THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

M. S. Betz has moved into his new store room at Jacksonville.

The postoffice at Feidler has been moved into Wolf's store.

There was an inch fall of snow at Moshannon last week.

A protracted meeting is in progress in the United Evangelical church at Aaronsburg.

The Pennsylvania State College football team will play Yale at New Haven to-morrow.

Dr. M. J. Locke is confined to his bed with a very serious attack of rheumatism of the brain.

John Fravel, of Nittany, has had his pension restored and increased from $4 to $8 per month.

Mrs. W. Fred Reynolds will entertain the Bellefonte chapter D. A. R. this evening.

Mrs. Fannie S. Shultz, widow of the late Joseph Shultz, of this place, has been granted a pension of $8 per month.

The F. J. Weaver farm below Aaronsburg was sold to Geo. Keister, on Monday, for $5,675. The property includes a valuable mountain peach orchard.

Frank, the eldest son of Charles and Eva McClintic died at the family home at Nittany on Monday. As diphtheria was the cause of his death the burial was made privately that evening.

The 17th anniversary of the Children's Home Mission society will be celebrated in the Lutheran church on Sunday evening. A beautiful program will be rendered by the Sunday school.

A delightful surprise party was held at the home of William Hoy, near Houserville, last Thursday night, and that gentleman was taken as much unawares by his friends as he possibly could have been.

Bellefonte's "kid catcher," Josh Foulk, has the schools full of overflowing. He runs the truant youngsters in faster than he did drunks when on the force. Josh seems to be the right man in the right place.

Local teacher's district No. 5, of Centre county, comprising the teachers of Taylor, Worth, Half-moon, Patton and Union townships and Unionville borough, will hold an institute at Scotia on Friday evening and Saturday, Nov. 17th and 18th.

Arb Armstrong has left the corps of mixologists at the Bush house and is taking a rest for a few days before starting in at some other work. He had thought of going to Sunbury, but isn't certain that he will do it.

The interment of Harry J. Walker's body was made at Snow Shoe on Saturday. It was found in Sinnemahoning creek last Thursday, where he had drowned, and was taken in charge by a Renovo undertaker to be prepared for burial.

A surprise party was the delightful manner in which the friends of Mrs. William Derstine, of Penn street, celebrated her birthday on Tuesday evening. There was a large number of friends and neighbors there and they spent a most enjoyable evening.

James Murray seems to be the boss hunter about here. With his new gun, his little wren "Niece" and his unerring aim he brings down about as much as a half dozen ordinary hunters. On Wednesday he caught ten rabbits and three pheasants.

The International operatic concert company that sang at Garman's Friday night was by long odds the most artistic musical organization that ever appeared there. The singing was delightful from the opening number to the closing scene of the fourth act of "Trovatore," where the trio was simply superb.

Advertisements are being posted for women and girls to work in the Bellefonte shirt factory. Seventy-five of them are wanted and those desiring places should apply to John C. Miller. Mr. Witters, the shirt man, arrived from Litz on Wednesday night to make arrangements for the immediate removal of his factory.

It will be gratifying to the friends of the Hon. J. P. Gephart to learn that he has so far recovered from his recent serious illness as to be able to walk out on pleasant days. Being in his 73rd year very little hope for his recovery was entertained when he was taken so ill several months ago, but he surprised everyone with his remarkable vitality.

The New York Central is a great rail-road. It seems to be equal to any emergency. On Saturday night it took two hours and fifteen minutes to run a football excursion train from Williamsport to Mill Hall, a distance of twenty-seven miles. It was running with a truly funeral aspect as was becoming the load of "dead ones" it was hauling.

One night last week Fineberg's store at State College was burglarized to the amount of eighteen gold watches and several gold chains. The burglars gained entrance to the store by cutting out a rear window. The following night they got in to A. V. Miller's boarding house and stole $30 in cash. The thefts were evidently committed by persons acquainted with both places.

THE STATE-BUCKNELL GAME.—For the third time in thirteen years the Bucknell University football eleven has been triumphant over State and a sadder and more surprised lot of footballists never left a field than were those wearing the blue and white when the referee's whistle stopped the game at Williamsport Saturday afternoon and all hope of tying the score of 5 to 0 was at an end.

