Odd Happenings.

A little girl of Skippack, Pa., fell on the sharp edge of a teakettle the other day and cut off the end of her nose.

A 10 year old Georgia boy, while eating chicken got to laughing, drew a bone down his throat and died in a few minutes.

A North Carolina woman dropped dead in church while she was standing with her child in her arms to have it baptized.

A locomotive on a Georgia railroad picked up a pig on its cowcatcher and carried six miles without hurting it.

What was supposed to be a strange disease that was killing sheep in Wabash county, Ind., turned out to be porcupine grass, which punctured the sheep's skins and poisoned them.

A convict just pardoned from the West Virginia penitentiary, got out last December, filled an engagement to play the fiddle at a Christmas Eve dance and came back to prison next day.

A fire in Elkton, Md., destroyed a will by which a young lady of that town had been disinherited by her father, and she got her property all right.

A Georgia man struck his funny bone against a wagon wheel the other day, and has since been speechless with paralysis.

A silver foxskin was sold in London last week for $1,750 at auction. This is the highest price on record.

W. V. Smith of Florence, Kan., claims to have the longest whiskers in the world.

Five years ago a Chester, Pa., woman gave a tramp his breakfast and last week he called on her and offered to pay for it. He is not a tramp now.

An Omaha messenger boy found $4,000 in an ash barrel belonging to a banker of Council Bluffs, who had lost $5,000 and offered a thousand dollars reward for it.

A Plymouth, Mass., sexton was killed by lightning while ringing the church bell for services.

A Kentucky farmer owns a mule which has in some unknown manner acquired the tobacco chewing habit, and it will not work unless it is regularly provided with its quid.

When the Kansas Legislature adjourned the other week, detectives were at all the doors to prevent members from carrying off furniture and other movables in the chamber.

A Pennsylvania trolley company has had to pay a young man $1,200 because its electricity got into a barbed-wire fence near the track, and when he took hold of the fence to climb, it he couldn't let go until his hand and arm were shriveled.

Twenty years ago a man married a woman in New Zealand and left her next day, and she is now suing him for divorce in Chicago. They met each other but once, casually on the street, in all that time.

Seven years ago a young Irishman started this country with $1,800, which was stolen from him on the ship, and he couldn't send back for his sweetheart. He went to Anderson, Ind., to work, and some time later the girl followed on her own hook and got work as a domestic. Recently she became heir to $20,000, and now they have married and have set up in a fine establishment.

A little girl of Bridgeton, N. J. swallowed her chewing gum and it killed her.

Several soldiers who went through the fight at Santiago, fainting at Columbus, O., the other day when they were being vaccinated.

Great Consumption of Lumber.

Over 400,000,000 Feet Used in Philadelphia in a Year.

Professor John Moyer, in a lecture at the Northeast Manual Training school, Philadelphia, in speaking of "Where Our Lumber Comes From," declared that Pennsylvania had already crossed the danger line in cutting down her forests. "If all the lumber used in the city of Philadelphia last year," he said, "were piled on one of our city squares, and packed perfectly solid, it would make a pile as large as the city hall and 200 feet high. Again, if it were loaded on flat cars, 10,000 feet to the car, and these cars were made into one train, the lumber train would extend from Philadelphia clear through the state of Pennsylvania into Ohio. To bring the illustrations to figures, this city used last year, for all purposes, over 400,000,000 feet of lumber.

"Much of our white pine comes from Michigan and Wisconsin, because our own supply of that timber is practically exhausted. A great deal of the yellow pine we use comes from North Carolina and Georgia; but the supply of hemlock comes altogether from our own state. Pennsylvania sent to market in 1897, the last year for which we have any statistics, 1,350,000,000 feet of hemlock, 700,000,000 feet of pine, and produced one-third of that amount."

The Virtues of Buttermilk.

The growing practice of utilizing the waste products of all manufactures has brought out the fact that buttermilk possesses many unsuspected qualities. A medical paper says its reputation as an agent of superior digestibility has become firmly established. It is, indeed, a true milk peptone; that is, milk already partially digested, the coagulation of the coagulable portion being loose and flaky, and not that firm, indigestible nature which is the result of the action of the gastric juice upon sweet cow's milk. It is of great value in the treatment of typhoid fever, and, being a decided laxative, it may be turned to advantage in the treatment of habitual constipation. It is no less valuable in kidney troubles, from its diuretic qualities. It is in great request for the treatment of diabetes, either alone or alternately with skim milk, and in cases of gastric ulcer and cancer of the stomach it can often be retained when no other food can. Chemical analysis shows that in its nature it greatly resembles koumiss, with the exception of which it is the most grateful, refreshing and digestible of products of milk.

DO NOT BE FOOLED.—With the idea that any preparation your druggist may put up and try to sell you will purify your blood like Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has a reputation—it has earned its record. It is prepared under the personal supervision of educated pharmacists who know the nature, quality and medicinal effect of all the ingredients used. Hood's Sarsaparilla absolutely cures all forms of blood disease when other medicines fail to do any good. It is the World's great Spring medicine and the true blood purifier.

Bicycle Paths.

The Bill Providing for the Same Approved.

Governor Stone has returned to the house with his approval the bill providing for the construction and maintenance of side paths along the highways in townships for the use of bicycles and pedestrians, providing for the appointment of side path commissioners, prescribing their duties and the duties of the assessors in the assessment of bicycles and providing for levying, collecting and disbursement of a tax of $1, on bicycles.

