THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

Calvin P. Russell, of Milesburg, and Mrs. Caroline George, of Phillipsburg, have been granted pensions of $8.

On the evening of the 14th and 15th of July, the Aid society of the Bellefonte Evangelical church will hold a festival in the church.

The Coleville band will hold an ice cream festival in their band hall on Saturday evening. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Paul Olin Noble won the State College scholarship, offered by the trustees to the pupil of the High School passing the best examination.

Dog days began on Tuesday. But neither you nor the dog need fear the rabies if you are a little temperate in your eating, drinking and doing.

The Y. M. C. A. meeting on Sunday afternoon will be led by Mr. Frank T. Beers. Every man and boy in Bellefonte is cordially invited.

George Sunday has resigned his position in the tailor shop of W. H. Derris and accepted one as a book-keeper in the coal office of R. B. Taylor.

Messrs. Samuel Taylor, Newlin Irwin, Ralph Mallory, William Van Tries, of Bellefonte and John MacMurry, of Altoona, compose a camping party down near Howard.

Four persons from Snow Shoe were lodged in jail last week charged with elopement, two single men and two married women. Their names are Alki Andus, Charles Pinlick, Sophia Kovas and Rosa Nagz.

John P. Harris Jr., has rented one of the Schad houses on north Thomas street and will go to house keeping next month. Mrs. A. Deihl, the occupant now, will move to Pittsburg where her husband is now located.

James Gregg has been re-elected principal of the schools in Milesburg and Elizabeth J. Stroop, teacher of the primary school. The board could not agree on a teacher for the grammar school and it will meet again on the 20th.

Rev. Runkle, the Reformed minister who preaches at Hubbersburg, Lamar and Salona, has been obliged to suspend his pastoral work on account of throat trouble. He is now in Mechanicsburg under the care of a specialist.

Miss Myrtle Smith has disposed of her interest in the millinery store in Tyrone to her partner Miss Alice Holmes and is now at her home on Bishop street, where her wedding to Mr. Sikas, of Philadelphia, is to be solemnized on the 26th of this month.

William Van Tries returned Wednesday morning from a two weeks' visit to Moody's school at Northfield, Mass. He will be present on Sunday afternoon at the Young Men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. and give a brief account of the work done there.

Special trains will be run over the Bald Eagle Valley and the Tyrone and Clearfield railroads next Sunday to accommodate those wishing to attend the meeting of railroad men in Tyrone. Leaving Lock Haven at 8 a. m. and Carversville at 7 a. m. Returning, the special trains will leave Tyrone at 8 a. m.

Wm. Spangler a well-to-do and highly respected farmer of Potter Twp., met with a serious accident on Friday afternoon of last week. While working around a young horse the animal kicked him below the knee on the left leg, breaking the large bone. Mr. Spangler is a man sixty years of age and an accident of this kind may result seriously.

At the banquet, at the Nittany country club, the Bellefonte Daughters of the American Revolution gave in honor of the officers of the Clearfield, Lock Haven and Williamsport chapter, Mrs. James P. Coburn made a mistake and fell down a short flight of stairs fracturing her left wrist. Mrs. Hastings' carriage was nearby and she was brought home at once, where she is fast recovering from the shock and injury.

John Dubbs Jr., has been appointed agent for the Adams express company at Hazleton, Pa. Hazleton has rather an unsavory reputation but it has nearly three times as many inhabitants as Bellefonte. As it is not more than three years since John began his career as expressman by substituting for the deliveryman here, the company evidently have found him to be a young man of far more than ordinary energy and worth and his friends have reason to be proud of him.

Harry Elmer, better known as Harry Corman, who was arrested on July 1st, at the home of Joseph Rumberger, where he was employed, by county detective Rightmour for stealing a Columbia bicycle from George T. Bush, has been committed to jail to await the next session of court on charge of larceny. Mr. Bush recovered his wheel from Darius Waite to whom Corman had attempted to trade it, after being seen with it several times. Cashier McCurdy, of the First National Bank, has not been so successful. His wheel was taken from the Bush house on the Fourth and so far he has had no trace of it.

