

All honest toil is honorable. But is the making of a livelihood, a competence or a fortune, the consummation of life's purpose? Alas for a man whose soul is imprisoned in secular life! Alas for the lawyer who never gets above his briefs, the physician who knows no more than "laudamy and calamy," the carpenter who is satisfied with the shoving of his saw and plane, the housewife whose soul is absorbed in her needlework! We are made in God's likeness. Shall the eagle be tethered to a stake? Shall a lion be harnessed to a cart! Up with your heart, O sons of the living God! Make your secular business as honorable as you please; yet your life will be a failure if it exhausts itself upon that.

Roland.

—Miss Elizabeth Neff is visiting at Eagleville.
—Mrs. Williams is at Port Matilda visiting her mother, Mrs. Stevens, who is seriously ill.
—Alfred L. Gates shot a big, fat minx lately much to the satisfaction of the poultry raisers of this section.
—Under the direction of superintendent Bion Williams an interesting program is being prepared for children's day in the Methodist church.
—Jack Leathers, son of Joseph Leathers, of near this place, was recently assaulted by a tramp, who compelled him to take off his clothes and hand them over. The boy was kept from giving an alarm by the tramp pointing a revolver at him.

Spring Mills.

—Our farmers are busy at present.
—The Spring Mills planing mill is in full operation with plenty of business.
—Harry Frankenberger, formerly our assistant postmaster, has become very popular on the hill as chief manager in the large establishment of C. P. Long—"his name is great in the mouths of the wisest censure."
—On Tuesday morning the passenger train, due here at 8 o'clock, run over a valuable cow belonging to Mrs. Kenneley, a venerable lady of our village, of course the company will pay the damages.
—White washing fences seems to be the general amusement at present. The fence at the Presbyterian church received a coat of white wash last week and was done in such an excellent manner that paint would be no improvement. The "artist" evidently understood her business.
—The Spring Mills cemetery has been greatly improved, all the weeds and briars have been removed from the walks and graves; the tottering tombstones replaced and the fence surrounding the cemetery thoroughly repaired and white washed. It now presents a neat appearance.

—The war news has excited our village like other localities. Flags and bunting are displayed everywhere. Allison Bros.' large roller mill, the stores and many residences are decorated with the national colors, and the Spring Mills band nightly plays national airs.
—What has become of the candidates, have they all struck sugar, or what is the trouble? Very few, if any, have been in the neighborhood lately. Probably they are detained in certain weak localities repairing and "white washing" their political fences, and their absence from here is simply the calm which precedes the storm.

Pine Grove Mention.

—The weather is favoring the farmers.
—Charles Munch and his fishing party brought home with them 999 of the speckled beauties. Next!

—John W. Fry is at Wilkesbarre this week representing the Penns valley lodge at the grand session.
—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myers and Alice McWilliams attended Rev. Black's annual dinner party at Boolsburg on Tuesday.
—A. C. Thompson has been doing a little political visiting during the damp weather. So far he thinks his prospects for Harrisburg are all right.
—The corn is all planted and some is well up and never did the hay crop look more promising. The fruit trees are covered with bloom and with wheat at $1.50 what more could the farmer want?

—Our friend Jake Wagner, of Oak Hall, tarried a day or two in town this week and while here boarded on the European plan but took his drinks at the St. Elmo. He is confident Quay will win.
—The stone crusher is being run on full time so that the mud holes on the Branch road will soon be no more. Next week our neighbors on the White Hill road are to have the benefit of the crusher.
—Last week while Mary Jane Markle was walking in the barn she stepped on a round pole and fell, striking her head on a sharp stone. One of the large arteries was opened and Dr. Woods had quite a time getting the flow of blood stopped.
—Hess and Heberling are going on with their improving whether they are made postmasters or not. Mr. Hess is adding a 10 foot gabled end to his Main street home. While Mr. Heberling is building a great, big, front porch, some new dormer windows and improving his house all over.
