LITTLE LIFTS.

If you were toiling up a weary hill, Bearing a load beyond your strength to bear, Straining each nerve untiringly, and still Stumbling and losing foothold here and there; And each one passing by would do so much As give one upward lift and go their way, Would not the slight, reiterated touch Of help and kindness lighten all the day? There is no little and there is no much; We weigh and measure and define in vain; A look, a word, a light, responsive touch Can be the minister of joy to pain, A man can die of hunger, walled in gold; A crumb may quicken hope to stronger breath And every day we give or we withhold Some little thing that tells for life or death.

Head Blown Off.

How a Young Lady Met Death at the Hands of Her Brother.

Miss Fannie Watson's head was blown off by a gun in the hands of her brother, Harvey Watson, in the family homestead in Point Township, four miles from Northumberland, at noon last Thursday, and death resulted instantly. Mr. Watson says the killing was accidental. Coroner Shindel and county detective Dougherty are inquiring into the affair.

The Watson family are well-known in the county. Miss Watson was well known in church work. She was 32 years of age, while her brother Harvey is 45 years. His family lived at the Watson homestead, and shortly before the shooting he was in the kitchen examining a shotgun. His sister was in the pantry, adjoining the kitchen, and the door was open between the rooms.

Miss Watson was absorbed in preparing some pies for the oven, and paid no attention to her brother as he looked over his gun with the intention of cleaning it. He was in the act of extracting a loaded shell, when the trigger was accidentally pressed, causing the hammer to strike the shell, which exploded while the gun was pointed in the direction of the pantry. Startled by the explosion Mr. Watson jumped to his feet, and was horrified to hear his sister give a faint cry as she fell to the floor with blood pouring from a terrible wound.

Following the shooting Watson evinced the greatest grief. He is well-known and respected, and neighbors as well as parents say he loved his sister dearly.

Gen. Shafter's Retirement.

He Will Have to Retire in August Next as a Brigadier General.

It has been decided by the military authorities that Major-General Shafter will be obliged to go on the retired list as a Brigadier-General when he reaches the age of 64 years. Gen. Shafter will be 64 in August next, and under the law he must retire from active service then. He is now a Major-General of Volunteers and a Brigadier-General of the regular army. There is no retired list for volunteer officers. Under the act for the reorganization of the army, General Shafter will be appointed a Major-General, but it is provided in the act that the additional Major-Generals appointed in proportion to the increase of the regular establishment shall receive volunteer and not regular commissions. The reorganization law will remain in force for two years, unless sooner revised by Congress; but as Congress will not meet until after the date of Shafter's compulsory retirement, no legislation can be secured to permit him to retire as a Major-General of the regular army. Other general officers whose war services will be recognized by reappointment under the reorganization law will retire also in the rank they occupy in the regular army before the time limit of the present establishment expires.

An Awful Accident.

Three Men Instantly Killed.—Three Other Persons Seriously Injured.—The Cause Was the Explosion of a Boiler.

A terrible accident occurred at 10 o'clock Friday morning near Mattie postoffice, in Bedford county, about ten miles from Everett, by which three men were killed instantly and three others seriously injured.

Mr. P. H. Shuss, a well-known resident formerly of Huntingdon, had located a saw mill at Mattie and he and his force of men were busily engaged at work when the boiler exploded, tearing the mill to pieces. Following are the names of the victims: P. H. Shuss, back of head blown off by piece of the boiler. Daniel Snyder, fireman, blown to pieces. P. Wink, setter, blown fifty feet away and instantly killed.

John W. Snyder, Harry Sigel and James Whitefield, three other employees, were all injured internally—how seriously is not yet known.

Mr. Shuss is a married man with a large family. The other two men who were killed were unmarried.

$1,750,000,000 at Dinner.

Tremendous Capital Will be Represented by Bank's Guests.

The bank of Manhattan, in New York, which celebrates its centennial on April 3rd, sent out invitations to the sixty-four presidents of the banks who are members of the Clearing House and to the various presidents of the savings banks and the trust companies to a dinner to be given at Sherry's in New York, on the evening of that day. Invitations have also been extended to Governor Roosevelt, the State Treasurer, Controller and the Superintendent of the Banking department. About 100 guests are expected to be present.

This gathering will probably represent the largest aggregation of capital that has ever been seen around a banquet table. A careful estimate of the money interests to be represented puts the total at $1,750,000,000. The dinner will be private.

A clergyman in a neighboring town was very anxious to introduce some new hymn books into the church and arranged with his clerk that he was to give out the notice immediately after the sermon. The clerk, however, had a notice of his own with reference to the baptism of infants to give out; accordingly he arose and announced that all who had children whom they wished baptized were to send their names to the clerk. The clergyman, who was deaf, assumed that the clerk was giving out the hymn book notice and immediately arose and said: "And I should like to say, for the benefit of those who haven't any, that they may be obtained in the vestry any day from three to four o'clock; the ordinary little ones at a quarter each, ones with red backs at 50 cents.

