THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

—Thanksgiving day this year will fall on November 30th.

—Samuel Gault has secured the contract of building Mrs. N. J. Orblson's two new houses on Curtin street.

—The Woodward stove company expects to build another mill in the Haine's gap, one-half mile west of that place.

—Col. W. Fred Reynolds is arranging to build six frame houses on the street that leads north off of Willowbank street along Spring creek to the creamery.

—While driving cattle home from her father's field Jennie Mowry, daughter of Henry Mowry, of Aronsburg, fell and broke her arm, one day this week.

—"Bill" Walker had an ugly gash cut in his head Tuesday morning by a brick that fell from the scaffolding on the new Stewart barn at the rear of this office.

—Milheim was struck with the foot ball fever, but there is not a foot ball to be found in town, so the patients have to have patience until they can import one.

—John Thompson, a brakeman on the shifter in the Pennsylvania yards here, had the little finger of his right hand cut off last Thursday evening while making a coupling near the round house.

—William H. Rankle, 2nd Ass't, hospital steward of the 47th, U. S. Y., was home from Camp Meade on Friday and Saturday on a two day's furlough. He looks as if he is enjoying army life.

—William Marshall, whose serious illness with typhoid fever was reported in the last issue of this paper, is reported to be out of danger now and will soon be about again, unless he suffers a relapse.

—Jack Nason is authorized for the statement that bear are plentiful in the Alleghenies this year than they have been for some time. He says there are many tracks about his camp and they are eating up D. M. Bilger's sheep, near Phillipsburg.

—While working on a stamping press at the lock works, early Saturday morning, Wm. T. Hillish had the end of the index finger on his left hand cut off. While he lost only about half an inch of finger it was quite enough to make a cripple of him for some time.

—Frank Warfield, general freight and passenger agent of the C. R. R. of Pa., and Ellis L. Orvis, Esq., have taken an option on the Harshberger farm in Bald Eagle valley, with a view to developing the fine deposits of cement rock that are said to be found on it.

—There was less game brought into Bellefonte on Monday than there has on any first day of the season known to the oldest sportsman. Of course the fact that most men are too busy to hunt had something to do with it, but there is no denying the fact that squirrel and pheasants are very scarce.

—There will be a citizen's meeting in the Reliance fire company's house, in Phillipsburg, this evening in order to relieve that company of a predicament it is in. The company owns its engine house, but it is located on leased ground and the lease, having expired, it has been notified to move the building within 90 days.

—An alarm of fire was rung in from the West wall on Saturday morning and in an instant the streets were thronged with people and the races of the fire companies down High street were both exciting and dangerous. A slight fire out at the poor house caused the alarm, but it was put out before the department arrived.

—"The Irish Alderman" to be presented here on Monday, Sept. 23rd, is not a bang about burlesque, or a travesty made up of mounting monologues, but an out-and-out farce comedy of the first rank, which is a very different sort of production, requiring in place of "a team" or an individual, the strength of the most versatile comedians that can possibly be secured.

—While driving in from her home to that of Dr. Edith Schad, Wednesday morning, Mrs. Julia Schad was thrown from her buggy and quite seriously hurt. The accident was caused by one of the boys having taken the reins of the buggy to prevent another one from using it and then he failed to replace them. Three of the wheels ran off, leaving the vehicle clear down onto the road. Mrs. Schad is 66 years old and suffered a severe strain of her back.

—The church societies, dinners and entertainments are on in full force for the season. Last night the Methodists gave one of their excellent chicken and waffle suppers in the Bush Arcade; Miss Lula Stover's class entertained a goodly audience in the Lutheran church; the members of St. John's Catholic church fraternized at a social at Mrs. George Lose's on Spring St., and the W. C. T. U. is making great preparations for a big festival to be held the first week of December.

