

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Teachers should not fail to put the Bellefonte meeting of State Teachers' Association on their summer program—July 5th, 6th and 7th.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO PINE GROVE.—A special train will leave the station at 10 this morning for Pine Grove on account of the Academy reunion. All the trains during the day will be run to Pine Grove and a special will leave there late this evening for Bellefonte.

A MISTAKE.—In noting the big Logan picnic in our issue of last week we inadvertently made it appear that the picnic is to be held at Hunter's park. Such is not the case. The Logans will picnic at Hecla today and they cordially invite you all to join them.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Following is the list of marriage licenses granted by orphan court clerk G. W. Rumberger during the past week.

Edward M. Burd and E. E. Confer, both of Boggs Twp.
Wm. Brown and Julia Barrett, both of Boggs Twp.

Francis I. Carothers and Ellen Oswald, both of Sandy Ridge.

Lloyd J. Smith and Minnie B. Wait, both of Bellefonte.

Rush Quick, of Snow Shoe, and A. E. Fleming, of Moshannon.

Thomas C. Bartges, of Centre Hall, and Annie E. Meyer, of Tusseyville.

Wm. Adams and Virgie Wagner, both of Martha.

Rolland.

June is the fairest month of all the year and the roses about here are beautiful.

The Misses Rosa and Jennie Halderman, of Emporium are visiting in this neighborhood.

Our roads need looking after by the supervisors as they have been badly washed by recent rains.

Messrs. Slack and Spangler, of Centre Hall, purchased a number of cattle here, recently, for shipment to the East.

A most destructive hail storm passed over the valley on Saturday doing much damage to the gardens and vegetation.

The inclement weather on last Sunday evening prevented many from attending Children's day service in the M. E. church at this place, but nevertheless the church was beautifully decorated and the services were very creditable. The altar and pulpit were appropriately decked with flags, roses and ferns, and in the rear were colored lithographs of the founders of Methodism. The exercises were chiefly on the history of the church and proved that it's existences dated from 1789. The children were all good but the infant department in "Marching to Bethlehem" was especially pleasing and the singing added much to the occasion.

Rebersburg.

Miss Maud From, of Mifflinburg, is visiting friends in this valley.

Henry Smull is building an addition to his house, which is to be occupied by his son Harry.

Prof. E. J. Wolfe, D. D., of Gettysburg, delivered an excellent address at the Woman's Missionary conference last Wednesday evening.

There were but six applicants at the teacher's examination held here last Saturday. All the applicants passed and received the coveted papers.

C. J. Crouse, Henry Brumgart, and J. P. Frank were elected delegates at Saturday's primaries and attended the county convention on Tuesday.

Elmer Williams, a young man studying for the ministry, accompanied Rev. Faus last Sunday and occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church in Kreamerville. His sermon was able and edifying.

The school board met last Monday and elected the following teachers for the ensuing year: Rebersburg, W. T. Hosterman, J. C. Morris and H. A. Detwiler; Madisonburg, William Smith and Ammon Hazel; Harter's, T. A. Auman; Gramley's, Charles Smull; Wolfe's, Forest Emerick; Brumgart's, Wm. Lambert; Stovers, Harry Musser.

The ticket nominated by the county convention on Tuesday gives entire satisfaction here. The convention had an ample supply of good material to select from, and its task was a difficult one but it did it's work wisely. There will be no kickers in this township this fall, and we predict for the nominee a rousing majority.

The boardwalk between this place and Kreamerville has for some time been in a dilapidated and dangerous condition. Last Monday the citizens of Kreamerville turned out and tore away the worst part of the walk and teams are now busily hauling stones and gravel preparatory to making a gravel walk between the towns.

Pine Grove Mention.

D. T. Johnson and wife Sundayed with son Joe, one of Huntingdon's push farmers. Mrs. Ross Gilliford and her bright little boy, Chester, are spending a week in our town.

Farmer W. H. Smith says it is a girl and although she is number nine it is all right for the prospects of a good crop are bright.

J. S. McCauley, one of the boss farmers over near Petersburg, was in town this week. Stewart has not lost any of his budget of fun.

Miss Cora Louder, one of Reedsville's ideal young ladies, is visiting Centre county friends who have not forgotten her during her five years absence.

The rains and storms have flattened much of the wheat to the ground. Many of our farmers are complaining that their crop is infested with the weevil.

John Hoy, one of Walker township's successful farmers and Democratic stand-bys, is this week circulating among relatives and acquaintances in this end of the county.

J. B. Tray and wife, of Shamokin, are being royally entertained at the home of farmer Frank Bowersox. They were highly delighted with their day at State College.

Rev. John Housman, of Altoona, was in town this week shaking hands with old time friends, and attending the settlement of his brother Edom's estate at State College.

George W. Musser, of Warriors-Mark, was showing his cream separator to the farmers in this section the early part of the week, and consequently took a number of orders.

Bessie 15-month-old daughter of Wm. and Elsie Lytle died at their Benner township home, last Saturday, of convulsions from teething. The little child was buried at Pine Hall on the 14th.

Mrs. Hannah Burchfield, formerly one of the best known women in this section, is visiting her old acquaintances, looking well and happy, but then she is one of the people who manages to see the bright side of life.

Rumor says a number of cattle pasturing near the Hostler farm are affected with that dread disease rinderpest and several have died. Persons, who have cattle running at large would do well to quarantine the herd.

Last Saturday a heavy rain and wind storm passed over this section. The air was full of electricity, ten telephone poles were shattered along the line north of town and the hail fell thick and fast. Several miles south of town the storm did much damage.