That Apple Eating in Eden.

Probably our great ancestor, Adam, little thought of the trouble he would cause posterity by eating an apple. But now the question as to how many apples he really did eat is a new difficulty.

How many apples did Adam and Eve eat? Was it one or was it millions? When the subject was first mooted the editor very naturally replied: "Why, one, of course."

"No," said the assistant editor, "Eve ate one and Adam ate one; that's....." 2'

Then the sub-editor passed along a slip of paper, on which was written, "Eve 81 at Adam 81, making....." 162'

At the poet, who distils the man of imagination capped this with "Eve 81 and Adam 812....." 893'

Then the publisher tried his hand, and his contribution was, "Eve 8142 see how it tasted, and Adam 812, equals....." 8,954'

The poet, who distils being surpassed, as much as he hates barbers, came up to the scratch again with "Eve 8142 see how it tasted, and Adam 81,242 keep her company....." 89,384'

Then the humorist, who had been listening quietly, handed in his contribution, "Eve 8142 see how it tasted, and Adam 8,124,210-der a husband was he to see her eat alone. This equals....." 8,132,352'

"But he had another object," said the poet. "Eve 8142 satisfy her curiosity, and Adam 8,124,240-fer Eve in her position. That makes....." 8,132,382'

No Leap Year

The Familiar Rule of Four Will be Broken in 1900.

The familiar rule that leap year is every calendar year with a number divisible by four will be broken in 1900, which fact need not be regarded as an indication that even then it will be time for a change. This rule of the almanac may account for the proverbial activity of the new woman at the close of every century. Then there is no leap year in 1900, and the same number of days will be given to February, 2000, and again in 2400. The object of this rule is to make the calendar year coincide with the solar year.

G. W. Keefe, of Sunbury, has started proceedings against the counties of Union and Northumberland to recover a bill of $22,000, which Mr. Keefe claims is due him as part payment for the building of the bridge at West Milton some time ago. When the bridge was built Mr. Keefe was given the low water mark as a point from which to erect piers twenty-eight feet high, but there was a mistake made of five feet and Mr. Keefe was compelled to build piers thirty-three feet high instead of twenty-eight feet, that cost him about $22,000 additional which the commissioners refuse to pay.

One of a party of women who recently visited Pike's Peak says in the New York Tribune: "We had for a guide a somewhat unintelligent young man. Every few minutes he stopped and shouted the names of certain boulders and streams. When nearly at the top he called out: 'On the right is the Lion's Mouth!' 'Why is it called the Lion's Mouth?' asked a skeptical woman, who had pestered him with 'whys' all the way. 'Aw, I dunno,' said the lad, tired of being asked for information; 'I was told to holler these names. I dunno why nothin'. It's my job to holler, and so I holler.'"

It Was a Gigantic Oak.

Robert W. Faulstich recently cut a white oak tree on his property at Cogan Station, measuring 4 feet and 4 inches across the stump, the largest tree in that vicinity, and he took it to the mill of William Shaffer and son, at Perryville, Lycoming county, and had it manufactured into ties and lumber. The first three logs made nine ties apiece; the total number of ties was 53, and 375 feet of lumber, and he got seven good loads of fire wood besides. Who can beat it?

Macaroons.

One pound of powdered sugar, one pound of hickory nuts, chopped fine, one dozen whites of eggs, one tablespoonful of flour, two small teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Mix these ingredients and drop from a teaspoon upon buttered paper or baking tins. Do not put them too near each other. Bake a light brown in a moderate oven. Weigh the nuts before cracking.

Marshmallow Cakes.

One and a-half cups sugar, one-half cup butter, Cream well; add one scant cup of warm water, salt and two eggs. Beat until very smooth. Whisk up five whites of eggs very light; into them mix one and a-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Stir gently into the cake; add rose water. Bake in three layers. Filling—One and a-half cups of sugar, eight tablespoonfuls of milk or cream, both well mixed, one-half pound of marshmallows; stir until dissolved; add vanilla. Beat until quite cool and spread on the cake, which must be cold before the icing goes on. This is delicious.

Caramel Custard.

Scald one quart milk in the double boiler. Put half a cup sugar in a smooth omelet pan, stir as it melts, and when light brown, add two tablespoonful water, and turn it into the warm milk. Sometimes the sugar will harden as the milk is stirred in, but it will all dissolve in the milk. Beat six eggs until well blended, add part of the milk, one-half teaspoon salt, and one teaspoon vanilla. Strain it into a buttered two-quart oval mould. Set the mould into a pan of warm water, and bake until the sugar will harden as a knife, from thirty to forty minutes. If the custard does not adhere to the knife, it is done. Let it become very cold, and when ready to serve invert the mould and turn out carefully. Serve with caramel sauce.

