THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

Flittings have been numerous in Bellefonte since election day.

Bellefonte's first snow of the season made its appearance Tuesday.

Dr. Theo. S. Christ, of College township, has been granted a pension of $8 per month.

The "Corner Grocery," in all its glory, can be seen at the opera house tonight.

Empty houses around town now command a premium, and landlords are discussing a raise of rents.

School teachers in district No. 5, should not forget the local institute to be held at Scotia this evening, and all day tomorrow.

Very sudden and unexpectedly Rev. H. C. Salem resigned the pastorate of the Lutheran church at Rebersburg last Sunday.

The celebrated actor Burt Coote, will appear for the first time in Bellefonte next Monday night in "A Battle Scared Hero."

Capt. S. H. Bennison's son, Guy, of Abdera, is now a private in Company H, 10th Infantry, U. S. A., stationed at Mantanzas, Cuba.

The annual Thanksgiving ball at State College will be held in the armory, Friday evening, December 1st. Chappel's orchestra of twelve pieces will furnish the music.

The masonry work on the foundations of the buildings for the Pennsylvania Match company is about finished and before another week has gone by the brick walls will be completed.

A Children's Home Mission service, in honor of the anniversary of the birth of Martin Luther, was held in the Lutheran church last Sunday evening. The services throughout were appropriate and well delivered.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Condo, of Millheim, have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth May, to Charles W. Lester Freedy, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., on Thanksgiving day, November 30th.

While coupling cars in the yards of the Empire Steel and Iron company last Thursday afternoon, Michael Howard had his right hand so badly crushed it was found necessary to amputate the index finger.

The work of removing the old coat of paint from the Bush House is not proving such a big job as was anticipated.

In just a little over one day the entire front of the building was scraped clean with steel brushes and washed down with the hose.

Among the patents granted last week was one to Edward McGarvey, of Bellefonte, on improvements in weight and pressure recording apparatus. For so young a man Eddie has remarkable inventive genius, and may yet become a second Edison.

Sunday morning while Mrs. W. C. Parsons, wife of the P. R. R. station agent at Unionville, with her little son, were driving to church the horse frightened at the train and ran away. Both occupants were thrown out of the buggy and injured severely.

Within the next week the carpenters will have completed their work on the new residence of Joseph Ceder, on Allegheny street, and the building will be turned over to the painters and polishers.

The Ceaders anticipate being "at home" there about the holidays.

Workmen have been engaged this week making the necessary changes and repairs to the second story of the Crider building over McCalmont & Co's. store, for the location of the Bellefonte shirt factory. The plant will be moved here from Litzitz as soon as possible after the room is ready for occupancy.

Monday evening while Roy McCalmont, agent for the American express company, was driving to the Central railroad depot, the front axle of the express wagon broke. The horse was docile, stopped promptly and no further damage resulted. Roy says the accident was caused by the continually overloading of the vehicle, which could no longer bear up under the strain.

Bellefonte nimrods are now out on the Alleghenies in quest of big game. On Saturday a party composed of Simeon Haupt, James Alexander, Daniel Eberhart and Isaac Miller journeyed to Three Runs, Clearfield county, and on Monday Joseph Rightour and editor Harter went out to the Six mile run. At the latter place are a dozen or more sportsmen from Tyrone and Altoona. So far the railroads have not been over-freighted with the return shipments of venison.

At the instance of the Curtin Monument committee petitions are now being circulated through the county for the signatures of taxpayers which, when returned, will be presented to the grand jury at their next sitting asking for an appropriation from the county towards the erection of a soldiers' and sailors' monument, with a statue of the late Governor Curtin being the crowning piece, to be erected in the public square of Bellefonte. The petitions are being numerous signed.

MORE RAILROAD TALK.—According to a Chicago paper, another through line from that city to tide water may be established. The project conceived by the late Calvin S. Brice has been revived by the enormous traffic which all the railroads are now carrying, and the fact that they have not enough cars or motive power promptly to transport all the freight that is offered to them.

Railroad men generally believe that if Brice had lived five years longer he would have carried out his plan to have a new trunk line. It is now reported that the carrying out of this plan has only been delayed by his death, and that powerful financial interests are quietly but steadily taking steps toward its consummation.