State has been flying along under the delusion that she is the Harvard, Yale, Princeton class this year, with such teams as Bucknell's unworthy serious consideration, but George Hoskins gave coach Boyle and captain Randolph such a bump on Saturday that they wakened up very soon to discover that their pipes were out.

With a team that seemed most unfortunately selected the College journeyed to Williamsport, confident in her supremacy. It required but a few scrimmages to break the spell and after the awful realization dawned upon the blue and white that she had caught a tar tar her generalship seemed as bungling as that of the English at Glenoe.

A surprising feature was the fact that only once during the game did Bucknell have the ball nearer State's goal line than 30 yds and that was at the time she scored her only touch down. While State was on Bucknell's 20yd line three times and lost the ball on downs by using plays on which she hadn't gained an inch previously.

Saturday was undoubtedly Bucknell's day and she won by fair and square methods in a very clean game. Such a result could not have been obtained on any other day during the season. The Lewisburgs were in the pink of condition, while State presented four cripples and a man who had never been in a game before, all loaded to the gunwales with confidence and that is the reason they slipped up on the Bucknell gold brick.

Since the two institutions have met on the football field they have won and lost as follows:

Year	State	Bucknell
1890	No game.
1891	10	12
1892	18	0
1893	35	18
1894	32	6
1895	16	0
1896	0	10
1897	27	4

The only consolation there was in the Saturday mess for the State rooters was the failure of the Bucknell supporters to back their team. There was no Bucknell money to call odds of 5 to 1 on State and the only bet the gold and blue had to offer were 1 to 3 that they would score. They had no more idea of winning the game than they had of using Hoskins' head as a balloon from which Stanton might have accomplished a parachute drop behind our goal line. The only hope they had of scoring was through Mr. Phenomenal Mathewson's drop kicking, but on the only two attempts he made State's men had him dropped before he even got the ball lifted from the ground.

A DECISION OF INTEREST.—On Wednesday Judge Love handed down a decision in the case of Bilger vs Spring township. It is to recover for services in destroying Canada thistles and is of interest to taxpayers all over the State.

In July, 1898, supervisor John Bilger, of Spring township, was notified by the constable of the township to cut certain Canada thistles on lands along the public road before the thistle went to seed, under penalty of prosecution. Bilger cut the thistle and received pay for the same from the township treasurer. Last spring, when the auditors audited the township accounts they surcharged Bilger with the amount. Bilger brought suit against the township authorities to recover for the work done, and at the last term of court a jury awarded him a verdict for the amount of $9.35. Judge Love handed down his decision, setting aside the verdict of the jury, in a declaration that supervisor Bilger cannot recover from the township, according to the law, but must bring suit against the owners of the property.

The reason that the supervisor was unable to recover from the owners of the property at the time was that it was the property of the defunct Valentine iron company, which later passed into other ownership by process of sheriff's sale.

THE BUSH HOUSE TO CHANGE COLOR.—Ever since 1874 the Bush house has stood as a great white sentinel at the railroad gateway to Bellefonte. Most of the travelers who either stop or pass through the town have been impressed with its greatness and in many instances the Bush house is the one building they remember. For years it has been white or cream. In 1874 it lost the original brick color by being kalsomined, but now it is to go back again. Eckenroth and Montgomery have just secured the contract to make it red again and have begun the job.

First, the building will be washed all over with lye in order to take as much of the old paint as possible off of it and then it will be painted brick red with dark green trimmings.

The change will be very marked and is calculated to change the entire appearance of this part of the town.

Bills aggregating $1000 have already been rendered the commissioners by constables who have done their duty by fighting forest fires within the past year. It costs a little, but Centre county can well afford to pay for any effort toward the preservation of her wooded areas.

The 47th U. S. Vol. Inf., sailed from New York for the Philippines on Saturday.

W. H. H. Walker Esq., of this place, delivered an address before the Shakespeare society at the Lock Haven Normal school on Friday night.

Mrs. George P. Bible is reported to be seriously ill at her home at East Stroudsburg. She is a daughter of Benjamin Bradley, of north Spring street.

The eighteenth reunion of the 49th Penna. Vols. was held in Tyrone on Wednesday and a goodly number of the old Vets were there to enjoy the celebration.

