Flatwitted Sarcasm.

The Democrats might not have nominated GEORGE A. JENKS as their candidate for Governor if they had known that the terribly sarcastic Philadelphia Inquirer would go so far in its fierce determination to annihilate him as to spell his front name with a J. This is so severe a stroke of scarcasm, with such withering consequences, that the Democrats at Altoona. might well have hesitated in bringing Mr. JENKS forward if they could have foreseen it.

But in looking at this QUAY organ, in its true light, it is found expending its dull wit in a foolish "wood-pecker" attempt to injure GEORGE A. JENKS by representing him to be an opponent of imperialism, a charge which it has not sense enough to see will be put to his credit by sensible

There is no doubt that the Democratic candidate for Governor, whose compreof public policies, are capable of comprehending the evils that would be entailed upon this country by imperial projects, is opposed to this government entering upon a career of land grabbing in distant parts of the world, but such questions are not involved in the work he has been called upon to do, in restoring honest government to this State, nor will they claim his attention while engaged in the campaign that is intended to overthrow a corrupt political

-Congressman ARNOLD was in Philipsburg during the early part of the week and the Ledger says he was laying lines for the endorsement of the Centre county convention. If everybody in the county thought as kindly of him as the Ledger says Philipsburg people do he would have plain sailing, but such is not the case. His appearance in Philipsburg marks the opening of a contest in this county that promises to shake the Republican organization up so badly that it will scarcely recognize itself for each son of this beloved isle, because for and his friends are forced into the CLEM of the stars, planted in the name of the DALE wing because they would sooner see Government of the United States of the American DALE, of course, is glad to have their aid even though he cannot fail to realize that they will only swing with him because they consider him the easiest pill, of the of America. The protected cruiser Columbia went ashore while attempting to enter the harbor of Ponce, but is expected she will be floated to-morrow.

No Extra Session of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—There will be no extra session of Congress, though the Senate will have to be called together for prompt ratification of the treaty of peace if the present plans of the President prevail. It was stated at the White House to-day that unless there should be some extraordinary development the House will not meet until it convenes in regular session next December. This statement, made on the authority of the President himself in answers to personal inquiries, is the con-tradiction to reports current among public

Congress to Meet Soon.

Large Army in Peace Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.-If things turn out according to the President's present expectations, he will call Congress together again within a very few weeks, the Senate to ratify a treaty of peace with Spain and Senate and the House to enact legislation authorizing the continuance under arms of a larger body of troops than can under existing laws be kept in the field in times of peace. Such legislation will be essential as soon as a treaty of peace with Spain is ratiofficer, a naval constructor and a chemist fied by the Senate, because the laws under which the regular army was raised to a strength of 62,000 men, and 200,000 volunteers were called into service provided that these extraordinary bodies of troops shall be mustered out when hostilities

Captain Hugh S. Taylor, of company B and Quartermaster Sergeant Herbert E. Burchfield, of the Fifth, have returned from Pennsylvania, where they were doing recruiting service.

The equipment of the First, Fifth and Ninth Pennsylvania is now fully completed and the boys are consequently happy. The boys of the First have drawn some very fine underwear for service in Porto Rico, and now they are glad they were kept waiting so long. In some of the regiments the underwear is much heavier and of coarser material. The suits are what generally retail at $1 a garment, but the government gets them in large quantities at 31 cents each. The boys of the Ninth also profited by waiting a long time on new uniforms and shirts, as the material is much better than that issued to some of the other regiments. In the way of clothing, Chief Quartermaster Lee is taking good care of the Pennsylvania boys.

Mill Hall Has a $20,000 Fire.

The Town Again Threatened with Destruction by Flames .- Fire Started in Mann's Hardware Store Causes a $20,000 Loss and Makes Nine Families Homeless.