—The devil, according to an exchange, was the first base ball coacher. He coached Eve when she stole first. Adam stole second. When Isaac met Rebecca at the well she was walking with a pitcher. Samson struck out a good many times when he beat the Philistines. Moses made his first run when he slew the Egyptians. Cain made a base hit when he killed Abel. Abraham made a sacrifice. The Prodigal Son made a home run. David was a long distance and Moses shut out the Egyptians at the Red Sea.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.—When C. T. Gerberich, president of the council, called his fellow advisers together Monday evening there were just five members present: Derstine, Garrity, Wetzel and Tripple. After the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved the following business was transacted.

The Street committee reported laying new plank in High street bridge. Put in new gutter along Reformed church and parsonage. Did some grading on Howard street. Commissioner Johnson reported the dangerous condition of the road which crosses the Central railroad side track to the furnaces on the road to Coleville. The citizens ask that the upper road be abandoned and that the lower road under the viaduct be used altogether. Council decided to notify the Central railroad company to put some caution notices at this place and lay a proper crossing there.

From the water works everything was reported in good running order. Various pipes and hydrants have been repaired. Sent five gallons of water to Prof. Pond at State College to be analyzed but have not heard from it as yet. Pumps running 24 hours.

The clerk was ordered to purchase 6 expansion rings for the fire department. There was nothing of any importance elicited from the reports of other committees.

Thomas Eadon claimed damages to a valuable horse sustained by stepping on a piece of broken glass in a pile of rubbish said to have been left on the highway by the negligence of the Street commissioner. This complaint was referred to the street committee and borough solicitor for investigation and report and it was worth some consideration for the town is frightfully dirty and some of the alleys are a disgrace to a municipality.

The following bills were approved and orders drawn:

Joseph Ceaders, bal. on brick.....	$2.07
W. R. Rankin, insurance.....	22.50
C. F. Cook, expenses checks paid.....	.53

STATE—W. & J.—There were about one thousand people to the foot ball game at State College on Friday afternoon to see W. & J., the acknowledged champions of western Pennsylvania line up against State.

The day was an ideal one, though a trifle too warm for foot ball, and a fine game would probably have been witnessed had it not been Friday and the 13th. There had scarcely been ten minutes of play when the most brutal scene ever witnessed on Beaver field was enacted. Burns, one of State's star half-backs, had just made a brilliant run of 80 yards and had been downed, when one of W. & J.'s men ran up and deliberately "kneed" him. Not satisfied with this another fell on him and a third is said to have kicked him. Of course the little player was quite seriously hurt and the brutality of the attack upon him precipitated a fight between some of the players of the two teams. State then declined to go on with the game and it was declared off; neither side having scored.

While the visitors were very strong, they were not any stronger than they were expected to be and while their beef made it look for a while as if they would score, the longer the play continued the more evident did it become that they were outmatched in the science and finer points of the game.

It is to the credit of Washington and Jefferson that most of the men on their own team deplored the disgraceful exhibition of brutality on the part of several of their players. They now offer State $500 for a game in Pittsburg later in the season, but it is hardly likely that one will be played.

ARE WE TO HAVE A SHIRT FACTORY TOO?—Several months ago the WATCHMAN alluded to the possibility of a shirt factory for Bellefonte and made the statement that should it materialize it would probably be located on the second floor of the Crider building, on High street, occupied by McCalmont & Co.

At that time the proposition made by the gentleman who desires to locate here was in the hands of the board of directors and it was likely to lie dormant there Mr. Ed. K. Rhoads, with F. W. Crider, and several others, took up the matter personally and are now on a fair road to success. The amount they will have to raise in order to secure the industry is only $800 and as it will employ from seventy-five to one hundred girls the return to our people ought to be very large.

Up to Wednesday evening John C. Miller, in whose hands the paper was placed, had raised about half the sum and if you feel like contributing anything you should do it early as the gentlemen cannot wait longer for us, because of the necessity of getting to work at once for their spring and summer trade. They have been investigated and the firms with which they have done business for years give them the highest testimonials.

Milesburg is also trying to secure this industry and have offered the old Methodist church property, with a cash bonus, besides.

—Reports from the vicinity of Phillipsburg are to the effect that sportmen over there bagged very little game on the first day of the season. One man got eleven squirrels, another had six squirrels and three pheasants.

