

The fruit evaporating plant at Centre Hall is in full operation. It gives employment to about one half dozen persons, and is operated both day and night.

While playing on the trestle in the rear of Peter Keichline's cigar store, last Saturday, Eddie Thompson (colored) fell into the race. Just as he was sinking for the third time Sidney Barlet plunged into the water and rescued the lad.

The death of Mrs. Mary Houghawout, widow of the Rev. J. W. Houghawout, was announced as occurring at Baltimore on Friday of last week, from the infirmities incident to old age. Mrs. Houghawout is known to nearly every Methodist family throughout this section. Fifty years ago her husband was filling appointments throughout this and adjoining counties, and she, a sweet dispositioned, motherly lady, accompanied him constantly. From that time until but a few years ago, her associations with the people of that denomination have been continued, and we doubt if there is any one minister's wife in the Central Pennsylvania conference known to as many people, or more favorably, than was Mrs. Houghawout. Her remains were brought to Williamsport for interment.

The picnic of the employees of the Morrison, Cass Paper Co., of Tyrone, at Hunter's park on Saturday last, was an unbounded success. It took nineteen coaches and one baggage car to haul the crowd, and bring down the supplies, that were furnished in abundance. Over one thousand persons attended and everyone of them, with the exception of one chap who tried to open a bar near the grounds, went home satisfied that the company, giving the picnic, is one of the whitest and most humane corporations in the State. Every cent of the expense was borne by the company. All that was asked of the employees and their families was to enjoy themselves to the fullest extent. And we are glad to say that they all seemed to be doing the best they could to do it.

If you can remember that it was the zereca cateraria, you can tell some one who don't know the scientific name of the White Miller, or moth-mother, that attracted so much attention a few nights ago about the electric lights in town. We have had these insects before, but never in regiments, brigades or corps, as they appeared the past week, storming the big brush lamps and whitening the streets where they fell, like a November snow squall. Its the last time we'll see these millers on parade—they come but once a year and live but about a week—and if there is another exhibition of them this season it will be given by an entirely new swarm. One thing is certain, however, that if there is one heterocerous lepidopter left in the town, for every dozen zereca cateraria, that tried to put out our street lights, there will not be an unclean peice of goods found about the place. Good house wives, and Bellefonte is full of them, will begin to scatter moth powders at once. The appearance of these millers promise a plague of moths.

CONGRESSIONAL CONFERENCE.—The Democratic conferees of the Twenty-eighth congressional district, composed of Centre, Clearfield, Clarion, Elk and Forest counties, convened in Ridgway last evening. Col. J. L. Spangler, Centre county's candidate, with his conferees, Charles R. Kurtz, Pat McDonald, of Unionville, and A. B. Hurd, of Philipsburg, departed for Ridgway yesterday morning, accompanied by a number of leading Centre county Democrats among whom were Recorder J. C. Harper, D. F. Fortney, Esq., W. C. Heinle, Esq., W. Miles Walker, sheriff W. M. Cronister and Capt. H. S. Taylor.

Spring Mills.

The Granger picnic being over, Lewisburg is the next objective point—the Union county fair.

Commercial agents report business on the road from fair to middling. Some lines quite good.

Orris McCormick, of our village, is engaged in selling clothing to measure for a large western firm and has been very successful.

Robinson & Bro., two gentlemen from near Zion, have commenced the general hardware business in our village, and are now stocking their store room with quite a large assortment of goods in that line.

On Monday evening last, the Spring Mills band extended to our popular landlord D. H. Ruhl and his guests quite a lively serenade. The music was excellent and highly appreciated. The band is engaged for the Lewisburg fair.

C. C. Barges, one of our active citizens, contemplates moving from our village to the farm near Centre Hall that he recently purchased jointly with his brother. We'll be very sorry to lose Mr. B., besides being a good citizen he is a sound Democrat.

The boys are busily engaged in gathering the walnut crop, of course too early. They will not wait for frost to make them drop, but prefer running the risk of breaking their necks by climbing the trees and knocking them down. A severe tumble of one or two might be an example for the rest.

The boardwalks in front of two or three quite handsome dwellings on our main thoroughfare along the creek, are in a very dilapidated, if not dangerous, condition and should be repaired without any further delay. During wet and stormy weather, the expletives uttered by pedestrians who are obliged to wade over them, almost give the surrounding atmosphere a sulphurous odor.

Owing to the low state of water in Penns creek, the large milling establishment of Allison Bros. was obliged to stop running on Tuesday last. The first time this year.

