Joseph Fox Sr., was born in Kings county, parrish of Durrow, Ireland, Feb. 15th. 1844. When a youth he emigrated to this country and learned the trade of carpenter-Robert Foster, at Centre Furnace, for years. He went to the war with Capt. Foster and it was Joe Fox who picked his dead officer up in the wheat field at Gettysburg, and afterwards made a coffin and buried him the service, June 1st, 1865, after having man who knew not fear through all the pursuit of a private life.

After his return from the war he married Nason's camp, on Six Mile run, last week | Miss Mary Cooney, who survives him. Seven didn't get a sign of a deer. Mifflin county. It has been a long time since the death of an individual has caused the excitement in Bellefonte that this one did. Not so much from the manner in which it occurred, but because Joseph Fox was a man whom nearly everyone knew. For years builders and only the day before his death had he finished a contract for the beautiful Nittany country club house at Hecla. He was a determined man in the right, and knew not a middle ground. The members of Gregg post attended the services in a body. Among the floral contributions was a beautiful cross from the Nittany rod and gun club, other designs from Gov. Hastings, Col. Spangler and intimate friends of the deceased.

EMANUEL PLETCHER.—On Friday morn ing about 10 o'clock, Mr. Emanuel Pletcher, of Howard, died from a complication of diseases. He was a soldier of the late war and a respected member of Grove Bro's Post. Deceased was 66 years, 11 months Mrs. Amelia Smith, of Penns-valley, and 12 days old. Funeral services were held, Sunday morning, at his residence, and interment was made in the Schenck cemetery. Rev. A. P. Wharton, pastor of the M. E. church, of Howard, officiated.

He leaves one son, Edward, of Brooklyn, three sisters, Miss Sarah and Mrs. Annie Peters, of Howard, Mrs. Wetzler, of Milesburg, and one brother, Joseph, of Eagleville. Mr. Pletcher was a veteran of the their sixth annual Thanksgiving ball, in civil war, having served under Curtin from August, 1861, to August, 1864.

> MRS. NICHOLAS CONFER.-On Sunday morning Mrs. Nicholas Confer, of Howard, died from the effects of asthma which had developed several months before her death. Deceased was born at Romola, this county, in 1855, and was 42 years old. Her maiden name was Mary Uhl and she was very well known in the community in which she lived, previous to her marriage to Nicholas Confer. Funeral services were held, Tuesday morning, in the German Reformed church in Romola. Rev. William Runkle, of Zion, having officiated. Her husband and several children survive her.

-C. W. Gray, of Tyrone, is having more than his share of trouble, it would seem. For ten long weeks he has been lythere. His first enlistment was made April ing seriously ill with a severe attack of 22nd, 1861, and he was mustered out of typhoid fever which was finally broken but without any change for the better. served with a brilliancy and daring that Mr. Gray now suffers from stomach troubmore than once called forth the plaudits of le and there is little, if any, hope for his his superiors. It seems strange that this recovery. Added to the illness of their father, the two sons, Donald and Paul, are perils of fifty-two engagements should have both confined to their beds with typhoid met such a shocking death in the peaceful fever, but their condition is not considered dangerous.

-The residents of Verona, the home of many of the employees of the Valentine iron works, are having their own troubles, now-a-days. The little village is perched high and dry on top of the hill, east of the works, and no cisterns, wells, or natural water supplies were thought of when it was built. The water for the residents was pumped up in pipes from the iron works, but now that the plant is stopped the water is stopped, also, and those people have to carry their water from the creek, nearly a quarter of a mile distant.

-Rev. Sam Jones, of Carterville, Ga., will tell the public school teachers of the county how to "get there" and "stay there," on Tuesday evening, Dec. 14th. Sam is what some people would call a "peach" and if he doesn't talk from experience when he tells the people how to "get there" then we are mistaken in our estimate of his success. Jones is a celebrity whom everyone should hear and Eli Perkins, the funny man, is another with whom several hours could be very profitably spent. He will be here to lecture during institute week.

A RARE TREAT.—Milesburg people and their neighbors have been enjoying a rare treat this week in the series of lectures and musicals given in the new Methodist dance. church at that place.

Dr. D. S. Monroe delivered the first of the course, on Tuesday evening. His subject was, "Wanted, a Man" and although the rain fell in torrents he had a fairly good house. On Wednesday evening a musical was given under the direction of L. B. Eddy and last evening Rev. M. L. This, Friday, evening another musical will be given under the leadership of L. B. Eddy. Bierly Bros.' orchestra will furnish nuch of the music and that, alone, insures it to be a first class entertainment and well worth hearing. Their music is always up to a high standard and a great pleasure to music lovers.