Work was begun on Monday on the rebuilding of Alley Bros. tannery at Curwensville. The new plant will be built large enough to give employment to six hundred men.

A thirty pound tumor was successfully removed from Mrs. Jacob Falty, who lives east of Feidler, last week. Dr. Musser had charge of the case and was assisted by several other physicians.

The next session of the Central Pennsylvania Methodist conference will convene at Hazleton on March 14th, 1900. Bishop Goodsell has been chosen to preside. Bishop Fowler will preside over the sessions of the Philadelphia conference during the same week.

William Eisenhuth, of Coburn, was doubtless one of the very oldest Democrats to attend the polls on Tuesday. At the age of 88 he went out to exercise his right of citizenship. There are lots of far younger men who could profit by the example of this veteran Democrat.

A local teacher's institute will be held at Clintonville on Friday evening and Saturday, November 17th and 18th. Among the speakers will be Rev. H. T. Searle, Prof. I. N. McCloskey, T. Mark Brungard, G. D. Robb, principal of the Altoona High school, Dr. Sechrist, Geo. B. Snyder, H. D. Martin, T. J. Small Jr., and others.

The reopening services in the old Baptist church at Milesburg, on Sunday, were as interesting as they were successful. The church had recently been repaired at a cost of $500 so that it presented quite an attractive and comfortable aspect to the large congregation that gathered to hear Rev. S. F. Forges chaplain of the Huntington reformatory.

The Reliance fire company solicitors in Philipsburg are having trouble raising enough money to purchase a $1,200 site for their engine house, which has to be moved on account of an expiring ground lease. Loosen up over there you people. Don't you know that your fire companies are the greatest investment you have and they are both organizations of which you can be proud.

William Williams, a son of William Williams the old time woolen mill operator in Bellefonte, has enlisted in the army and is now attached to the 40th Inf. He was at Ft. Reilly last week, but is now at the Precidio in San Francisco preparatory to sailing for Manila. While it has been a number of years since Will was in Bellefonte there are many here who remember him and will be glad to know that he is among the living.

FOURTH QUARTERLY MEETING OF POMONA GRANGE.—Pomona Grange, No. 13, of Centre county will assemble for the fourth quarterly meeting of the order in the handsome new hall of Progress Grange, at Centre Hall, on Friday, Nov. 17th. Business of importance will be considered and acted on at the meeting. The biennial election of officers will be held during the afternoon and the report of the picnic committee will be submitted. Action will also be taken in regard to the special meetings of Pomona during the winter.

It is proposed to make this the most profitable and interesting meeting of the year and round up the work so as to commence the new year in the coming century in fine style. The meeting is conveniently located and the accommodations all that can be desired. Those attending should take luncheon and horse feed. Progress Grange will furnish hot coffee and tables in the lower room of their hall, and while dining have a grand social and fraternal entertainment. This will accord with the primitive social idea of the Grange which made the early meetings so attractive and successful. Turn out and give Progress a regular "house warming." Let every Grange in the county be well represented. Horses can be placed in the stables on the park.

Opening in regular form. Roll call of officers and insurance directors, welcome by Progress Grange; response by Victor Graue; report of secretary of Insurance Co.; recitation by Mrs. J. S. Dale, of Logan; appointments of committee. Recess till 1:30 p.m.

Report of picnic committee. Recitation by Progress Grange. Report of Patron publishing committee. Discussion—Special county Grange institute meetings during the winter. To be opened by G. L. Goodhart.

Election of officers. Conferring of the 5th degree. Closing in due form.

The above program will be entertained by choice vocal and instrumental music.

GEORGE DALE, Master. J. C. GILLILAND, Sec'y.

JOHN C. MARTIN PASSES AWAY.—On Thursday evening Milesburg lost one of her best known citizens when John C. Martin passed quietly into the realms of immortality. His death occurred at his home and was the direct result of a cold that he contracted while visiting his son Daniel in Philadelphia last September. The cold settled in a wound in his side and while he suffered greatly from it it was not thought it would prove fatal until he took the last sinking spell from which he could not rally.

