

similar to that made by a hollow leather punch, the spout and can adhering to the hand until shaken off in an effort to gain footing by the struggling man. The injured member is doing as well as can be expected.

Dr. John F. Alexander and Miss Lillie Allison will be married Thursday, March the 2nd at Potters Mills, the home of the bride in the presence of the immediate families of the parties concerned. The bride is a daughter of William Allison, Esq., deceased, and sister of Hon. William Allison and Edward Allison, the latter residing on the homestead at Potters Mills. She is a lady widely known and belongs to a coterie of the best class in the interior of the state. The groom is a well-known physician who has practiced his profession at this place for a number of years, and during that time has enjoyed the confidence of the masses as a professional man and stood and stands to-day in the highest ranks socially. After the nuptials are over the bridal party will proceed on a honeymoon journey. The couple have the best wishes of the entire community for a long, happy and prosperous life. And so may it be.

Al Osman was found in happy dream-land on the turn pike near the watering trough between the top of Nittany mountain and Pleasant Gap, by W. A. Curry one night last week. Al had been to Bellefonte and on the way home something happened to the horse and buggy that separated the top and seat from the buggy he was driving. The horse took the running gears of the buggy home, and when the discovery of this condition of the vehicle became apparent to Mr. Curry, he at once proceeded to look for the occupant somewhere along the road. No traces were found until the spot above designated was reached, where Osman was peacefully slumbering, and "further he saith not."

At the election Tuesday the full Democratic ticket was elected in both the borough and township. There was some little cutting done in the borough but the returns showed a fairly even return. The election in the township was poorly attended by the Democrats.

The report of the Bellefonte correspondent to the city dailies in regard to the Runkle hold-up was highly colored. The correspondent simply exaggerated as unprincipled correspondents often do and thus impose upon the public. If all the news in the Philadelphia dailies is as grossly misrepresented by its authors as the item referred to and nearly every other dispatch of which the writer of this article has personal knowledge, city dailies do not warrant the support given them by the masses. It is simply an outrage and imposition to send news from the county seat to be heralded abroad when there is no more foundation for its truth than in the cases where items of news were dispatched from this section. The truth is only questioned here, but the character of news sent out is also disreputable.

This incident is what caused the Runkle tragedy (?) referred to in another paragraph. Runkle undoubtedly came upon the scene about the time of the Osman smash up, which frightened his horse and caused the animal to wheel about and run in the opposite direction, giving the driver no time to investigate what had really happened.

There are a number of fake hold-ups recorded to have taken place on this mountain road, but within the past generation or two none of these reports are given any credence, and some voted by public opinion as having been manufactured by the party whose life and limb were put in jeopardy for sheer sympathy.

THE REASON WHY!

You should insure your life in the

GRAND OLD UNION MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE CO.

—OF—
PORTLAND, MAINE.

It is a purely Mutual company and the money belongs to its policy holders.

No Purely Mutual Life Insurance Company ever Failed.

Its policy is one of liberality to its policy holders. It is contestable after one year and non-forfeitable after three years from date. It gives a grace of thirty days time in the payment of all premiums after the first year.

It is the only company doing business under the Maine non-forfeiture law. A law which compels the company to protect the policy holder to the full extent of the legal reserve after three payments have been made.

It loans money to its policy holders on their policies, after three payments have been made, at 5% interest.

It is a company doing business for the benefit of its policy holders and you will always be satisfied if you have a policy in the old Union Mutual Life.
