he manages the Love & Irvin hardware store. But the question is solved and we wish him good luck, for he is deserving of happiness and contentment.

Mr. Temple G. Cruse, of this place, and Miss Loda E. Musser, the charming daughter of W. S. Musser, of Millheim, surprised their many friends, last Thursday night, by being quietly married. The ceremony was performed at the home of Dr. Laurie, of the Presbyterian church, the groom's sister, Miss Mary, and Kline Woodring being the only witnesses.

The engagement of Miss Blanche Johnson, of the telephone exchange, and Walter Crosthwaite has been announced. The wedding is to be solemnized in two weeks and the young people will make their home in Brooklyn, where Walter has been working for several years.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of John Anderson Jr. and Miss Amelia Bigelman both of this place. It will be celebrated at the parish house of St. John's Catholic church, on Thursday, the 16th, at 8 o'clock, p. m.

James Thompson will exhibit the working of the Kemp manure spreader at the Granger's picnic, next Wednesday and Thursday.