—Miss Brew's dancing school reopened for the winter season last evening.

—Musicians are wanted for the 47th U. S. V. Inf. band at Camp Meade.

—A. M. Harter, of Woodward, got seven pheasants on the opening day of the season.

—While hunting above Stormstown Jos. Griffin, of Tyrone, shot two wild turkeys at one shot.

—Perry Gummo, John Miller, David Wilson and another man each got a wild turkey in the vicinity of Howard on Monday.

—Deputy prothonotary Arthur Kimport came in from his Monday's hunting expedition with three squirrels and a pheasant.

—Joseph Ross is reported to be in a very precarious condition at his home near Pleasant Gap with cramps, which seized him on Wednesday.

—A marriage license was taken out in Look Haven Tuesday by E. P. Tate and Miss Annie V. M. Rokey, both of Patton township, this county.

—Isaac Thomas and his son Isaac Jr., of North Thomas street, were among the lucky hunters on the opening of the season. They brought home two wild turkeys from out about Cato.

—The little town of Mill Hill is getting down to business on a large scale. Besides lighting her own streets with electric light work was begun, Monday, to hang wires to Flemington and soon the latter place will be lighted with electricity from the Mill Hill plant.

—The Commercial telephone company is again active in the effort to extend its lines to Look Haven. Manager John T. McCormick and Ellis L. Orvis were down last week trying to remove the one obstacle in the way. It is an objection to crossing the railroad tracks at Cateana.

—The venerable John Wagner had a fainting spell last week that caused his family much concern, but he has recovered almost entirely and is enjoying his usual health. He is so well and alert and bright for a man of his years, 92 and over, that others who consider themselves old at sixty should take a few lessons in his art of living.

—"The Town Crier" to whom Hamlet refers to in his advice to the actors, has no part in "the Irish Alderman" that brilliant boomerang farce comedy to be presented here on Monday, Sept. 23rd. Each character in the play is assumed by the very highest order of comedy talent that could be secured for his or her part, the result is an artistic success, such as very many theatre-goers do not see in a life time.

—Montgomery & Co.'s pumpkin contest, last Saturday, was a great success. Fifteen pumpkins were entered; varying in size from that of an ordinary cocoon to the monster weighing 66 1/2 lbs, that took first prize of a $10 suit of clothes for Joseph Baird, of Milesburg. H. C. Woodring, of Port Matilda, took second prize, a $5 suit, with his pumpkin that weighed 64 1/2 lbs. Each of the other thirteen contestants were given an egg carrier by the generous firm. Only two prizes had been advertised but Montgomery & Co. never do things by halves, so they made them all feel good by giving each a prize. W. G. Rankle, Esq., and W. A. Alexander, of Union township, were the judges.

—A sensational escape from the jail at Clearfield was made Saturday evening by C. Woodring and Harry McEwen, who were awaiting trial on charges of larceny. Assistant turnkey Fred Forey and Miss Alice Shugarts, matron, had entered the cell room to serve supper to the prisoners. As Miss Shugarts was in the act of passing food to Woodring he dealt her a blow in the face, brushing her aside from the doorway. Woodring and McEwen then rushed out and fled down the front steps. Miss Shugarts recovered at once from Woodring's blow, and, seizing a revolver, dashed to the street after the fleeing prisoners, and shot at them four times. None of the shots, however, took effect. McEwen crossed the river below town and Woodring ran to West Clearfield and took refuge in a house. He was discovered there, and as his capture was about to be made he jumped from a window and fled.

A BOUQUET FOR CUMMINGS.—The many friends of Ralph Cummings in this place will be pleased to read the following, which we take from the Philadelphia Times' expert resume of the State-Princeton foot ball game on Wednesday.

Cummings was an Academy student last year and while his home is in Cape May he was so well liked here that everyone will be glad to know that he is making such a brilliant record.

