

and afterward a complication of diseases set in. The babe's life is greatly in danger. Gust Miller, of Mill Hall, brother of Jerry Miller, is also in a precarious condition from consumption.

The teacher's local institute, announced in this column last week, will be held in the Methodist church Friday and Saturday of this week. The program promises to be interesting and the exercises should be well attended. Dr. Colfelt's lecture will be especially interesting on Friday night. Because the lecture is free, does not indicate that the entertainment will be accordingly. The doors are open simply because no suitable place to hold the lecture with closed doors could be secured.

The Jersey cow is coming into prominence in the eastern market. Heretofore the farmer despised the little Jersey, no matter how superior for milk and butter, but she is winning the friends here that she has long attracted in other parts of the world on account of her superior worth for dairy purposes. This paragraph appears because of the fact that D. J. Meyer, one of the local cow-buyers here, has been ordered to purchase a half dozen bovines of the breed referred to.

Our correspondent was handed the following: May the path-way of life be as bright and happy as last Tuesday evening, when Samuel Corl, of State College, called on Rev. W. W. Rhoads for a violin that had been in his possession a few weeks for repairs. Mr. Corl, however, was not alone as had taken with him to prove property Mrs. Mary E., the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Seibert, of near Bellefonte, Samuel can not just all how but before he left the parsonage he had become the proud possessor of both. In his happy manner he drove to Daniel Rouser's, a short distance from town where his wife and violin were both introduced. He is a fine musician and noted for his musical talent. He recommends Rev. Rhoads' work very much. Mr. Corl is to be congratulated upon winning so fine a help-mate. May prosperity ever attend them and trouble never halt at their door.

A horse buyer from the East landed here at the beginning of this week and is gathering up a car of cheap horses—$5 and up. Such a buyer is a god-send, as it relieves the country of some of its cheap horse-flesh that monthly consumes in feed stuffs their value on the market. Good, all around horses are bringing fair prices, but too low to tempt the average farmer into the old method of annually breeding one or more colts. Good judgment is displayed here. In these days, when only the best horse brings a remunerative figure at five or six years of age, it is folly for the inexperienced horse-breeder to waste his time and feed on a product that only stands one chance in fifty of being marketed with profit. Horse breeding is an art understood by few, that is at least from a financial standpoint, and the sooner the general farmer acquaints himself with this fact the sooner his efforts will be rewarded. The old practice of breeding and the style of animal bred are probably do for the breeder's own use, but for the market never. In short, the common horse is all right, "but he won't do."

On the 22nd Dr. Ward, of Bellefonte, was a passenger on the midnight special in order to get an early start the next day. A reunion at his uncle Simon's was his objective point and from all reports he got there in time to be one of the chief actors.

Our old time messmate Jerry Ewing is evidently preparing for war in time of peace. He thinks he can muster in one hundred men on 24 hours notice at Charter Oak and as he faced many a shot and shell in the late unpleasantness, he knows what it means. He has advertised all his stock and implements for sale, on the 15th, at Charter Oak, in order to be ready for the call.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY.—On Feb. 23rd, Simon Ward celebrated his seventy-second birthday. Few men are more highly esteemed and the celebration was the voluntary offering of his family and friends. Neighbors and relatives to the number of sixty assembled at the home of his son-in-law John Boop and at 12 o'clock marched over in a procession to Mr. Ward's. He met them at the gate and gave them a most hearty welcome, referring touchingly to his advancing years and thanking them all for their presence. A splendid dinner was served and from the way Sam Irvin and some of the others ate it was fully appreciated. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in social intercourse and games and the occasion was altogether successful. Mr. Ward is a carpenter by trade, who can point with pride to many of the better buildings of the valley and a number of good buildings in Georgia and Tennessee, where he worked for some years. He is a staunch, loyal Democrat and his home at Baileyville is always ready for guests. True he has not lived without having some troubles but they have been few in comparison to his blessings. He received some very pretty and useful gifts and the good wishes of the entire community for many more anniversaries of his birthday.

Books, Magazine Etc.

The Catbury for March has two articles on the gold-fields of the Northwest. Mr. John Sidney Webb writes of "The River Trip to the Klondyke," giving many illustrations from photographs. The Alaska Commercial company made application for the establishment of a postal route along the Yukon river, and last summer it sent Mr. Webb along the route to make a preliminary survey. Mr. Webb's tour of investigation included most of the coast of Alaska, and he journeyed up the Yukon as far as the Klondyke. He describes not only this famous creek, but the other tributaries of the Yukon, many of which have been only partially prospected. Edward S. Curtis writes in the same number of "The Rush to the Klondyke over the Mountain Passes," this article also being illustrated from photographs.

Vick's Ramblers.

Last year's novelties brought a pure white and also a yellow Rambler rose, which have proved perfectly hardy and quite as strong bloomers as the crimson. No climbing plant will give better satisfaction for the piazza and they can be trained to make a wonderfully beautiful hedge or screen. Last season one of these plants sold for fifty cents, but this year James Vick's Sons of Rochester, N. Y., offer one each of the white, yellow and crimson Ramblers for only forty cents. Vick's Garden and Floral Guide, an elegant work of 120 large pages, the best ever sent out by this house, will be mailed free upon application to all interested in a good garden.