Melt one-half cup sugar in a pan and stir until brown, add half cup boiling water, and let it simmer ten minutes. Serve cold.

Rights of a Husband.

It is a divine privilege to be head of a family, and a man has no right to abuse that privilege.

He has no right to ill-use or neglect the woman who took him for "better or worse." He has no right to scold or terrify his children.

He has no right to quarrel with his daily bread. He has no right to expect a game dinner and a kidney stew allowance.

He has no right to give his wife $2 a week in pin money and expect her to pay the gas bill and keep herself and the children well dressed.

He has no right to save his good manners and good humor for company. He has no right to come home with a hatchet cast of countenance and order the innocent pleasures of the little unfortunates who call him father.

He has a right to remember that he owes his family everything, and that to deserve the respect and love of his boys and girls and the consideration and loyalty of his wife is worthy enough for any man.

HIS WIFE'S STATEMENT.—"My husband had rheumatism and severe headaches. He had no ambition and could hardly drag himself around. He began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and before he had finished the first bottle the rheumatism had left him, he was better in every respect. Mrs. Edith M. Blakeslee, P. O. box 23, Tillotson, Pa. That distress after eating is prevented by one or two of Hood's Pills. They don't gripe."

That the late Congress was extravagant beyond precedent goes for the saying, but a review of the record shows that it was not so extravagant as President McKinley would have had it. By open recalculation and private prompting he tried to get Congress to spend $300,000,000 more than it did. The Nicaragua canal bill nominally carried $115,000,000 and would surely have led to $50,000,000 more, yet Mr. McKinley favored that costly leap into the dark. The shipping subsidies bill stood to take any where from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000. The Hawaiian cable bill President advised Congress to pass that. He informed it that the Hawaiian cable bill, appropriating $2,500,000, was "a paramount necessity" and should be made law at once. All these executive incursions to extravagance Congress withstood. The Congress has a better record, bad as it is, than the President, who is the embodiment of reckless extravagance.

"A pathetic incident of the cold weather," says the Atlanta Constitution, "is the case of a bare foot little fellow who walked into a shoe store, planked down $1 and said: 'I want a pair of shoes for that!' 'What number?' asked the clerk. 'I dunno what number,' was the answer. 'I ain't never wore no shoes since I kin remember. You'll have to measure me!'"

A Mammoth Found Near Dawson.

Miners Said to Have Uncovered the Body, Which Was Perfectly Preserved.

A recent issue of a Dawson newspaper contains a report of a "marvelous discovery on Dominion Creek." It states that on Feb. 8th, August Trulson, a Swede, and his partner, while marking their claim, discovered the body of a mammoth forty feet below the surface. The story says the body was in a perfect state of preservation. There were no scientists in Dawson to examine the find, but the paper gives the following description of it: "The huge monster could not be lifted from its ancient grave, for it weighed from twenty-five to thirty tons. It measured 44ft. 6 inches. Its right tusk was broken, but its left tusk was perfect, so that the right must have snapped off in the fall which caused its death. The remaining tusk measured 14 feet 3 inches in length and 48 inches in circumference. The flesh was covered with woolly hair, about fifteen inches long, of a grayish-black color. The hindquarters of the mammoth were weighing 8,640 pounds. The neck was short, the limbs long and stout, and the feet short and broad, with five toes."

A THOUSAND TONGUES.—Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard St., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"It soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. King's New Discovery for any trouble of the throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottles free at F. Potts Green's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

"Algernon, I forgive you!" "Darling, how generous!" sobbed the contrite husband, altogether overcome. With deft caress, she strove to soothe his emotion. "Yes, Algernon, I forgive you," she whispered, softly, "and now that there is thus no longer a skeleton in our closet I have room to hang up two or three more dresses, Algernon, dearest!"

Medical.

"A WORD TO THE WISE IS SUFFICIENT."

But some stubborn people wait until "down sick" before trying to ward off illness or cure it. The wise recognize in the word "Hood's" assurance of health.

For all blood troubles, scrofula, pimples, as well as diseases of the kidneys, liver and bowels, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the effective and faultless cure.

POOR BLOOD.—"The doctor said there were not seven drops of good blood in my body. Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up and made me strong and well." Susan E. Brown, 16 Astor Hill, Lynn, Mass.

DYSPEPSIA.—"We all use Hood's Sarsaparilla. It cured my brother-in-law and myself of dyspepsia. I love my life for it." M. H. Knox, 607 Franklin St., Philadelphia.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA NEVER DISAPPOINTS

Hood's Pills cure liver ills; the non-irritating and only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.