The bright particular feature of State's work was the playing of Captain Randolph Wood and Cummings. The latter put up a remarkable game in every respect. He was all over the field, several times tackling the backs, and catching the punt before the ends were down. Three times he saved the ball for his side on fumbles by falling on the ball and twice secured it for State on Princeton's fumbles, one after the full back had muffed the punt and no other State player was near. His passing was sure and clean. Both is a veteran center, but the youngster clearly outplayed him in every respect. Cummings is a big, little boy, about 19 years old, and as strong as a Texas steer. He is a player of great natural ability and with another year's experience will have no peer on the gridiron.

DEATH OF MRS. MONROE.—The announcement of the death of Mrs. Caroline M. Monroe, wife of Dr. David S. Monroe, the eminent preacher and presiding elder of the Altoona district of the Methodist Episcopal church, which occurred at her home in Altoona, on Tuesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, was received here with sincere regret and much surprise. It was not known that she was sick and she was so eminently fitted for her position, so gracious, so thoughtful and kind that here and elsewhere, where her husband had been stationed, she was highly esteemed and appreciatively liked.

She had only been ill a week or so and died of pneumonia, from a cold contracted while sitting in a cold room at the house of a friend on whom she was calling. A daughter of Charles M. Pearre, an officer in the confederate army, she was born in Frederick county, Md., December 3rd, 1833. She was married, in 1862, to Rev. Monroe, and their only child died some years ago, but two sisters, both living in Westminster, Md., and a brother in Texas survive her. It is her devoted husband 'though who has suffered an irreparable loss, for while she was a most faithful church woman, interested in all its work, and a sympathetic neighbor she was essentially a home woman and constantly thought for his comfort and happiness.

Her pastor, Rev. Horace Lincoln Jacobs, assisted by Revs. A. W. Guyer and G. M. Hoke, conducted the funeral service at her home in Altoona on Wednesday evening. Thursday, her body was taken to Baltimore for interment in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

MILHEIM'S OLDEST CITIZEN.—Reuben B. Hartman died at his home at Millheim, on Sunday afternoon, after a long illness with kidney trouble. Deceased was born in Heidelberg township, Lehigh county, April 19th, 1820, and located at Millheim in 1839. His earthly possessions at that time were the clothes he wore, but with a rare stock of ambition he went to work and made the most of his opportunities so that when he came to die he was one of the most respected and generally esteemed residents of the place.

In 1833 he married Margaret Harter, a daughter of John Harter his first employer, and to their union was born eleven children as follows: Sarah J., died in infancy; C. W., Lydia R. Leitzel, John H. B., William, Minnie Harter, all of Millheim; Mary E. Harshberger, of Aurora, Ill.; Anna M. Weber, of Rebersburg; Amelia M. Stover, of Coburn; Thomas and Gertrude, who died early in life.

Deceased was for years a traveling agent for the famous old Hathaway cook stores and then went West to locate, but later in life returned here and bought the old foundry at Millheim, which he owned until the time of his death.

He was a Methodist and a Democrat until 1892, when he became a Prohibitionist. Burial was made at Millheim on Wednesday morning.

SQUIRE JONES.—John G. Jones, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Port Matilda, died at his home, in that place, on last Thursday night, of heart trouble after years of ill health. He was born near Stormtown 79 years ago, but his parents removed to Port Matilda when he was a mere child and his entire life he spent there.

He was a shoe maker by trade but for many years he was engaged in the mercantile business until ill health compelled him to retire. He had been justice-of-the-peace for some years and is survived by two daughters, Nancy, wife of Henry Bennett, and Bella Atcham. His wife preceded him to the grave some years ago, but a sister and five brothers are living, Mrs. Margaret Rook, William, Edward, Levi, Adie and George. He was buried Sunday in the William's burying ground by the side of his wife. Rev. Whitley, pastor of the Methodist E. church, assisted by the Revs. Borden and Downing, of the Baptist church, conducted the services, which were largely attended. He was a kind, christian neighbor, a loving father and a good citizen.