We had quite a large number of visitors with us during the past week. Among them I noticed Jacob Solt, of Gettysburg, the guest of J. N. Leitzell; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Broom, of Tyrone, the guests of David Burrell; Mrs. Kettinger and her three daughters, Kate, Elmyra and Lucy, also of Tyrone, formerly of our village, guests of W. S. Musser; John and Cal Hussa, of Johnstown, also formerly of this place; Mrs. Dr. Stanley and sister, of Albany, N. Y., the guests of Wm. Pealer; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cook, of Philadelphia, and several others.

The statement in some of our newspapers in reference to the deaths of A. B. Miller, of Mill Hall, formerly of this place and Mrs. James Kennelley, of our village, were some what erroneous. Mr. Miller's remains were brought here, and not to Centre Hall, as stated, and after services in the M. E. church, were interred in the Cross church cemetery in George's valley. Mrs. James Kennelley's sudden death from heart disease occurred on Tuesday morning, and not on Monday as published, and her remains were also interred in the Cross cemetery on the following Thursday.

Pine Grove Mention.

Rain is badly needed. J. M. Piper is happily spending a week with his brother J. B., in our town, after a week's outing among the Grangers.

Mrs. Frank Bowersox and Henry McCracken have been confined to their homes with severe attacks of dysentery.

Our village blacksmith, Wm. Eckley, has another mouth to feed and body to clothe. Number fifteen and its a bonning big boy.

Dr. H. C. Meyers, of Alexandria, accompanied by his mother, tarried a while in our town, homeward bound from Grange park.

Our young friend Barnhart Stamm has laid aside his agricultural garb in exchange for that of molasses slugger, up in Kipple, where we hope to hear a good report of his stewardship.

The last time we saw Miss Mollie Ward she was treed on a stake and rider fence by a vicious canine that was called off when she went her way more scared than hurt, making a record on her bike.

Wm. E. Meek the first time in twelve years went to Tyrone Tuesday, brim full of patriotism, to smell the reception crowd for the troopers, but came home woefully disappointed in not having gotten a hunk of roast ox.

Mrs. Sophia Shearer, of Ill., is circulating among Centre county friends, the same jolly, pleasant little lady as of yore. She is at present administering to grandmother Frye's needs who is slowly recovering from a paralytic shock.

The great big blacksmith shop an extension of the carriage shops of H. M. Krebs, of our town, is completed, so that all new and repair work will be completed in the dry in the future and better satisfaction given to his patrons.

Our soldier boys, Wm. Keller and Dave Koch, members of Co. B, landed home Monday morning. John A. Weaver, of Co. B, arrived a few days previous, on account of having been sick with malarial fever from which he is rapidly improving.

Newton Cole, a Sheridan trooper, was in attendance at Mrs. Barr's funeral as one of the mourners, looking somewhat thinner in flesh but every inch a soldier. He reports Porto Rico a beautiful country but is not much impressed with the natives who are of rather small stature.

ANOTHER HOME BROKEN UP.—Mrs. Belle Cole Barr, relict of the late David Barr, died at her home just east of town at 9 o'clock last Friday night after a prolonged illness with pulmonary trouble. She was a true christian woman and had a kind word for all. When health permitted she was always found in her pew or at the good work pertaining to church matters. She was born in Butler, Pa., 75 years ago, and was a daughter of Wm. Cole, a shoemaker at Bailey's Gap, many years ago. Her sisters living, are Mrs. Anna Jordan, of Lumber City; Mrs. Mary Williams, of Bellefonte; Matilda Cole, of Port Matilda. Her living children are Robert, of Colorado; Mrs. J. B. Piper, of our town, and Miss Annie at home. All that kind heart could do to relieve the mother's sufferings in her ailing years was done. Funeral services were held in the Presbyterian church, Rev. Hepler officiated, assisted by Rev. Black, on the 19th at 11 a. m., when her body was laid to rest by the side of her husband in the old cemetery.

DIED.—August 23rd, at his home on Marsh Creek, J. Irvin Butler, aged 49 years and 25 days. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, two sons, two daughters, three sisters, and a host of other friends. "Our loss is his eternal gain." A FRIEND.

MOTHER.....

When you start that great boy of yours to school have him well dressed, it will encourage him in his studies.

Our Boys' Fall Suits for school-wear are of the quality and tailoring that easily please the boy and satisfy the mother as to service ability, style and economy.

"Don't buy him a cheap, shoddy suit; it won't stand the wear and tear, and is the most expensive in the end."

It all depends on the store you trade with. We do not sell shoddy suits at any price, but we do sell all-wool suits as low in prices as other stores ask for the shoddy kind.

Our prices run like this:

$2.50, $3.50, $4.50, $5.00, $6.00, $7.00.