Saturday evening Bishop Bowman, the enior bishop of the Methodist church, will lecture on "My Observations in India, the Country and People." Very likely this is the last opportunity the people of this community will ever have of hearing Bishop Bowman lecture, as he has retired from active work and his health is far from robust. THE SECOND OF THE THREE HIGHWAY-MEN IN JAIL .- Last Friday evening Capt. Harry Simler arrived in Philipsburg with the second one of the trio of highwaymen parade, three squares long, was formed and who made it so exciting for half a dozen or more men on the road to Morrisdale, on the night of Oct. 20th. His prisoner was James Lee, the big negro desperado whom hotel and made a decided hit with the fine he had afterwards shot on the streets of Tyrone, while attempting to arrest him.

Lee was arraigned before justice Houck, in Chester Hill, who held him in $1000 bail for his appearance at court. Of course he got no bondsmen and was taken to the Clearfield jail that night.

Lee, at the hearing, had nothing to say except the plea of "not guilty" with the additional remark that he would have his say in court. He is still very weak from the effect of the bullet wound received during his attempt to escape from Captain Simler on the occasion of his arrest at Tyrone. He was conveyed to and from the squire's office in a cab. He had been in the Altoona hospital ever since being shot.

-Walter W. Bayard, representing Henry K. Wampole & Co., a large Philadelphia drug house, spent Sunday with his parents in this place. -Judge Cyrus Gordon, of Clearfield, has been olding court in this place this week. Mrs. Gordon and their youngest son joined him here, on Wednesday evening. -John McWilliams, of Fairbrook, a son of G. W. McWilliams Esq., was in town last Saturday. He is one of the successful young teachers in Ferguson township. -Mr. John F Miller, of Potters Mills, was in town on Wednesday and made an agreeable call at this office. Though we were unfortunate enough to have missed him he left a reminder of his visit, one of the kind that always makes an impression, you know. -R. B. Bartges, of Centre Hall, was in town during the fore-part of the week looking after his interest in some litigation that was pending in court. Mr. Bartges is a pleasant young man and is rated as being one of Potter township's most energetic young farmers.

-D. A. Grove, of Lemont, spent Tuesday ir town on business relating to the settlement of his lamented father's estate. We imagine that man as practical and careful as the late Michael Grove must have left his affairs in such condition that it would be a pleasure, as well as valuable instruction, to close them up.

-Chester A. Moore, of Howard, the bright young son of H. A. Moore and the WATCHMAN'S voungest regular correspondent, was in town b ween trains on Tuesday. He had come up this far with his aunt, Mrs. John Bolieau, who was starting for her home in Missoula, Mon., after a wo year's visit with friends in this county.

-Dr. Thomas Orbison, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday with his friends in this place. He had just parted company with the Bucknell foot-ball team the night before. He had been training the Lewisburgers for their game with State and while he necessarily felt a little chagrined over their bad long. -W. Galer Morrison returned from the Uni versity hospital, on Saturday morning, without having undergone an operation for the relief of his hip trouble. Mr. Morrison went to the city for that purpose, but when the specialists examined him they found that his chances for recovery without an operation were about as good as with one, so he came back home. He has been better since his return and we trust that the improvement will continue. -Harry P. Bush is home again from one of his long trips looking well as ever, but terribly sedate, and no wonder, for he is just back from a year in the mountains of South America and has all his arrangements made to start to the Klondyke in February. He is really Bellefonte's greatest traveler and like Mark Twain has no intention of lodging neath a log 'til the moss grows. He was in Alaska in 189 and at that time traveled over the famous Chilkoot-Pass, since then he has nined for gold in Arizona, traveled through Mexico and Central America and been twice to South America where he has spent four years, overseeing big mahogany cutting enterprises for a Philadelphia firm.

> GORED BY A VICIOUS BULL-John Sampsell, a young farmer who lives on the Shugert farm, west of Pleasant Gap, had a thrilling experience with a vicious bull last Friday. He was watering his stock and had turned all of the cattle out to drink, leaving the bull until last, because it was so cross.

> When the other animals had been put back into the stable Mr. Sampsell went for the bull and led it out by means of a stout rope that was fastened to a heavy ring in its nose. The great brute walked quietly enough to the water, but had no sooner drank its fill than, with a vicious toss of its head, it made a dash at the man. He was knocked down at the first charge, then the bull began to gore him with its horns. His calls for help finally brought his wife and daughter to the scene. Armed with pitch forks they began prodding the bull on both sides and back and finally tormented it into leaving its fallen victim and charging on them. The women then flew to a place of safety and Mr. Sampsell dragged himself into the pig pen, near by. When he was gotten into the house it was found that his collar bone was broken and that his arm was fractured; besides having suffered numerous bruises and cuts. Dr. Fisher reduced the fractures and he is resting as easy as could be expected now. He was able to be about yesterday.
