THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

The curb market in Bellefonte will start on Saturday, May 7th.

A lodge of K. G. E. was installed at Milesburg on Friday night.

The engagement of Jacob Gross, the High street tailor, to Miss Margaret Curry, of Logan street, has been announced.

Dr. John Sebring, who has charge of Dr. R. G. H. Hayes' practice during the latter's absence at Mt. Gretna, will probably locate in Bellefonte permanently.

A number of the Bellefonte Eagles drove down to Milesburg, on Friday night, to help at the installation of the new castle there.

Active preparations are in progress for building the Philipsburg electric railroad. Several car loads of Italians and tools have arrived at that place.

On page 6 of this issue will be found a complete account of the court proceedings, both for this and last week. Everything that was done at court is reported.

Erasmus Robb, of Bellefonte, has had his pension increased from $6 to $12 per month. Edward Beckwith, of Hannah Furnace, has had the same raise.

The Ringling shows, which exhibit here next week, are well worth your coming to town to see. It will be the biggest circus enterprise that you have ever seen.

Sam M. Graham and W. Miller Hess left Philipsburg for Mt. Gretna, on Saturday evening. They went down to enlist in Co. B, Capt. Taylor having assured them that he would find a place for them, which he did.

Walter L. Main's circus will exhibit in Tyrone on Monday, May 23rd. The show had intended coming to Bellefonte but the Ringling shows were billed ahead of Main here and he has postponed his coming until later in the season.

Our young friend James McNichol objects to the position in which he has been classified in the roster of Co. B, published in last week's WATCHMAN, and writes that he is merely waiting on the officers' table and is not "officers' servant."

The Philipsburg Record wants to know why that town never has any big fires like we have over here. That's easy. You're too green over there and make a good fire. Now come back at us and say that it is because it is so dry here that we burn so readily.

C. P. Long has purchased the old Bibby house, at Spring Mills, and intends making extensive improvements to it. The building was put up twenty years ago for a summer hotel, but never was a success. The last few years it has been used by Smith Bros. as a furniture store.

On another page of this issue appears the business card of Grant Hoover, who represents old line insurance companies and does a good business because they are safe and he is fair. No property owner should be without insurance and no one should have a policy written without seeing Grant.

The observance of forty hours devotion began in St. John's Catholic church in this place on Sunday morning at 8 o'clock and ended Tuesday evening. Rev. McCauley was assisted in holding the service by Revs. J. J. Gormley, of Renovo; Frances McCarthy, Look Haven; James Saas, Look Haven; John Codori, Lewisport, and Thomas Fleming, of Snow Shoe.

While playing on the sidewalk in front of his home on east Howard street, about noon on Saturday, ten year old Richard McCafferty tripped and fell over backward, stunning himself so that it was some time before he regained consciousness. At first it was thought the little fellow was dead, but Dr. Dorworth was hastily summoned and brought him around all right after working with him for some time.

Next Thursday night William A. Stone, Republican aspirant for Governor, will be in Bellefonte to address a public meeting in the court house. It will be interesting to watch the changed condition of things when Stone comes, as compared to the gingerly manner in which some of the Republicans acted while Wanamaker was here. Stone is supposed to be the Quay candidate. Quay has the post-offices and that will explain it.

Commencement week at the Pennsylvania State College will be from June 12th to 15th, inclusive. Rev. Dr. Lawrence M. Colfelt will preach the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday morning at 10:30, and the Hon. John Stewart, of Chambersburg, will deliver the address to the graduating class. One of the special entertainment features will be a reproduction of "the Rivals" which was so successfully played by the Thespians, the college dramatic society, during the winter.

In running over the comfortable and cosy business offices that there are so many of in Bellefonte few people would think that one of the youngest business men in town is sole occupant of one of the very finest offices. The quarters that the Edison electric illuminating company have fitted up for their superintendent are as handsome as any office in town, but they are only in keeping with the splendid plant the company owns in Bellefonte, all of which is under the supervision of Frank C. Williams.

THE THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ACADEMY TO BE CELEBRATED IN SPLENDID STYLE.—An exceptional treat is in store for Bellefonte and vicinity. The month of June will conclude the thirtieth year of Rev. J. P. Hughes as principal of the Bellefonte academy and a committee of graduates from this historic institution is developing a plan for a grand reunion of the students who have been enrolled during that time. Nothing is being left undone to make the reunion a success, intellectually and socially.

