P. GRAY MEEK.

The Message and the Money Question

The public are naturally interested in the treatment which the President will give the currency in his message next week. How will he handle a matter of such great moment to the country? Will he be decided in his recommendations of the measures that should be passed by Congress in regard to the currency, or will he be evasive in what he shall have to say on that subject?

It is not difficult to conceive what President McKinley's party inclinations are in this matter. The influence that controls the Republican organization strongly favors the most extreme policy of the goldites. The banks, the corporations and the trusts, which contributed the means to elect Mc-KINLEY, are arraved under the gold standard. All the monopolies, that constitute the strongest element in the Republican organization, have a fellow feeling for the gold monopoly. The entire force of tariff beneficiaries are gold-bugs. The plutocracy, which supplies the Republican party with its most powerful supporters are as a unit for the gold standard of value as the surest basis of their wealth.

All these influences, so closely connected with his party and associated with his political life, would naturally incline the President to decisive expressions in favor of the most extreme gold monometallism; but he is conscious that a majority of the people are in favor of free silver. He knows that a large element in his own party are not favorable to the gold policy of Wall street. The great vote for BRYAN last year, and the popular expression in this year's elections convince him that the popular sentiment inclines to the money of Eli Perkins. the constitution.

Between two such opposite influences Mr. McKinley is not the kind of a man to Dr. Anna Shaw, Philadelphia. take a determined position, and it may be expected that his expressions in regard to the currency will be so lacking in decision as to be of a shuffling character.

COURT PROCEEDINGS FOR THE WEEK-GILHAM GOES TO THE PEN .- Court convened in regular session, on Monday morning. Eighteen grand jurors reported to their names and Daniel H. Rote, of Aaronsburg, was made foreman. The only cases of much interest that occupied the time of the court were the following:

A. F. Harter vs G. P. Garrett. This case was brought to recover on some pieces of planing mill machinery, which the plaintiff alleged the defendant bought from him for $20, and which the defendant alleged he bought from Clark Gramley, the agent for the plaintiff, and the defendant produced a check showing that he had paid Mr. Gramley for the same pieces of machinery. Verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $20.75.

Commonwealth vs Edward Woodring, indicted for larceny by bailee, prosecutor, H. J. Goss. Mr. Goss, who is a bicycle dealer at Philipsburg hired a wheel to the defendant to ride to Blue Ball, in Clearfield county, on the 7th day of last Sepbut instead he came to Bellefonte where he tried to sell the wheel at such a figure that it at once put the bicycle dealers here on inquiry, which resulted in young Woodring's arrest. After hearing some of the evidence on the part of the Commonwealth, the defendant changed his plea from not guilty to that of guilty.

Commonwealth vs Edward Woodring, indicted for larceny, prosecutor, Jacob Woodring. The defendant drove some of the prosecutor's cattle off last September and sold them to a man in Blair county. Defendant plead guilty. Clark McC. Gramley vs Adam F. Harter.

Suit brought to recover balance on bo Verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $62.53.

Lazarus Moyer vs John Erb. The defendant confessed judgment in favor of the plaintiff for $65 with stay of execution for thirty days. J. H. Reifsnyder vs J. A. McClain. This suit was brought to recover on a promissory note. Verdict in favor of the plaintiff for Daniel Long vs The Central R. R. Co. of Penna. This suit was brought to recover the value of a steer killed by the defendant company on the 23rd day of June last. Verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $18. Commonwealth vs Louis Doll Jr., charge, petrayal; prosecutrix Agnes M. Boal. The defendant plead guilty and was sentenced to pay $40 lying in expenses and the costs of prosecution, the child being dead.

Commonwealth vs Ollie Orbison, indicted for betrayal, prosecutrix Maggie Harding. The defendant plead guilty and received the usual sentence in such cases at the hands of the court. THE HOWARD TOWNSHIP TAX COLLECTOR

ON TRIAL. Commonwealth vs. Joseph Casselberry, indicted for embezzlement in four counts. First, embezzlement of school taxes; second, embezzlement of road taxes; third embezzlement of poor taxes; and for the embezzlement as collector of Howard township; prosecutors J. K. Leathers, Samuel B. Leathers and H. J. Pletcher, three of his bondsmen. The case was called for trial at four o'clock, and the Commonwealth was represented by district attorney William J. Singer, W. F. Reeder and J. C. Meyer, and Mr. Casselberry was represented by E. R. Chambers and ex-judge A. O. Furst. The Commonwealth offered the records of the appointments of Mr. Casselberry as collector for the year 1893, and also offered the election returns of the third Tuesday of February, 1894, showing that Mr. Casselberry had been duly elected tax collector, of Howard township, for the ensuing three years. At the close of the testimony for the Commonwealth, the court held the evidence was not sufficient to warrant a conviction, as the statute of limitations had began to run, as the suit had not been brought within two years from the time the settlement should have been had, the case went to the jury on the question of costs. Verdict dividing the costs equally between the defendant and the prosecutors.

Commonwealth vs. Jesse Wert, Austin Wert and Seymour Royer, indicted for illegal fishing; prosecutor W. L. Goodhart. Jesse Wert was not arrested, and the indietment was quashed on motion of counsel for defendants.

THE GILHAM SHOOTING CASE. Commonwealth vs. Samuel Gilham, indicted on three counts, -first count assault and battery; second, aggravated assault
