and battery; third, assault with intent to kill; prosecutor Ira B. Howe. This case grew out of the shooting affray at the Pennsylvania R. R. station, at Philipsburg, on the evening of the 15th day of October, 1897, when Mr. Gilham attempted to kill his wife. The defendant plead guilty to the third count in the indictment, and the Commonwealth entered a nolle prosequi as to the other two counts in the indictment. The court desiring to know the facts in the case, the defendant was sworn and stated that he was twenty-six years old and that he was married to Nora Moriarity, of Hawk Run, Clearfield county, five years ago last April; that they were living at Shamokin for the past fourteen months or so. That his wife had threatened to poison him, and also made a lot of statements in reference to his wife that are not fit to publish, none of which seem likely, under the facts of the case. That his wife left him on the 19th day of June last and they had a girl about three years old. He said, he did not intend to kill his wife, only to disfigure her face. Wanted to shoot off her nose.

Nora Gilham was then sworn, and stated that she had been living with her husband at Shamokin, and that she left him on the 19th of June last, on account of the cruel treatment she was receiving at the hands of her husband. That the only child liv-ing was a girl three years old, September last, and denied in toto the statements made by Mr. Gilham, and offered to submit herself to any doctor for an examination and prove her statements. She declared she had not killed her child. That the defendant came to her father's home in July last and attempted to take away her daughter, and when she remonstrated with him he drew a revolver on her and threatened to shoot. That she had not kept company with any man since she left him, nor before, and that she had always been a true wife to him, but that he was extremely jealous. That she went to the Mountain house, at Osceola, to live on the 16th day of August last. Lived there until the 16th day of October when she received a telephone message to come to Hawk Run, that her husband was there and wanted to see her. She came from Osceola to Philipsburg, and met her husband at the Pa. R. R. station. He asked her to go home with him and they would live together, and she refused. He proposed that they walk to Hawk Run, a distance of three miles, to her parent's home, she refused as the train was due to go there. She was afraid to walk down with him

All the time he was talking to her he had his hand in hip pocket. He caught her by the arm and shot her, the ball entering her head near the left temple, just over the cheek bone, and came out in her right cheek. Some one laid her on a seat in the ladies waiting room in the station. She was then taken to Mr. Parker's book store and from there to the Cottage hospital. She saw the flash of the revolver when he in Parvin, on Sunday. held it up, and jerked her head to one side. She has considerable pain in her head and the sight of her right eye is nearly gone. There were quite a number of witnesses in court ready and willing to testify, but the Court thought they had all the facts necessary and sentenced Gil-ham to pay a fine of one dollar, costs of on and to the penitentiary for five years and four months, within one year and a month of the limit of the law.
