

John H. Rollman, aged 46 years, died at his home at Vall about noon Sunday, after a long illness with dropsy and heart trouble, as produced by an attack of grip last winter. He was a veteran of the 93rd Penna. Vols. and is survived by a widow, with one son and one daughter. Interment was made at Tyrone on Tuesday.

A RAILROAD MAN'S PRAYER.—The following is a prayer that was handed us by one of the C. R. R. of Pa., men and while he did not say that it was his own we know there are some employees on that line who will say "Amen" when they read it.

"O, Lord, now that I have flagged Thee, lift up my feet from the rough road of life and plant them safely on the deck of the train of salvation. Let me use the safety lamp, known as prudence, make all the couplings in the train with the strong link of Thy love, and let my hand lamp be the Bible. And Heavenly Father, keep all the switches closed that lead off on sidings, especially those with a blind end. O, Lord, if it be Thy pleasure, have every semaphore block along the line show the white light of hope, that I may make the run of life without stopping. And, Lord give us the ten commandments for a schedule; and when I have finished the run on schedule time, pulled into the great dark station of death, may Thy, the Superintendent of the universe, say 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant: come and sign the pay roll and receive your check for eternal happiness.'"

Joe Kelley, of Reedsville, stated that he would make an effort to buy a car of fat hogs to ship from this station this week.

Perry Brown, who lives on the Huston farm east of town, has seventy acres of corn to husk. The crop with him is from poor to fair.

Rev. Rhoades, pastor of the United Evangelical church, accompanied by his good wife, is in Philadelphia for a two weeks stay on business and pleasure.

George Stover, at Earllystown, had the misfortune to lose a good young horse. D. P. Houser had one die for him last week. Two items to the loss column.

The township public school opened for a seven months' term on Monday. The affairs of the township board are conducted in an economical and business like manner.

Adam Stahl, of near Newton Hamilton, will make his home with his son James Stahl, just west of the borough line. Mr. Stahl is a well preserved man although advanced in years.

Mrs. J. W. McCormick returned to her home in Charleston, S. C., last week. Her father, D. J. Meyer, went with her as far as Millersburg and on his way back took in the Lewisburg fair.

The evaporator company shipped a car of ten tons of white stock to market. They have a large quantity of waste and chops on hand yet. The firm has expended considerable over one thousand dollars, and the season has just fairly opened.

Mrs. Lucy Henney and her son Wilbur, Mrs. W. A. Sandoe, Mr. and Mrs. Boob, are in Philadelphia. The latter's daughter, Grace—accompanied them as far as Millersburg, where she is the guest of Mrs. C. H. Meyer.

Messrs. J. G. Dauberman Jr., and S. W. Smith recently had shipped to them from an Ohio breeder a registered short-horn bull. He has had many callers, all of whom pronounce him first-class in general make up and color. With express added he cost close to the hundred mark.

Miss Sue Shelley will give an elocutionary entertainment in grange hall Saturday night. Part of the proceeds will be distributed among the various missionary societies of the town and the balance will go to Miss Shelley for a missionary in the interest of the Evangelical church.

While George Gingerich was acting right hand man for Hon. Leonard Rhoades during the picnic at the cattle sheds he had no idea that anybody would have gall enough to steal one of his fattening hogs from his farm, but he has come to that conclusion now. The hog, which was running with the rest of the herd, was missed one day and diligent search was made among neighbors, but nothing could be found of it. The hog was in killing order and it is thought was gobbled up and turned into a crop of early sausage.

Messrs. Ed. Foreman and Lyman Smith slated Wolf's house recently and made a good job of it. At present Messrs. Arney and Stover are painting the dwelling. The color is white. Other improvements will also be made on the premises.

Judging from the condition of hogs at the creamery pens one would come to the conclusion that after the milk passes through the separator there is little feeding value in it. If the hogs had their way they would adopt the old style of milk-setting and churning.

The school board has finally decided to make a change in the course of study in the High school. That is a sensible move, but there is no excuse for having frittered away one school month just to be mulish. The board's actions were so unpopular that it came to the conclusion that to "bust the course" was the only way out to save further humiliation.

Samuel Durst received his annual visit during picnic week from a tramp. The sneak pried open the cellar door one afternoon while the family was attending the picnic and ransacked the whole house. Every drawer in the house was examined and the contents dumped on the floor. Nothing, however, was found missing, except one dollar and seventy-five cents which was taken from a child's safe. Just a year ago Durst had a similar experience. At that time a gold watch and chain and some clothing disappeared. The tramp was arrested, tried and sent to the penitentiary for nearly a year. It is presumed that this visit was by the same person.

The sale of horse and mule colts shipped here from Kentucky took place Monday. The bidding was very slow, especially for horse colts, which brought from sixteen to sixty dollars. These were all roadsters and no doubt there were some good animals among the dozen and one-half sold. The mule colts, all of which were about five months old, were knocked down to various buyers at prices ranging from forty-four to seventy per pair. The mule stock were good specimens, and no doubt the buyers will realize handsomely in a few years.

W. B. Mingle and D. J. Meyer each purchased a pair of horse colts. Christ Alexander, of Millheim, bought three pairs of males and one horse colt; Joe Kelley, of Reedsville, took a bunch of four mules. The McVitts also invested in horse colts and took them to Millin county. The average price of the car was about thirty dollars. The dealer's profit, no doubt, was small after expenses were deducted. He also had the misfortune to lose two animals. One had its foot fastened in the car door when the station was reached and another got its leg through the stock yard fence and broke it. Both were killed.

The Hessians, besides acting the part of hirelings for the English government during the revolution, are credited with being responsible for the Hessian fly in America. Col. George Morgan, of Prospect, N. J., under the impression that the Hessian fly had been introduced into the country by the Hessian troops on Staten and Long Islands, in August, 1776, wrote to the consul general of his Britannic Majesty in the United States under date of August 26th, 1788, as follows:

"I have satisfied myself that the Hessian fly was introduced into America by means of straw, made use of in packages or otherwise, landed on Long Island at an early period of the war. Its first appearance was in the neighborhood of Sir William Howe's debarcation and at Flatbush."

And the Hessian fly isn't the worst relic left by that measly set who aided the throne in its effort to lick our great father—George Washington. Little damage has been done by the fly in this immediate vicinity. The weather has been favorable to the growth of wheat stalks which aids it largely in recovering from the attack of this insect. The wheat stalk is tillering now, and even if the main stalk has been attacked it is not likely that the laterals are, since they made their appearance after the fly season which is from Sept. 1st to 15th, as a rule, that is, with medium early sown grain. To say that "it is unusual for the fly to make its appearance in the fall" shows how little the country editor knows about the habits of this insect. There are always two and sometimes more breeds each year.

EDWARD SMITH.—The death of Edward Smith, which occurred at the home of his uncle, Orlando Fleming, in Bellwood, last Friday morning, is sincerely lamented by his many friends about here, the home of his boyhood. Edward was only seventeen and a promising young boy, loved and respected by everyone who knew him. Last spring he went to Bellwood and entered the mercantile establishment of his uncle, Mr. Fleming, and was getting along very nicely until he was taken sick with typhoid fever. The death of his sister Cora, just eight weeks before, was most depressing to him but the summons found him ready for the change. His body was brought to the home of his parents, on Main street, at State College, on Saturday afternoon and buried from there on Sunday. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Smith, who have been so sorely bereaved this summer that they have the sympathy of the entire community. Rev. Dennison conducted the service at the house and Rev. Noble officiated at the cemetery, where he was laid to rest by the side of his sister whose bright young life was cut off like his, just in its very spring tide.