A SUDDEN DEATH.—Samuel Hasel, the foreman in this office, and his wife were sadly bereaved on Tuesday by the death of their dear little son, Lewis, who died of membranous croup at their home on east Bishop street. He was not well on Saturday night nor Sunday, but the doctor did not decide he had croup until Sunday evening. Then he was very sick all Monday, 'til evening when there was quite a change for the better and he was up and about the room. During the night he did not seem to suffer much but his death occurred at eight o'clock on Tuesday, morning. He was a bright, attractive little fellow, two years old, and his death was a great sorrow to his parents. He was buried Tuesday afternoon at Pleasant Gap as the Board of Health advised that interment be made as soon as possible and privately.

—Mrs. Gordon Frankenberg, aged 92 years, was found dead on the floor of her home, two miles east of Loganton, on Monday afternoon. Late that afternoon she had her husband good-bye in apparent good health, as he started for his work, and when the other members of the family returned, shortly afterwards, they found her lying on the floor dead. She is survived by her husband and two children.

—Fanny Ivy the twelve year old daughter of Dr. William S. and Martha A. Gilliland, of Karthaus, died recently of diphtheria after being sick but a few hours. She was a winsome, bright child and her death was quite sad.

Mrs. JOHN CURRY.—The death of Mrs. Bridget Curry, wife of John Curry, the contractor and builder, at her home on Logan street, Wednesday morning, was not a surprise to those who knew her condition for she had been dangerously ill with pneumonia for more than a week. Her illness dated from Sunday a week ago and she was quite sick from the first. She was 62 years of age and although of a quiet, unassuming disposition she was a most competent and capable woman, greatly beloved by her family and neighbors.

She is survived by her husband and eight of the nine children, Mrs. Kate Redding, of Spangler; Mrs. Mary Monaghan, of Buffalo, N. Y.; John, of Brooklyn; Margaret, wife of J. H. Gross, of this place, and Anna, Bridget, Susan and Christena at home. James, a son, was killed at Buffalo two years ago. She was a devoted member of St. John's Catholic church from which she will be buried on Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

—H. J. Schreffler, who died at Mill Hill last Saturday, was buried at Zion on Wednesday morning. Mr. Schreffler was an axe grinder by trade and had been ill for a long time with lung trouble. He was 46 years old and is survived by a wife, one daughter and two sons.

—Jacob Miller, who lived on the J. H. Orvis farm in Curtin township, fell over dead last Thursday. He was 65 years old and is survived by his wife one son and several daughters. His funeral was held on Sunday at the Advent church.

—Sadie J. Watson, a daughter of Jackson and Elizabeth Watson, died in Altoona, on Tuesday, with heart disease. She was born near Beech Creek and had been a school teacher in Johnstown and Altoona.

—A three year old child of Benjamin Holsworth, of Munson, in Clearfield county, was burned to death on last Friday while playing about a pile of burning rubbish in the yard.

—Jenkins & Lingle have secured another large contract from the Carnegie Co., of Pittsburg, for castings and machinery.

News Purely Personal.

—Miss Florence Marshall returned to her home on Buffalo Run, on Saturday, after a delightful visit of five weeks at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

—Harry, son of C. C. Bell, one of the instructors at the Huntington reformatory, was in town the fore part of the week visiting his uncles, S. A. and T. C. Bell.

—Mrs. Sarah Satterfield has gotten home from Middlesex in Mercer county, where she has been spending the last two months looking after some business pertaining to Mr. Satterfield's estate.

—Wm. B. Mingle Esq., and his son Gross were over from Centre Hill Wednesday evening. The fine evening tempted them to drive over to attend to a little business and make a few social calls.

—Mr. and Mrs. George M. Armor left for their home in Hartford, Conn., on Wednesday morning. They had been here spending part of their honeymoon with George's father and sisters on Linn street.

—Mrs. A. W. McDonald, of Richmond, Ohio, and Mrs. G. G. Gaston, of Steubenville, Ohio, who have been visiting at Rev. J. T. Scott's, on Curtin street, for the past three weeks returned to their homes on Monday afternoon.

—Mrs. Walter Lilly, and her baby son, who have been guests of her sister, Mrs. John Kline and her brother, John Olewine, for the past week returned to their home in Lewisburg, on Monday. They were accompanied by Mr. Lilly, who came up Saturday.