A SUDDEN DEATH.—The death of William Wallace Hays, Sunday morning at the home of his son-in-law, J. Wesley Gephart, on Linn street, was most sudden though not unexpected. More than a year ago he had a long and serious illness, and, while he had regained his health sufficiently to be out and about constantly and appeared well, his family and physician knew he was failing rapidly. Saturday night he was down town in the carriage calling upon some friends and upon retiring at 10 o'clock seemed unusually well. Sunday morning early, Mr. Gephart looked into his room and remarked on how comfortably he seemed to be sleeping. Before going to church, however, Mrs. Gephart became so uneasy about him sleeping longer than usual that she decided to wake him, and upon making an effort to do so discovered at once that the end had come. Dr. Harris, who was just leaving the house from attending another member of the family, was quickly called back and the examination showed that he had passed away some hours previous without a struggle or a pain.

Mr. Hays was a member of one of the oldest families of the town and was born here June 7th, 1821. Years and years ago he built the house on High street in which the editor of this paper now lives. At that time his father, Robert Hays, who settled here in 1814, owned all the land from Thomas street to Spring creek on the south side of High. His tannery then occupied the site on which the WATCHMAN and Bush buildings are now standing and his orchard of choice fruit trees thrived where the Pennsylvania railroad station and tracks are now located.

After engaging in the tanning business here until 1855 Mr. Hays located in Shamokin, Danville and Springfield, Ill. In 1870 he accepted a position in the Pension office in Washington, D. C., where he remained until ill health, in 1895, compelled him to resign. Since then his home has been here with his daughter Mrs. J. W. Gephart.

Cultured and scholarly Mr. Hays devoted much time and thought to the accumulation of rare coins, china, rugs and autographs and his collection is acknowledged by connoisseurs to be very valuable. He sought no prominence but stood high in the esteem of this community. Absolutely honest and a perfect gentleman he was always the same sincere friend or kind conciliator. His heart kept green though time had sifted its many snows upon his head. And so he fell asleep. In the home he loved, surrounded by dear ones and fully ready he passed into eternal life.

Surviving him are his daughter, Mrs. Ella Hays Gephart, and his brother Alfred, of Ashton, Mo. The funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at Mr. Gephart's, Rev. Dr. Laurie, of the Presbyterian church, officiated and interment was made in the Union cemetery.

WILLIAM WOLF.—William Wolf, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Pennsylvally, died at his home in Centre Hall on Tuesday evening at 4 o'clock, aged 75 years, 2 months and 11 days. The following notice of Mr. Wolf was kindly furnished by our Centre Hall correspondent.—[Ed.]

The deceased was ill but a short time, during which period he suffered little or no pain. His family and the physicians did all possible to prolong his life, but he gradually grew weaker and at last slept into death. He was rational to the end, maintained all his faculties in a most remarkable way—in fact, characteristics prominent during life were manifested to the last. He was conscious that his days were ending, and met that end in an exemplary way.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. M. Rearick, of the Lutheran church, assisted by Rev. W. E. Fisher, of Shamokin, this Friday a. m. Interment in the Centre Hall cemetery. Dr. Fisher was a former pastor and a personal friend of the deceased.

Mr. Wolf was born near Rebersburg, April 30th, 1824, and in 1846 came to Centre Hall, making him the oldest resident of the town. He engaged in the mercantile business for a period of forty years, from 1852 to 1892. He was exceedingly attentive to business during this time, and yet found time to act as president of the Penns Valley banking company for a number of years.

Politically he was a Democrat—not occasionally, but always. He was a Democrat from principle. While he never sought office at the public's hand he was rewarded for his party fidelity by being appointed postmaster during 1858, which was the time of the establishment of a post office there, and served for twelve successive years. He also held the same position during the first Cleveland administration. A thorough christian man was Mr. Wolf. He loved his church well, he loved her continually—his church was first and foremost. He was a Lutheran, not merely by birth, but because he believed firmly in the doctrine she unfolds. He was a charter member of the Lutheran church and at no time turned his face from her.

