

L. H. Smith is home from Spring Mills much interested in the slate to be made at the Democratic caucus, on the 28th, at Centre school house.

Last Saturday evening a jolly sleighing party rendezvoused at the comfortable home of G. W. Keichline, where they had a warm welcome, good refreshments and lots of fun and music.

Miss Cora McCormick and some one else's brother enjoyed a sleigh ride across the Seven mountains and a short visit at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bowersox.

Alvin Meyers, a student in the creamery department at State College, had the index finger of his right hand crushed in the cog wheels of the separator which necessitated amputation. Dr. Ritter was the surgeon.

Among the grip victims, who have been seriously ill the last week, are Mrs. H. W. McCracken, Miss Sue F. Campbell, Grandmother Shiffer, Mrs. Sarah Gardner and Rev. and Mrs. C. T. Aikens.

J. B. Heberling is carrying one hand in a sling on account of a crushed finger. Henry McWilliams is going on crutches from a badly directed stroke of his axe which struck his foot. Dr. Houser did the stitching.

The Farmer's Institute to be held by the Department of Agriculture in Boalsburg Jan. 31st to Feb. 1st, will in all probability be a great success. Every one in the community should arrange their business so that they can attend the sessions, for they will be instructive and entertaining.

THE BOALSBURG BANQUET.—On last Thursday evening the Boalsburg Odd Fellows celebrated their 23rd anniversary with a fine banquet at the home of J. A. Rupp, at Oak Hall. Mrs. Rupp, Mrs. Stam and their helpers served a first class spread and ten gallons of oysters, fifteen gallons of ice cream, chicken, cake and other good things, in proportion, disappeared as if by magic.

After supper the evening was pleasantly spent with music, Miss Helen Meyers was organist, speeches and sociability. Bruce Harrison, as toast master, presided joyously and decorously and Prof. Hoover, of the Boalsburg schools, talked entertainingly and instructively of the order and the good it was doing. Not until one o'clock did the guests depart from the anniversary typical of the lodge which is prospering and flourishing.

DEATH OF MRS. WOODS.—On last Sunday morning Mrs. Catharine Woods died at her home near Boalsburg, after a long illness caused by paralysis. No kinder, nobler or more useful woman ever lived in this community. Ever ready to give her time, means or self to those in need she was indeed a true Christian. Of a pleasant and cheerful disposition she was always an inspiration to those about her and her children can well revere her memory. She was born near Bellefonte 77 years ago and after her husband, Dr. Matthew Woods, who practiced in Clearfield, Curwensville and Mercer died, in 1877, she came to Boalsburg to reside. To them were born seven children. Matthew, a Presbyterian minister who died several years ago. Dr. G. H. Woods, Cyrus, an attorney in Greensburg, Mrs. Woods, widow of Dr. John I. Woods, Mrs. Wm. Goheen, Mrs. Alice McGoffin, and Helen, all of Boalsburg. She was buried Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the Boalsburg cemetery with Rev. Hepler officiating.

DEATH OF MRS. BELL.—At the home of her son-in-law, Dr. J. M. Brown, in Mechanism, on last Thursday, Mrs. Margaret Roland Bell died of grip after an illness of five days. Surrounded by her children and perfectly conscious that dissolution was near she cheerfully welcomed the charge. Eight years ago she and her daughter Amanda left their home in the Glades and since then have been living with Mrs. Brown, where they had comforts and conveniences that were not possible in the country. Until then all her life had been spent in the valley where her useful life and many deeds of charity will remain a lasting monument to her name.

Of Scotch ancestry her grandfather, Archie Roland, was one of the pioneers of Cumberland valley, where he was one of the founders of the old Octora Presbyterian church, established more than one hundred and sixty years ago. Afterwards he moved to the Glades, where for three generations the family has been prominent and influential. Her father, Archibald Roland, assisted his father in clearing the tract, where Samuel Elder now lives and there, in 1813, Margaret was born. The farm is now owned by Mrs. Stalker who although in her 90th year is as active and bright as most women of sixty. In 1835 she married George Bell, of Bellefonte, Mifflin county, with Rev. Samuel Hill officiating, and 3 years later they bought the old home and here their eight children were born. 1852 Mr. Bell died and Mrs. Bell was left alone with her family of little children, the youngest of whom was not 7 months old, but with wonderful energy and sagacity she succeeded in raising them all to be a credit to the name and community. Her daughters she gave to the mission work in India and four of her sons to the cause of her country. John and Wm. were members of Co. E, 45 P. Vols. Montgomery was a member of the 148th Vol. and died soon after the Gettysburg fight. John was killed in the battle of South Mountain, Sept. 14th, 1862, and William was wounded at Cold Harbor, but recovered, was honorably discharged and died in two years after coming home. Newton, a member of Penna. militia served during Lee's raid in Maryland and Pennsylvania, is now farming in sight of the old homestead. With Mrs. Brown and Amanda the three are all that survive, with the exception of Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Bell's sister.

On her mother's side she was descended from the McKim's, of Potter's Fort. Her mother was born on the farm, where Samuel Slack now lives, and was but eight days old when a threatened Indian massacre caused their father and mother to carry their two children across the Seven mountains to the block house at Lewistown, where they arrived in safety, having walked the entire distance. Her body was brought to Penna. Furnace on Saturday afternoon and laid to rest in the church yard at Graysville with four elders of the old Octora church as pall bearers. The pastor of the church, Rev. McCarrall, also accompanied the remains which were followed to the grave by the Gardners, McWilliams, McCormicks, Barrs, Reynolds, all relations, and a large class of friends and neighbors.

