

GUFFEY'S GREAT WORK.

Too much cannot be said for the skill and courage and brilliant dash of Colonel Guffey during the present fight. For not one instant has he relaxed his hold on the throttle. He has guided his party straight as an arrow in the path of right, party fealty and party honor. He has followed the lines set by Hon. George A. Jenks in the late campaign, who declared that the Democrats had nothing in common with Matthew Stanley Quay and the Republican state machine, and he has never swerved a jot or tittle from these lines.

Attempts will be made to reconsider the vote by which the McCarrill bill was postponed, and while they may succeed, Colonel Guffey will not be found lending aid or comfort to the enemy. The assistance of the independent Republicans in this fight has been of great benefit to the Democracy. They are fighting an enemy within their party. They have been charged with being bolters and Democratic allies, but they have stood firmly against these taunts and the indications are that they will stand firmly to the end.

Every Democrat in house or senate is under the pressure of temptation here. The Quay machine has unlimited capital, unlimited patronage and unlimited promises at its disposal. A few Democrats, unable to withstand temptations, have yielded on the McCarrill bill. A few have voted on the measure because they believed that it was right or that they had some personal interest in it. But as yet no Democrat has forsaken his party, forgotten its high purpose, or broken his caucus pledge to cast a vote for Boss Quay. Democracy is too bright a jewel to be tarnished by a blemish such as this, and so the fight goes on and will go on to the end until the Quay Republican machine is smashed and a new era in politics in Pennsylvania is brought about.

Will Call an Extra Session.

WASHINGTON, February 15.—The President has conveyed assurances to some of the party leaders in Congress, in addition to those given last week, that he will certainly call Congress together in extra session if it fails to pass the army reorganization bill at the present session. In answer to repeated inquiries the administration has been obliged to decline all propositions looking to the timing over of the needs of the army by passing a joint resolution simply extending the appropriations on the basis of the present organization, holding that this device would be utterly inadequate to meet the absolute necessities of the case. The status of the volunteers would, it is said, be extremely unsatisfactory, and there would be absolutely no assurance that the President would retain them in service even when the emergency is great. The same statement would apply to the regular army soldiers who enlisted for the war.

A Just Sentence.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Private Wm. J. Edwards, company A, Seventh United States volunteer infantry, was found guilty by a court martial, convened at Macon, Ga., of murder and of wounding by shooting with intent to commit murder and sentenced to dishonorable discharge, forfeiting all pay and allowances and to be confined at hard labor for ninety-nine years in the penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

A Big Job on Its Hands.

From the Lancaster Intelligencer. The New York society for the prevention of cruelty to animals has just resolved to grapple with a fine, large share of new responsibilities, by declaring that bull fights and chicken fights must forthwith cease in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines. As for bull fights, it is said that only the Spanish care for them; but game cocks are dear to the native heart in all of the islands our flag newly waves over. Perhaps it would be well to finish fighting with the humans before we worry about the chickens, and maybe there are a few things more important than even them. Man is the animal who is suffering most severely from the various forms of cruelty in our various new lands.

The Old, Old Story.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 16.—The senatorial ballot to-day: Quay 97, Jenks 74, Dalzell 15, scattering 32.

Eat native wheat and ask your grocer for Phoenix Milling Co's "Finest" flour.

In yesterday morning's mail we received a very full and carefully written report of the farmer's institute that was held at Boalsburg on Jan. 31st and Feb. 1st. Unfortunately the report was not signed, so that we do not know to whom we are indebted for it. Inasmuch as there have been three issues of the WATCHMAN since the institute it is just two weeks too late for this report to be of the nature of news. The sessions were crowded, both day and night, there having been between four and five hundred people present the last evening. A special feature that was highly appreciated was the music under direction of P. H. Meyer.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Following is the list of marriage licenses granted by orphan's court clerk, G. W. Rumberger, during the past week:

Frank W. Keister, of Aaronsburg, and Minnie B. Winkleblech, of Feidler.

Walter J. Edmiston, of State College, and Ida Cole, of Bellefonte.

Oliver Perry Adams, of Millheim, and Minnie E. Cronemiller, of Aaronsburg.