The proposed route for the additional trunk line is said to be as follows: Chicago to Butler, via Pittsburg & Western and Baltimore & Ohio roads, 469 miles; Butler to Clearfield, via Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg road, 105 miles; Clearfield to Williamsport, via Beech Creek road, 104 miles; Williamsport to New York, via Reading and Jersey Central roads, 235.5 miles; to Philadelphia, 200 miles.

It was the consideration of such figures, it is said, that interested Calvin S. Brice and induced Thomas M. King, receiver of the Pittsburg & Western, to refuse affiliation with Baltimore & Ohio.

If the above merging of independent lines into one through trunk line is consummated, it will undoubtedly result in the building of the much-talked-of Bellefonte and Clearfield, and the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania through to Watsontown, as this is the projected route for the proposed trunk line, and will not only be a road of easier grade, but some fifty miles shorter than by way of the Beech Creek and Reading.

In fact, if such a consummation comes and these new roads built, it will place Bellefonte with two miles shorter railroad connection with New York than it now has with Philadelphia.

FROM THE PHILIPPINES.—Edward Schofield, son of Hon. James Schofield, who is now serving in the Philippines as a private in Company L, 16th U. S. regulars, writes, under date of Oct. 14th, from Calumpit, of the following incident:

"I had a narrow escape on the night of the 12th. I was on support with nineteen other comrades down at the Bag Bag river, where Col. Funston had the heavy fight and had to swim the river. It is two and a-half miles from where we camped. We were guarding the big iron bridge when about 15 minutes of 7 in the evening we were all sitting around on the grass laughing, talking, smoking and never thinking about the enemy when all at once a volley was fired from across the river from the ambush. We had our belts and guns in a bamboo shack across the road, that we used to sleep in, and had to run the thickest shower of bullets you ever saw to get them. When we got our guns and got back to the trenches we did not do a thing to the Filipinos but make them fly for their lives. As you know, they will not come out in the open and fight you. We killed many of them, and they floated down the river. Those big Remingtons do not sound very nice firing so close to your head. We expect an attack any time on our camp, but you can bet your life we will make them fly with our Kraigs."

Ed. further writes that he is well and fat and expects to be home before many months, as his battalion is among the next detachment of regulars to be sent out of the Philippines.

MISS SCOTT'S WILD RIDE.—Sunday night, Nov. 5th, Miss Lucy Scott, daughter of Charles W. Scott, postmaster of Williamsport, had a thrilling ride behind a driverless team over a dangerous mountain road. Miss Scott was one of a party composed of Mrs. John S. Furst, Misses Nell Allen and Edith Bennington and Messrs. Allen and McMullen, who were on their way home from a day spent at the Furst's cabin in Mosquito valley. In crossing a small bridge one of the horses stepped over the side of the structure drawing the other horse after him. The driver sprang from his seat to assist the horses, and the occupants of the vehicle, with the exception of Miss Scott, also jumped to the ground.

Before the driver could reach the horses they sprang up and started at a great pace down the dark mountain road with Miss Scott clinging to a seat of the carriage. She retained her presence of mind and during the wild ride kept gently speaking to the horses, and just as they were approaching a steep and dangerous descent the steeds obeyed the brave young woman's voice and came to a halt. The Mrs. Furst mentioned above is the wife of John S. Furst, son of Hon. A. O. Furst.

DISTILLERIES CLOSED.—Centre county's two distilleries, the one at Pleasant Gap, operated by John Mulfinger, and that at Woodward, owned by Noah W. Eby, have closed down temporarily and the gaugers, David Glenn, at Woodward, and Jasper N. Brooks, at the Gap, have been discharged for the present from the internal revenue service, in the employment of which they received $3.50 per day. When the stock on hand at any distillery falls below 5,000 gallons, the government takes charge of the plant and a clerk from the district revenue collector's office comes on when any of the liquor is to be taken out of bond.

A BIG LUMP OF ORE.—From one of the Bellefonte Furnace company's ore mines at Scotia, this county, was recently unearthed and taken out a solid lump of iron ore which weighed in the neighborhood of sixty tons. This unusually large mass of raw iron necessarily had to be broken in pieces for a haul and when properly reduced filled two of the largest ore cars made.

There are 473 inmates in the Huntingdon reformatory.

The Phillipsburg Journal states that Norton King, son of contractor Harry King, who went to South Africa a couple of years ago, has written to his mother-in-law, Mrs. Andrew Beck, stating that he has joined the Boer army.

