THE MOODY ENDOWMENT FUND.-It is true that I expect some needed compensation for what I do to encourage the sale of The Life of Dwright L. Moody. MR. FOSTER AND HIS WEATHER .- My last storm bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from the 6th to the 10th, and the next will reach the Pacific coast about the 11th, cross the Rockies country about 11th, great central valleys 13th, Eastern States 15th.

Cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 14th, the great central valleys 15th, Eastern States 18th.

Temperature of the week ending 8 a. m. February 19th will average about normal in the great central valleys, the Eastern States and on the Pacific slope. Rainfal l will be above normal.

About the date of this bulletin a wave of high temperature will be in; the Ohio valley moving eastward with a cold wave entering the upper Missouri valley, and this cold wave will be the beginning of a great fall in temperature that will terminate in cold weather about the 24th.

Not far from the date of this bulletin will begin a long period of excessive precipitation in the great central valleys, rains at first, followed by snows in the Northern States, rains in the southern. Frost will go far south as we approach Feb. 24th.

The meeting has been in progress for some time and so much interest is manifested in it that when Mr. Murphy left, it was expected one hundred souls would be saved before it closed. In addition to being a great revivalist Rev. Brouse has splendid executive abilities and is now busy looking after the building of a new stone church which is to cost $8,000.

> There are two concerns at the station end of town that do not make a big blow but do considerable business in their line. The one is Jacob Zong who is conducting a laundry in the most satisfactory manner to his customers and the other is J. O. Deininger, who spends his time making sideboards and dressing cases.

John Krumbine, who is the right hand man in Dauberman's undertaking establishment, just returned from Harrisburg, where he attended an embalming school and brought home with him a diploma granted by that institution. Through with his embalming studies he took a trip to Baltimore and Washington.

W. W. Boob, the wheelman and all around hardware man, will in the near future place machinery in his shops to put rubber tires on wheels. This will require considerable machinery and outlay of money, but the demand for such tires among his customers can not be ignored by an up to date manufacturer.

Wm. Colyer is not satisfied with owning half the mountain timber land but is acquiring considerable farm and valley woodland. He just recently purchased from Cap't. George M. Boal, agent for the Wilson heirs, one hundred and thirty acres of land lying south of the Spring Mills pike, which is a part of the farm from which he several years ago bought one hundred acres. The last tract has thirty acres of valuable woodland. This will give Mr. Colyer over two hundred acres in one continuous piece of ground, except the division made by the pike. The old Wilson farm still contains about one hundred and thirty acres. The price paid by Colyer was thirty dollars. There are no buildings on it.

The musical convention being conducted in the United Evangelical church by Prof. E. W. The reception by the Reformed charge of Centre Hall to Rev. G. W. Kerschner, formerly of Fayette N. Y., on Friday evening was from all the congregations composing the charge. Those congregated seemed to have one purpose and that was to share a welcoming spirit to their newly elected pastor, who is the sixth minister in service since the charge was organized forty-seven years ago.

As was previously stated W. B. Mingle, Esq., and Prof. Meyer, principal of the Bellefonte High school, who are respectively superintendent and assistant superintendent of the Sunday school connected with the Reformed church of Centre Hall, in which J. H. GROSS, rooms the reception took place, conducted the affair. Rev. Kerschner for the first time publicly offered prayer for his people, after which Prof. Meyer proceeded with his address of welcome. After guaranteeing to the pastor a hearty welcome from each individual, the speaker took a historical turn. He started with the church of his faith at its beginning in Switzerland, followed it through succeeding centuries in the eastern continent. and finally to our own land, our state and local organization. The talk was full of interest from the beginning to end to both of lock jaw, caused by a bruise on the head those who were members of that particular body and those who were not.

After this Rev. Kerschner spoke briefly, saying that he had four things which he would ask of his people. First, their confidence; second, their sympathy; third, their prayers; fourth, their co-operation. As the requests were made, he showed the reasons why each should be granted. He is a pleas ant impromptu speaker. The whole affair was a surprise to him, having been taken to the church on another pretext. His first services Sunday morning were largely attended and the most favorable comment upon his sermon and manners were expressed by many. It is within truth to say that the Reformed Sunday school at this place is up to date in every respect and has adopted the hymnal; the congregation uses the individual communion cup, and meets its obligations to its pastor promptly and pays liberally to benevolent objects of the church at large.

Napoleon Bonaparte will appear in the March Century in a new role-that of a temperance advocate. In the second instalment of Dr. O'Meara's hitherto unpublished "Talks with Napoleon" at St. Helena, it is recorded that, having a pain in his side, the ex-Emperor asked his physician to show him where his liver was situated; and the latter, in some remarks on the causes of inflam mation of that organ, mentioned intoxication as one of them. Thereupon Napoleon remarked: "Then I ought not to have it, as I never was

I wonder how a man who once gets drunk can ever think of doing i again. Such headache, vomiting, and general sickness; I was nearly dead for two days."