Edward Morrison and Maggie M. Hoover, both of Fleming.

Ask your grocer for our flour. "Finest" and "Fancy Patent" brands lead all others.—Phoenix Milling Co.

A coal famine stricken Bellefonte in the face on Monday. With a very small supply of coal on hand and the railroads all blocked it looked for awhile as if a number of the industries of the town would have to go cold. Trains got through on Monday night, however, and relieved the shortage.

Apreros of the cold wave former sheriff D. W. Woodring was talking, on Wednesday, about the winter of '67 and '68. He was then in the sheriff's office with former sheriff D. Z. Kline and he began using a sleigh on the 18th day of December and never had to take to wheels again for ninety-one days.

STILL COMING.—Foster predicts another cold wave to strike us to-morrow, but the Lord only knows what he means by "cool." If it is to be anything like the one we have just passed through there is no telling whether the country will ever get thawed out again.

A cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 14th, great central valleys 16th, eastern States 18th. Temperature of the week ending 8 a. m., February 20th, will average below normal east of the Rockies and above west. Precipitation for the same period will be above east of the Rockies and about normal west.

The high temperature wave heretofore mentioned will be in the great central valleys about 22nd and 23rd and will move into the eastern States a few days later.

AN UNPRECEDENTED COLD WAVE.—Never within the recollection of the oldest inhabitant has there been such a cold wave, so frigid and so long, sweep over this section.

It might be said to have begun on Saturday night, Feb. 4th, when snow began falling and the temperature fell steadily until Thursday night, Feb. 9th, when thermometers in various parts of the county registered from 16° to 34° below 0. Never once during Friday did the mercury get higher than 5° below 0 and that night it sank to 20° again. All day Saturday it hovered around the 0 mark and Saturday night snow began falling. Snow fell all Saturday night and most of Sunday. A high wind blowing it into drifts, mountain high, blocking both rail and wagon roads.

The first intimation Bellefonte had that the rest of the State was snow bound was when the Sunday papers failed to arrive. Main line trains were not making connections either at Lock Haven or Tyrone, owing to a big storm east. No mail came in on Monday. The Sunday papers did not reach here until 10 o'clock Monday night. No trains at all, except over the Central and Bellefonte Central, reached here until afternoon on Tuesday and not a thing but local mail was received up to Wednesday morning.

The trains came in nearly on time Wednesday. During all this time the mercury hovered about 0, without a sign of let up. Business was prostrated by the cold. Friday and Saturday there was very little attempt to do anything and when the blockade began on Monday everybody settled down to try to keep warm, without doing anything else.

There is a greater body of snow on the ground here now than there has been for a number of years. It is nearly 20 inches deep on the level and it is frozen up so tight that it will take a most phenomenal rise in temperature to take it off for several weeks.

HOME FROM THE KLONDIKE.—On last Sunday Frank G. Patterson, a well known attorney of Altoona, arrived home after a nine months stay in the Klondike and after interviewing him a writer in the Altoona Times of Monday says:

Mr. Patterson left here on the 1st of May in the employ of the Empire Transportation company. Leaving Altoona, he went directly to Seattle, on the Pacific coast. From there he went to St. Michael's, Alaska. Since that time Mr. Patterson has been engaged as a pursuer on the Yukon river, a mighty stream, sixty miles wide at its mouth and averaging about a mile during its course. It is one of the greatest rivers in the world, a monster like the Mississippi or the Amazon, and is a great artery of commerce throughout the Alaskan territory.

It flows through a mountainous country, covered with timber of stunted growth. Sixty miles apart there are police stations. Mr. Patterson went to Alaska by the all water route. Coming home, he came by way of the Skagway pass.

After seeing how life is lived in the mining camps of Alaska, he left Circle City on the 1st of December and traveled with a dog team for 900 miles. He walked all of this distance, the dogs being employed for hauling the baggage. At this kind of travel thirty miles a day was averaged. In forty-five days after leaving Circle City, Skagway was reached. The much-discussed horrors of that pass do not exist, Mr. Patterson says. Still, his description of it indicates that careful traveling is required in going over it. It is about as wide as a bicycle path and is eight miles long. There are no barriers to prevent anyone from stepping off, and to walk off means a descent of several hundred feet. Still, Mr. Patterson tells of a man who went over the brink and escaped with his life.

