Work for Tramps.

A Farm in Every Township Suggested as a Remedy for the Nuisance—Pillories Will Not Do. The farmers of Chester county have a county institute at which they gather and compare views and make suggestions—a very excellent practice, indeed, and one that perhaps accounts for the high reputation of the farming interest in that county, says the Philadelphia "North American." But at the meeting of the institute held a few days ago themes were varied and discussion took a wide range. One of the speakers advocated the passage of a general law for the suppression of the tramp nuisance. This he proposed to effect by the erection of whipping-posts and pillories in every township, giving justices of the peace jurisdiction and the disposal of all cases under the tramp act, and to cause to be publicly whipped all persons found guilty of professional vagrancy. No doubt this idea found favor among the farmers, who have been great sufferers by the tramp nuisance. It is said that the farmers in the counties around the large cities and populous towns are deterred from proceeding against tramps through fear of incendiarism, and that they would favor any plan that would put the responsibility upon the legal authorities. It is not difficult to understand that if to repeat such invasions and refuse to be robbed daily involves the loss of barns and crops, as well as costly farming machines, by fire, it is no wonder that the farmers favor more authoritative measures by the authorities.

But whipping-posts and pillories are not in harmony with modern civilization, nor were they in the old time effective remedies. The whipping-post is a relic of barbarism, and the pillory becomes a farce on the slightest provocation. These relic punishments are not the remedy for the tramp nuisance. That can be suppressed only by applying the real punishment of compulsory labor, which, to the professional tramp, is punishment forte et dure. The professional tramp is not such because the means of gaining an honest living are denied him. He is a vagabond by free and selected choice. The genus exists because of a revolt against labor. There is work for all who honestly seek it at some time in their lives. Such persons cannot plead that the opportunity to seek work is denied them because of the existence of dependent families, who cannot be left to shift for themselves while the breadwinner goes in search of work. It is a part of their vocation to roam about the country. They have no families and no particular habits. They are deadbeats and bummers, nomads from choice and because the healthful discipline of labor is onerous. They have no reputable associations, because they do not enjoy such an environment. The proper way to get rid of such persons and to teach them the value of labor is to give them a chance to work where he will work when he has a chance shall have the chance, and he who does not intend to avail himself of a chance to work shall be arrested and put to work whether he will or not.

It would pay every township to have a farm, the improvement of which in various ways, as well as by extensive tillage, could be made to employ every professional vagrant. The term of service could be fixed, and the release of such persons could be made the rigid conditions that he should leave the township or, refusing to take himself beyond the lines, to be rearrested and made to work double time. Such persons would comply with the conditions and seek a more favorable pasture. In every township had such a farm, the professional would find work wherever he might go, and the place that he once knew would know him no more. Pennsylvania would be free of the tramp nuisance in a few years were the tramps compelled to work their passage to some parish of tramps beyond its borders. As for barn-burning—that need not deter the people from uniting to suppress the miscreants who indulge such revenge. We have only considered the professional because the moderate number who would be glad to work can be provided for without treating them as confirmed vagabonds. If nothing better can be done, put the professional at work breaking stones along the roads that need such improvement. Work, not whipping-posts and pillories, is the real remedy for the tramp nuisance. Make laws to enforce work, if none exist, and the work will be well begun.

Wealthy, But in Want.

An Aged Recluse Found Perishing From Cold and Hunger—Worth $50,000 and Owns 300 Acres. Sole owner of 300 broad acres of the most valuable land in the county, and $50,000 in cash to her credit in the banks, Mrs. Elizabeth Winnard, an aged recluse, who has lived all her life near Barr's Mills, eight miles west of Dover, O., was found lying almost in the fire and in an unconscious condition and almost dead for lack of the bare necessities of life. She is about 70 years old, and since she inherited the farm, many years ago, she has lived alone on the big farm, caring for many head of cattle and horses and doing whatever farm work there was to be done. Her penury and the misery and squalor in which she lived have been a source of comment the whole country over. It is supposed that she got up during the night to tend the fire and became unconscious from exhaustion and cold. She must have lain on the floor scantily clad for 12 hours at least. In the event of her death there is much speculation as to what disposition will be made of her vast fortune, as she has no immediate relatives living.

Mormons Aggressive.

That the Mormon leaders are putting forth renewed energy in order to gain converts, that missionaries of the Mormon faith are in all of our States, and that success, in a measure, is crowning their efforts, are facts that alert Christian men and women can no longer ignore. Three elders from the Mormon church, who are now at Fort Worth, Tex., report that there have been 10,000 conversions to their faith during the past year, 2,500 of these being in the Southern States, and that a majority of all are native Americans. "Mormonism," writes a Mormon elder, "has attained good success in the East. Our power is felt, and we are gaining slow but sure foothold. Our elders use only evangelical methods of conversions, relying wholly on the Bible. The Mormon Bible is used incidentally for the divine history of the historic people of this continent."

The Body Recovered.

Remains of Little Percy Lockyer Found in a Creak. Another Boy is Locked Up—It is Suspected that Samuel Henderson, Aged 15 Years, Murdered him On Friday Night of Last Week—The Crime a Horrible One.

PHILADELPHIA, January 16.—The body of five-year-old Percy Lockyer, who is believed to have been murdered on Friday night by 15-year-old Samuel Henderson, was to-day found in the bottom of "Reddies" creek, Sixtieth and Catharine streets, and there seems little doubt in the minds of the police that young Henderson is guilty of the crime. He is now locked up in police headquarters. The body of the child, when found, was weighted by two heavy stones, one about his neck and the other around his ankles. His skull was crushed in and there was a knife thrust just above the heart and similar wounds on his breast, side and forehead, while on one side of his face was a long cut extending from below the eye to the chin. From what the police have been able to learn the crime seems to have been one of the most horrible character, and if all its details are true its stamps young Henderson as a degenerate of the worst type. He does not seem to realize the enormity of his crime. Yesterday after his arrest he admitted knowledge of the knife thrust, but said it was due to the child accidentally running against an open knife. Henderson became alarmed at this and said he threw the boy into the creek. To-day, however, he seems to realize the enormity of his crime.