Established in 1866—a worthy rival of forty other academies in the State, it has steadily improved throughout the years in its attractiveness, its equipment and its course of instruction; strengthening its faculty each passing year until it stands to-day without a superior in thoroughness of its foundation work. The published records of its students in the respective colleges they attend show that the honors they are winning are due to their thorough academic training. The other thirty-nine academies contemporary with this one in the early part of the century have been closed long ago, but the life of our own academy is more energetic and fruitful than ever before.

At the coming reunion facts will doubtless be brought to light with reference to the good work of the academy under the principalship of Mr. Hughes that will not only interest but astonish many of our people. No more opportune time for such a reunion than the present, when the recent needed and worthy improvements the trustees have wisely made in the buildings may tell to friends from far and near of the increased impulse in the work and the possibilities created thereby for even better work than has as yet been done. The college requirements are increasing year by year and the academy is to be congratulated that it has been able to keep abreast with the new demands, even to the point of carrying off the highest honors in some of our leading universities.

You will hear more about this later. The date about settled upon for the coming event is June 21st. The program will provide for a general meeting to be held, probably in the court house, on the afternoon of that date to which the public will be invited. Dr. Francis L. Patton, president of Princeton University, and Dr. Geo. W. Atherton, president of the Penna. State College, have both accepted invitations to speak on this occasion. Gov. Hastings and Gov. Beaver will also be expected to take part. Other interesting addresses will be delivered by prominent graduates of the school in every walk of life. A five o'clock tea will likely be served on the hill by the alumni to the visiting students and friends. A promenade will be enjoyed from 7 to 9 in the evening on the academy grounds and then the social climax will come in the way of a delightful assembly to be given in the armory. The music will be furnished on all these occasions by a full orchestra from Williamsport. Invitations are now in preparation to be sent to hundreds of the old students at home and abroad.

COUNCIL MEETS AGAIN.—There was only one absentee when council convened on Monday night, so the business was hustled through with dispatch.

Fire marshal Joseph Wise appeared before council and explained that owing to there being only a 3in. supply pipe on south Potter street, Reynolds' Ave. and Willowbank street the fire department was seriously handicapped in handling the big fire in that end of the town several weeks ago.

W. C. Heinle appeared in behalf of Miss Maggie Miles, who fell on the pavement in front of Daniel Garman's residence, on High street, about Christmas time and broke her arm. Mr. Heinle asked that she be reimbursed in the sum of $75 which he considered had been her outlay necessitated by the injury. The case was referred to the Street committee for investigation.

Representatives of the Central Commercial telephone company were present and asked for franchises to erect poles and maintain lines on the several streets and alleys of Bellefonte. Ellis L. Orvis and C. M. Bower both spoke in behalf of the franchise. They stated that the company intends making Bellefonte its headquarters and will employ a number of people here. This is the company a complete description of which was given in last week's issue. An ordinance was drawn up granting the franchise.

Burgess Naginey reported the condition of the alley leading from the Catholic church to Cherry alley to be bad and council referred it to the Street committee.

The Street committee reported various repairs. The Nuisance committee reported objectional dumping of ashes at various places. The Water committee had a broken plug on Willowbank street to talk of and the Fire and Police committee reported the new hose recently purchased for the fire department to be satisfactory.

Council directed the burgess to formally thank the fire departments of Look Haven and Tyrone for the kindness evidenced in their willingness to come to our aid during the big fire of the 21st.

The following consumers were reported as having refused to sign water contracts for the new year: St. John's Episcopal church, F. W. Cridler, J. A. McKee, Jenkins & Lingle, First national bank, William Storm, Peter Mendis and McCalmont & Co. Council directed that the supply should be cut off without further notice.

Bills to the amount of $661.42 were approved and council adjourned.

Robert Barnhart, a brakeman on the Lewisburg freight, had a finger smashed while making a coupling at Centre Hall on Tuesday.

Lock Haven is going to do some more street paving this summer.

