Thirteen Perish in a Big Fire.

Mansions of Two Wealthy New York Families Ablaze While Inmates Slept. Was a Fearful Death Trap. Flames Started in Andrews Home on 67th Street and then Engulfed the Adams House. Blaze May Cause More Deaths. Disaster Came Without Warn-

Thirteen dead, a number injured and record of the last fire horror which blurs the pages of the municipal history of New York city. Shortly before 2 o'clock Friday morning, flames burst forth from the se occupied by Wallace C. Andrews, at No. 2 Sixty-seventh street, near Fifth

Mr. Andrews, his whole family and that of Gamaliel St. John were burned to death in the fierce flames, and in addition a number of servants lost their lives.

Sparks from the burning house swept over a space of two city blocks and ignited the home of Albert Adams, on Sixty-ninth street. This dwelling was soon a whirling at the foot of the stairs leading to the roof. furnace despite all the efforts of the firemen. Those who lost their lives at the Andrews fire were:

Wallace C. Andrews, president of the New York steam heating company.

Mrs. Wallace C. Andrews, wife of the above named. Mrs. Georgiana Boyden St. John, wife of Mrs. Andrews' brother, Gamaliel G. St. John, an official of the New York steam heating company.

Orson St. John, aged 7 years. Wallace St. John, aged 3 years. Frederic St. John, aged 13 months. Nellie Boland, servant. Mary Flannagan, servant. Eva Peterson, servant. Kate Downing, servant.

Marie Roth, servant.

Annie Neary, servant. In the Adams fire: Mrs. Mary Laughlin, aged 50 years, housekeeper, died from suffocation and

Two servants are in a serious condition in the Presbyterian hospital and one may die. These two, Alice White, a cook, and Jennie Burns, laundress, were the only in-mates of the Andrews house who escaped

The list of injured at the Adams fire is: Mrs. Isabella Adams, wife of Albert J. Adams, wounded in back, burned, suffering from shock; taken to Presbyterian hos-pital and afterward to the home of a friend. llie Quinn, servant, jumped Minnie Bogue, servant, sprained ankle and bruises, Presbyterian hospital.

Jerry Blazina, fireman, engine company No. 44, contusions of back; Presbyterian hospital and thence to his home. Mary Malloy, leg fractured, shock, Presbyterian hospital. William Stephenson, bruises and contusions; Presbyterian hospital.

Whether the fire started from an explosion of a lamp or of gas, has not yet been determined, but when it was first discovered at 2 o'clock Friday morning the flames seemed to burst from all parts of the house

Policeman McKnight, of the East Sixtyseventh street station was at Fifth avenue and Sixty-sixth street, in front of the Have-around South America. and, in addition, and saw the glare of flames in Sixty-sevspot and found tongues of fire leaping from the upper windows of the Andrews house The speed of the Oregon is no less markable and half way across the street. He tried to break in the door and arouse the inmates ago she ran the 4076 knots between San flames. Not waiting any longer than to arouse the family of the Rothschilds, in an days, an average of 263 knots a day. The final run of over 5000 knots from Honolulu was impossible to try and gain an entrance to the Andrews home by the front door and they then made an attempt through the Rothschilds house.

Fireman Charles Fay, of engine 39 and Jacobs, of hook and ladder 16, and Fire-man John H. Corr, went up together. They managed to get in the rear rooms of the third floor and found Mrs. St. John and her three-year-old son Wallace unconscious on the floor, their night clothes alinto the Rothschild house. Mrs. St. John died within a few minutes. Her child died in the fireman's arms.