Miss Anna M. Witmer became his wife on September 27th, 1854, and she and J. Witmer, an only son, survive him.

Lieutenant Samuel S. Pagne, who was commandant at State College from '87 to '90, was found dead in a boarding house in Chicago last Saturday. The supposition is that he died from an overdose of chloral. When here the Lieutenant was a very nice man and very much liked, but several years ago he got into a quarrel with a fellow officer and shot at him for which he was court martialled and dismissed from the army.

WILLIAM O. GREEN.—Will Green, son of Tobias and Rebecca Green, of Milesburg, died in Meroy hospital, Pittsburg, on Monday morning, July 3rd, of appendicitis. His body was brought to Milesburg and interment was made at Curtin's on Wednesday morning.

His death was not unexpected as he had been in the hospital since May 11th, and had endured three operations with few chances of recovery. Blood poisoning finally set in and his death ensued. He was a printer by trade and well known here, where he had worked in all the offices at different times. He was only a little over thirty years old but, poor soul, luck never seemed to smile his way. At Christmas time he was in the Allegheny hospital for eleven weeks with typhoid fever. Four years ago his wife, who was Lilly Miller, died leaving two little children, a boy and a girl, who survive him. He was a member of the Methodist church, and an upright, gentlemanly man.

WILLIAM S. BRIGHT.—Formerly of Millheim but late of Ashland county, O., died suddenly of heart failure at his home in Ohio, on Sunday evening. Mr. Bright was East last spring and only returned to Ohio in May and then enjoyed very good health. He was married to Elizabeth Frank in '64 and the following children survive, Mrs. Ed. Bower, of Aaronsburg; Mrs. Warren Bower, George and Minnie of Haines township; John Pierce and Milton in the West. Mr. Bright's second wife was from Ohio and died in 1898. His body was taken to Aaronsburg on Thursday and burial will be made from the home of E. A. Bower on Saturday morning.

Jacob Stover, for many years the toll gate keeper just west of Millheim, died on Tuesday evening of cancer of the back. He was born in Haines township, Feb. 14th, 1825. He was married to Elizabeth Musser, three children blessed the union, and after her death, was again married to Susan Long, two children being born to them. A brother, Noah Stover, of Millheim is living. He will be buried this morning.

William Lykens, aged about 70 years, died at his home in Warriorsmark, Huntingdon county, Sunday evening. He suffered from liver and lung trouble. He was an ore miner by occupation. He was ill one week and his wife and a family of grown up children survive.

W. K. Alexander has sold his brick residence in Millheim to Rev. Zehner of Wrightsville.

Gov. Stone has wisely reappointed F. B. Crider, of this place, trustee of the State Insane hospital at Danville. An appointment which can cause no unfavorable comment from either faction or party, as Mr. Crider is a sagacious business man who will look after the interests of the institution and the poor unfortunate inmates efficiently and justly.

Tyrone this summer is enjoying a monopoly of celebrations. The hand tournament was a success. On Saturday and Sunday, the 15th and 16th of this month, a great big delegation of railroad men will meet there with headquarters at the Garman House. The seventh annual convention of the Central Pennsylvania District Association of Volunteer Firemen is to be held there on August 10th and 11th.

After being idle for six months, work at the stone quarries at Salona was begun last week on an order for 10,000 yards of crushed stone for the Beech Creek railroad. The stone which will make 400 carloads is to be used for ballast. Fifty men will be employed, but when work was commenced the company was only able to obtain 25 men. Work on the present contract will continue for at least four months.

On Wednesday, the 5th, a down pour of water, approaching a cloud burst in volume, struck the hill out between Nigh bank and Zion and tore up the country at a great rate. The cornfields, bridges and fences all suffered and down the ravines at Axe Mann the water came in such torrents that it swept the bridge away by the stone spring house and covered the road clear up to the Methodist church on the pike. At Morris's lime kilns, in Armore's gap, the peaceful little brook overflowed its banks until all operations had to be suspended for several hours and railroad ties floated around like corks. Fortunately the storm was of short duration and Spring creek was soon its normal size and color.