Deceased was born in Howard, August 9th, 1844, and was a son of Hugh Martin, a pioneer of that place. His early life was spent about Howard and after becoming an iron puddler he moved to Milesburg, where he resided thereafter; being employed at the McCoy & Linn works almost constantly until he retired to become postmaster of his town under the first Cleveland administration. His work was so efficient then that during Cleveland's second term he was again called upon to serve as postmaster.

He was a veteran of the civil war from '61 to '65. In 1861 he enlisted in Co. A, 45th P. V. and at the expiration of his service re-enlisted to serve with distinction until the end of hostilities. In 1872 he was married to Miss Catharine Emel, who survives him with their eight children: William, James, Daniel H., Patrick, Lizzie and John and Mary and Raymond adopted children of a deceased brother.

Services were held in St. John's Catholic church in this place, Monday morning; the large cortege that followed the remains to their last resting place attesting the high regard in which John Martin was held in the community.

MISS GRACE HOUCK MARRIED.—Grace Bonheur Houck, who was so well known and so popular in Bellefonte during the pastorate of her father, Rev. Wm. A. Houck, of the Methodist church, was married at Mt. Carmel last Saturday evening.

The Star, of Monday, published the following account of the event: Grace Bonheur, the youngest daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Wm. A. Houck, was married in the Methodist Episcopal parsonage Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock to Mr. Robert Sayre Mercur, division superintendent of the Lehigh Coal Co. The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride in the presence of the immediate families: Mrs. Wm. A. Houck, mother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hildner Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Henry M. Stine and Mr. Herbert S. Houck, of Harrisburg; Mr. Chas. A. B. Houck, of Hazleton, Mr. Frank D. Houck, of Lebanon, Mrs. Frederick and Miss Mercur, mother and sister of the groom, Mr. Fritz Mercur, of the U. S. A., brother of the groom and Miss Norris, of Philadelphia. In the parlor, attractively decorated with palms, chrysanthemums and various colored autumn foliage, producing a most pleasing effect, the ceremony was performed. The bride, ever attractive, was handsomely costumed in an emerald-green and white with the distinguished looking groom made a picture as they stood to receive the vows and a father's blessing that will long be remembered by the witnesses. Following the congratulations a supper was served when the bridal couple boarded the 6:42 Lehigh train for a tour of the Southern States. On their return they will make their home in Centralia. No wedding event in our midst has attracted more general interest than this one celebrated on Saturday. The contracting couple enjoy an acquaintance and friendship extending over Central Pennsylvania and while only the family representatives attended yet testimonials of the esteem in which they were held found their way to the M. E. parsonage. There presents were handsome, costly and in a profusion possibly never approached in a local event before and this large circle of friends wish for them a union charged with all the happiness that can come the way of married life.

"Under the Dome" is from the pen of Lincoln J. Carter who has compounded more successful melodramas than any man now tempting Providence. Witness his "Fast Mail," "Heart of Chicago," "Tornado" etc., which comes to Garman's next Monday night. "Under the Dome" is said to be his masterpiece, both as to dramatic construction and in a scenic way. Upon two astonishing illusions he depends this time for success. One is a marvelously clever production of the terrific hurricane which swept the harbor of Apia, March 15th, 1889, and which cost the lives of 144 brave men and wrecked six of the biggest war ships of the German and American navies. The first of the Samoan scenes shows the beautiful coral reef harbor outside of Apia and the section of the beach on which the U. S. Consulate stands. The fourth act brings in the storm and shows the Trenton battling with the elements of wind and water in a vain attempt to keep afloat. Another clever stage illusion is the ferry boat trip from Jersey City to New York. Every detail of such a trip is accurately reproduced even to the enlarging lights of the opposite shore as the boat progresses out into the stream. Besides these startling effects the play is given the aid of some beautiful scenes in and about Washington. The prettiest of these is the Capitol illuminated.

Last evening a driving party went up to "the Burnside lodge" on Muncy mountain for supper and a view of the mountains in their gorgeous fall colors. They were Misses Helen Fuller and Helen Mason, of Pittsburg, Mary and Winifred Meek and E. T. Burnside, Wm. Wilkins and Hard P. Harris, of Bellefonte, and Dr. Geo. Wickes, of New York.

Twenty-eight cans of two and three inch trout were received and planted in the streams about here yesterday.

The N. Y. C. railroad has put in a new siding at Mill Hall that will accommodate sixty cars. Another indication of the growth of that place.