Miss Retta Sechrist spent Saturday in Eagleville.

George Williams transacted business in Muncy, on Monday.

Miss Louise Hensly painted a very pretty scene above the altar in the Evangelical church.

Miss Minnie Schenck, of Williamsport, is visiting her father, Christian Schenck, of Walnut street.

Clyde Lucas, better known as "Stag," left, on Saturday, to seek employment at Dagus Mines, where his brother Will is located.

Mitchell Gardner, who looks after the prothonotary interests of Centre county, attended the funeral of Miss Maggie Bension on Tuesday.

Company M, 21st Reg., P. G. P. passed through here on Monday night en route to Harrisburg to attend the inauguration of Gov. S. Stone.

Z. T. Weirich started on a business trip to Hagerstown, Md., on Monday night. He has sold his property in this place and expects to move to Hagerstown in the spring.

The P. R. R. Co. has started the town by sending a night operator to look after the operating between the hours of 7 p. m. and 7 a. m. A new station, a day operator and an assistant freight agent might further improve the service here.

The literary society held last Friday evening was a success. The "News" was as laughable as ever, while the debate on the question resolved: "That a sailor deserves more honor for his valor than a soldier," was excellent. It was decided in favor of the affirmative. Society will be held again one week from Friday night.

Noah Yearick is home from W. Va., Ill.

John Holmes and wife, of Walker, spent Sunday with E. J. Peck.

Mrs. Alice Robb visited her son Nelson in Bellefonte last week.

W. E. Schaeffer and wife attended the funeral of Miss Maggie Bension, at Howard, Tuesday.

Sheridan Rossman has stowed away 170 loads of ice, at 25 cts. per load, from A. J. Pletcher's mill dam.

R. F. Emerick owns the largest porker in the valley. It is a full blooded O. T. C. imported from Ohio two years ago.

Jim Neese has taken the agency of the Osborne company and proposes to interview all the farmers about investing in farm implements.

Newton King and sister, Kate, visited acquaintances here this week. Newton has been employed at Farrisville and is home for a short period.

Jackson Kline, the Wanamaker of Howard, came over to Nittany last Sunday with all arrangements completed for sleighing to Woodward. But the snow did not materialize and he hired a buggy and returned to Howard.

Among the victims of grip are B. F. Schaffer, Miss Ella Tate, Mittie Winkelman and Dr. McCormick. The Doctor attended forty patients in one day and then was obliged to stop for repairs himself. Dr. Dumm, of Mackeyville, is also just recovering from an attack.

William Mauk purchased a bull from Ad Vonada, of Madisonburg, and started to drive him to the Lock Haven market. All went well till at Lamar his bullship concluded to do the town and made for Mr. Grenoble, the tinner, who landed on the opposite side of a fence considerably bruised but not seriously hurt. The bull was promptly corralled and slaughtered to prevent further mischief and when dead weighed sixteen hundred pounds.

The many friends of Mrs. Lycurgus Lingle will be sorry to learn that she is ill with pneumonia.

William Strunk is now a resident of Centre Hall, having moved into the house vacated by Mrs. Rishel.

J. C. Shaffer's aged mother died a few days ago at Danville. She was buried at Spruce-town Wednesday.

The grangers picnic committee met in Centre Hall, Friday, to finish up the business of last year. There was a full attendance.

George Michael and wife returned, on Monday, after taking a week's drive through Mifflin and Snyder counties on a visit to relatives.

Blaine Loveland, of Lock Haven, the baker who is instructing Ed. Nearhood, is an expert in making dough into the highest flavored bread and cakes.

James A. Keller, of near this place, will speak on stock feeding at the farmer's institute to be held at Madisonburg. His experience ought to be worth telling and hearing.

Our people are fortunate in having W. B. Mingle one of the directors of the new telephone company. The interests of the borough will be properly looked after. An exchange at this place is a fixed thing.

Henry Smith, of Howard, and Miss Annie Houser, of near this place, were married at the Lutheran parsonage, Thursday evening of last week, by Rev. J. M. Rearick. They will make Howard their future home.

The families of William and J. W. Wolf have been sorely afflicted. First a daughter of the latter came home from a Philadelphia hospital and was immediately taken with diphtheria. After her recovery her father was laid up a week with grip. Scarcely had he recovered when his wife was taken with grip and other complications and to-day is very ill. Mrs. William Wolf was also bed-fast for several days with grip, but at present is able to be about again.

It affords pleasure to announce that contractor Malone and the borough authorities settled amicably Friday evening of last week. It was a hobby rode to death by a few in opposition to the borough owning its own water plant, that the borough would be led into an expensive law suit before matters between these two parties would be adjusted. The settlement as made is hailed with delight on every side, and there can be no just reason for complaint by any one. It was through the good offices of W. B. Mingle that the adjustment of the above was made possible, and thus a great source of pleasure was removed from the enemies of the borough water supply and great satisfaction brought to the taxpayers. The pipe line is absolutely settled for and accepted by the borough. That portion of the contract was well executed. The reservoir, which is unsatisfactory, will be put into proper condition by the contractors in the spring. If they fail in this, a sum sufficient to cover the cost of putting the same in good condition will be forfeited. The borough authorities know exactly where they stand. Everything is adjusted, and when contractor Malone puts the reservoir in proper shape all there will be to do is to pay over the sum withheld by the council for that purpose. After all is completed Centre Hall will have water works, owned and controlled by the borough, that will be a great annual saving to taxpayers.