Extended railroad sidings are being put down at Mill Hill by both the Beech Creek and Central railroad of Pennsylvania. These additions are rendered necessary because of the greatly increased traffic over the latter road.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Nason, of Martha, desire, through the columns of the WATCHMAN, to express heartfelt thanks to all friends who so kindly rendered service during the recent illness and death of their little daughter, Martha Jane.

Lincoln J. Carter's "Under the Dome," in the opera house Monday night was not up to the standard of the usual Carter plays and companies. But if the performance on the stage was somewhat lacking, there was plenty to complain of from the boisterousness in the gallery.

For the latter they are offering $1.50 per day and the highest wages paid anywhere to the tradesmen.

At four o'clock Thursday afternoon, November 9th, Miss Josie Hoy, daughter of jury commissioner Joseph Hoy of Hubbersburg, was married to William R. Long, of same place. Camp, an old Bellefonte boy, but now a resident of Tyrone, who the past several years has been the eastern traveling representative of Ruckem Bros., of Chicago, has been promoted to be superintendent of salesmen for the firm. In addition to having complete control of the large number of traveling salesmen he will also have charge of the "Cracker-Jack" department.

The State College foot ball team returned home Sunday evening from New Haven, Conn., where on Saturday they were defeated by the Yale eleven 42 to 0. Fumbling on the part of State was the main cause of the big, one-sided score. State has two games yet to play, the U. of P. at Philadelphia, to-day, and D. C. & A. at Pittsburg, the 25th, with the possibility of a game Thanksgiving.

The John H. Orvis law club held its second meeting in the court house Monday night when the case of Paul Bros. vs. Chas. Burd, an appeal from the Court of Common Pleas of Centre county, in which the issue involved was one of a question of the validity of contracts, was ably argued before the Hon. C. M. Bower, president judge. The attorneys for the appellant were Fred Blanchard and W. J. Runkle and for the appellees, Thomas L. Sexton and W. J. Cohick. At this writing the decision of judge Bower has not been handed down.

Bellefonte has a new sportsmen's club. So far it is nameless and of limited—thrice limited—membership. During the past two weeks the members have done considerable hard work in assisting in the building of their magnificent club house, which for architectural design is an imitation log cabin, old as well as colonial. Anywhere from ten to one hundred thousand acres of land have already been looked at for a game preserve and in the course of several generations the Club may be of the largest in the county. For full particulars inquire of either Tom Beaver, Ned or Fred Blanchard, the committee in charge.

THE MEEK-MORRIS WEDDING.—Winfred Barron Meek was married to Thomas King Morris, of Tyrone, on Wednesday evening, November 15th, at 8 o'clock. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Gray Meek, on west High street, by Rev. Geo. M. Glenn, pastor of the Gettysburg Methodist church and a cousin of the bride. Only the immediate relatives and a few of the most intimate acquaintances of the couple were present for the ceremony, which was performed in the parlor, where the decorations were in white and green.

Just at the first stroke of eight the Fiske orchestra, which was stationed in the conservatory, began the bridal chorus from Lohegrin and the bride's party entered the library from the dining room. Miss Helen Modisette Fuller, first; Miss Helen Bowman Mason following, then the bride, accompanied by her father. From the library they entered the parlor along a ribboned aisle and proceeded down its entire length to the end, where the groom, with his best man, his brother Mr. Robert Morris were waiting before the minister. They had entered from the hall, simultaneously with the bride. The ring ceremony was used and at its conclusion an informal reception was held.

The bride wore a white corded satin gown with full court train, real lace yoke and stole, with a veil of tulle caught up by a crescent of diamonds, a gift from the groom. Her bouquet was of orchids and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids wore taffeta, with lace yoke and sleeves, and full lace skirt, with taffeta overgowns. Miss Fuller wore pink and Miss Mason blue and both carried immense bouquets of violets.

The bride is the youngest daughter of P. Gray Meek, editor of the WATCHMAN, and the groom is the eldest son of A. G. Morris, of Tyrone. For a number of years he was manager of the Morris interests about Bellefonte and during that time was a resident here.

Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Meek received in honor of the bride and groom at the armory, where two hundred and fifty people assembled. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Meek, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas King Morris, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Morris, Miss Fuller, Dr. Geo. L. Wickes, Miss Mason, Robert Morris, Miss Margaret Hoover, Chas. E. Aull and Hardman P. Harris.