Jared Harper expects to retire from business about the first of the year and his nephews, Jerome and Ed, will take charge of the grocery on Allegheny street.

The returns for Centre county published in this issue are absolutely correct, because they were compared with the official count as certified by the court last evening.

"Under the Dome," the big naval comedy drama, which will be seen at Garman's next Monday night, is one of the most pretentious scenic productions of the year. As the action takes the characters of the play to Apia at the time of the terrific hurricane which proved so destructive to the German and American war vessels assembled there, the opportunity for tremendous scenic display is abundant. The author manager seems to have availed himself of his opportunities, as the storm scenes ending in the wreck of the Trenton are said to be marvelously complete in detail and second in their awful realism only to the storm itself. Other scenes of the play are a remarkable mechanical and scenic illusion perfectly counterfeiting a ferry boat trip from Jersey City to New York, a view of the Capitol at Washington during a night illumination, several sets showing familiar localities in Washington and a pretty Samoan scene.

News Purely Personal.
—E. C. Humes, of DuBois, is in town on a short visit to relatives at his old home here.

—Mrs. John L. Nighthart, of east Bishop street, is in Jeannette visiting her mother. She went out on Monday afternoon.

—Col. and Mrs. D. F. Fortney were passengers east on Tuesday afternoon. They are in Philadelphia for a few days' visit.

—George Runkle, second quartermaster of the school ship "Saratoga" is here on a visit to his brother Joe and other Bellefonte relatives.

—Miss Sue Holter, who is one of the nurses in the Altoona hospital, is home on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Holter, of High street.

—Mrs. Louise Bush is in Philadelphia visiting her sisters, Mrs. Moulton and Mrs. Stockton. She went Wednesday and expects to be gone several weeks.

—Miss Helen B. Mason and Miss Helen M. Fuller, of Pittsburg, and Dr. George Wickes, of New York City, are guests at the home of P. Gray Meek, on High street.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fleming, with their son Ward, spent Sunday with Williamsport relatives. They were in the Lehigh valley to see the annual State-Bucknell football game.

—Will McCalmont, from the Medical-Chit., Ed. Harris, from Hahnemann; Chas. McClure, from Princeton, and Coburn Rodgers, from State, were among the Bellefonte students at distant institutions who dropped in to vote on Tuesday.

—Mrs. William Shortridge returned home Tuesday from a two weeks' visit in Westport, where she was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. McKicken. Mrs. McKicken has given up her home in Westport and gone to Clarion to spend the winter.

—Jerome G. Harper has dropped his work in the Harper store, on Allegheny street, for a two weeks' vacation. After voting, on Tuesday, he started for Pittsburg, but the probabilities are that he forgot to get off until he reached Youngstown, Ohio.

—J. Miles Kephart, L. Olin Meek, John O'Connor and T. Clayton Brown, all of Philadelphia, were among the crowds in town on Tuesday. They took advantage of the cheap railroad rates to come up to visit friends here. All of them were looking well.

"Johnny" Mulfinger was in from the Gap yesterday to get the real news of the election and report that they had had a very pleasant time out there on Tuesday. "Johnny" is a good Democrat and the returns from South Spring show that there are a lot of others just like him.

—Sam Reynolds, of Lancaster, was an arrival in town on Wednesday evening and is a guest at the home of his brother, Col. W. Fred Reynolds. He came up on a little hunting expedition so Col. Reynolds and Joseph L. Montgomery took him down to the Country Club yesterday for quail.

—Harry McDowell was up from Abdera on Wednesday morning looking as happy as the most successful Democrat in the county. While he was interested in the election returns it wasn't that that made him smile. He has something else on hand that is quite pleasant to contemplate.

—Sam'l Baiser and his brother Will, two of the best young Democrats in Patton township, and it takes good ones to be Democrats up there, were in town on Wednesday on their way back to their jobs. Sam is working up at Johnsonburg while Will is away out in Butler county. It wasn't too far for either of them to come home to vote.

—John Todd Jr., of Phillipsburg, was in town on Wednesday, having come over as return judge from the north precinct of Rush with a vote that the Democrats over there have reason to be proud of. He remained in town only for a short time as he was on his way to Metz, Virginia, where he expects to take a week's hunting for wild turkeys and then bring Mrs. Todd and John III back home from their extended visit in the South.