Capt. C. N. Gridley, of commodore Dewey's flagship, the Olympia, was a classmate of R. C. Irvin at Annapolis.

Dr. John Sebring, of Philadelphia, is looking after Dr. R. G. H. Hayes' practice here while the latter is away as assistant surgeon of the 5th Reg. Pa. Vol. U. S. A.

The Straits Settlements are the British possessions in the straits of Malacca, the Prince of Wales Island and the province of Wellesly. The strait of Malacca leads from the China Sea to the Indian Ocean and separates the Malay peninsula from Sumatra.

Facts are not dreams. The Ringling shows are great and you will miss it if you don't see them. The shows only exhibit at York, Lancaster, Williamsport, Bellefonte, Johnstown, Uniontown and Pittsburg in Pennsylvania, so you can have an idea of the size towns they stop in.

The fiftieth convention of the Susquehanna dental association will meet in Williamsport, on Wednesday and Thursday, May 11th and 12th. Dr. Charles M. Bordner, of Shenandoah, formerly of Bellefonte, is president of the association and will deliver the president's address before the convention.

At the fourteenth annual meeting of the Central Pa. Odd Fellows association held at Danville recently the following officers were re-elected: President, William H. Kiess; secretary, Joseph H. Mackey; treasurer, Charles Scheffel, all of Williamsport. Bellefonte was selected as the place of meeting next year.

W. B. Reeve, organist at St. John's Episcopal church, receives scholars at his home, 25 south Thomas street, for instruction on the pipe organ, piano, voice culture and harmony. Since locating in Bellefonte Mr. Reeve has met with exceptional success as an instructor. He is a close student himself and in his work with scholars takes such a deep interest that they are rapidly advanced.

Some of the brightest and cleverest people of the town are enrolled as scholars of the district school, which is now being organized under the direction of Mrs. Achenbach, of Williamsport. Mrs. Achenbach, who has the knack of being a typical old school marm, is a Samantha Allen and a perfect humorist on the stage, is so in demand that the school here cannot be held until the 20th, but from all indications it will rival in fun any entertainment that has ever been given in the town.

George Reiber and James Runkle, of Tusseyville, two of Potter township's oldest and most popular gentlemen, were in Clearfield last week to spend a couple of days with ex-commissioner James Savage, father of Matt Savage editor of the Spirit.

More than fifty years ago these three now very old citizens were companions and close friends and during all this half century they had not seen each other. The visitors had planned their trip as a surprise to Mr. Savage but were most welcome and their going in such a way only proves how the friendship formed in youth coils to the memory and with unyielding force impels men together when in the evening of life they talk over the long but seemingly brief past together with what it holds worth remembering. Mr. Savage urged them to remain over to see Mr. Bryan, but business called them home the day before he was there. Mr. Runkle is 73 years old and Mr. Reiber is 68.

While Robert Montgomery and George Dolan were painting on the exterior of Wm. B. Rankin's house, on east Curtin street, last Saturday afternoon, the scaffolding on which they were working gave way and the men escaped falling thirty-five feet to the ground in a very singular way. They were working up on a gable, when it was discovered that they could not reach the highest point from their scaffold. In order to reach it they got a step ladder which Montgomery held while Dolan was painting. Suddenly the scaffold began to give way and both men would have fallen with it, but Montgomery hurriedly jumped for a window while Dolan grabbed the roof. There he hung, dangling in mid-air, thirty-five feet from the ground, with his strength fast giving way, when Montgomery leaned far out from the window and then they did a regular circus act that saved Dolan. He let go and dropping onto Montgomery's shoulder was soon safe on the window beside him.

Take our word for it, the Ringling circus that will exhibit here next Tuesday will be as fine a show as ever appeared in Bellefonte. We are not telling you a circus story when we say you will find it to be over twice as large as the largest circus Walter Main ever brought to this place; and he has the credit of bringing good ones. The Ringling shows have never been through this country before and that is why few people have heard of them, but the best idea of the size of a circus is always had by counting the number of cars required to transport it. It costs money to haul cars over the rail-road, so it is to be inferred that they are not hauled unless there is something in them. You can inquire at the Pennsylvania railroad office here and they will tell you that they have orders to collect freight for fifty-eight cars. There never has been a circus in Bellefonte before, excepting the Barnum and Forepaugh shows, that used more than twenty-eight cars in transportation, and neither of them had as many as the Ringlings.

