THROWN FROM A WAGON AND KILLED.—Mrs. Sallie Rider, wife of W. McClintick Rider, of Marengo, this county, was killed in a very shocking manner, near Warriorsmark, last Thursday evening. She had been in Bellefonte that day to make arrangements about an excursion to Niagara Falls, but after arriving here she changed her plans and started to return home by way of Tyrone. Arriving at the latter place Mrs. Rider met her two nephews, Arthur Ellenberger and Samuel Hill, aged 19 and 14 respectively, who had come to town in a spring wagon and she decided to drive home with them in preference to waiting for the train over the Lewisburg and Tyrone road.

Everything went well until they reached the farm of Eli Grant, near Warriorsmark. There the boys stopped to water the team at the public watering trough. Both jumped from the wagon to unrein the horses, leaving their aunt seated alone in the rear seat. When the animals had been unreined the off side one turned its head and saw the umbrella which Mrs. Rider was holding over her as a sun shade. It was badly frightened and dashed away with young Ellenberger hanging to its nose. The other horse took up the runaway pace and the boy tried in vain to control them, but after he had been dragged several hundred yards he was knocked down and the team sped away with Mrs. Rider, helpless in the wagon. With rare presence of mind she grabbed up the lines and undertook to turn the horses onto a hill near the Daniel Eyer place, but in doing so the wagon was upset. She plunged headlong into the road, the wagon turned over on her and she was dragged under it about ten feet before the horses broke loose.

When taken from her imprisonment Mrs. Rider was dead. There was a great gash in her forehead, her neck was dislocated and there were several bruises on her body, though no bones were broken.

Her body was taken to the home of her father, Zachariah Lower, in Warriorsmark, where it was prepared for the burial on Sunday afternoon. She was 36 years old and had been married for eight years. She leaves no children.

The team that caused the terrible accident belongs to Geo. W. Ellenberger, of Marengo.

HUNTINGDON TO HAVE A FAIR THIS FALL.—For the first time in many years the farmers, growers, breeders, artists and mechanics in all branches in Huntingdon county will have an opportunity to show the progress and advancement they have made in their various callings by patronizing in person and by their productions the Huntingdon county fair, which will be held on the spacious grounds of the Huntingdon driving park association on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, August 30th, 31st and September 1st. The farmers and breeders especially should be interested in this enterprise, and fully alive to the substantial benefits that will accrue to them by their generous attendance and exhibits. There will be ample accommodations for all exhibitors, and plenty attractions offered. Generous cash prizes will be given.

A SHORT MEETING OF COUNCIL.—Only six members of council were present at the meeting on Monday night and very little business of importance was transacted.

The Water and Street committees both reported the routine work of their departments and then the Finance committee presented a statement showing that the balance of $6,420.53 due the treasurer on July 3rd had grown to $7,266.08 by August 7th. Market clerk Joel Johnson turned in $18.00 market fees and then a petition to have Armor street opened from Linn to Howard was turned over to the Street committee for investigation.

Under the head of new business the matter of charging residents of the townships for water taken from the town pipes was taken up and discussed. It was finally decided to charge for same at the rate of 15cts per barrel.

The WATCHMAN is of the opinion that council would have done itself more credit, if it had said to the country people: Come in and take all the water you need. Nature has given us a superabundance and it would ill become us to be selfish with it. The idea of charging 15cts a barrel is too picayunish for Bellefonte. The country people do not propose to make a practice of coming here to haul away water. It is only a temporary extremity that forces them to do so and out of our abundance we ought to be glad to tide them over such droughts as necessitate their hauling water for domestic purposes and their stock. It is true that the strain on the pumps at the water works is very heavy at this season of the year and it keeps them running continuously, night and day, to keep up the supply, but of what consequence are the few barrels that are hauled away by distressed country folk and won't the citizens feel happy to think that they are 30 or 45cts richer when they see a wagon loaded with barrels leaving the town.

There is no danger of the water hauling practice being general from all parts of the county and it will only last during the drought, so rescind your action, gentlemen of the council and do not leave Bellefonte to suffer the stigma of having charged for a gift that nature has been so lavish in giving her.

After approving the following bills council adjourned.

After an absence of a quarter of a century Rev. D. M. Moser preached in the Lutheran church on Sunday. A large congregation greeted him and as he reminded his hearers of the pleasant years spent here in his childhood days and his thankfulness at being at home again, he indeed seemed to have inherited his aged father's mantle. With his unaffected manner, good language and forcible thought he made a deep impression and at the close of the service most of the congregation crowded around to express their appreciation of his sermon. From here he goes to Altoona, to-day, to visit his aged mother.

A number of old citizens—male and female—have passed to the other side within the past ten months in and around Centre Hall. Among those brought to recollection are Grandmother Miller, Mrs. Keller, William Wolf, Daniel Fleisher, Simon Harper and Mrs. B. Richards, in middle life, in the borough; Mrs. Stiver, Centre Hill; Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Nees, Farmers Mill; Mr. Burrell and Mrs. Zeigler, Penn Hall.

The item of last week in reference to the borough water was questioned by some parties of whom nothing else could be expected as to truth. By finding fault as to expression the truth in the premises was wont to be hidden. No one, however, was deceived. The writer will not purposely misrepresent any one—high or low, he will not purposely mistake facts, but the truth, he will tell without fear or favor. The truth in the item of last week referred to this: Fred Kurtz Sr., was cut off the borough water mains for wilfully wasting water, he was fined ten dollars; the next day and ever since, without any additional springs being added, the patrons on the borough water line were well served; the next day upon several tests the water had reached the highest point in the borough, i. e., that of F. A. Foreman's residence. These facts are indisputable.

Corn and potatoes in the immediate vicinity of this place are suffering greatly for want of moisture, and unless rain comes speedily the crops will be poor and very poor. In some sections of the valley a heavy rain fell Saturday afternoon, which reached town within two and one-half miles, the tapering off of the precipitation beginning about postmaster Boal's farm, south of town. The Loop had a good shower, as also had the section about Potters Mills. Oats are about all cut and housed. The crop is good, and was secured in splendid condition. The dry weather is also seriously interfering with the preparation of the seed bed for fall seeding. Pasture is failing more than for several years, the scant second growth on the hay fields is withering. Many cattle are being fed in the barns on hay and grain. The prospects for clover-seed are none in this valley. Grapes are drying on the vines, and garden truck is on the stand still. Corn on the ridges is drying up. The lower leaves are dying and the upper ones are curling up. Many of the corn ears are not more than two-thirds filled with grains.