—Mrs. George B. Goodlander and Mrs. Goodfellow, of Clearfield, who were the guests over Sunday of Mrs. W. A. Stephens at the parsonage, on Linn street, returned to their home on Wednesday. Mrs. Julia Test was with them, but she visited Miss Bella Bell, who has her home at Charley McClellan's on east Lamb street.

—Rev. W. O. Wright, who has been in Philadelphia for the last five weeks visiting his daughter, Mrs. Laura Crawford, and under medical treatment by a specialist, returned Friday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wright, who was one of the delegates from this county to the annual meeting of the W. C. T. U.

—Mrs. George VanDyke and her baby daughter, Mary Hamilton, returned to their home in Ford City, Saturday and grand pere Noll's has once more resumed its normal quiet for Frederick Noll, Charles's active, stirring boy, who has been here for more than a month, departed on the same train for his home in Clearfield.

—David Spotts, a trifle crippled with rheumatism, was down from Port Matilda yesterday on a little business. He is one of the staunch Pennsylvanians up there and says that he doesn't propose to be so badly crippled at this election that he can't get out to vote, for he believes we have a good ticket and thinks it ought to be elected.

—David Speer, a brother and Mr. Price Speer, a nephew, of our popular candidate, W. T. Speer, came up from Chambersburg, Saturday, to see if he was sizing up to the campaign and to note his prospects. Whether he modestly refrained from telling them all the complimentary tales his supporters have "cooked" him with we do not know, but we do know that if he gets half the votes that have been offered him Thompson will never be able to dig himself out of the land slide.

—Seldom have the days in October been so perfect as they have in the last week and in consequence driving is quite the thing. Saturday John H. Meyers, Mary McQuiston and her brother, Lew, drove down to Rebersburg and returned home Sunday. Their mission was to get Mrs. Meyers and her baby daughter, who had been down there visiting for some weeks with her parents, Cornelius Stover, and from all accounts the roads were excellent, the entertainment royal and the mountains beautiful in their fall coloring.

—Edw. P. Butts, of Hartford, Conn., arrived in town on Wednesday evening and will try to stretch the week that he took off to visit his home into three of them. He needs a rest because he has worked very hard this season and has had a slight illness, without taking any vacation from his labors; so he intends loafing about here to "fatten up" just as long as he can. None of our friends of every kind done with neatness and dispatch. THE GOOD TEMPLARS.—It was probably because the majority of the club thought there wasn't much in a name that Linn and John McGinley, Geo. Weaver, Fred Smith, John Kniesley, Robert Montgomery, George Fasig, J. Linn Harris and George R. Meek selected "Good Templars" as the nom de plume they would carry to their hunting camp in the heart of the Tussey mountains near Monroe Furnace in Huntington county.

The party left here Saturday morning with enough guns and ammunition to have given Aguinaldo a case of nervous prostration, but up to last evening, when the boys broke camp there were still a few pheasants drumming over there and some squirrel barking.

They were living in tents and were about as comfortable as any party that ever went out from here and if you think they did not have a good time all you need do is to ask Mr. Fasig or Mr. Weaver about their little journey "through the gate," or John Kniesley to tell you how he and four others, with five guns, a dog an ax. were deemed necessary to capture a crippled grey squirrel that had crawled into a gum tree to die.

PLAYED CARDS BY MOONLIGHT.—Such a thing rarely happens and especially at this time of year, when it is usually too cold to sit out at night, but on Wednesday evening a party of boys were playing cards on the station platform in this place at 10 o'clock.

It was so warm that they were sitting there with coats unbuttoned, very much as if it had been a June night, and the moon light was so brilliant that no one had a particle of trouble seeing his cards until one of them thought he had three queens and bumped up against three kings, only to find that one of his queens was a jack. The only kick that was made on the light at all was made then, but that felle stole the next pot, after a little futile bobbing expedition, and he was so happy over it that he forgot all about his ear lather trouble.