The homeward journey from Skagway was begun on the 20th of January. San Francisco was reached on the 28th ult., and, in order to avoid snow blockades at Denver and Cheyenne, Mr. Patterson came to Altoona by way of the Southern Pacific, reaching this city Sunday morning. Tomorrow he will go to New York, with mail dispatches and reports for his company. To Seattle, on his homeward journey, Mr. Patterson was accompanied by H. P. Bush, of Bellefonte, who is pursuer on the Empire line's steamer, the City of Tacoma. Mr. Bush will leave for his duties on the Pacific coast on the 1st of March.

Mr. Patterson says that the present Altoona cold wave made him feel colder than the coldest weather he experienced in the Klondike and Yukon country. While a very low temperature is reached in Alaska, the dryness of the atmosphere mitigates its severity. Mr. Patterson avers that he slept in a snowdrift, wrapped in a fur robe, with the thermometer recording away below zero. There is not very much snow in the Alaskan country, twelve or fifteen inches in depth on the ground being the maximum. When it gets 8, 10 or 12 degrees below zero there is no snowfall. From Nov. 1st to April 1st the average temperature is 38 degrees below zero. In December daylight is rather scarce, the sun rising at 10:30 and setting at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. This deficiency is made up in the summer time, when for fifteen days continuously Mr. Patterson saw the sun. Its long stay above the horizon at that season produces a high degree of temperature, 100 degrees in the shade being recorded.

Dogs are a great means of transportation, a native breed of gentle animals being employed. They are large in size and bring a good price. For the team of four that Mr. Patterson used when coming home $500 was paid. In speaking of the Alaskan country, the returned Altonian says: "There is no better country in the world for a young man who has health and energy. It is not so cold up there as it is here and there are no more hospitable people on the globe than the inhabitants of Alaska. Both on the American and Canadian sides, they are principally Americans. There is much misleading information about conditions there. Many have gone there and failed because they lacked energy. Some of the supposed multi-millionaires that have come from there have had their way paid home for them. "Alaska's principal riches are contained in the precious metals, but there are also large deposits of the baser metals. In the season of 1898, in the Alaska and Klondike country, the gold product was worth $12,000,000. "Game abounds and the waters are stocked with fish. It is an ideal country for the sportsman. "A better system of government is required for Alaska, as the law is inefficient. A rude form of justice has been administered by the means of miners' meetings, they settling contentions without regard to judicial pretensions of the regularly established authority, the United States commissioner. Mr. Patterson told of the bunk houses along the road—every thirty miles—from Circle City to Skagway. The charge is $1 for bunk and $2 for meal. Mr. Patterson has seen twenty accommodated at one of the houses at the same time. Coin is very rare in the Alaskan country. Purchases are made in gold dust, it being duly weighed when the purchase is made. A description of the aurora borealis given by Mr. Patterson indicates that it is one of the most interesting features of the northern land. It is of great brilliancy and is accompanied by a rushing, crackling sound. With all the experiences that he has had Mr. Patterson has been well, and he says that he has not enjoyed such good health as at present for ten years.

He will continue in the service of the Empire line, a branch of the International Navigation company of New York, E. A. Griseom, of New York, president. He will leave for the northwest about the 1st of May.

FOUR LATE MUSICAL PUBLICATIONS.—In our issue of Feb. 3rd, was reproduced a very faithful likeness of Prof. Alfred Bierly, of Chicago, whose wide eminence in musical circles makes Centre county proud to claim him as one of her sons. At that time we mentioned briefly the nature and scope of his work, but owing to pressure for space were unable to touch upon any of his late publications. He is such an untiring worker that it is really a difficult matter to decide which of his publications is the latest, for new ones are constantly appearing, but the one that has probably attracted most attention recently is "Bierly's National Singer." It is a fitting successor to his popular books, "The Song Triumph" and "Festal Days" and is particularly adapted to singing classes, musical conventions, High schools and societies. It contains 191 pages, with an elementary course in music, all the national and patriotic airs and plenty of other selections of exceptional melody. "Chapel Anthems," a book of 176 pages, is another of his late works containing one hundred choice anthems for special occasions. That there might be a good variety of music Mr. Bierly has introduced the compositions of thirty-eight composers in his work. It sells for 60 cents, a copy or $6 per dozen. "The Regal Choir" is another collection of easy and medium grade selections for quartette and chorus choirs. It contains choruses, quartettes, trios, duets and solos of admirable style and sells at the same price as the "Chapel Anthems." "The Concert Master," a songster that has become deservedly popular, was published by Mr. Bierly with special regard for the needs of choruses, glees, and singing societies. It is a collection of standard compositions that has caught the popular fancy because they are so fitting for the purposes for which the publication is designed. It sells for 75 cents, a copy and $6 a dozen. It contains a fine full page halftone of the publisher and is a very attractive book.