MRS. CHARLES GEHRET IS DEAD.—Mrs. Charles Gehret died at her home on south Potter street, this place, on Sunday afternoon, after a protracted illness with pulmonary troubles. She had been in a decline for several months and the excitement of the frightful fire in that quarter of the town two weeks ago seemed to shock her nervous system so that she collapsed.

She was a daughter of Robert Watkins and was born July 31st, 1871. Ten years ago her marriage to Charles Gehret was celebrated. One son was born to them and survives.

Funeral services were held in the United Brethren church Wednesday afternoon, interment having been made in the iron workers' burying ground at Valentine's.

The death of Chester Wilcox which occurred very suddenly at his home in Philipsburg, on Tuesday morning, will be regretted in many parts of this county where the young man had friends. Having been an active Democratic worker his acquaintances include men in all parts of the county and it will be because of the gentlemanly, straight-forward character of the young man that they will be grieved to learn of his death.

He was taken sick about a week ago with kidney trouble which superinduced heart failure. He was born November 30th, 1863, and was the son of Henry Wilcox, one of Philipsburg's oldest building contractors. His father and mother, three brothers and two sisters survive him. Interment was made yesterday afternoon.

William Arthur Dunwiddie, of Philipsburg, died on Sunday afternoon, having been critically ill for three weeks with pneumonia. He was the eldest son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Dunwiddie and was born at Warriorsmark, Huntingdon county, on Nov. 22nd, 1867. Having located in Philipsburg with his parents in 1885 he made that place his home. He was a graduate in pharmacy and was the owner of a fine drug store in Philipsburg. Mr. Dunwiddie was popular in Philipsburg where his death is greatly deplored, because he was so much of a gentleman and possessed talents that were so enthusiastically lent to the entertainment of others. His body was buried in Philipsburg on Tuesday.

Hugh Glenn, one of the good old residents of the town, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Jane Brown on Howard street, last Friday morning. Deceased had been a sufferer with kidney trouble for over a year. He was born in county Antrim, Ireland, June 21st, 1827, and was 70 years old. In 1846 he came to this country. Deceased is survived by one brother and two sisters, namely, Robert Glenn and Mrs. Nancy Bowers, of Buffalo Run, and Mrs. Jane Brown, of Bellefonte. His wife, whose maiden name was Clark, preceded him to the grave 10 years ago. Funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Lillie Kephart, youngest daughter of the late Matlock Kephart, of Fillmore, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Simeon Dickerson, in Roanoke, Va., on Wednesday. Though the particulars of her death are not known it is supposed that heart disease was the cause, as she had suffered with it more or less all her life. She is survived by two sisters: Mrs. Clark Tate, of Clearfield, and Mrs. Dickerson. The remains will arrive at Kephart's, at Fillmore, at noon to-day. Interment will be made from there.

David Woomer, one of the well known residents of the upper end of Bald Eagle valley, died at his home near Bald Eagle on Monday evening rather suddenly. He had been a long sufferer with Bright's disease, but his death was not considered imminent. Deceased was 62 years old and had spent his life at farming. He was a Methodist of enthusiastic zeal and was buried from the Bald Eagle church yesterday morning. He is survived by his widow, with six children.

Miss Polly Bower died at the home of her brother, F. P. Bower, east of Aaronsburg, on Tuesday night. Deceased was 53 years old and had been a sufferer with cancer for a long time. Funeral services will be conducted this morning by Rev. A. G. Wolf, of the Lutheran church. Interment will be made at Aaronsburg.

Mrs. Daniel Walizer died at her home in Mill Hall, on Monday morning, after a long affliction with cancer. Deceased was 73 years old and interment was made at Cedar Hill on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jackson, who were married in Philadelphia on Tuesday of last week, have returned home and are going to housekeeping in the rooms in the Harris block, on High street, vacated by William Dezendorf's family. They expect to move into their home to-day. Mrs. Jackson was Miss Nell Whittaker, a daughter of James Whittaker, of this place.

