

A BAD WRECK ON THE BALD EAGLE.

A bursting car wheel wrecked an east bound freight train on the Bald Eagle valley, near Fowler, about 3 o'clock Monday morning and nine cars were piled up, some of them being a total wreck.

William Stonebraker, of Tyrone, a brakeman on the train was the only person injured. He was taken out with his arm broken in two places and suffering from other injuries.

The wreck caused a delay in the traffic on the valley. It was almost noon when the first train got through to this place.

The Hibernians from Williamsport picnicked at Hecla park yesterday.

The Bald Eagle valley Presbyterian charges met at Mill Hall on Sunday and elected Rev. Brown, of Danville, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the former pastor, Rev. Pomevoy.

The Logans took the prize for being the best looking company in the parade at the firemen's convention last week, and they deserved it. After their big picnic at Hunter's park next Wednesday everybody will vote them the prize for having had the best picnic in the county.

A NEW THEORY ADVANCED.—In congratulating a Lock Haven grand-parent over the arrival of a baby boy at his son's house, on Saturday, the Democrat of that city published the article under the startling heading: "Fell From His Hay-Mow."

To say the least this is a highly unique caption for such an event and the Democrat takes front rank in originality of ideas as to the primitive abode of little ones. We have always been under the impression that the good old family "doctor brings them" or else they are found out in the woods riding lions or other wild animals, but this is the first case on record of one's having dropped from a hay-mow into the lap of maternity.

MEETING OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE VETERAN CLUB.—The executive committee of the Veteran Club of Centre Co., met on Saturday last, Aug. 12th, at 10:30 a. m., in the office of the secretary, president James A. Beaver, in the chair. Saturday, Sept. 16th, was adopted for the time of the twenty-fifth annual reunion of the club, at Grange park, Centre Hall.

On motion, committees were appointed as follows: On transportation, John I. Curtin, Geo. Boal, and S. H. Williams; on preparing coffee for soldiers and their families, Geo. Boal, D. E. Brisbin, and Geo. Sweeney; on speakers, J. A. Beaver, John A. Daley, and S. B. Miller. Adjourned.

THE GRAY REUNION.—Friday, August 11th, a party of fifty gathered at the home of Mrs. Isaac Gray, of Buffalo Run, for the day. All were Grays, or pretended to be, for it was a reunion of the descendants of John and Mary Gray at the old homestead. Their family numbers ninety-four, but a large majority were absent, while a few other friends added to the pleasure of the occasion by their presence.

With music and games and snap shots the time sped and too quickly. The oldest member of the family living is Mr. Samuel T. Gray who, though in feeble health, entered heartily into the spirit of the day. Among the friends from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Emeric, Harrisburg; Mrs. George Glenn and children, Gettysburg; Rev. and Mrs. Frank Hartsock, Plains; and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Vanderhoof, Canal Fulton, Ohio.

TO ALL CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIETIES IN THE COUNTY.—It is with great pleasure we call your attention to the annual convention of Centre county C. E. Union, which will be held in Unionville Aug. 26th and 27th. Every effort is being put forth to make this convention one of the best ever held in our county and we trust we shall receive the co-operation of every society in the county. If your society has never been represented see that it is this time. This is your convention, it belongs to every society in the Union, and it is your privilege and duty to be represented.

No one can afford to miss this convention, a feast of good things is in store for you and your society. We will have with us state president Eberman and state secretary McDonald, besides others of equal ability.

The first session will be held on Saturday at 2 p. m., the convention closing Sunday evening.

We say to all, come! Let us work together and this convention must and will become a blessing to every individual participating in it.

Please send number and names of your delegates as early as possible to Mrs. Carrie Rowan, Fleming, Pa., and whatever contribution your society can send, and we trust it will be a liberal one, to Miss Rose Levy, Milesburg, Pa. The rate of board is one dollar per day.

A copy of the above letter has been sent to all societies where the name of the corresponding secretary was known to the county secretary. Those societies who did not receive a copy of this letter will confer a great favor by at once sending to Miss Elizabeth J. Stroop, Milesburg, Pa., the name and address of their corresponding secretary.

All societies in the county are earnestly requested to send as many delegates to this convention as possible, and it is hoped that every society will be represented and that we may all meet together as Christians endeavoring to do what God would have us do and may His presence be with us and make us more earnest and zealous in our work. J. A. PRATT, President, ELIZABETH J. STROOP, Cor. Secretary.

The treasury of the Pine Hall Lutheran church was enriched to the amount of eighty dollars by the proceeds of last Saturday's picnic and festival.

