WHEN PAW WAS A BOY.

I wish 'at I'd been here when
My paw he was a boy
They must've been excitement then—
When my paw was a boy!
In school he always took the prize,
He used to lick boys twice his size,
I bet folks all had bulging eyes
When my paw was a boy.

Then everything was in its place,
When my paw was a boy;
How he could rattle, jump and meow,
When my paw was a boy!
He never, never disobeyed,
He beat in every game he played—
Gee! What a record they were made
When my paw was a boy!

I wish 'at I'd been here when
Paw was the muddled boy;
They'd never be his like again—
Paw was the muddled boy!

But still last night I heard my paw
Raise up her voice and call my paw
The worst of fool that she ever saw—
How long of stand a boy?

Popular Russian Sable.

Far Once Reserved for the Imperial Family.

The sum of $7,500, the reported cost of a sable and seal coat, recently ordered by a well-known woman, was covered by a neat amount to invest in a winter coat; but a woman with a taste for sable, can always dispose of money with electric rapidity and ease.

The purchase of $7,500 worth of sable wouldn't bring a quarter to the eyes, and in this country there are sable cloaks worth more than that amount.

No other fur, with the possible exception of the silver fox, represents as great a money value as the Russian sable; and as the finest varieties of this fur are growing more and more scarce the price steadily creeps higher.

There are innumerable grades of the skin, many of them of comparatively little value; but the fur is available in proportion as it is dark in color, and the sable of excellence, the Russian Imperial, has a depth of color that makes the lighter grades look cheap and tawdry.

Until recently none of this fur was allowed to leave Russia. It was reserved exclusively for the use of the Russian Imperial family and many and deep were the schemes by which foreigners tried to infringe upon this Russian royal prerogative.

Occasionally some of the fur was sold, but it was not so graciously pleased to market as the Imperial sables to friendly monarchs or beautiful women; and Grand Duke Lovelace was traced by sable blazings.

The two most valuable sable cloaks, outside of Russia, are those that have been stirred in the Russian court circles to their depth and furnished all Europe with gossip.

To-day, however, the matter of obtaining imperial sable is merely a question of money; and, as a consequence, the Americans are finding their way to America. Their number is necessarily limited; and as a rule, only the best fur houses carry them.

But the market is flooded with the Russian imperial sable, so called, which is in reality an inferior quality of sable, light in color, but so skillfully dyed that it will deceive anyone, save an expert.

These skins are at first, almost as rapidly as the genuine article; but they fade rapidly and soon show themselves to be impostures.

The Hudson bay sable is inferior to the Russian, both in quality and color; and while a particularly fine dark Hudson bay skin is more beautiful than the light and Hudson bay sable approaches the beauty of the genuine imperial Russian. The latter is of a soft, rich brown, utterly unapproachable in any other fur, and of a wonderful fineness and softness, while the former has a slight tinge of red in its hue, and even at its best is coarser in quality than its rival.

A Brave Coward.

The Chicago & North-Western Railway company announces the publication of a thrilling story of campaigning in the Philippines, entitled "A Brave Coward." The famous tale of Malate, the charge at La Loma, a love romance, and the career of the Tenth Pennsylvania at Manila and in Luzon, the conquering of cowardice by a young Pennsylvanian, are all interwoven into one of the most delightful short stories of the hour yet issued.

In common with the First Nebraska, the Thirtieth Minnesota, the Utah and Oregon men and the Twentieth Kansas, the Tenth Pennsylvania made history in the war against Aguinaldo. The tale is superbly illustrated with half-tones, printed in convenient form, and will be forwarded to any address on receipt of cents in postage by V. B. Knicker, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Illinois. 44-59

"Did you notice how sadly that beggar limped when he came in?"
"Yes, and did you notice how well he walked when he went out?"

"Wraggy Wraggy—'O! beautiful lady, please give me something to eat.'
Mrs. Hoamley—"My poor man, I haven't anything but German sausage."
Wraggy Wraggy—"Well, lady, I came prepared for the worst."

"What did you notice how sadly that beggar limped when he came in?"
"Yes, and did you notice how well he walked when he went out?"

SPINAL DISEASE CURED IN FOUR MONTHS.

Richard D. Creech, of 1062 Second Street, Appleton, Wisconsin, says:
"My son William was absolutely helpless. His lower limbs were paralyzed, and when we used electricity he could not feel it below his hips. Finally my mother, who lives in Canada, wrote advising me of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and I bought some. This was when our boy had been on the stretcher for an entire year and helpless for nine months. In six weeks after taking the pills we noticed signs of vitality in his legs, and in four months he was able to go to school. It was nothing else in the world that saved the boy than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."—From the Crescent, Appleton, Wis.