Chas. Solt, William Lucas and George Chas. were arraigned before justice Keichline, on Friday evening, charged with having been guilty of tearing flags and bunting from buildings in Bellefonte. No evidence against Graham could be produced and he was discharged, but the other two confessed. They paid $6 each in costs, were reprimanded and let go.

Miss Newbaker, of Danville, has been engaged to take the organ in the Bellefonte Presbyterian church. She will be here to play on Sunday.

Clark Gramley is building a foundry in Rebersburg.

Corporal George Eberhart, now in camp with the soldiers of Co. B missed a great event by going away. A young son came to his house shortly after his departure.

There are more telephone men in Bellefonte now than there have been in a long time. The Commercial company is getting ready to install an exchange and a number of men are here for preliminary work.

The old Brown buildings at the corner of Bishop and Allegheny streets are to be repaired soon. Lumber is on the ground for that purpose and it will not be long until that eye sore of burned ruins will be gone.

The report that Misses Lizzie Allen and Jennie Morgan had left for Washington D. C., this week to tender their services as trained nurses and accompany the army to Cuba is untrue. They have tendered their services, but have not gone yet.

Unbounded enthusiasm has been aroused all over the country by the remarkable acrobatic performance of the wonderful Foy family, one of the latest importations with Ringling Bros. famous big circuses which will exhibit in Bellefonte, on May 10th.

Erysipelas caused the total blindness of Henry Comer, of Milesburg, and on Tuesday he left for Philadelphia to undergo an operation with the hopes that his sight will be restored. He was there six months ago, but his eyes were not in proper condition for an operation then.

David M. Tate, one of Lemont's young men, has enlisted in the regular army and is now at Ft. Slocum, N. Y., where he is being drilled and disciplined for service. He is attached to Battery I, 7th Reg. U. S. A. and writes that they have about seven hundred recruits there.

News Purely Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Murray Andrews are at the Bush House.

Mrs. W. L. Daggett and her son Boynton left Monday, for a short visit to Wellsboro friends.

Dr. Joe Brockerhoff, of Pittsburg, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Mary Brockerhoff, in Bellefonte.

Mrs. M. A. Chambers is in Williamsport seeing her daughter Mrs. Willard, who is seriously ill in the Williamsport hospital.

Mrs. Mollie L. Valentine, after spending the winter in Philadelphia and Pittsburg, arrived in town Saturday and is now the guest of her aunt, Mrs. W. T. Spear, of High street.

Thos. Collins, alert as ever for a good, big contract, came home from Rochester, N. Y. this week, but repacked his bag and started to Ebensburg yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Heverly, of Jacksonville, were in town on Saturday shopping. During the course of the day they took time to make a pleasant call at the WATCHMAN office.

Mr. and Mrs. John Noll had a pleasant surprise Wednesday, when their daughter, Mrs. Geo. N. Van Dyke, arrived on the evening train. Her grandfather, the venerable James Hamilton, is falling rapidly and her visit is to see him.

Chas. H. Cruise, of Linn street, took Mrs. Cruise and their two babies to Williamsport, Wednesday morning, where they are visiting Mrs. Cruise's sister, Mrs. Isaac Matland. Charley returned the same afternoon.

H. S. Achenbach, formerly with B. C. Achenbach in this place, was here to spend Sunday with his old friends, preparatory to starting back to his home in Kansas. He is now in Philadelphia, whence he will return to bid his Look Haven friends adieu, then leave for the West.

Mrs. W. F. Reeder, who has been in Philadelphia since last October being treated for inflammatory rheumatism, returned home on Friday so much improved that she is able to be out. The first part of the winter she spent at the University hospital and the latter part at the Continental hotel.

Jos. D. Mitchell, who is now with the Standard steel company at Lewisport, came over on his bicycle Saturday for his first visit home since going to his work in January. He and Mr. Gibbons, who was with him, made the trip in four hours although the road, they said, was atrociously bad on the mountains.

On Monday Mr. John Hendrickson and family, who have occupied the Blanchard house on east Linn street during their several years residence here, left for their home in Middletown, N. J. They took with them the body of Mrs. Hendrickson, which has been in a receiving vault since January, for final interment.