A certain good (?) man, citizen of College borough, ever considered worthy of emulation, recently said unto himself "I will drink and be merry" and thereupon taketh into his confidence a dispenser of bitters and the delivery boy. The latter, ever mindful of his customers good, to avoid even the appearance of evil, deposited his neatly boxed bottles in the householder's stable instead of at his front door. A few hours later the good man of the house searcheth diligently for his "evil spirits" but when he cometh he findeth none, for his stable had been swept of them. Like a thief in the night, certain other good brethren, walking through dry places seeking their "spirits," entereth in and possesseth themselves of his. Thereupon he goeth after that which was lost until he findeth the box in the back yard of one of his neighbors and the bottles in the oats boxes of certain others. Woe unto you, good brethren, whom the perfume of the hop wine made to forsake the straight and narrow path! And woe unto him that hath no rule over his own "spirit!"

JULY WEDDINGS.—The wedding of Miss Mary Green and Mr. James R. Hughes took place in the Presbyterian church on Wednesday at half past eleven.

No invitations to the church were issued, as Mr. Hughes and his father, because of the latter's many years of identification with the Academy during the more recent of which his son has been associated with him, number their friends not by the score but the hundreds and many showed their appreciation of the privilege thus openly extended. A day of mingled cloud and sunshine makes the sun seem to shine all the more brightly and if its brightness is any presage of the fairness awaiting Mr. Hughes and his bride in their new life, it will be all that anyone could wish them. A short recital by Miss Neubaker entertained the assembling guests until the bridal party arrived. The ushers were Messrs. J. Harris Green, brother of the bride; Charles S. Hughes, of Baltimore, brother of the groom; J. Malcolm Laurie, Hardman P. Harris, Harris E. Heylman and Jay Woodcock all of Bellefonte.

The bride was very becomingly dressed in a mauve colored going-away gown, made in train with a white satin yoke. The hat to match was trimmed with deep crimson roses. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Her twin sister, Emma, was maid of honor and wore a green dress with white yoke, in train. Her hat was white leg-horn trimmed with white chiffon and wings and she carried pink roses. The ushers and maid of honor preceded the bride and her father to the front pew where they were met by Mr. Hughes and his best man, Mr. Tarleton Goldthwaite, of New York city, a Harvard graduate of '91. Mr. Hughes led his bride to the altar where they were married by Rev. Dr. Laurie, assisted by Rev. J. P. Hughes, father of the groom. A wedding breakfast was served at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. F. Potts Green, of East Linn St. As there has been a recent death in the bride's family only the wedding party, the immediate families and a very few friends were there.

Owing to the prominence and popularity of the bride and groom and his connection with the Academy, weeks of planning by the young men and women of the Academy had led to elaborate plans for the proper conveyance and entertainment of the bridal party to the station; but these they skillfully eluded by a circuitous route through by-ways to Axe Mann where they got on the train.

They will spend the summer at Cape May, N. J.

KENNEDY-AUSTIN.—John C. Kennedy, of Williamsport, who was here for a time associated with Joseph Runkle in the plumbing business, was married to Miss Elsie Austin, of Centre Hall, on Tuesday, the 4th, by Rev. Dr. Stephens. The marriage took place, at noon, at the Methodist parsonage on Linn street. Miss Margery Lieb was bridesmaid and Claud Moore best man. After the ceremony a delightful wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mitchell Lieb, on Willow-bank street, from which the young people departed amid congratulations and good wishes for their honeymoon at Eagle's Mere.

The bride has made her home at Wm. Dawson's, on Spring street, for several years and among her wedding presents was a handsome silver tea set from the boarders at the house. The groom is an energetic, estimable, young man employed at his trade in Williamsport.

The marriage of Miss Millie Davis and Jacob Barlett was solemnized on Thursday evening, the 30th ult., at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Jacob Jury, by Rev. Allen Rhen.

Robert Clarence Daley and his bride, Miss Anna R. Candy, who were married at Johnsonburg recently, are spending their honeymoon with Mr. Daley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Daley, at Romola.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.—Here, was about as exciting as the ordinary Sabbath. The day was perfect, but neither the blue sky nor enticing breeze stirred up the eagle one bit. His tail feathers drooped all day and scarcely a singing did they get. A few flags were displayed but literally speaking "was only the popping and sizzling and banging of powder that kept the fires of patriotism burning."