Miss Hattie Musser, of Altoona, who came down for a month's visit, was called home last Saturday by the death of her grandmother Mrs. F. E. Meek.

Miss Ella Livingston, of Tyrone, is visiting the friends of her childhood here, before beginning her year's work in the school room to which she has just been re-elected.

Adam Rishel, one of Pennsvalley's well known retired farmers, is suffering with heart trouble and dropsy and is in such a condition that his friends are greatly concerned about him.

The lawn social at the Lutheran parsonage is to be held on the evening of the 23rd. The Methodist Episcopal church will have its festival on Saturday evening, the 19th. The proceeds for the benefit of the parsonage.

After a pleasant visit of ten days in and about town, Rev. D. M. Moser left Monday morning for Altoona where he was astounded to find his only brother, George, quarantined on account of the small pox and his aged mother, who is 87 years old, quite ill.

The Bloom reunion, Saturday the 10th, in the grove at Bloomsdorf is attracting much attention in this community. Those who have the arrangements in charge are going to make a banner day of the celebration and everyone and all their friends are cordially invited to be present. It promises to surpass anything of the kind undertaken this year.

After a whole year's skirmishing Newton J. Bell has finally suited himself with a farm and has become the owner of the Waite farm up at Edon Hill. The farm is a fertile one and well improved and the price paid was six thousand dollars, but oh! the taxes. Since the deal was made he has been offered the Porter and Andy Oliver farms at the same figures.

Mr. Asher Sankey, one of Potter township's progressive farmers, and his excellent better half enjoyed Charley Smith's hospitality last Saturday and attended the Pine Hall picnic, where they had the pleasure of meeting many old friends. Mr. Sankey was for years one of our old school marms and has a warm place in her heart for youngsters, especially those she used to trounce with the rod.

Workmen are busy erecting a twenty foot stone tower with a six foot face at the Mountain Inn in Shingletown gap. The main building is 32x20 feet surrounded by mountain peaks and immense forest trees so that the outlook from verandas and widows is delightful and charming. The Inn is a most restful place for either the sick or well to spend an outing.

As we have the reputation of being strictly truthful the veracity of the following snake story need not be doubted. On Monday, as Miss Cora, daughter of Hon. J. T. McCormick, was walking over the farm she suddenly found herself in a colony or den of snakes, and bravely calling for her younger sister was able with the latter's assistance to kill forty-two of the reptiles. The heroines are still looking for other laurels and at this stage of the game they are entitled to the belt.

Prof. G. W. Weaver, of Clearfield, is confined to bed at the home of Mary Hess, on Main St., from the effects of heat prostration. While walking from the Tyrone station to the City hotel, on last Friday, he felt the heat greatly and his wife noticed that he staggered slightly but was not alarmed, as he made no complaint until later she noticed his extreme pallor while resting in the lobby of the hotel. He was brought to Fairbrook on the afternoon train and has had every attention and care that science or thought could suggest. Dr. Woods thinks he has passed the danger line but as yet no one is allowed to visit him.

JOHN GRIMES DEAD.—On Tuesday morning Father Grimes, the oldest resident of this part of the county, died at his home on the White Hall road after many months of suffering with a general breakdown incident to old age. Some months ago he fell from a colt he was training and broke his hip, which no doubt shortened his days but for many months he had been poorly in health and as he had lived almost a quarter of a century past the time allotted man he was not able to recuperate from the accident.

He was born in Northampton county near Bethlehem, Nov. 18th, 1806, and when but a mere boy came here with his father's family and settled in that part of the township which was known as Northampton as its settlers, the Krummises, Corls, Lauckes and Strousses, were all from that county. The journey from Northampton county was made in wagons and took six days, and his fund of information of those pioneer days was most entertaining. By his industrious habits, his frugal life and honest dealings, he won the respect of everyone and to the day of his death was esteemed as one of the old time citizens; honest, industrious and upright. In church affairs he was a staunch adherent of the Lutheran denomination and in politics an uncompromising Democrat. His first presidential vote was for And. Jackson and from that down he voted the straight Democratic ticket. A short time before his death it was our privilege to spend some time with him and although he had been bed ridden for months and was almost blind and deaf, his mind was as bright as ever and not one word of complaint did any one hear him utter.

Of his four children only two are living, George, at home, and Mrs. Hannah Royer, of near Woodward. He was buried on Wednesday at 2 o'clock in the Pine Hall cemetery with Rev. C. T. Alkous officiating, and many neighbors and friends showed their respect for the old patriarch by their presence.