The Fiske orchestra rendered concert selections from 9 until 11, during which time the wedding supper was served by Ceder. Dancing followed later.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris left by special train at 1 o'clock for an extended trip to the Pacific coast. They expect to be gone for six weeks and upon their return will make their home in Tyrone.

Among the guests from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Morris, Tyrone; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morris, Pittsburg; Miss Lydia Morris, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Lyon, Mr. Malcolm Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Meek, Fairbrook; Mrs. Elizabeth Glenn, Mrs. Philbrick, Miss Redifer, Mr. Maxwell, Mr. Wayne L. Shearer and Mr. Golden, State College.

DEPUTY SHERIFF JACKSON REAPPOINTED.—Sheriff-elect Cyrus Brungart evidently does not believe in procrastination, especially when, in doing so, he would be liable to a great deal of annoyance from would-be office holders, hence on Monday he announced the re-appointment of Harry J. Jackson as deputy sheriff for the ensuing term, and Orvis, Bower & Orvis as sheriff's attorneys. Mr. Brungart's selection is one that cannot help but meet the approval of not only the party he represents, but the people of the county at large. During the three years he has served as deputy under Sheriff Cronister Jackson has been a capable, well liked officer.

Anent the recently elected officials' appointees, it is said that within the next week the incoming board of county commissioners will announce their selection for clerk, attorney and janitor of the court house. For the former place, there are already about twenty-five applicants. Evidently all the officers-elect mean to do the appointing business as soon as possible and be done with it.

Centre county farmers who had their young cattle herded on the mountains during the summer were unfortunate in the large percentage of loss sustained, by death from various diseases and, on the Alleghenies, by the depredations of a band of cattle thieves, that drove off, killed and sold the beef to county butchers.

During the week the Central Pennsylvania Telephone and Supply company have been at work improving their service from this place to Lewisport. If you want to laugh, don't fail to see the "Corner Grocery," at the opera house this evening, with Daisy Chaplin as Patsie, The Bad Kid who is continually getting everyone in trouble, she is never out of mischief. She plays pranks on her father, mother and brother; she steals the Dutchman's chickens, puts her father's best Sunday hat in the rain barrel, plays jokes on the Irish policeman, and in fact nothing escapes her. The play is purely farce comedy, and a number of refined specialties are introduced by a competent company of specialty artists. Company carries special scenery.

A DELIGHTFUL SERVICE.—The Home Mission service rendered in the Lutheran church on Sunday evening, by the Sunday school and congregation jointly, was most delightful and inspiring. The music was of a high order, simple and beautiful, Miss Irma Smith presiding at the organ. The recitations and addresses by the children were given in the best style. The Primary department, under the care of Miss Lula Stover, was well trained and all did well their parts. Addresses on Home Missions were made by Clement Dale, Esq., W. P. Kuhn, the superintendent, and Dr. Holloway, the pastor. The beautiful audience room was crowded with a delighted congregation. The offering taken for missions was large, and all felt that this, the 17th anniversary of Children's Home Mission, known by Lutherans as "Luther Day" being in honor of Martin Luther's birthday, was a decided success. The Lutheran Sunday school is growing.

TAKEN TO DANVILLE.—On the 2:15 train Monday afternoon Mrs. Edith Saylor, wife of Linn Saylor, of Spring township, was taken to the asylum at Danville. Last Friday her condition became such that it was necessary for the safety of her family as well as herself that she be confined and accordingly the woman was put in jail until arrangements could be made to convey her to the asylum. These perfected by the authorities of Spring township she was taken to Danville on Monday by Justice J. H. Oliger, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. McGinness. Mrs. Saylor strongly protested against being removed and her caretakers experienced some difficulty in getting her safely aboard the train here.

The title of the play is, "A Battle-Scared Hero," and it is claimed that the author, Willis Maxwell Goodhue, has evolved something entirely new in the line of farcical complications. The theme is said to be fresh and unbackneyed while the plot is so far away from the accepted ideas of modern farce as to leave the auditor dumb with wonderment as to what is to come next. Mr. Coote is supported this season by an admirable company, including Miss Julia Kingsley, and the new pieces will receive the advantage of interpretation by the same cast with which Mr. Coote will shortly produce it in New York city.