The firemen made repeated efforts to get to the other rooms, but they might as well have attacked a furnace. The building, if saturated with oil, could hardly have burned more fiercely. Like most large New York dwellings, it was high and narrow and incased on two sides by solid brick walls, and the effect was like a great chimney. The flames roared and crackled and shot into the air a distance of a hundred feet or more, throwing a great fiery spray over the roofs of the surrounding houses. Several times these caught on fire, but the firemen and servants were on the roofs with

All efforts to arouse the inmates in time to save themselves were fruitless, and aside from Mrs. St. John the only other persons who got out of the house alive were the two servants, Jennie Burns and Alice

White, who appeared at upper windows. Before the firemen could raise ladders to rescue them, the women in their frenzy climbed out upon the sills and stood, as if determining on which was the worst fateto be burned to death or to jump to death. The Burns girl climbed out of a fourthstory window and stared with mouth wide open at the knot of men below. At practically the same moment Alice White climbed out upon the sill of an adjoining window on the fourth floor. With all their strength the firemen cried to the women not to jump, but the women were past heeding warning. Smoke was curling above their heads and the next instant heeding warning. Smoke was curling above their heads and the next instant Jennie Burns leaped out. She turned over and over and fell almost directly upon her head. Her skull was fractured in several places and she was hurried to the Presby-terian hospital. The other woman when she saw the fate of her friend hesitated for a moment, then, as the smoke thickened, she too jumped. She fell upon a rear extension of the building and was picked up unconscious and severely injured. She was also hurried to the hospital.

While the fire in the Andrews house was raging, great clouds of sparks were carried with the wind and a brand flew into an open upper window of the home of Albert J. Adams. It caught in a curtain and instantly the room was ablaze. The servant at the window is thought to have been Mary McLaughlin, for her dead body was found later at the foot of the stairs leading from the fourth floor to the roof. Tightly clasped in her arms was the family pet dog.

When the Adams house caught fire a number of policeman, firemen and the large number of people who were at the other fire, rushed around to Sixty-ninth street. The policeman knocked on the doors and finally gained an entrance into the Adams house and got the Adams family out without serious injury. The servants were frantic in their efforts to escape and Mary Malloy and Minnie Bogue jumped from the rear of the fourth floor to the extension from which they were taken down. Nellie Quinn was cut off on the fourth ing in the Dead of Night and Struck Down Master, Mistress, Children and Servants Alike—Rumors of to jump. The crowd yelled to her to wait, but there was no time, as the flames were licking her clothes. The desperate woman put her hand over her eyes and jumped, as two splendid dwellings destroyed is the she thought, to the ground, but instead landed on the bow window of a one story below and lay there stunned.

Policeman Louis C. Wagner, McInerney and Hiltman saw the woman's perilous condition and running into the house at No. 5 went to the fourth floor. Wagner was held by the heels and made a thrilling rescue of the frantic woman.

The firemen managed to confine the fire in this house to the third and fourth floors. The fourth floor was ruined and the third floor fared nearly as bad. After extinguishing the fire the firemen searched the build-ing and found the body of Mary Loughlin About 6 o'clock the firemen had sufficient mastery over the fire to permit of a search of the house. They found the bodies of the two remaining St. John children and the bodies of two of the servants. All were badly charred. The bodies of the two servants were sent to the morgue and the bodies of Mrs. St. John and her three children were taken to the East Sixty-seventh street station. At 11.15 o'clock the firemen found Mr. Andrews' body. It be belly hyper and control the less than the state of the state o was badly burned and parts of the legs were missing. It was not recognizable, but was identified later in the day by the filling of the teeth.

At 3 o'clock the workers in the debris found a body of large stature but badly burned. It was taken to the East Sixtyseventh street station where it was identified later by a dentist as that of Mrs. And-

At various times before five o'clock the workers found the charred remains of four more persons, probably the servants. Two of them were identified as the bodies of Eva Peterson and Marie Roth.

It was her speed and heavy guns that prevented the escape of the Colon, which had outstripped the other Spanish vessels. If the Colon had run the gauntlet successfully the victory would have been seriously incomplete and the war prolonged, for it was the utter obliteration of their squadron that completed the discouragement and disgust of the Spanish

"I was afflicted with troubles incident to my sex and in very delicate health. Lost appetite, flesh, and was greatly depressed. After taking various remedies without benefit, I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. In the summer of 1897 I procured five boxes and began taking the pills as directed. Before consuming the second box I could very perceptibly feel their beneficial effects. Appetite returned, complexion improved, and I had renewed strength. After taking the five boxes I felt better in every way; I was able to do my usual daily work and I stopped taking the pills."—From the Democrat, Brazil, Ind.
