L. Jackson's efforts had a furlough and was ready to start to Chattanooga by six o'clock that evening. He left Chattanooga on Sunday morning at nine o'clock and came straight through, arriving here at 1:42 on Monday. The little one died about 4 o'clock that day and while the father was not able to relieve its sufferings his presence was a great comfort to his family. The baby was buried on Wednesday and he goes back to Chickamauga

> DEATH OF MRS. WEBER .- On last Sunday morning. Mrs. Catharine Woomer Weber, widow of the late Jacob Weber, died at her home in Boalsburg after an illness caused by a general collapse due to old age. Mrs. Weber was a gentle, kind woman ever alive to the wants of others and living a life for which her family and country, with her parents, from Bavaria, Germany, where she was born 78 years ago. Her husband died about 2 years ago but her children, all well known and substantial citizens of Harris township, except the two days they will spend en route. and Mrs. Henry Meyers. She was a con sistent member of the Reformed church and her pastor, Rev. Black, conducted the largely attended funeral services which were held on Tuesday. Interment was made in the Boalsburg cemetery.

AID FOR COMPANY B .- Several weeks

heard through her husband, Lieut. Col. Rufus Elder, of the Fifth Regiment, of the great need of a hospital properly equipped for the sick and suffering at Chickamauga, appealed to all the towns represented in the regiment for help. Here the Daughters of the American Revolution took hold of the matter and Mrs. Reeder and Mary Thomas succeeded in collecting $72.50 for the fund. The amount was forwarded last week and, with what the adjoining towns have contributed, will certainly go far towards fitting up the division hospital. But even with that amount of money other things are necessary for the comfort of the sick. Maj. McNamara, when he was here enlisting recruits on Monday, said that the sick of the regiment were sleeping next to blankets, without night-shirts or pillow cases and in this hot weather, imagine, if you can, what that would be like? As soon as that need was made known several women procured muslin and started to make night-shirts but, now, it is thought best to make the appeal general. Therefore, if you are willing to contribute pillow cases, sheets, night-shirts or old box is to be sent.

Many of our readers wonder why the sick are not taken immediately to the general hospital purchased by Mrs. Leiter and presented to the army as soon as it was fairly encamped at Chickamauga. It appears there is so much red tape in army regulations that unless the patient is dangerously ill or confined to his cot for some time he is taken care of in the division tent or hospital. Efficient doctors and nurses are there in plenty but they all acknowledge the need of comfortable cots, nedicine and muslins.

WAS STEVE POTSULTZSKY MURDERED? -The local police circles are busy trying to unravel the mystery that surrounds the death of Steve Potsultzsky, a Hungarian miner, who was found dead along the public road about a quarter of a mile north of the Beech Creek railroad station at Clarence last Saturday night.

THE GYPSY CAUGHT HIM. - Little N. Y., to join her mother, Mrs. Charles Calloway, Johnny Williams, who has been doing double duty as a bell boy and mascot at the Bush house for years, rubbed against the wrong thing on Monday morning in

This professional hawker of fate's treasures for those who will pay to hear about them had been working around town with so much success that her throat grew rusty and it was with the intention of getting something to cut the rust out that she dropped in at the Bush house. With all shinny and Wilkesbarre, where she will spend the gallantry of a knight of the tenth century Johnny escorted her into a reception room where he bade her wait until he would fetch her refreshments. He did it in a jiffy and was about to withdraw when the woman caught his hand and after electrifying him with several coy pats began to read the signs of a wonderful future for him. It sounded like a dream to Johnny and he was all eagerness in a moment. He saw castles raising their majestic heads seven miles into the heavens that were all his own and was just about falling into an ecstacy of rapture when the woman told him ; "the signs are fading, lay a large piece of money in your hand, quick, so that I can read them all before they go." Of course Johnny did it and she "read" on, but when she stopped for breath the shinning dollar he had held to make the > signs brighter for her was gone. When she found he was so easy she took a second spasm during which she thought she saw the signs fading again, but it was Johnny this time. When he got down out of the skies to which her story had transported him and found his nice big dollar gone into the mysterious folds of that red calico gown he was actually sick and if you notice him closely you will see that he still has that weary look around the gills that is only worn by youngsters who have been swimming or mascots who have been "done up" brown.

IRA M. PACKER IS DEAD.-About 7 o'clock Wednesday morning Ira M. Packer, one of Howard's well-to-do citizens, succumbed to an attack of fatty degeneration of the heart with which he had suffered more or less for two years. His condition was not considered serious until six months ago when the disease developed so coal and iron police Alfred Lucas brought rapidly that it was known he could not survive long.

In the death of Mr. Packer Howard has lost a very estimable citizen. He has figured in the local politics, having been the man could scarcely have met accidenttreasurer of the borough, overseer of the poor and a member of the council. By trade he was a saddler and was of a careful, thrifty nature. His industry resulted in his amassing quite a comfortable fortune.

Deceased is survived by two daughters, Mable and Alma. He leaves sisters Alma and Mrs. Lyde Blair, of Pittsburg, and brothers Gibson, and Charles, of Pittsburg, and Clyde and Isaac, of Marsh Creek. He was 41 years, 9 months and 22 days old and will be buried at Marsh Creek to-day. Services will be conducted at the home by Rev. Chas. S. Long, of Lock Haven.

DEATH OF ROBERT J. HAYNES .- The unexpected death of Mr. Robert J. Haynes Jr., which occurred on Saturday morning Many of them went on the U.S. receiving last, at his home in Snow Shoe, was a shock not only to the people of that community but to the many other friends in this and adjoining counties. He had been confined to his bed but a few days with typhoid fever and but few persons, outside of his immediate neighbors, knew of his illness until the announcement of his death was made.

Mr. Haynes was the youngest son of the late Robert J. Haynes, and one of the leading citizens of Snow Shoe. Shortly after his father's death he moved to Karthaus, Clearfield county, where he resided for a number of years when he returned to