Mrs. N. K. Dare, of Philadelphia, who is here visiting her daughter, Mrs. Andrew Brockerhoff, is having some improvements made on her Spring street home. The Brockerhoffs, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew and their children, are going back to Reading to live, as Mr. Brockerhoff's headquarters are still there and the children are greatly improved in health.

Deputy prothonotary Arthur B. Kimpfort was down in the lower end of town so early yesterday morning that we were led to believe that probably prothonotary Smith had gotten so deeply engrossed in a game of pool at Anderson's the night before that he had forgotten to show up at the office. Our conjecture was wrong, however, for Arthur was just taking a little constitutional before starting his day's work and was seeing whether he could spot any big trout for himself in Spring creek.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Buddinger, of Snow Shoe, were in town on Monday on their way home from Mt. Eagle where they had spent Sunday with Mrs. Buddinger's father, Samuel Leathers Esq. They had driven down to Mt. Eagle on Saturday and were returning via Bellefonte in order to give Mr. B. an opportunity to look after a little business that needed his attention here. In addition to his extensive mercantile interests at Snow Shoe Mr. Buddinger is a big shipper of produce and figures in several coal operations in that region.

J. B. Ard and his little son Wilson were in town yesterday spending the day. Mr. Ard is a retired miller and one of the best known men in the upper end of the county. He spends his winters about Pine Grove and most of the summer months are put in at a rustic little rookery he has over on Laurel run in the heart of the Seven mountains. His son Wilson is about as sweet a little fellow as we have ever met. He is only four years old, though wide awake and a perfect little Chesterfield in his manners. When asked why he hadn't postponed his visit until next Tuesday, when the big circus is in town, he promptly asserted: "Oh, we're comin' down for that too!"

KEICHLINE'S CIGAR STORE BURGLARIZED.—Between three and four o'clock Sunday morning a burglar broke the glass in the front of Keichline's cigar and produce store, at the corner of Race and High streets, and carried away all the cigars in the case. Boxes and all were taken. A lot of chewing tobacco made up the balance of the plunder carried away.

P. F. Keichline is unable to state whether anything more than the cigars and tobacco was taken. He counts the value of them at $25.00. Across the street Mrs. William Dezendorf, who was spending the night with her mother, Mrs. James Whittaker, who has rooms over the Republican office on the opposite side of High street, heard the glass break and jumped to a window to see what was going on. As there was an electric light burning in the store she saw a man reaching in through the broken window and unlocking the door. He walked into the store then and soon came out with an armful of plunder. He disappeared, but soon returned for more. By this time she had recovered enough from her scare to waken others in the house and they went out to Mr. Keichline's home to tell him of it. Of course when he got there the burglar was gone. With the information Mrs. Dezendorf was able to give the police have a pretty fair clue and are working on the case now with the hope of running down the bold burglar.

It is not merely as a matter of advertisement that we urge you to see the Ringling shows next Tuesday. They are fine and we know you will miss something, the magnitude of which you have no idea of, if you stay away. Judge for yourself. They have more flat cars, alone, than any entire circus train that has come into Bellefonte in eleven years. They have ten sleeping coaches, where the ordinary circus uses four or five. They have three advertising cars, where one or two is the usual number and they have contracted for more food for people and animals than has been used to feed any two shows that have come to Bellefonte since Barnum was here.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Following is the list of marriage licenses granted by orphans court clerk G. W. Rumberger during the past week:

William Loffin and Matred H. Goss, both of Philipsburg.

Charles C. Wilkinson and Nora Belle Flick, both of Sandy Ridge, Pa.

Noah Auman, of Spring Mills, and Minnie E. Auman, of Hublersburg, Pa.

If the people of this vicinity want to go down to visit our soldier boys in camp at Mt. Gretna they can do so at any time they want to go. The Pennsylvania railroad company has signified its willingness to run a special excursion train from here after a time that it is wanted and a round trip rate of $3 or less would be given. A train could be secured to leave here on any Sunday morning and return at night, allowing a stay of about seven hours in the camp.

There will be a flag raising at Eckley's school, in Benner township, on Saturday afternoon. The people of that vicinity have arranged for the raising of a flag-pole from which "Old Glory" will float, in honor of the members of company B. Addresses will be made by Rev. Allen Rhen and D. F. Fortney Esq.