—Rev. D. Y. Brouse, of Eyer's Grove, was in town on Wednesday and his appearance had undergone such a change that few of his friends here recognized him. He has a Van Dyke beard and, we hesitate not to admit, that it is becoming. Rev. Brouse was in town on a little business at the court house. He had been up in Pennsylvania, where he is delivering a course of lectures, and ran over here between trains, though he didn't have time to go up to see his old friends at Pine Grove.

—Two old chums happened to meet in this office Wednesday morning and there was a lot of talking about good times in other days up in Ferguson, Harris and College townships. They were Geo. W. Ward, of Pittsburg, who is in for a visit of several weeks at his old home at Pine Grove, and Charley Moore, of Boalsburg, who was down with the Harris township election returns.

—O. J. Stover, a former Centre county boy who is now making as much in one year as he did in five, when working about Eagleville, was in town Wednesday calling on his friends and enjoying himself. He is located at Bathel, Jefferson county, where he is flourishing like the proverbial green bay tree. Mr. Stover is a son of the late John A. Stover, of Eagleville, and part of his business up here is to look after some property he owns down in the metropolis of liberty; a block of which is the Blanchard hotel.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Following is the list of marriage licenses granted by orphan's court clerk, G. W. Rumberger, during the past week:

Luther K. Dale, of Oak Hall, and Annie J. Houser, of Lemont.

Frank L. Baird and Ora S. Boyer, both of Milesburg.

Samuel Breon, of Spring Mills, and Elizabeth A. Bathurst, of Bellefonte.

Wm. R. Long, of Howard, and Jose Hoy, of Walker.

Ezra C. Harter and Maggie Young, both of Coburn.

A MONSTER RADISH.—Bob Haas was in town on Monday afternoon with the greatest monstrosity in the shape of a radish that we have ever seen. It was grown from a common variety seed and weighs 9½ lbs. The monster vegetable is on exhibition at the Brant house, where everyone can see it while regaling themselves in the nicely fitted cafe.

Centre Hall.

George Mowery will move to Lewistown in a short time and act stableman for a liverman in that town.

J. Witmer Wolf and his daughter Emma are in Philadelphia. The latter is being treated at a hospital for spinal disease.

Rufus Strohm, editor of the Practical Engineer, published in Philadelphia, came home to Centre Hill to help boost the Republican ticket.

Chairman Dauberman was successful in getting out the full vote on the Democratic side, with the exception of those who were unable to go to the polls on account of sickness.

The Commercial exchange girls didn't get enough money in the purse made up by those anxious for election news to buy a farm, but still it showed a good spirit to reward for good service.

Lantz Burris, who lives on Meyer Bros. farm near Centre Hill, will move to Mrs. Bairfoot's farm near Gregg station. Mr. Meyer, one of the owners, will occupy the farm thus vacated. D. J. Meyer will sell his farm stock and implements in the spring and rent his farm to Newton Yarnel, who at present is farming that place with Mr. Meyer's stock.

Squire Michael Shaffer, who with his son live on the old Foster farm, is contemplating a trip to Illinois between this and the holidays. He has a son residing at Cedarville and a brother at Peaton, which are the points he will visit. The squire is a staunch Democrat, and has missed but one election, and that of minor importance, since he has attained his majority.

The North Potter election board had new faces on it and performed their duties in a most satisfactory manner. The board consisted of Messrs. David Bradford, judge and inspectors, James A. Wert and Corjan Spicker; clerks, John Wert and Porter Odenkirk. The borough board was composed of Messrs. John Krumrine, Ole Stover, Lyman Smith, Al Krump and W. O. Reavick.

The election passed off very quietly, and the tally sheet would lead one to believe that nearly all Democrats and Republicans voted fairly straight, which, however, was not the case. Strohm was badly cut by Republicans, but the neighboring Democrats who felt positive that he would be defeated complimented him with an X, which evened matters up. Had he received the full Republican vote, together with the complimentary his minus majority would have been considerably lessened. The same program was carried out in the case of Harper and Robb, but to a much less extent.

If you want fine job printing of every description the WATCHMAN office is the place to have it done.