Bierly's publications are popular because they are useful and cater to the everyday need of singers. They contain both secular and glee music, making them desirable works for every household. The publisher's address is 184 LaSalle St., Chicago, Woman's Temple.

QUETLY WEDDED.—The wedding of Dr. John Sebring, of this place, and Miss Fredricka Woljten was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents in Pottsville, on Tuesday the 14th. On account of a recent death in the family only the near friends were present and the young people had no attendants. Miss Woljten is a daughter of United States Commissioner C. H. Woljten and Dr. Sebring is one of our progressive and well to do young physicians. He is a son of J. P. Sebring, of Loveville, and after studying pharmacy with F. Potts Green went to Philadelphia, where he graduated in medicine. He has been so successful and his prospects are so promising that we know prosperity and happiness will abide with him and his bride.

Pine Grove Mention. Next Tuesday is election day. Get out the vote and vote straight.

Rev. Hepler, of Lemont, will preach in the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening. Guy Mattern, one of Tyrone's affable young clerks, is visiting Centre county friends.

Farmer Sidney Poorman was obliged to kill one of his horses last week on account of it having had its leg broken. A short time ago George Lutz lost a fine cow and a few mornings since he found an other one dead in her stall.

Our town is threatened with a coal and water famine, as most of the hydrants are frozen and lots of the coal bins empty. C. H. Struble and wife, of Graysville, ventured through the drifts on Wednesday and spent the day with Pine Hall friends. The dieker for the G. Y. Meek farm has finally been concluded. Frederick Myers is the buyer. No change this year in farmers. Our young friend Robert Campbell is suffering from a lot of carbuncles on his neck, after having had a perfect siege of Job's comforters. The wagons for the new creamery at Penna Furnace will soon be put on the road as the building is about completed and the steam started. At the Houseman home on Main street, on Saturday, Feb. 25th, at 1 o'clock, Misses L. and Caroline Houseman will sell at public sale their household and kitchen furniture. On account of the blizzard, last Sunday, the annual meeting of the foreign missionary society of the Lutheran church was postponed for two weeks. It will be held in the Pine Hall church. Wm. Keller came home from Pittsburg Tuesday out of a job for the rest of the winter. His brother Milt, who arrived home last week minus a finger, is much better as his hand is healing nicely. Mr. John Shank, mine host of a first class hotel down at Lock Haven and a very pleasant gentleman, is storm staid here and is being royally entertained at the Goss home on Water street. On Tuesday Frederick Hallman packed his bag and started for the West and better wages. Fred is a skilled workman, as well as a good musician and we hope the dollars will roll in rapidly in the Buckeye State. His hogship has no need to be in evidence these days for his shadow is making a lasting impression. In every direction the roads are badly blockaded and, as far as we can hear, the Bellefonte Central was one of the few roads in the State that was able to run its trains regularly. Even with two engines it had a hard pull.

Our P. S. of A. camp, No. 506, installed the following officers Tuesday evening: H. B. Goheen, president; G. W. Harpster, vice president; Ed. Isenberg, M. of M. C.; W. E. McWilliams, recording secretary; W. P. Gates, corresponding secretary; Harry Goheen, treasurer; John Geist, conductor; J. Sayer, warden; F. B. Krepps, outside guard; James Emigh and Ray Woomer, sentinels and Wm. Penn Gates and H. J. Sager, representatives to district convention at Huntingdon on Feb. 22nd.
