For horse plants a mixture of one pound of nitrate of potash and half a pound of phosphate of lime...

As is well known, Paris green does not dissolve, but is held in suspension in water...

Bordeaux mixture is made thus: Copper sulphate or blue vitriol, 4 pounds; quick lime, four pounds; water to make 50 gallons...

Clarence Hawley, of Illinois, says he has tried two remedies that have never failed to his knowledge...

The Massachusetts Plowman tells of a Southern Connecticut farmer, name not given, whose inflexible rule has always been to buy nothing that he could raise on his farm...

During recent years the practice of dehorning cattle has gained a favor among farmers. A recent bulletin from the New Hampshire College Agricultural Experiment Station treats of the practice in its various phases...

Many of the disagreeable features of dehorning may be avoided by preventing the horns of calves from developing. The horns of cattle consist of two parts...

In calves the growing points of the horns are small in extent, and can be destroyed with little trouble. In our experiments we have made use of caustic potash...

If you use potash the hair should be cut away from the young horn as thoroughly as possible, so that the potash may come in intimate contact with the parts to be treated...

Caustic potash—or caustic soda, which answers as well—can be obtained at almost any drug store. When not in use it should be kept in a closely-stoppered vial...

Ringling Bros. Circus Elephants Offered to the Government for Use in Cuba.

The five Ringling brothers, whose circus exhibits here on May 10th, have made a formal tender to the United States government of their herd of twenty-five elephants...

Alfred T. Ringling's telegram to Secretary of War Alger was as follows: The value of elephants in warfare has been fully demonstrated in the far East...

The Ringlings aver that they have made the offer in all seriousness. The loan, if accepted, would be their contribution to the war fund. Another herd could be secured, said the show would not be crippled...

To begin with, he can go where horses can not, said Mr. Ringling. A Cuban thickset would be nothing to an elephant who had spent half his life in African jungles...

Another point worth considering is that the hide of the pachyderm is practically bullet proof. He has vulnerable spots, of course, but they embrace but a few square inches around the ears...

Mr. Ringling is very enthusiastic on the subject of the elephant's value in war. He points out the fact that they are perfectly acclimated and would relish water that a horse could not drink...

much by the trainer's hands as by words. Oftentimes it is the proverbial "simple twist of the wrist," not a syllable being uttered. Prof. Lockhart, now with the Ringling show, resorts to this method a great deal...

Prof. Lockhart owes his success very largely to a careful study of what he terms "elephantine phonology." Certain peculiarities in the construction of the elephant's skull indicate to him the beast's potentialities in the exhibition line...