The hustling little town of Mill Hall, about twenty miles east of Bellefonte, was badly schorched by fire last Thursday night and for awhile the helpless residents became almost panic stricken as the flames roared and leaped from one building to another and they had no appliances for trying to save their property. To add to their consternation some powder that was stored in the rear of Mann's hardware store any loded with tagging from blowing. exploded with terrific force blowing a ower of sparks high into the air.

The flames were first seen eating their way through the rear end of Mann & Co.'s hardware store, shortly before 10 o'clock. As soon as the cries of "Fire!" were heard. Councilman Aaron Kyler, who resides op-posite the burning building, telephoned to Lock Haven for the fire apparatus. One of the steamers and the Hope hose carriage were sent up as quickly as possible. The Hand-in-Hand carriage was attached to a trolley car and was whirled to the scene as fast as the electricity could carry it.

The flames spread rapidly. breeze swept through the gap in a northeastwardly direction and gave the fire a steady force. A number of citizens formed themselves into a bucket brigade and did heroic work in saving the Kyler hotel, which came near being ignited several times. The flames meanwhile spread to the houses on each side of the hardware store, and proved so destructive that they were soon beyond the saving point. The fire apparatus from Lock Haven dashed up to the fire shortly before 11 o'clock. The steamer was set to work and began pumping water from the mill race.

Two lines of hose were laid and three streams were soon playing on the flames. These heavy streams immediately had a subduing effect and the flames at once yielded to the superior force of the extinguisher. By 11:30 o'clock the Lock Haven firemen had the fire under control.

BELLEFONTE APPEALED TO FOR HELP. When the flames were at their highest fury the Bellefonte department was called upon for aid and in less than half an hour the Logan engine company had their engine loaded on a car at the C. R. R. of Pa. station ready to start for the scene, but word came that they were not needed and then it was taken off and back to the engine

How the flames started is not known, Grant Crispen, clerk for Mann & Co., entered the store shortly before 10 o'clock. On entering the store he saw the flames burning near a window at the extreme end of the warehouse. He hastened upstairs to get the books, but as he was coming down he was compelled to throw them down and make his escape from the room, as he was nearly suffocated by the smoke. There had been no fire in the store nor in the warehouse all evening, and the doors had been closed shortly after 8 o'clock.

IN THE SOCIAL WHIRL. — All predictions were fulfilled by the first of the series of mid summer assemblies in the armory last Friday night. It proved a really delightful affair, but so warm that is was indeed remarkable that no one was prostrated by the heat. There was a large number of people present and so many strangers among them that it scarcely look-ed like a regular Bellefonte dance. The The experiment of doing without cards led to confusion in a great many cases and while there was the customary parade of regret and make-believe anger whenever a young lady or gentleman would find themselves out of a dance, owing to a misunderstanding as to which one it was to have been, down in their hearts they were secretly glad of every opportunity to get a rest and try to cool off.

The lawn party at the home of Miss Eleanor Mitchell, on Saturday evening, proved a very delightful affair. vitations had been very general and a large party of young folks were gathered in the spacious grounds about the Mitchell home. It was in honor of Miss Elizabeth Cloud, of Philadelphia.

Mr. Edward Blanchard's walking party to Eagle's Nest began this week's festivities on Monday evening and though Mr. Edward took to a wheel, himself, the others enjoyed the picturesque scenery while they walked. In fact a few of the party were quite overcome with the rugged hills silhoutted against the azurine sky and had to return to town, but the most of them reached the enchanting spot and took luncheon on the rocks there.

Tuesday night there was a twosing party up to Point McCoy. Inasmuch as the affair was of such a nature it wouldn't do to explain who was there, but they had a corn roast on the summit, and came home very jubilant over the tramp up the sinuous mountain pass to the Point.

Ten couples took supper at the Fort, Wednesday evening. It is given out by the Howard company's agent that work will be commenced at once on the building, and that the new enterprise will be put in motion in short order. The Valley could support double the amount of cows kept at present, and there is no doubt but that dairying will be given more attention in the future by farmers.