Centre Hall.

The Long Bros. laundry at the station is doing a good business.

The Sunday schools of the town held their annual picnic in the public school house park Thursday.

A. S. Kerlin, who has been in delicate health for the past few months, is yet unable to leave the house.

Mrs. H. G. Strohmeier returned from the German hospital, Philadelphia, last week and is gradually recovering.

Dr. Alexander, of this place, and his brother Christ Alexander, of Millheim, were in Philadelphia over Sunday.

The railroad company is filling up about the station with slag shipped from the Bellefonte furnace. A very good idea.

Messrs E. M. Huyett, Ed Nearhood and F. W. Crawford and their families spent Wednesday picnicking in the Seven mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Wise attended the funeral of Mrs. Wise's father, Nelson Biddle, of Cowan, on Thursday, who died Tuesday.

Harry Yearick and his young son, of Philadelphia, are spending their annual vacation with W. B. Mingle, his brother-in-law, Chas. Sheffer, of Williamsport, is taking a practical course in Wilson's creamery in this place. The Wilson butter has a good reputation abroad.

A little girl of Milton Snyder, aged five years, has been seriously ill for some time. Drs. Alexander and Hayes diagnosed the case appendicitis.

Wm. Keller and family, of Munson Station, are visiting among relatives in town. Mr. Keller is a druggist and conducts a drug store at that place.

Messrs Andy Smith, Salona, and Howard Homan, of Williamsport, stopped with Lyman Smith last week. The latter will stay about town for some time.

Mrs. H. J. Boon, of Schenectady, N. Y., will be here this week with her little daughter Alice on a four weeks' visit to her parents. Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Brisbin.

George Royer is having his house put under roof and finished up. Clem Luse has the brick layers casing his house, which promises to be stylish in appearance.

Russel, a little son of J. Wittmer Smith, of Bellefonte, while here with his mother, at his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Smith's, took very ill Sunday but has recovered.

Dr. Scott Huff and wife, of Milesburg, spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. F. M. Crawford. Dr. Huff is one of the visiting practitioners before whom there is a bright prospect.

Everything to transpire in the future is dated before and after the Grange picnic, which begins Sept. 15th. The management is making an effort to have the coming picnic superior to any.

Drayman McClellan's horse, who did many a good day's service for him fagged one day last week under the intense heat. Another horse was purchased at the Millheim horse sale by McClellan.

Lud Hamilton Goodhart, a bright little lad and son of Jas. Goodhart, of Lewistown, summering with his uncle, ex-commissioner G. L. Goodhart, and with that gentleman spent Saturday afternoon in town.

The switch board in the Commercial exchange is being refitted and completed. Misses Grace Smith and Maybell Keller are the efficient and obliging operators. A phone is being placed in the railroad station.

The railroad engine set fire to the oats stubbles on the field below the Fort on Wednesday and it took considerable effort on the part of the trackmen and others to extinguish the fire before doing great damage to fences and property.

Noah Cronemiller, of Bellefonte, attended the funeral of Mr. Harper, and stayed over a day with his life long personal friend, B. H. Arney. Mr. Cronemiller years ago was a popular clerk in the Herlicher store, in the old Durst stand, which some few years ago was burned.

George Weaver, of Penns Cave, was up in town Saturday night and was initiated into the mysteries of Odd Fellowship. Weaver made a gallant fight for the registration of the county at the recent primaries, and although defeated, will stand up for the whole ticket like any good Democrat ought to do.

Rev. Howard W. Diller, rector of the Episcopal church, of Remov, was in town this week the guest of Prof. J. D. Meyer, a clum at Franklin and Marshall. Prof. Meyer has just returned from Chautauqua, N. Y., where he has been for the past two weeks taking a course in English Literature and Language, preparatory to entering upon the duties of the principalship of the Bellefonte high school.

The barn on the premises of John Bible, near Sprucetown, occupied by Mike Confer, took fire Tuesday shortly after noon and was burned to the ground. Together with the feed and grain, the implements, wagons, a mare and colt were burned. A wagon loaded with manure stood in front of the barn and before it could be removed the heat became so intense that it had to be left and was consumed by the fiery elements. There was no insurance. The loss will fall heavily on tenant and landlord.