In contrast to the Fourth of July one year ago—the day after Cervera's fleet was captured—the celebration was dead quiet. But then the good elders, who led the parade last year, and most every one else, who could go, were out of town. Some were at Hecla, more were at Lock Haven and many picnicked privately on the mountains round about.

At Lock Haven they did it up right. They had bands galore and crowds in store. They had bicycle races and balloon ascensions, lots of accidents and a great big parade. Everything in fact that goes to make up a jubilee and we might add—jamboree for some of our citizens, who colored up with fire water down there, are still celebrating.

At Hecla park the Undines had a most successful picnic. Far more so than was anticipated with the counter-attractions elsewhere. The committee, W. T. Royer, chairman, John Houser, John Morgan, Joe Cushing, and William Runkle worked hard but achieved much. Their day was without an unpleasantness, and they cleared for their fire company more than $350.

John Teats won both bicycle races. Frank Woomeer took second prize in the one mile race and Charles Larimer second in the two-third mile race. The base ball game resulted in the Mackeyville boys defeating the Bellefonte team by a score of 7 to 6.

It would be well for the editor were there more men in State College township, like Wm. C. Myers, who showed his appreciation of our efforts by subscribing for this paper. He wants to be ahead of the times and we hope he and Mrs. Myers will take many more drives to Bellefonte if each one means a visit to our office.

Mr. Alfred Hays, Ashton, Mo., Dr. George Hays, Pittsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Babbs, Mrs. Charles Sterns, Mrs. Clancy, and Mr. John Hays, Williamsport; Mr. James McGill, Danville; Mrs. George Cadwallader, Sunbury; Dr. William Henderson, Philadelphia; Dr. James Henderson, Osceola and Mr. Augustus Henderson, of Lemont, were among those from a distance who attended the funeral of the late William Wallace Hays.

HEALTHY SIGNS.—Some of our doctors drive such swell and stylish turnouts that we are concerned lest strangers think this an unhealthy place, when we are supposed to be booming it as a health resort for crowded out industries and every other weakness that needs reviving. "Why! it is distressingly healthy," so one of our doctors themselves said—and we fully believe even now. Unlike Thomas we have no doubts on the subject and talk of what we know.

It is the caliber and "stick-to-it-iveness" of the men and not the climate that was instrumental in bring about all these fine carryalls and gigs. Dr. John Sebring drives his rounds with two blooded horses and as fine a physician's pheon as we have ever seen. It is after the Stanhope pattern with solid rubber tires.

Dr. R. G. Hays' latest acquisition is a stylish Buffalo pneumatic tired road wagon and a horse that shows and goes with anything in the town. Dr. Locke's fancy runs to broughams and liveries, resembling in style and quality those used by millionaires. And all our many other doctors are booming out with prosperity.

A PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—On Thursday afternoon, about 3 o'clock, as Joseph Keleher, conductor of the yard shifter here, was cautioning and showing a new brake-man about coupling the cars, when on a curve his left hand was caught between the bumpers and badly crushed. Dr. Harris dressed the injured hand and the young man is now taking an enforced rest at his home in Tyrone. Joe had been working for ten years for a promotion and the day it went into effect the accident happened.

Miss Marion Neving formerly of this place but now of Sioux City, Ia., is in Tyrone visiting her relatives preparatory to sailing in September as a foreign missionary worker for the Presbyterian church. Miss Neving is a sister of Sam. Neving, who was for several years connected with the First National Bank in this place and who is now doing well in the same work in Buffalo.

Awnings and Tents.

F. Peebles Greene has for a number of years, put out quite a lot of work in the line of tents and awnings. He also handles second-hand tents—such as have been used once or twice, which he sells at half the regular price of new ones, as for instance, a 10x12 wall tent can be had for $7.50. Hunters and fishermen will be glad to learn of this and we take pleasure in giving them the tip.