The bicycle bill provides that, upon petition of at least twenty-five free-holders, residents of a township, who are bicyclers, the court shall appoint three resident wheelmen as side path commissioners, to serve without compensation other than necessary expenses. A tax of one dollar or so much thereof as may be recommended by the side path commissioners, shall be paid upon each bicycle in the county. Returns of the number and ownership of the wheels are to be made by the regular assessors. The taxes shall constitute a side path fund, to be used for construction and maintenance of the paths, which shall be built between the roadway proper and the abutting land, and shall not be less than three nor more than six feet wide, measuring from the outside of the ditches.

Another bill, which passed the house finally and went to the Senate, provides that for willfully injuring or obstructing side paths constructed under the law signed, an offender shall be punished by a fine of $10 or thirty days' imprisonment or both.

Migrations of Insects.

In the Scientific American Professor Holden gives some interesting observations on the migrations of insects. Once in the San Gabriel valley of California he saw a flight of yellow butterflies which passed continuously for three or four days to the northeast. For sixteen square miles the column moved and one could not look out doors without seeing the fluttering bits of yellow in the air. Yellow butterflies are famous for their mysterious migrations and sometimes out at sea they will cover the decks and riggings of the ship.

Migrations of locusts are very devastating. Hardly a western town has not at some time suffered from these pests, and after they have descended on a town they may be swept from the dooryards like so much snow. In Colorado locusts once covered a railway track so completely as to clog the wheels of a train and stop it.

In Russia the migration of locusts are looked upon as a national calamity, and if the accounts were not substantiated they might well be doubted. In 1825 the government placed 30,000 men in the fields to kill the locusts that were devastating the land. A vast region was literally enveloped in the clouds of insects that covered the ground and filled the air with a black cloud. The hordes crawled into the houses, even into the beds and dishes and changed a fertile region of fields and crops into a dreary desert.

Russian farmers fought the locusts with fire, but while millions of insects were consumed it made no impression on the lot. In places the locusts settled on the ground to a depth of four feet. The 30,000 men formed a two-mile line armed with shovels, bags and fire, raking the locusts in piles and burning them, but no thinning out of the awful mass seemed to be made. For hundreds of miles the locusts lay on the ground two feet thick.

LIKE A NEW MAN.—"I have been troubled with headaches and that tired feeling and at times could hardly get out of bed. I read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and got a bottle and after taking it I felt better. When I had taken the second bottle the headache was all gone and I felt like a new man." Josiah Apple, Church Hill, Pa.

Hood's Pills cure nausea, sick headache, biliousness, indigestion, constipation.

On the Contrary.

A firesome caller, who had spent the evening at the home of a friend, a young lady, and had devoted nearly all the time to a description of a trip to Europe, from which he had recently returned, said to her as he rose to go:

"I beg pardon for being so talkative. I fear my long story about my adventures abroad has entertained you but little."

"On the contrary," she replied politely, "it has entertained me quite wellly."

To the Boys.

Remember, boys, that you have to work, whether you handle a pick or pen, a wheelbarrow or a set of books, digging ditches or editing a paper, you must work. If you look around, you will see that the men who are most able to live the rest of their days without work are the men who work the hardest.

Don't be afraid of killing yourself with work. It is beyond your power to do that. Men cannot work so hard as that on the sunny side of 30. They die sometimes but it is because they quit at 6 and don't get home until 2 a. m. It's the interval that kills. Work gives an appetite for meals; it lends solidity to your slumbers, it gives the appetite appreciation of a holiday. There are young men who do not work, but the world is not proud of them. It does not know even their names, it simply speaks of them as old-so-and-so's boys. Nobody likes them, nobody hates them, the great busy world doesn't even know that they are there. So find out what you want to be and do, take off your coat and make a dust in the world. The busier you are the less mischief you will get into, the sweeter will be your sleep, the brighter and happier your holidays, and the better satisfied will the world be with you.

Methuselahs of the Forest.

The ages attained by some of the coniferae are scarcely less extraordinary than their colossal bulk. The greatest longevity assigned to any tree is perhaps credited to the celebrated taxodium of Chalapepec, in Mexico, one hundred and seventeen feet in circumference, which is thought to exceed in age the baobab of Senegal, inferred to be five thousand one hundred and fifty years old. In Lombardy there is a cypress tree which is said to have been planted in the year of our Saviour's birth. There is even an ancient record that it was growing in the time of Julius Caesar. Near the base of Palenque are trees whose age is estimated to be from four thousand to six thousand years. The mammoth tree has been estimated to live four thousand years in California.

MILIONS GIVEN AWAY.—It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds have given away over ten million trial bottles of their great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs are surely cured by it. Call on F. Potts Green, druggist, and get a trial bottle free. Regular size $0.60 and $1. Every bottle guaranteed or price refunded. It was in a primary school. The children had been cutting the Greek cross from colored papers. What other forms of cross do you know, Carl? asked the teacher. The Roman cross and the cat cross, replied Carl. What do you mean by the cat cross? Before he could reply a little voice piped, I think he means the Maltese cross. He's got a Maltese kitty at home. So it proved. What Do the Children Drink? Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. The more GRAIN-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. GRAIN-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee but costs about 1/4 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c. 43-50-17 Medical."IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH" THE STRENGTH OF EVERY HUMAN BEING CONSISTS IN THE UNION, THE HARMONIOUS WORKING TOGETHER, OF EVERY PART OF THE HUMAN ORGANISM.