Messrs Lyman Smith and Ed. Foreman each purchased building lots on the east side of Main street, below the splendid mansion being erected by Dr. G. W. Hosterman. These men are young carpenters, and good mechanics they are, and expect some time in the future to erect dwelling houses on the lots purchased. By the way, it was Ed Foreman and not Luse who was the contractor of the Pine Stump school house, which was accepted by the school board last Saturday. The cost of the building was $287. The furniture and other fixtures will amount to about an additional $100.

Many of the farmers through the valley, and especially between here and Potters Mills and the Loop, have been compelled to haul water, cisterns and wells being entirely dry. James A. Keller has a dry well which has heretofore held out against all drouths. In the town the borough water has been holding out remarkably well. The town was well supplied since the last writing and if a few more suspected "leaks" could be stopped, there would be no complaints of scarcity of water. The iron pipes came the other day which will be used to pipe a large spring of water from the mountain tract at Samuel Brons into the upper reservoir. With this additional water there will be no fear of a water famine, and the four parties yet connected with the old water companies will no doubt detach.

Wm. Colyer is the man who keeps the station end of town moving.

His saw mill, head and stave mill, equipped with the best machinery, is constantly running, giving employment to a goodly number of men and boys. He has been sawing the walnut logs in suitable sizes for shipment to Germany for a party who has been gathering up all the timber to be found in the valley during the past season. Nothing is wasted. Every particle of wood that can be utilized is worked up into one or the other kind of his products. All the light part of the walnut logs, which is refused for shipment to the foreign country, is sawed up into many different sizes and shipped to table and tool handle factories. Besides this plant, Mr. Colyer has several other saw mills in operation and all together works up a large quantity of timber for many different purposes.

Since writing the above an accident happened at Colyer's mill that might have cost the lives of half a dozen men. A very large walnut log was being sawed into an octagonal block, and the forty-six inch saw in use was not large enough to saw off the first slab. The log was run back in the groove cut by the saw, and in doing this the motion of the slab caused the saw to cut into it and not being firm the saw took a diagonal course and twisted it, which caused it to break. There was a buzz, buzz, whiz, zip, flip, flop, squeak, snap and cracking about there that gave the half dozen workmen who had just assisted in turning the log and the writer as a spectator notice to take immediate leave, which was done without debate. The pieces of saw and machinery flew in every direction, and it is providential that all the witnesses are here to tell the story. Work on the mill was delayed long enough for a saw from one of Colyer's other mills to be put in place, when everything went on as usual.

The borough public schools will open Sept. 4th, instead of waiting until after the Grange picnic is over, as was the custom for the past few years. This arrangement will close the schools earlier in the spring and give a better opportunity to secure scholars for a subscription school. The board voted, under protest by some of the members, a term of seven months, the minimum under the state law. It is thought by many, and the opinion is shared in by the writer, that the borough should have a longer school term, at least nine or, better, ten months. This could be carried into effect without much additional expense. Like all boroughs, the school tax here is high, but with a bit of manipulation the term could be extended two or three months without increasing the tax rate perceptibly. The additional term would come at a time when the item of fuel would be eliminated, which amounts to considerable. Again the instructors could be secured for a less rate per month if the term was extended. An extension of the school term could be commended for many reasons. It would largely depopulate our streets, stores and workshops of youngsters who would vastly better be seated in a comfortable school room, presided over by a competent, gentlemanly and christian tutor; a longer school term would make better men and women in the future; more parents would be reasonably sure of the whereabouts of their children for a longer period which ought, in itself, be compensation royal. The tuition saved by discharging subscription schools added to the revenues derived by permitting scholars from outside the district to enter the schools would go a great way toward defraying the extra cost of maintaining the schools for the proposed lengthened period. This, of course, would be possible only if our school system was nearer perfect. Why should young men and ladies preparing to teach or enter college be compelled to go elsewhere for that preparation? There was a time when the reverse was the case, and why should not that happy condition be restored? It can be, it ought to be, but, will it be? The question lies wholly with the school board for solution.

Charles Beck left for Remov last week, where he will work in the car shops. Mr. Gregory, of Harrisburg, general agent for the Huber threshing machines, made a business visit to our valley last Tuesday. Calvin Auman, one of Brush valley's enterprising threshers, last Monday received a brand new Huber machine manufactured at Marion, O. He is now prepared to do first class work for any of the farmers who may be in need of his service. J. C. Morris made a trip to Aaronsburg last Saturday afternoon to attend a meeting of the Haines increasing dairy board in the interest of the Christopher Sower Pub. Co., Philadelphia. Cal is a hustler who handles only first class publications. He ought to succeed.

Last Saturday evening this section was struck by the severest hail storm in 37 years. For about half an hour there was a lively pattering of hailstones varying in size from a hazel nut to a good sized walnut. Gardens and corn fields were considerably damaged and some window panes broken.

Appointments of the Rebersburg Lutheran pastor, Rev. H. C. Salom pastor, Aug. 19th, 2:30 p. m. Rebersburg, preparatory services, text Luke 7: 37, 38, theme, "The Woman that was a Sinner." The G. A. R. picnic, last Saturday, was an enjoyable affair, especially so to the soldiers. No speakers had been invited and the forenoon was spent by recalling and relating war experiences. After partaking of a hearty dinner an experience meeting was held at which all of the veterans were called on to speak. Quite a number responded and thus the afternoon sped quickly by. After the speaking the soldiers adjourned, most of them reaching home before the hail storm which struck here at about five o'clock.

Mr. H. E. Bierly who had been attending a two weeks term of summer school at Clark's University, Boston, has returned and expresses himself as highly gratified with the course of lectures, as well as with his own work while there. He brought with him rare physiological and biological specimens worthy the results of his own labor, which he says could not be bought for several hundred dollars. These specimens he will use in his teaching at the State Seminary Tallahassee, Fla., to which place he will return in about three weeks.

Madisonburg. Miss White, of Bellefonte, is the guest of Wilson Hartz's this week.

William Royer, of Centre Hall, paid our town his regular visit on Saturday.

Quite a number of our people expect to see something of Sugar valley camp meeting on the coming Sunday.

A refreshing rain passed through here on Saturday just in time for some of the corn. A good bit is dying off on account of the dry weather we had.

Mrs. Anna Reber and Miss Crouse, both of Vicksburg, returned to their home on Monday; after spending a week with the former's mother, Mrs. Feidler.

Oliver Gramley, wife and two children, of Cedarville, Ill., were visitors in our town last week. Mr. Gramley was one of our boys but went West when quite young.

It is rumored that Mrs. Sadie Wolfe will add a tailoring department to her millinery and dress-making establishment. The new work is to be under the supervision of a Mr. Miller.

The festival by the Lutheran Sunday school on Saturday evening was a success for all that the weather was not favorable. The people assembled in our spacious town hall and had a good time all the same.

School.

When Williamsport Dickinson Seminary was founded money making was the last thought of its promoters. To give the young men and women thorough intellectual instruction and careful moral training at the lowest possible cost was the paramount aim. Still remains its paramount aim. New buildings have been added, the equipment has been enlarged, the faculty broadened step by step, but still remains true to its first principles. It is a Home and Christian School, but not sectarian. It provides for health and social culture as carefully as for intellectual and moral training, taking a personal interest in each pupil and adjusting methods to believing that true education seeks to develop the highest type of manhood and womanhood. Athletics directed by a trained athlete make ball-field and gymnasium of real value. Nine regular courses, with elective studies, if desired, offer wide selection, while 17 skilled teachers classify and instruct, making school work other than drudgery. Music, Art, Elocution may be studied with other branches or alone under teachers with best European and home training. Home, with tuition in regular studies, $25.00 a year, with discounts to ministers, teachers and two from same family. Fall term opens Sep. 4, 1899. Catalogues free. Address

Spring Mills.

Politics in the valley is very quiet, probably it's the calm which precedes the storm.

Wm. Smith, of Smith Bros. the furniture dealers of our village, left last week on a visit to Johnstown, Pa.

Operations for coal in our immediate neighborhood still continue, but as yet the prospects are not very flattering.

The Spring Mills planing mill company have been shipping manufactured work quite heavily of late. The company is doing a large business. The potato crop in this section of Penns valley is a large one and also in size. Potatoes weighing from a pound to over a pound and a half are common.

The water in Penns creek is very low. In many places in Sinking creek the bed is entirely dry. Our wells, too, are beginning to show a water famine.

Our deputy, the accomplished daughter of postmaster J. D. Long, and her sister, Mrs. Robert Meese, left, on Thursday, last for a brief visit to Philadelphia and the sea shore.

Wilbur Leathers, the able manager of the skimming station located here, having been on a visit to his home at Mt. Eagle, looking after his fruit trees and other interests, returned on Sunday last. During his absence the station was in charge of B. J. Wilson, one of the firm. The concern has been in operation a trifle over a month and has been doing considerable business and increasing daily. The plant is thoroughly equipped with all new and the latest improved machinery which enables them to conduct the skimming business in the most thorough and expeditious manner. Telephone communications were introduced with the building on Tuesday last.
